One of the mail cars which contained no money was dynamited and wrecked. The attempt at robbery was made after two mail cars had been detached from the train and ran a quarter of a mile ahead. The failure of the robbers to make a rich haul was due to the fact that the express car, which contained the train's treasure, was in an unusual place. It was the third car in the train.

It is estimated that $50,000 was stored in the express car and it is believed the robbers knew of the large amount of money and valuables on board. After leaving the train, the robbers turned toward Lake Michigan. It is believed they made their final escape in a boat.

New Breed of Wheat.

Oscar Wick, living near East Grand Forks, commenced harvesting his wheat crop Thursday. He has a new variety of hard wheat a few days earlier than other wheat, and from which he raised last year 400 bushels from ten acres, and it wasn't a very good year for wheat either. He sold the entire crop, except enough for his seed this year, at $1 a bushel for seed. He estimates his yield this year at 45 bushels.

Another Lake Cottage

A. P. Hanson returned last night from Maple Lake where he went to spy out a suitable place on which to erect a summer cottage. He found what he went after, and a neat summer home will be added to the number already there. It will be located on the point west of the Ericsson cottage.

Their Secret is Out.

All Sadleville, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whittaker, who had for a long time endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. "It's all due to Dr. King's New Discovery," writes her husband. "It completely cured her and also cured our little grand daughter of a severe attack of whooping cough." It positively cures Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, all Throat and Lung Troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at A. G. Anderson's drug store.

Mark Sees Mack

Canton, O., Aug. 3.—Senator M. A. Hanna, who is here on a visit to President and Mrs. McKinley, gave out a statement denying as erroneous the reports connecting him with efforts to settle the great steel strike.

"I am just as anxious to have the strike settled as is the vast majority of the people, but I am taking no part in the negotiations," he declared.

He says that his visit is purely a social one and that his meeting with Senator Cullum of Illinois was a coincidence. The two senators spent the afternoon talking over matters that are to come up at the next session of congress.

Land Office Business.

The monthly report of the U. S. land office shows a large bulk of receipts for July, considerably more than for the same month of last year. The total homestead entries were 132, against 217 for July 1900, but in the matter of final proofs the record of this July is far ahead, being an even hundred more than last year, when it was but 87. There were 68 cash entries, against 23 a year ago, and the receipts of cash aggregated $12,312.22 for this July, to $7,379.75 for the corresponding month in 1900.

New World's Record

Columbus, Aug. 3—Cresceus broke his own and the world's record on the track at the Columbus Driving park yesterday afternoon, going the mile in 2:02¼. The track was lightning fast, but the wind delayed the start until nearly 6 o'clock. After several false starts, Mr. Ketcham nodded for the word and the great stallion again smashed his record. The crowd went wild over the performance. The time was variously caught, but all had at least a quarter second below the record.

More Records Broken

Colorado Springs, Aug. 5.—During the athletic contests attendant upon the quarter centennial celebration here Saturday, Candras DeFoy, a Ute Indian, broke the world's running record for 100 yards, making the distance in 9 seconds flat.

The professional record was nine and three-fifths seconds, and the amateur record one-fifth second slower.

Becomes a Yakimite.

August Himmelsbach returned last night from a trip to the west coast. While absent Mr. Himmelsbach found no better portion of the country than the Yakima valley in Washington, and he purchased a ranch there. He will remove his family to the west this fall and engage in fruit raising. He reports that Fred Warneke has also purchased land in the same part of the country.

Fatal Flames

Milwaukee, Aug. 1.—A special from Monroe, Wis., says: Mrs. Armonson and her 8-year-old son were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their residence, north of New Glarus. The past three Sundays have been days of terror for the Armonson family. On Sunday, two weeks ago, Mr. Armonson died from a stroke of paralysis; a week ago Sunday, a brother, died and last Sunday this fire occurred.

Hunting Real Jungle.

Dr. E. N. Falk, of Hillsboro, passed through this morning to Bagley where he is building an office and putting in a newspaper plant. The doctor made himself famous by writing a series of articles "From the Jungle when he first struck Hillsboro, but that town was not wild and hairy enough to meet the doctor's requirements and he is now locating where the strain on his imagination will not be so severe.

G. N. Improvements

St. Paul, Aug. 1.—The Great Northern has about 2,000 men at work at various points along the two lines of road to be built in the west, the Crow's Nest branch and the branch to Republic. These men are commencing work on the grade, and preparing the camps for the reception of several hundred track layers and other laborers.

The company has several thousand other laborers and mechanics at work erecting steel bridges, relaying steel, ballasting the roadway and reducing grades and curvatures.

Over 42,000 tons of new steel rails will be laid this summer, equivalent to about 335 miles of road.

Work is also being pushed on the two, short branches in North Dakota, comprising about forty miles of new construction. The extensions, betterments and permanent improvements this year will cost the Great Northern several million dollars.

A POOR MILLIONAIRE.

Good Health

Is doubtless the highest human good. It is especially so to women, to whom it means the preservation of beauty, happiness in the home, and the enjoyment of social duties. There can be no good health for any woman who suffers from womanly diseases. Her complexion fails. Her flesh loses its firmness. Her eyes are dull. She has no home happiness, no social enjoyment.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the diseases which destroy the health. It establishes regularity, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It gives good health to women, which means tranquil nerves, a good appetite and sound sleep.

"I was a great sufferer two years ago with female trouble and I wrote to you for advice," says Mrs. Mattie Hays, of Tribulation, McDonald Co., Missouri. "You outlined a course of treatment for me. I followed your directions, and now feel like a different person. I never expected to hear from you when I wrote to you. In three days after I commenced taking your medicines I began to feel better. I took twenty dollars' worth of the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I bought it five dollars' worth at a time, and also four vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. I would not take one thousand dollars for the good the medicine has done me. I can't praise it enough. I wish all who suffer with such troubles would give Dr. Pierce's medicines a fair trial. I can work all day—doing anything, walk where I please, and feel good. Many thanks to you for your kind advice."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Government Lottery

El Reno, O. T., Aug. 1.—Two thousand one hundred names were drawn from each wheel in the great United States land lottery yesterday, making the grand total 8,700. Today the list of prize winners will be complete. The drawing of the numbers will be continued until about 10,000 names for each district are drawn from the wheels, making a total of 20,000 names. As there are about 13,500 claims in the new country, the drawing will go beyond the point where persons above 13,500 can get land. The remaining envelopes will draw blanks, but as the commission desires to impress the public with the fairness and honesty of the drawing, every one of the 165,000 envelopes will be drawn. When the names entitled to homesteads, however, have been exhausted, the work that follows will be merely perfunctory and will be done as rapidly as possible. Each person who registered at El Reno or Lawton will receive a postal card showing the number of his identification card as it came from the wheel.

SAVING MONEY

Some Suggestions of Special Interest to Farmers at this Time of Year.

PLAN TESTED FIVE YEARS

By Practical Farmers of Close Observation With Gratifying Results.

There is one common source of wastage on the farm which is more serious than most farmers regard it. And in fact but few, comparatively, seem to have considered it at all, or at least not in a practical way, so as to take measures to overcome and remedy it, and yet its remedy is simple and easily within reach of every farmer. We refer to the common practice of hauling the grain to the thresher and the stack in open bottom racks, and using a man on the load to build it. To obviate the wastage both of grain and labor is a very simple matter if set about intelligently. In the first place, the use of a man on the load involves an expense to the amount of his wages, for which no substantial increase in the amount of labor performed is received. Second, his feet are continually tramping out the grain, the larger part of which is absolutely wasted. And then again, the foul seeds which are among the grain are tramped and as the open bottom wagons pass to and fro across the field, these seeds are scattered broadcast to again be multiplied in the following crop.

Messrs. James C. and S. C. Hayes, who live about three and one half miles from Neilesville, in Polk county, adopted the system of handling their grain in basket racks five years ago, and have in doing so accomplished several results, either one of which would abundantly justify the additional expense involved at the outset, in its adoption. Of the special style of construction of these racks, we will speak more particularly later on.

The Messrs. Hayes are men of good, hard, common sense and good judgment, and are careful, close observers of conditions, causes and effects, as is well attested by their accomplishments as farmers in the Red River valley. And in conversation with Mr. S. C. Hayes, he informed a Journal reporter a few days ago that from his observation and experience he was well satisfied that every year within the bounds of the Red River valley, as much is wasted by the farmers as is expended in the maintenance of our higher schools, simply for want of the proper use of basket racks.

They use ten of these racks, each of which is in charge of one man to draw bundles to one of the largest size separators. Pitchers in the field are entirely dispensed with. Each teamster is supplied with a fork and goes to the field and gets his load in the same time as is ordinarily done by a man on the load and one on the ground.

At the machine are two extra pitchers, one for either side to assist in pitching off the load, and in this way twelve men and ten teams are all that are required to furnish the grain to the machine. This dispenses with from six to eight men on that end of the work, and to that extent decreases the farmer's thralldom to the hobo element, for to that extent at least is he invariably dependent upon this element for help in the threshing season.

Taking it at its lowest estimate, by saving six men who must usually be paid $2.00 per day, there is a saving of $12.00 on wages, besides the item of board. Add to this the waste of the grain which under their system is saved, and the advantage of averting the reseeding of the weeds, and the desirability of their plan becomes fully apparent, provided equally as much work is accomplished by this as by the other system. On this point these gentlemen have satisfied themselves beyond a doubt. But, as a part of the advantage is possible only within the peculiar construction of these racks as they make them, We give it in detail as follows:

The material required is two pieces 2x8, 16 feet long; 20 pieces 2x4, 8 feet long; 8 pcs. 1x6, 16 ft. long; 2 pieces 1x3, 16 feet long, and 4 pieces 1x6, 12 feet long.

The 2x8 sills are fastened together by two iron rods with nuts at each bolster of the wagon, close to which and between the sills is placed in each instance a piece of 1x8, cut of the exact length to make the sills fit the bolster stakes. Next at the points where the eight cross pieces are to come are placed an equal number of pieces of 2x4, four feet long, laid flatwise for the cross pieces to rest upon. The advantage of these pieces is in the additional strength they give the cross pieces, and in the protection against wear at the point of bearing they afford.

These pieces are fastened in position by ⅝-inch lag screws, 3¾ inches long.

Four end posts are next fixed in position, one being securely bolted to either end of the sills. Next, the eight cross pieces are bolted in position and the floor laid on them perfectly tight. The posts on the sides are four feet long at the corners and the two middle ones are two feet high, the intermediate ones being of intermediate length. This makes a space on each side that is only two feet high for a length of four feet. A six inch board is placed at the bottom of each end and each side inside the posts and the joint made perfectly tight. Four six inch boards are next placed on the outside of the posts at each end, the spaces being equally divided, and the sides are boarded on the outside of the posts with one six inch board at the top and a three inch board below it, other boards being cut to extend from the top of the two foot side posts to the top of the corners. The side posts are attached to the outside of the ends of the cross pieces by strong straps which pass around them and are bolted to the cross pieces. All side and end boards are bolted instead of nailed. Racks being constructed in this way will last fifteen years and save many times their cost. They are of equal utility and advantage in stacking or threshing, and the Messrs. Hayes are so enthusiastic over their experience with them that we have taken the necessary space to explain the matter to our readers in the hope that some of them may also be benefited by the plan. It will be understood that a considerable part of the advantage is in the extra large size of the racks and the formation of the sides in the way described.

SQUATTERS WIN

The Residents on Section 16 Outvote Cass Lakers

St. Paul, Aug. 3.—The village of Cass Lake today made complaint to the state that an attempt is being made to force the villagers to pay for the education of 200 children of the neighboring Indian reservation, whose parents are consequently non-tax payers. George Walsh, the village attorney, called on Attorney General W. B. Douglas this morning at the capitol and explained the matter. He asked Mr. Douglas to join him in a writ of quo warranto, to which Mr. Douglas consented.

There are a large number of squatters who have settled on reservation land adjacent to the village. These settlers a short time ago requested the county comissioners to permit them to be included in the Cass Lake village school district. This the commisioners illegally did. At the school election a few days ago these settlers came into the village, cast their vote and elected a village school board which is composed of six squatters.

The attorney of the village asks that the action of the county commissioners be set aside, also the result of the school election, on the ground that the squatters are illegal voters.

Phillips the Corn-King Will Resume His Crown

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Geo. H. Phillips today issued a circular addressed to the customers of his firm, announcing that he will be able to resume active operations on the board of trade by next Tuesday or Wednesday, at the latest, possibly by Monday. The statement also promised patrons of the company that before any new trades are made a complete and satisfactory summary of what the books show will be given to the public.

Phillips asserts that the experts' examination of the firm's books makes it certain that the worst has been told and that the firm is not a loser to a larger extent than $300,000.

His faith in the loyalty of his clients is unshaken, and even carries him to the point where he believes that 90 per cent of those who are found by examination of the books to have been overpaid as a result of the May deal, will gladly refund the balance due him. The total amount of this overpayment is estimated to be a little under $250,000.

SAID NO TO SCHLEY

Navy Department Declines to Modify Precept.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The naval department has refused to accede to Admiral Schley's suggestion that the language in the fifth specification of the precept to the court of inquiry be modified. The admiral in his letter challenged that specification, which states as a fact that he had disobeyed orders and suggested that it be modified. The department in its reply declines to make the suggested modification on the ground that according to the official records Admiral Schley himself acknowledged that he had disobeyed orders. The disobedience of orders was an established fact, whether unwillingly or willingly. Rear Admiral Kimberley will not be a member of the Schley court of inquiry. His request to be relieved from the detail on the ground of ill health has been granted by the navy department.

RAILROAD KINGS

Four of the Biggest Men in the Transportation World Up North.

MAKE A TRIP TOGETHER

Through the Pine Country of the Upper Mississippi Region ---What's Up?

Brainerd, Aug. 5.—There seems to be considerable significance attached to the trip being made to this part of the state by many railroad magnates. Parties who have gone to Walker and other points along the Minnesota & International have given one excuse or another, but it is very unusual to see three presidents of some of the largest railroad lines in the United States together on a pleasure trip.

Friday afternoon President G. H. Burt, of the Union Pacific, accompanied by General Solicitor W. H. Kelly, of the same line, passed through the city and went to Walker, ostensibly to fish and enjoy a few days' outing.

Immediately after President Burt had left, the announcement came that President Mellen and General Manager Pearce would go through sometime Saturday. Their mission over the same line was said to be merely informal, and they were to inspect the Minnesota & International.

The Mellen party arrived Saturday about 5 o'clock, but it proved to be more than a Northern Pacific party.

President Marvin Hughitt, of the Northwesten line, was also on the train, and with the general counsel of the road. With Mr. Mellen there were several people, one or two directors and two of the counsel of the road being included in the party.

There are all kinds of rumors as to the object of this peculiar meeting of the trinity of railroad presidents who are, perhaps, as much talked of in railroad circles as any three men in the country today, and the rumors are given added weight from the fact that three men were in conference with President Hill in St. Paul Friday.

From all appearances there is something in the air of more than ordinary magnitude. There are those around this section of the country who are ready with suggestions galore; some who are giving it out that the meeting of the magnates is in connection with opening Leech Lake reservation which was thoroughly discussed at a meeting of citizens of Cass Lake and Walker recently. The Northern Pacific is virtually in control of the Minnesota & International and should the reservation be opened up it would precipitate one of the greatest booms in this part of the state that has ever been experienced and a new field would be opened up for land seekers that would be very tempting.

Thus the railroads would be benefited to a large extent, and it is said that the mission of these gentlemen is really to look over the ground in the vicinity of the reservation with this in view. Each railroad magnate has his legal advisor with him and it would certainly seem as though the story is at least plausible.

Delicious Coffee Cake.

The secret of a delicious coffee cake is in the preparation of the filling. The layers may be made of any simple cup or white cake recipe, but the housekeeper who tries Mrs. Lincoln's Mocha cream filling will be apt to repeat the experiment. Tie two large tablespoonfuls of finely ground coffee in a piece of cheesecloth, put in the pot, pour over it three-quarters of a cup of boiling water and simmer for ten minutes. Set away from the fire to settle. Reserve one large tablespoonful of this strong coffee for frosting, put the remainder in a cup and add three-quarters of a cup of milk. Place in a double boiler. Thicken with two tablespoonfuls of flour, add three-quarters of a cup of sugar, pinch of salt and pour over one well beaten egg. For frosting stir confectioner's sugar into the tablespoonful of coffee until of proper consistency.

Of Special Value.

A group of pretty flowering plants that deserve greater attention than they receive are the double flowered ivy leaved geraniums. Few plants compare with them for balconies or window boxes or to hang down from stagings in the conservatory or from baskets. The foliage alone is handsome, while the flowers which are produced so freely right through the summer are both bright and lasting. They look magnificent when trained along trellis work in sunny positions.

City Property For Sale

House and ten acres of land within city limits for sale. House has eight rooms, a good well and cistern which will hold 100 barrels of water, and a good cellar under the house. There is also a two story barn and a chicken-coop on the property. All the buildings are new. This property at $2,500, $1,000 cash and balance on three or five years time with interest at 7 per cent. is one of the best bargains in the city. Apply at Journal office.

GOOD ADVICE.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. More than 75 per cent of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects, such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness Palpitation of the Heart, Heartburn, Water-brash Gnawing and burning pains at the Pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and Disagreeable Taste in the Mouth, Coming up of Food after eating, Low Spirits, Etc. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. Try it. Get Green's Prize Almanac. F. H. Hillard & Son.

Northern Pacific Stock

New York, Aug. 3.—Two hundred shares of Northern Pacific common sold on the stock exchange yesterday at $95 (seller ten days.) The last previous sale occurred on July 17, the day that J. P. Morgan announced his selection of the five new directors for the Northern Pacific. The previous price to this had been $150, the figures at which many shorts settled with the rival syndicates. The highest panic price for this stock was $700 "regular" and $1,000 "cash." Yesterday's transaction was done for foreign account and the "seller ten" feature was to enable the delivery of the stock by shipment.

Gene Webster is giving the people out in eastern Marshall county a bright, breezy sheet in the Thief Lake Journal, published at Ware.

Thanks for this from the Duluth News Tribune: "That extra page, with the donning of which the Crookston Journal marked its second birthday, is just as good taste as the rest of the bright paper's costume."

That drainage write-up of Editor Kaufer in the last Gazette does him proud, and the Red Lake county people share in the credit. They've done good work in reclaiming lowlands up there.

Editor Eastman of Thief River Falls has begun the publication of a paper which he has named the Marshall County News. J. E. Havel is the editor and business manager, and it's an all right paper.

There are more pretty young ladies, more bright, sharp, intelligent young men, more well dressed women, more satisfied business men, more comfortably fixed working men, more happy children and more general contentment in Crookston than in any other city in northern Minnesota.

It is predicted that the United States treasury will contain $550,000,000 in gold at the close of the present fiscal year. There was a time, only a few years ago, when the government was obliged to borrow money to pay running expenses—but that time is past. We won't say anything about it.

Brother Bell, of the Roseau Times, thinks it is not too early to begin shouting for the re-nomination of Bob Dunn for state auditor—that is, if Bob doesn't object to having himself shouted for. There's the rub. Bob may not want "something equally as good" as he has had. Possibly he wants "something considerably better." What are you going to do in that case, Rodger?

Editors of the Ada Herald and Halstad Reporter are worrying a whole lot over a certain $50 that Editor Ward of the Ada Index secured for some sort of services he rendered the county, and all the time they think he is the party who is doing the worrying. The fellows down in Norman county are all good stuff and ought to try and dwell together in unity. Any of you would hold down two jobs if such opportunities came your way.

Since the deportation law was passed four years ago, 216 persons have been deported from the state by the board of charities and corrections, at an estimated saving of $200,000. Not over four residents of this state have been returned from other states, and the practice of dumping insane persons and paupers from other states into Minnesota has ceased. During the past year forty-six persons were deported, seventeen of them to foreign countries.

It is now believed by some of the foremost students of the subject of plagues and scourges that the bubonic plague will sweep th eAmerican continent. It is noticeable that the bubonic plague, like cholera, when it once starts on its rounds, usually belts the globe. Already the scourge is in California and New York, and the best authorities unite in the belief that it must be met and combatted right in the west as well as at the seaboard cities. Fortunately, there is little danger of the disease where cleanliness of person and habit is observed.

The turning down of E. V. Debs by the social democrats at the convention in Indianapolis marks the passing of that personality from the public gaze as it ranges over the field of politics. Debs is not and never was a true social democrat. He gained standing with the party through his own representations made upon the strength of his labor leadership, but he never possessed the qualities of the true stateman. His un-American address delivered on Independence day disgusted many who had theretofore been inclined to remain passive among those who had already decided they could not longer follow his leadership, and with the rebuke given him by the convention held last week by the leaders in his own party, Debs will retire from the scene of active political life. There are many sound principles connected with social democracy, of which Eugene V. Debs was never the true exponent.

Editor Novotny, of the Argyle Banner, has the following to say of his recent trip along the Duluth line:

"We spent the week on the Duluth line, which possesses many features of interest. The hot weather brings many excursionists to the beautiful lakes in that region. We spent two days at Erskine, whic his nicely located on the banks of Lake Cameron. Among the many boats, Agent Mason's sailboat is the handsomest, and in speed cannot be beaten. We spent one evening in the lively cities of Duluth and West Superior, in company with Mail Agent John Kirsch, David Coutts, of the state grain inspection department, and Mr. Williamson, of the Kelly Hardware company. With the assistance of Dave's Scotch prayer and Johnny Kirsch's Dutch smile, we saw the Zenith City in good shape. All we lacked to see the city thoroughly was Conductor Steve Withey's X-Ray eye."

THE GREAT STRIKE

The latest dispatches announce that the conference between the officers of the United States Steel corporation and the executive committee of the Amalgamated Association has completely failed to bring about any settlement of the great strike, and that the steel trust has declared war to the knife on the amalgamated association. A week ago the officers of the trust offered reasonable terms to the strikers and news of the settlement was expected every hour. Today that settlement is apparently farther off than ever, and the strike is rapidly drifting toward the crisis where blood shed and the destruction of property are certain to follow.

The strikers have announced, in several cases, that they will resist with force any effort to bring in new men to take their places, and the trust is preparing to open its plants at Newberg and McKeesport. A clash seems inevitable.

The failure to effect a settlement is to be deplored. In the first place, aside from the danger of suffering, bloodshed and destruction of property, the crippling of such a gigantic industry, when the output of the plants is contracted for in advance, and when the world is learning to look to America for its steel supply, is a serious matter.

And in the second place, there is the feeling throughout the country that the whole thing was unnecesary and that the ordering of the strike a blunder.

There was nothing between the men and their employers. But President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated association, and his advisors on the executive board decided that this was the opportune time to force the great trust to compel all its men to go into the union, and without waiting for a decent pretext, the strike was ordered.

There is undoubtedly a grave menace to the welfare of the country in the powerful aggregations of capital such as the steel corporation, and we tremble to contemplate this bloodless giant and see the terrible power which it can wield. Yet, the present trouble proves that not all the danger lies in the aggregated capital, but that the great combinations of human labor, when controlled by irresponsible and incompetent men, furnish a menace to our social and economic welfare no less appalling.

RANK DISLOYALTY

The people of Kittson county are fortunate to have among them such public spirited citizens and all 'round hustlers as made it possible to hold such a successful county fair as that held at Hallock last week.

The credit is due largely to the untiring energy and efficiency of the officers, T. M. George, president, and A. M. Ecklund, secretary. These gentlemen, while they are aided to a certain extent by others, assumed the burden of the work consequent upon the undertaking and wrought out a thorough success.

The Journal is not pleased with the tone of an editorial in the Hallock Enterprise, in which Editor Bonvette seeks to belittle the efforts of these gentlemen. The animus of his attempt to knock—for it is evident that he is "sore" about something—maybe that he failed to secure as much of the printing as he thought himself entitled to, or it may be that he was not recognized in the committee's or judge's list. Be that as it may, Mr. Bonvette goes out of his way in an attempt to reflect upon the management of the fair and shows disloyalty to both his townspeople and the citizens of Kittson county at large.

One point in particular in the editorial in the Enterprise is the insinuation that favoritism was shown in the awards in one particular department. The unfairness of this may best be shown by stating the fact that the judges in this department were three ladies, none of whom reside in the state, and consequently could have no possible interest in showing favoritism.

The people up in Kittson know that the men who worked to give the county standing and advertise its progressiveness are worthy of their confidence and they will not be misled into the mistake of giving any credit to the raspings of those who seek for personal reasons to belittle the men who are really alive to Kittson county's weal and welfare.

Bemidji Expects Union Depot

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 7.—Growing out of the fact that the Great Northern and Northern Pacific interests are so closely merged, there are rumors afloat that the two lines here will build a joint depot as a matter of economy. This also means the eventual bringing to Bemidji of the division interests now located at Cass Lake. The rumor has been strengthened by the large amount of work now being done here. A steam shovel, two gravel trains, 100 men and teams are at work widening the track level at the depot, and work for a month has been mapped out.

The Iron Range Electric Telephone company is distributing poles and material for its line from Grand Rapids to Crookston. A train of fifteen cars of their material passed through here yesterday.

Notes From Exchanges.

The successful man is always a target for the venemous flings of his small minded neighbors. "Granny" Pease of the Anoka Union recognizes this fact and comments upon it this way:

"When a man gets his head out of water a little farther than his friends and neighbors; when a man gets a little more wealth than they; when a man gets a little more notice than his fellow citizens; when a man is likely to ascend the political ladder a few rounds—then, and not till then, does he begin to feel little darts of envy and slander. Human nature is sensitive, spiteful and jealous, and when a man gets the things mentioned above he realizes it pretty mighty quick."

The following from the Fergus Falls Journal contains a suggestion that will be the one upon which the Crookston City Council will probably have to act in providing the means for paving the city. Here it is:

"Fergus Falls ought to adopt the installment idea of paying for public improvements against private property. It is called the Ontario plan. The cost of a sewer or sidewalk is divided into five installments and a fifth is assessed against the property every year instead of assessing all at once. Now that we are in for granite curbing, stone sidewalks, sewer and possibly a little grading, it means confiscation to a man of moderate means if he is assessed all in one year. It is more economical to do it all at once, but if the tax comes all at once, it is ruinous. The Ontario plan helps out much and is used in many cities and ought to be adopted here."

ROOSEVELT COMING WEST

He Will Open the Minnesota State Fair on Sept. 2

The fair opens on Monday, Sept. 2, with an address by Vice President Roosevelt, and continues during the week. Half fare rates have been made by all the railroads.

The vice president of the United States is to open the Minnesota State Fair this year. "Teddy," the idol alike of the New York reformers and the western plainsmen and one of the most loved men in the country without respect to party, has accepted an invitation to make the opening address at the Gopher state fair. In addition the management has arranged for national live stock displays by the Shorthorn and Hereford associations, is offering $40,000 in premiums and purses, has erected a new building costing $25,000, to increase the exhibition capacity of the fair, announces evening races and spectacular fireworks for each night, and, altogether, promises to make the week of Sept. 2d a particularly hot time in the towns of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

A rate of one fare for the round trip has been made on every railroad leading to St. Paul and Minneapolis for the week of Sept. 2-7.

BLOWN TO ATOMS

Eight Hundred Quarts of Nitro-Glycerine Let Go

Bowling Green, O., Aug. 7.—A terrific explosion of nitroglycerine occurred on the Mann road near this city, in which one man, Wm. Radabaugh, aged 22, a driver for the Hercules Torpedo company, was blown to atoms and many other persons narrowly escaped serious injury. Radabaugh was driving a wagon loaded with 800 quarts of the explosive and when nearing the tracks of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton road, whipped up his horses to cross the track ahead of an approaching passenger train. The jolting exploded the stuff on the tracks, and the train was stopped within a few feet of the gaping hole made by the explosion.

Pieces of debris were hurled with great force against the train, but none of the fifty passengers were struck. A house occupied by Mrs. Abraham Teal was wrecked and Mrs. Teal seriously injured.

BULLION THIEVES

Tunnel Under Smelting Works and Get $340,000 in Gold

San Francisco, Aug. 7.—Gold bullion valued at $340,000 was stolen from the Selby smelting works at Vallejo during Monday night. The Selby smelter is the largest on the Pacific coast.

The works are located near the bay shore about thirty miles from San Francisco, and through the clever device of tunnelling 300 feet through the loose sand the robbers secured the princely sum, and had transported the gold to a boat in waiting near the company's wharf.

In their hurry to get away the robbers left one bar on the beach. The robbers took the unusual precaution of strewing their tracks with red pepper, presumably to prevent blood hounds from taking up the trail.

Each bar of bullion was numbered and a description is now in the hands of the detectives.

Fargo Also Preparing

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 7.—The county and city health boards are endeavoring to get together and arrange for a pesthouse which can be used by both. Last winter the city had a small building and the county another. Neither was adequate and there was much trouble. Efforts are being made to get a suitable location so future patients can be cared for. It is expected there will be many smallpox cases this winter, if the disease was not thoroughly tamped out.

LOTS OF MONEY

Required to Handle the Business Represented by the Men

WHO VISITED CROOKSTON

A Special Train Brings Grain Handlers of the State on Tour of Inspection.

Representatives of private and associated interests which command a combined capital of one hundred million dollars to back the business handled, arrived in Crookston yesterday on a special train over the Great Northern road.

They are the men who in one capacity or another handle the cereal product of the "Bread Basket of America," the great grain producing territory of Minnesota and the two Dakotas.

They were on an annual tour of inspection of the grain producing district with a view of forming from direct observation an idea of the probable yield of the crop which they will grind into flour, handle in bulk to the eastern and foreign markets or press into oil for commercial use.

They were accompanied by F. B. Clark, general traffic manager of the Great Northern, and their comfort was looked after by a competent train crew and careful attendants. The train consisted of a baggage car, a dining car, and the fine sleeper, "Crookston," that is used by the company solely as a portion of its special equipment. The companies having representatives in the party were the St. Anthony & Dakota Elevator company, the Minneapolis & Northern Elevator company, the Peavy Elevator company, the Consolidated Milling company and the American Linseed company. Several members of the leading grain commission firms of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth were with the party, and representatives of the boards of trade and chambers of commerce of the cities metioned.

The itinerary covers the great wheat belt of Minnesota and North Dakota. The party started in at Wahpeton and traversed the lines and branches between that point and Larimore yesterday forenoon, proceeding to Towner and noting conditions on all branch lines in North Dakota excepting the one to St. Johns. They completed their work in that state in time to reach Crookston at 11 a. m. today, and after an hour's halt in this city the train started on a trip over the St. Vincent line. It will return this afternoon and traverse the St. Hilairs line, resting at Thief River Falls tonight. Tomorrow the party will proceed eastward over the Moorhead branch to Wahpeton and thence into South Dakota.

Prominent men connected with the party are President Dunwoody and General Manager P. B. Smith of the St. Anthony & Dakota Elevator company; John Washburn, of the Washburn-Crosby company; J. S. Bell, manager of the Consolidated Milling company's interests; J. A. McGean, secretary and treasurer of the American Linseed company; G. F. Piper, also connected with the oil interests; P. L. Howe, president of the Union Elevator company; G. G. Barnum, a leading grain commission man of Duluth; A. C. Loring, of Minneapolis, and a number of others equally prominent in grain circles.

During the hour they remained in this city they met a number of the leading citizens and business men, and although no announcement of their coming had been made, they were pleased with the attentions shown them and they acquired considerable information as to local conditions. Had their coming been announced their reception would have been much more general, and arrangements would have been made to have driven them about the city. This was impossible during the limited time they stayed, but each one of the visitors expressed satisfaction at the thriving appearance of Crookston, and all were greatly pleased with crop conditions that prevail in the territory traversed.

Norman County Farmer Missing

A young Norman county farmer named Ed. Worrall, who has lived with his parents at Spring Creek, mysteriously disappeared on Saturday and his parents would like to know his whereabouts.

During the night he arose and harnessed the best team, a dapple grey, to a two seated spring buggy and presumably started westward. He left no word stating where he was going, nor gave his reason for his departure. He took with him a repeating shot gun and some money he had earned by working for neighboring farmers. No reason can be given for his action, as he has never had any trouble with his parents.

Burglars at Henning

Fergus Falls, Aug. 7.—Burglars broke into the Northern Pacific station at Henning Monday night, blew the safe and secured $15 in cash and several checks.

The hardware store belonging to Lin Linquist at Clitherel was robbed the night before, about $60 worth of goods being taken. No clue in either case.

Duluth is seeing better times than she did back in '96. The city has on hand $428,000, all of which but $68 is in two local banks. This is the best showing the city has made for years. The school board has $201,000 on hand and the county nearly $100,000 more.

CUMMINS NAMED

The Des Moines Man Named as Governor on Second Ballot

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 7.—How to beat Cummins for the gubernatorial nomination before the republican state convention which met today was the question that puzzled the opponents. The strength of the Des Moines man has increased steadily during the past 36 hours and the efforts of the opposition to unite on Harriman were not successful. The Harriott people would not work with the opposition, and declared that if their man could not be chosen to lead the forces against Cummins, he would not take second place.

Late last night the combination against Cummins was broken by a large number of the Harriott delegates, who abandoned their man and went over to the Des Moines candidate. The defection of Harriott's men practically settled the nomination in favor of Cummins, and he was chosen on the second ballot.

Can't Hold the Men

Tenstrike Tribune: Last Saturday was pay day at the railroad camps. The men are leaving every day for the Dakota harvest fields where they expect to make a rich haul this season, and there are very few men left. With full crews the railroad would be at Tenstrike in two weeks, but with the present amount of labor it may take two months. The company is now paying $2.25 per day for common labor.

Gambling Stopped

Lawton, O. T., Aug. 7.—After waiting in vain for the authorities to act, the people of Lawton took the gambling question into their own hands yesterday. The "sure thing" gamblers, emboldened by their successes Saturdsy and Sunday, stopped at nothing Monday. A crowd of home seekers finally organized and furnished formal notice that no more unlicensed gambling would be permitted around Lawton. It was a business organization which did not mince words, and last night there were no sure thing devices sight.

SCRUTCHIN TALKS

Bemidji's Colored Attorney is Interviewed While Visiting the Valley.

SAYS SOME NICE THINGS

For the Pine Region and Incidentally Touches on Politics.

Charles Scrutchin, Bemidji's well known colored lawyer and politician, was in the city Tuesday and proceeded to Grand Forks, where he chatted entertainingly to a Herald representative.

"Yes," he said, "Bemidji is growing very rapidly; three years ago there was scarcely anything there, today we have a population of about 2 500 and 3,000 souls, splendid schools and churches, six daily passenger trains, magnificent residences and quite a few business blocks under construction.

"The Brainerd and Northern Minnesota road, which has merged into the Minnesota and International railway, is extending its line north from Bemidji to Koochiching, and our business men are prosperous and happy, and in view of a recent decision handed down by our supreme court, compelling the pine ring barons to pay their just proportion of real and personal property taxes, I entertain high hopes of seeing a court house some day located in Bemidji.

"Yes, we have a very large county. The area of Beltrami county would make twenty counties the size of Ramsey. Small towns are springing up like mushrooms all through the county. The county is remarkable for its richly forested region of mixed timber, poplar, red and white birch, elm, ash, maple, spruce, balsam, tamarac, with a goodly quantity of red and white pines interspersed.

"You ask who will be the next congressman from our district?"

"Well, that is a pretty hard question to answer. There are now many dark horses being groomed to enter the race, and under the new formation of our district we have composing the new Ninth, the counties of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Polk, Red Lake, Beltrami, Norman, Clay, Becker, Wilkin and Otter Tail, which makes the uncertainty the more pronounced. Already in the field is that wily and astute politician, A. Grindeland of Marshall county; the crafty and able Norwegian, Halvor Steenerson of Crookston; S. G. Comstock of Moorhead; Ezra Valentine, of Breckenridge; W. W. Calkin, of Ada, and in our own town that nervous, red whiskered fellow who is at present our county attorney. Sharp, shrewd and aggressive, with the polish and grace of a Chesterfield, a staunch republican, broad-guaged, and a splendid American, thoroughly at home anywhere you place him, whether engaged in a solemn argument of law before the supreme court or with mackinaw and a tussick across his back tramping through the woods, a true cat with nine lives, and if thrown from a garret window would light on his feet. He won't be downed—like a foot ball, the harder you throw him down the higher he comes up every time. Just now he is especially acceptable to the people in our county on account of the relentless war he has waged against the rich lumbermen in forcing them to pay their just taxes and will without doubt be presented before the congressional convention as "Beltrami county's choice son for congress for the Ninth district.

Jos. Mercier was examined in the probate court Friday and found to be in such an unsound condition mentally as to make it advisable to commit him to the insane asylum. He was taken to Fergus Ralls.

Dr. McEachran and family, of McIntosh, passed through Crookston last night enroute to Canada for a month's visit at the old home. While absent the doctor will spend a portion of the time in the Toronto hospitals attending clinics.

W. P. Murphy was in Bemidji Monday to invoice the stock of goods and saloon fixtures belonging to C. C. Blake, who has filed an application in bankruptcy. This is supposed to be the first case on record where a saloon keeper failed to do a payable business in the pine country.

Adolph Rauch, after taking time to decide and looking at all the territory between Crookston and Los Angeles, has decided to again locate in Crookston permanently, and on Saturday secured two lots on Main street north. He broke ground on Monday last for a new residence that he will erect, and that will have all that is modern in the way of improvements.

A. O. Busterud announces through the columns of the Journal today that his new hardware establishment is open for business. Mr. Busterud has stocked up with a complete line of new goods, and his former customers will be given the glad hand and shown through the establishment, in which Mr. Busterud takes much pride.

There is deviltry out East as well as in the Valley. Marshal Sinker was in Crookston on Saturday looking for a pony that had ben stolen the day before from Dick Underwood at Solway, which is the village that Mr. Sinker looks after as a peace officer. He did not find the animal here and proceeded to other point sin this part of the state, fully convinced that the thief headed this way with the beast.

Miss Ida Hancock returned Monday from a visit at McIntosh, and proceeded to Euclid this morning accompanied by Master Jay Carpenter.

Eli Stengland, of Marin, one of the old timers who has successfully farmed in that district, was in the city Tuesday and made a call on the Journal.

Mrs. J. H. Fulton, of Mentor, came up from Ada Tuesday and will spend a few days as the guest of Mrs. W. B. Sheffield before proceeding to her home.

Mail Carrier Weiter is the next in line among the force in the postoffice to get a vacation, and Chas. Ackerlund is relieving him while he rests a couple of weeks.

Ed. Kinder is home from Kalispell where he is engaged in running a Great Northern locomotive, and will get acquainted with his friends here before returning to business.

The Jac. Klewell brewing plant finds it necessary to enlarge its facilities and has had a cold storage plant put in at Warren, Chas. Ziebech being the contractor.

Gilbert Halland, whose home is at McIntosh, but who spent the past year on his North Dakota claim, returned Tuesday from Towner. He reports good crops in the Flickertail state.

The horse and buggy stolen from Geo. Salisbury at Grand Forks on Monday have been found at Forest River. The driver was arrested and will be brought back.

After a seven years' residence in Polk county, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Warnecke left Monday for Washington, where in the famous Yakima valley they will make their future home.

Don't hesitate if you suffer from the tortures of rheumatism. Take Mull's Pioneer Rheumatism Cure. A dollar draft in each $1.00 box; cash it if medicine fails. 25 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. August Alstrom arrived home from their honeymoon trip Wednesday. They have spent the time about the lakes at Minneapolis and at Mr. Alstrom's former home at Willmar.

Miss Leora Davies, who has for the past four years been connected as bookkeeper with the leading mercantile establishment at Euclid, has decided to resign and will take up the study of medicine.

Miss Gertie Holtzknecht, one of the charming Thief River young ladies, came down Monday and was a transient guest of Miss Clara Schraeder, proceeding to Minto, N. D. Tuesday where she will visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. A. McGregor have gone to Maple Lake where they will remain a fortnight, during which time Mr. McGregor will assist Mr. Fred McGregor in putting up a summer cottage.

Reports from the Lockhart farm are to the effect that Manager McPhee had up to Tuesday completed the cutting of 1,200 acres of grain, and that the harvest prospects were for an excellent yield.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Odette arrived in the city yesterday and will tarry for a brief visit with the family of their son, Mr. Albert Odette, who is one of the successful land men here. They are accompanied by their son Jesse, and are returning from a trip to Great Falls, Mont.

Supt. Selleck, who will assume charge of the city schools with the beginning of the fall term, will arrive with his family on Thursday and will take up his residence on Jerome's addition, in the house recently completed by August Schuler.

Tuesday Judge Montague appeared before the United States land office and offered testimony to prove his right to purchase the 43-acre tract of land east of the city that has been in controversy between Messrs. Cunningham, Kelley and Jones and the Great Northern Railway company.

The teachers who have been writing for the examination have concluded their work, the second grade applicants finishing last night. There were 120 applicants in all, and the greater number of those who live outside the city left for their homes yesterday.

A letter has been received from Carl Riedesel, Jr., written to his parents in which he says that the work he is doing with the Norris & Rowe show is very agreeable to him and satisfactory to the management. He has been engaged as one of the clowns, and will have an opportunity to show his ability as an acrobat. He is now in Minneapolis.

The school board organized at the last meeting, A. A. Miller being named president, A. P. Hanson treasurer and Geo. F. Carpenter clerk.

Col. T. H. Benton, who heads the legal force of the Great Northern land department, arrived in the city Tuesday accompanied by James Stoddart, one of the employes of the office. They are here for the purpose of testifying before the U. S. land office in the case brought by R. J. Montague to prove his right to purchase the land east of the city, so long in question between the company and private claimants.

Home Seeker's Train

A train of thirteen cars arrived on the Great Northern from the east yesterday, and brought the largest number of people that ever arrived on home seekers' tickets. Every seat in each car was filled, and a number were on the coal bunkers, standing in the aisles or sleeping on the floor. They had come from eastern points attracted by the rate of fare, which was $13 from Chicago. A couple of hundred, perhaps more, stopped off here, but by far the greater number of them were ticketed to North Dakota points.

The Josher Joshed

His friends are still enjoying a laugh at the expense of J. G. Fleming, one of the corps of Polk county teachers, who has been telling his friends among the training school hand what fun it is to walk the logs and how he used to be an expert "river rat." He succeeded in getting two of them to attempt the feat, both of whom were ducked in knee-deep water. While showing them something fancy in the art Joe managed to get in where the water was over his head and had to swim ashore. Hence those smiles.

Commercial Reopened

The Commercial hotel, one of the oldest hostelries in Crookston, that has been closed during the past two months, was reopened to the public Monday, and super was served to the guests and boarders that night.

James McMannis, who has been conducting the Columbia hotel, has leased the Commercial and will hereafter conduct it. He has a large number of boarders and will doubtless get a share of the transient trade.

Mr. McMannis has proven to be a successful caterer to the wants of the traveling public, and during the short time he has been in charge of the Columbia has built himself up in favor of those who live in hotels.

This Would Break Parole

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 7.—F. L. Vought, a member of the electrical firm of Vought & Berger, who led the crowd that captured Cole and Jim Younger at Madelia, Minn., where he conducted the hunt, yesterday sent an invitation to the Youngers to come and visit him. Vought says the parole is a good thing and that they have had punishment enough.

Exposed to the Storm

Dawson, N. D., Aug. 7.—One of the sad events in connection with the storm here on Sunday was that the house four miles to the southwest where old Mr. Gregorson lay dying was unroofed. An oil cloth had to be used to protect him from the sheets of rain which fell, and when the storm abated and the oil cloth was lifted it was found the old man was dead.

Tramps Seize a Train

Mankato, Minn., Aug. 7.—The police were called on yesterday by a message from the conductor of the Omaha freight train, No. 20, St. James, to be at the station and arrest 15 armed tramps who had taken forcible possession of the train. The tramps dropped off at stations before reaching Mankato and none were left when the train arrived here. Tramps are numerous, while farmers come to the city daily begging for help to harvest the crop and offering large wages.

Home Seekers Still oCming

The incoming trains Tuesday brought a large contingent of land seekers and it is evident that the midsummer business will continue on the highly satisfactory lines that it has recently held.

The fall will show a large increase of those who had already rented farms in Iowa and southern Minnesota, when the year's activities began, and these parties will come during the winter to secure homes.

LOTS OF DIPHTHERIA

Fears Entertained of a Wide Spread Epidemic

Minneapolis, Aug. 7.—From present indications Minnesota will have a serious epidemic of diphtheria during the coming month.

The disease, unusually prevalent throughout the year, is increasing rapidly both in the number of cases and virulence. For the first five days of this month 26 cases were reported in the city, with 8 deaths. In July there was a total of 135 cases with 18 deaths. The total deaths thus far this year number 112, which is within one of the total for all of last year and almost three times the average for the past ten years. The record for last year was the highest in the history of the city with the exception of that for 1895, and the numbers of cases and deaths this year will be considerably larger than that of either last year or 1895.

The health authorities have no explanation for the situation.

CHEESE IN AN HOUR

A Possibility That Was Successfully Demonstrated to be Practical.

LESSONS GIVEN YESTERDAY

By Mrs. Wilcox at Experiment Station Before a Class of Farmers' Wives.

Mrs. Wilcox, of Benson, Minn., who demonstrates cheese making for farmers' wives in the interest of the State dairy association, gave a lesson to an interested audience at the Experiment farm yesterday afternoon. Previously Mrs. Hoverstad had extended an invitation to the farmers' wives she was able to reach, and all who responded were amply paid for their trouble. Mrs. Wilcox gave a talk as the work progressed. She said that cheese was an acknowledged essential as a health producing food, though to many it was felt to be a luxury beyond the pocket book, so as a result of a half dozen enthusiastic women at the Dairy Association, three or four years ago, the Women's Auxiliary was formed; then to better the conditions of the average butter makers, and now that cheese making was taking up a share of their attention. The first year the association donated $50 to this work, and for the last two years had increased this to $200. Through the courtesy of the Great Northern railroad Mrs. Wilcox was enabled to reach us without expense, and we know that could the management have been present it would have felt its kindness neither misplaced nor unappreciated. This is how she makes cheese almost without money or price. The only expense outside the farm is the coloring and rennet, a matter of a few cents. She constructs her own press and uses a wash boiler, a strainer, a toaster and an herb strainer for the rest of her utensils. Ordiarily the time required to get the cheese ready for the press is scarcely fore than an hour, while by the old fashioned methods the same was barely accomplished in much less time than all day, so that the average farmer's wife could not give the time required outside her other work. She cures her cheese in the cellar, a damp one being the best place for the purpose, and makes them with direct reference to a long or short time in which she wishes them to ripen. She will folow the lesson up with a printed set of explicit directions, which the ladies who attended can get soon by calling on Mr. Childs, free of charge. Now, the farmer's wives in this or any other section of the sate, who are so fortunate as to be able to hear Mrs. Wilcox or any one of her three associates in this work, should surely avail themselves of the opportunity, for it will be time well spent and knowledge gained which will enable them to provide their families with all the cheese they want at scarcely any expense and very little labor.

NORTHWEST TERRITORY

Prof. Hoverstad Tells of a Trip Over Canadian Northwest

A trip into the Canadian northwest at this time is very interesting. The crop in Assiniboia is very similar to the '95 crop in the Red River valley. Traveling along the C. P. R., the crop seemed to improve gradually for at least 300 miles west.

Our intention was to visit the experiment farms at Brandon and Indian Head. We were accompanied by Prof. S. B. Green of St. Anthony Park, and Superintendent H. H. Chapman, of Grand Rapids The plan of work is very similar at both farms, being directed by Dr. Sanders of the Central experiment station, Ottawa. The bulk of the work is testing varieties of grains, grasses, trees, shrubs, etc. Owing to the dry climate, and having only from 6 to 12 inches of rainfall every year, it is necessary to summer fallow their land every other year. Thereby they conserve the moisture one year for the crop the succeeding season. In this way their crop yields very heavily and is free from weeds. Supt. Bedford, of Brandon, said that in a ditch 8 feet deep and several thousand feet in length running through different fields on the farm, the soil was very moist, when going through fallowed ground, while it was very dry when going through meadow, or any crop where the soil was left undisturbed. When there is sufficient moisture they are very sure of a good crop. The only thing they are afraid of is an early frost.

Supt. Mackay, of Indian Head, said he would rather have five inches of rain than any other amount, more or less. This amount would insure a good crop every other year, or a fair to good crop two years out of three.

Wheat is practically the only crop raised at this time. Live stock is not introduced to any extent. Grasses and forage crops grow very well, but inasmuch as they have no stock to feed these crops to, they cannot profitably raise them now.

Shelter belts are planted very extensively on these experiment farms. Box elder is the tree chiefly used. This tree makes a very good close hedge, and can be trimmed to look very nicely. By enclosing small lots of one-half to one acre, they get protected places inside which the more tender trees, shrubs and small fruit can be grown. These farms are very ornamental and present a very good appearance.

Supts. Bedford and Mackay have done very much good in showing the possibilities of the country, and in assisting the new settler to begin from the start a system of agriculture suited to that country.

Series of Dinner Parties Given by the Crookston Cottagers

A series of dinners have been given during the past week among the Crookston cottagers who are summering at Maple Lake, and these events have been greatly enjoyed by all who have been in the circle.

Mrs. S. Rosenthal entertained on Tuesday of last week at Lakeside cottage, entertaining eighteen guests in her usual charming manner. On Tuesday Mrs. F. L. Duraud invited the same party to dinner at the Glen, and on Saturday Mrs. N. Rapin entertained.

Monday Mrs. M. Erickson bid the party to Cliff cottage, and added interest attached to the occasion by reason of the fact that it was the birthday anniversary of the hostess. The pretty cottage was decorated on the interior in lilac and white, and wild flowers in profusion formed a portion of the adornment. Each one of the guests received pretty favors, and the occasion was greatly enjoyed.

TRAFFIC DIRECTOR

Darius Miller Will Look After the Three Hill Roads

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Darius Miller, second vice president of the Great Northern, was in Chicago yesterday contemplating arrangements for locating here permanently as traffic director of the Burlington, Great Northern and Northern Pacific. He is to occupy the same relation to the northern lines as Mr. Stubbs to the Harriman lines. The date set for Mr. Miller's advent here is Aug. 15.

In addition to being traffic director of the three roads, Mr. Miller will have the title of vice president of the Burlington. It is understood that the two traffic directors will act in harmony with the traffic officials of other lines and in such a way that there will in effect be a traffic board which shall have the duty of smoothing over and adjusting all difficulties which may arise between western lines.

Revenue Office Removed

Southall-Abbott Nuptial

Cards are out announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Kate Southall of St. Paul, well known in Grand Forks, and Mr. Albert Abbott of Kalispell. Mrs. Wm. Hunt of Fargo will act as matron of honor and Miss Luella Thompson of East Grand Forks will act as maid of honor. After the marriage the young couple will make their home at Kalispell, where the prospective groom has a lucrative position.

Roberts-Scribner

Saturday at the office of Judge Holt the marriage of Miss Eva D. Scribner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Scribner of this city, to Mr. Lionel M. Roberts of Grand Forks, was solemnized. The bride has lived in the vicinity of Crookston since early childhood and is well known here, where she has a large number of friends. The groom is representing the Otto gas engines in this part of the state, and is a young man of excellent character and business qualifications. They will reside at Devils Lake for the present.

SCHOOL IS OUT

The Summer Course of Teachers' Training School Ended Today.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

Complimentary to the Corps of Instructors and Citizens Generally.

The Teacher's Training school that has been in progress here for the past four weeks closed today. The session has been very successful and the attendants have profited by the instruction, to a greater degree, perhaps, than in any previous year.

The following resolutions were submitted before the session closed and were adopted by a rising vote:

"We, the teachers of Polk county, in training school assembled, appreciating the efforts made in our behalf and desiring to make this appreciation felt by those who have so kindly rendered us their service, in order that we may be better fitted for our work as teachers, do hereby Resolve, That we extend our sincere and hearty thanks to the conductor, Hon. J. H. Lewis, and his assistants, Mrs. Stanford, Miss Telford and Messrs. Dewar and Miller, for the kind and helpful instruction, sympathy and advice given us during this sumer session. Each one of us will be more desirous to do his or her duty, and more successful in its execution through the efforts of our instructors.

Be it further resolved, That we extend our sincere thanks to Superintendent Oasey for the great benefit rendered us in procuring for us such an able corps of instructors, and for the kindly interest taken in our welfare.

Be it further resolved, That we extend our hearty thanks to the Royal Neighbors of this city, who so pleasingly entertained us. A great debt of gratitude is felt toward them and the event will always be considered as one of our most pleasant treats.

Be it further resolved, That we extend our thanks to the citizens of Crookston for the use of the school building and equipments, and for the pleasant time spent with them.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the county papers."

By order of Committee.

MONTH'S RECORD

Of Business Done by the Register of Deeds

Register of Deeds Christianson adds to the evidence of general prosperity and the increasing trend of the business of the county by compiling the figures representing the business done at his office during the month of July, and comparing with them the record of July, 1900. The increase over last year is upwards of 30 per cent. This is the way they read:

July, 1901—
Deeds, 194, fees	$180.50
Mortgages, 131, fees	176.50
Satisfactions, 121, fees	63.00
Miscellaneous, 123, fees	97.05
Total	$517.65
July, 1900—
Deeds, 117, fees	$109.75
Mortgages, 101, fees	133.25
Satisfactions, 77, fees	42.00
Miscellaneous, 119, fees	107.65
Total	$392.05

TERREBONNE CHEESE

Is the Best as Shown by Recent Contest

Northern Minnesota is coming to the front as a dairy country. For the first time on record a prize in the state markings has been taken by the Red River valley.

The prize winner lives at Terrebonne, Red Lake county, and his name is H. Clement. In the monthly state scoring contest Clement's cheese exhibit was marked first out of thirteen contestants. His mark was 96½. Clement is a Canadian who recently came to Minnesota and began making cheese at Terrebonne about the first of June.

The second prize this month went to A. W. Parkins of Stanton, Goodhue county, with a mark of 96.

HEALING SPRING

Free Corliss Has Discovered One of Great Medicinal Virtue

Free Corliss who is interested in the Steenerson-Pupore saw mill near Blackduck, other partners being Elias Steenerson of this city and J. R. Pupore of Grand Forks, went out east Saturday to see that the saws are kept buzzing. Mr. Corliss told a Journal representative of a wonderful mineral spring that he has discovered among the pine clad hills near the mill property, and the virtues of whose waters entirely eradicated from his system all traces of a chronic attack of rheumatism that he had acquired from lying too long at Grand Forks.

The Indians from the earliest date to which their legends can be traced have had the utmost faith in the efficacy of the waters thereabout for the healing of all diseases, and the stream into which the waters of the medical spring flow is the outlet of a body of water that they had named "Medicine Lake," on the banks of which the Chippewas gathered annually for their celebrated medicine dances.

Mr. Corliss proposes to form a stock company and bottle the water in order to place it on the market. He is very sanguine that there is a fortune in it for him, and relief for many of the ills that flesh is heir to, for those who use it. The spring itself is located in one of nature's beauty spots, and will some time continue the site of a sanitarium that will become noted throughout the United States, where suffering humanity exists.

TOOK TO THE JUNGLE

The Big Baboon Got Away from Norris & Rowe's Show.

During the performance of the Norris & Rowe circus here yesterday, an immense baboon escaped from its cage and resisted the attempts of the circus men to capture it by a show of fight that was too vigorous for any of them to go up against.

The animal made tracks for the river near the N. P. depot, and was followed at a respectful distance by a crowd of men and boys. It followed the stream to a point near the Jerome bridge, where it hid for a time, but was finally chased out, and across town to the vicinity of the oatmeal mill, and thence up Broadway to the northern part of the city, where it was finally captured.

The manager of the circus declared he would not tackle it in an attempt to effect its capture for a fortune, but one of the handy men around the cages was equal to the emergency and was handsomely rewarded for doing so.

An Extensive Traveler

Rev. A. Amdalsrud arrived this morning a day or two earlier than was expected. He was welcomed by all who have met him today, and his coming means considerable to the members of the Synod church, of which he will assume the pastorate. During the past two years Rev. Amdalsrud has traveled over considerable of the world, an account of his movements having been given from time to time in the Journal. He went to Norway on leaving Crookston, and thence to Rio Janeiro, South America, to do mission work. The conditions were such that he did not remain there but six months, and since leaving that post he has been to South Africa, returning via Bergen, Norway, where he reported, and then started immediately for Crookston.

Cozy Nook Farm

On ocasion of a recent visit to the beautiful home of farmer Alex Burnham of the town of Andover, by a Journal representative, he was authorized to select a name for the premises and anounce the same through the columns of the Journal.

The name, "Cozy Nook Farm," has therefore been selected as entirely appropriate, and emphatically suggestive of the impression made upon one's mind as he comes in view of the beautiful flower garden and the neatly aranged buildings, surrounded and sheltered by beautiful groves of trees on all sides.

Eldred's Needs

Eldred is a hustling little village still in its swaddling clothes, but has made up its mind that it has some needs, and proposes to supply them.

Application has been made for a depot, and the attention of the railroad and warehouse commissioners called to the matter. They visited Eldred a few days ago and are holding the application under advisement. The Eldredites declare that they also need a good hotel, a doctor and a drug store.

A Fine Piece of Flax

Frank Bivins and son, who live on section 9 in the town of Andover, have one of the prettiest pieces of flax in the country. It is very even in height, stands well on the ground and is entirely free from weeds. It is growing on land which was in timothy for two years, and was used for a sheep pasture last year. Mr. Bivins also raises a small piece of corn every year and has no difficulty in securing a fair yield of the ripe article. The small dent and early triumph both ripen easily every year with him.

To Save Her Child

From frightful disfigurement Mrs. Nonnie Galleger of La Grange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all her hopes. ELDRED'S CREAMERY

Is Furnishing a Number One Article of the Gilt Edged

A Journal representative recently visited the Eldred creamery and found an excellently equipped plant, turning out gilt edged, golden butter, under the supervision of Mr. W. A. E. Pfaff, formerly of Turtle River, Wis.

The building is new and was constructed according to the most approved plans, and is equipped with new modern creamery machinery throughout. It has now been in operation only a few weeks, and is receiving milk from about 250 cows, amounting to 3,000 pounds daily.

It is the intention to organize two more milk routes in the near future, and from these it is expected to increase the milk supply at least 1,000 pounds. The capacity of the creamery is 10,000 pounds of milk daily, and it is hoped that by another year the supply will reach this full limit.

The name "Red River Valley" has been adopted as the brand for the butter, two shipments of which have already been sent to Boston.

The officers of the association are John Sangstad, president; Fred Davis, vice president; Theodore Boyer, secretary; Andrew Elby, treasurer and John Lonne, manager.

These gentlemen are making a special study of the business and are conducting it along winning lines. It is sure to be a success.

TALKED DRAINAGE

Mass Meeting Held by Farmers on Snake River.

A mass meeting or convention of Marshall and Polk county farmers who live in the territory near the Red river that is drained by the Snake river and the drainage ditches that empty into it was held on Lower Snake last Saturday. There was a large attendance and the discussions at times became quite animated, though entirely harmonious. Two subjects engrossed most of the attention of the convention. One was the matter of the reimbursing of those farmers of Lower Snake who had suffered most severely from the recent flood in that region, and the other was the construction of a ditch that would make the recurrence hereafter of floods similar to this year's unlikely by carrying directly to the Red river much of the water that would otherwise flow into Snake river or the ditches that feed it. In respect to the former matter the meeting did not deem it advisable to attempt to fix responsibility upon anyone for the damages sustained, but appointed Haaken Haakenson, Martin Sands, John Walberg, Peter Nordlund and Martin Johnson a committee to consult an attorney for the purpose of ascertaining what, if any, mode of redress was open to the flood sufferers.

The ditch contemplated is to begin in the town of Forley in Polk county, and run directly to the Red river. Heretofore the county ditch in Polk county has emptied an immense volume of water into Snake river. Nearly all of this water will be diverted from the old ditch into the new one, in case the latter is dug, and the result will be very beneficial to the farmers along the lower end of the Snake.

A FLAT FAILURE

Two Men Attempt to Secure a "Raise" by Very Poor Bluff

D. McMillan, of Beltrami, had two men before Judge McLean Monday on the charge of attempting to extort money from him under a threat. The men have been working about Beltrami, and struck Mr. McMillan for the sum of $30, threatening unless he acceded to their demands they would charge him with a crime, and thinking that he would give up the amount asked rather than be accused. Mr. McMillan comes of the blood that does not scare, and the result of today's examination of the men is that they were fined $50 or given the alternative of spending 50 days in jail. They hadn't the money and took the jail sentence. The names of the parties are Frank Nelson and John Heade, and the next time they will take some other means of securing cash.

Oat Crop is Good

There is no discount on the oat crop this year except where drowned out or blown down by the wind. Outside of these exceptions there is invariably a good stand, and the heads are long and heavy. So far as they have reached maturity or nearly so the kernels are unusually sound and plump.

It is believed from present appearances, in the absence of future adverse conditions, the average yield will be from 35 to 50 bushels, while it is by no means rare to see fields that are good for 75 bushels per acre.

Dr. Heflin Dead

Dr. Heflin, once a resident physician of Argyle, died in prison at Stillwater last Friday. He was a good physician and surgeon, but his appetite for strong drink was the cause of his downfall. He also indulged in the use of cocaine and morphine, and while under the influence of these drugs he committed a crime for which he received a sentence of five years at hard labor in the Stillwater prison.

SUES THE COMPANY

Johnson Wants $10,000 from the East Grand Forks Lumber Co.

The Journal a few weeks ago published an account of a serious accident at the East Grand Forks Lumber company's mill as a result of which one of the oilers, a man by the name of Johnson, from Wisconsin, an experienced mill hand, lost one of his legs below the knee. At the time of the accident he was oiling some machinery on the lower floor of the mill when his foot slipped and was caught in a rapidly revolving wheel, tearing the limb nearly off below the knee.

The patient was taken to a hospital, where the mangled limb was amputated, and since that time Johnson has been doing fairly well. It develops however, that the end is not yet, as a suit for $10,000 has been started by the injured man against the company and the case has been placed in the hands of Gen. W. H. Standish. It is thought the trial will come up at the next term of the district court in this city.

Extensive repairs will probably be made on the Warren depot very soon. If the plans formed are carried out there will be separate waiting rooms for the sexes, the office proper will be made larger and more convenient and the freight business will be handled in a separate building.

BARRY ON STAND

Recalls Nothing of the Details of the Killing of Mellem.

MIND IS PERFECTLY BLANK

Rigid Cross-Examination Fails to Mix Him Up on Original Story.

Langdon, Aug. 5.—Interest in the Barry murder trial was at white heat on Saturday owing to the fact that the defendant was on the stand telling his story. His testimony was in brief as follows:

Met Mellem first 14 years ago; came to his house. At this time he did not stop there; was working for Tom O'Rourke at that time. The second year the road came into this county witness was at O'Rourke's one night and Mellem said he did not know where he was going to stay that winter; witness said he could come over and stay with him, so he came over next morning bringing his three horses with him; he remained during the winter and there was no charge made for keeping him; has worked for me most of the time in one capacity or another; read my letters and looked after my business, as I could neither read nor write.

Before Mary Ann, the sister, confessed to intimacy with Mellem, suspected there was trouble. She finally acknowledged the conditions, Mellem being present.

CRIED FOR AN HOUR.

Witness spoke first and asked how it happened. She answered: "It happened back at Tom's; I was not to blame the first time," and Mellem said "I was to blame for it, and am going to make it right now." The talk then followed about getting married. Mary Ann said she would not marry him, as he would not become a Catholic. Witness then said he would go and get the priest, but Mary Ann said no, she would die at the door first. Mary Ann cried the greater part of the day, as did witness; she got dinner that day; the last she ever got. Mary Ann went in the room after dinner and remained there crying. Mellem went out that evening and did the chores, returning about 9 o'clock.

Two days later Mary became insane and refused to eat; witness tried to feed her, but she would spit it out; she was pushing devils off of his shoulders most all the time. Mellem went to bed at midnight; witness stayed up and about 2 o'clock he heard a noise in the pantry; on opening the door he saw a devil about 3 feet high.

They then went upstairs into the room where Mellem was sleeping; he was sleeping in the opposite bed, but covered his head; witness thought he saw his mother behind the bed and told them to go down stairs and they went out of the room and down stairs. Mary Ann got out of the house twice and he brought her back.

Did not remember seeing Mellem after this, not even of killing him.

No recollection of a quarrel or fight with him. Has tried to recall the fact but cannot. First thing he remembered was when he came to the Columbia hotel at Langdon. The first meals he got in the jail he would not eat for fear the food was poisoned. About April 1 he got better; has taken pills to make him sleep.

Barry remained on the stand until Saturday evening, when court adjourned. He was subjected to a very rigid cross examination by Mr. Cochrane during the time, but the story he told in the direct examination was not shaken in any material particular.

WIRELESS TALK

Stations Will be Set up all Over the West

Denver, Col., Aug. 2.—The Pacific Wireless Telephone & Telegraph company and the Continental Wireless Telephone & Telegraph company, incorporated in South Dakota, are preparing to file their articles of incorporation with the Colorado secretary of state. Each company is capitalized at $5,000,000.

The Pacific company is to operate, it is stated, in Colorado, Utah, Nevada, California, New Mexico and Arizona, and the Continental in Wyoming, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Alaska. The Marconi and Dolter systems of wireless telegraphy are to be used. It is understood that the first instrument will be set up in Denver, with the possibility of the second being located at Salt Lake. Instruments will be set up at short distances on the Pacific coast and numerous stations will be inaugurated in Alaska.

NEW GRAIN FIRM

McKinnon, Smith & Co. Will Open in Minneapolis and Duluth

Alex McKinnon came up from Minneapolis Sunday, and to the Journal today he announces the fact that he has formed a partnership in the grain commission business, that will operate in the Twin Cities and Duluth. The style of the firm will be McKinnon, Smith & Co., and the main office will be 219 Corn Exchange. The second member of the firm is Chas. W. Smith, well known in the grain trade in the state, and a man of extensive capital who will be a silent partner, and whose name was not learned.

The company on Saturday filed its bonds with the railway and warehouse commission as required under the Griodeland law, and is ready to receive consignments.

Mr. McKinnon will proceed to Duluth and make arrangements for the opening of an office there, and the business of shippers will be looked after carefully at both points.

The popularity that has come to Mr. McKinnon through his connection with the state grain inspection department, will enable his firm to at once enter the field as a strong competitor, and this will be added to by his extensive acquaintance in the wheat growing region throughout the Red River valley. The other members of the firm are influential, and the success of the new commission house is assured in advance.

Mr. McKinnon's many friends are pleased that his change from a civil position to one of a private business nature promises so well.

SAD DROWNING

A Brainerd Young Lady Gets Beyond Her Depth.

Brainerd, Minn., Aug. 2.—Miss Lillie May Floyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Floyd of this city, was drowned Thursday afternoon in Big Horseshoe lake.

The young lady made a raft using two large logs and yesterday afternoon she pushed the raft from shore while they were all in bathing and although her father begged her not to go out too far, she lost control of the raft and jumped into the water where it was fifteen feet deep, and tried to get to shore. The girl came up three times and the last time the father had managed to work his way to where the girl was gasping for breath, but could not reach her, and she went down never to rise again.

Miss Floyd was 21 years of age and she was a particularly amiable young lady.

DOUBLE MURDER

Followed by Suicide of the Revolver Artist.

Sherburn, Minn., Aug. 2.—Fred Yost, a farmer, living northeast of Sherburn, shot Eliza Kunkel, her infant child and himself. Yost and the child are dead and the woman will die.

Coroner Janus of Welcome has been summoned. The motive was jealousy and revenge.

Some weeks ago Yost was arrested on a charge of illegitimate parentage Preferred by Mrs. Kunkel, his housekeeper. He was bound over to the grand jury. The woman was staying at Frank Viehahn's, who lives on section 36, Jay township, in the capacity of housekeeper, where Yost went to commit the deed.

There were no witnesses to the shooting. Yost has been considered partly crazy.

A Great Country

W. F. Street, who looks after legal matters for Beltrami county, spent the night in Crookston, returning from the Rainy River country, where he was called with Sheriff Bailey to quell a riot reported from Beaudette, which, on their arrival, proved to be a false alarm.

While Mr. Street did not get action as an officer, he did take time to look about the country and to observe the scenery and conditions.

He was accompanied by John Steidl also of Bemidji, and they have spent a week in the Little Fork country, where they own property. The country thereabout for a distance of 60 miles along the river and from 18 to 20 miles wide is a garden spot, and will raise anything that can be grown in northern Minnesota. There is a vast area of excellent farm land that has not yet been taken up, and the near future will see a wonderful development in that part of the state.

Hundreds Destitute

El Reno, O. T., Aug. 5.—Hundreds of home seekers who failed to draw a claim in the new Kiowa-Comanche country are selling their tents, horses and wagons at a sacrifice in order to reach their homes. Many others who have camped out the borders of the land for months expecting that it would be opened by a "run" are destitute, and already suffering is apparent. Hundreds are drifting south toward the projected towns of Anadarko, Hobart and Lawton, hoping that something may turn up.

The Josher Joshed

His friends are still enjoying a laugh at the expense of J. G. Fleming, one of the corps of Polk county teachers, who has been telling his friends among the training school bend what fun it is to walk the logs and how he used to be an expert "river rat." He succeeded in getting two of them to attempt the feat, both of whom were ducked in knee-deep water. While showing them something fancy in the art Joe managed to get in where the water was over his head and had to swim ashore. Hence those smiles.

THROUGH A BRIDGE

Locomotive and 12 Cars of Ore Go Through a New Iron Bridge.

AT STONY BROOK JUNCTION

Plunged Into Stream Killing Brakeman O'Reilly Who Was on Pilot.

Special to the Journal:

Stony Brook Junction, Aug. 5.—An ore train went through a bridge on the Hibbing branch of the G. N. system a mile north of this place yesterday and Brakeman Jerry O'Reilly lies underneath the engine, his body plainly discernible in four feet of water, where it must remain until a wrecking crew can be secured to lift the engine.

The scene of the accident was at the crossing of the St. Louis river on the Hibbing branch that was recently completed. An ore train, the first that has been run over the road, reached the new iron bridge at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was drawn by one of the immense engines used for heavy work, and when the center of the bridge was reached the structure gave way, precipitating the engine and twelve cars of ore to the bed of the stream.

The plunge was made in such a manner that the cab of the locomotive sticks out of the water, and the fireman and engineer both crawled out unhurt, but for a few slight bruises.

The unfortunate brakeman was at the time riding on the pilot of the engine, prepared to throw a switch a short distance ahead, and was pinned down to the bed of the stream where drowning speedily put an end to any suffering he would have endured from the fall.

The bridge, as stated, had just been completed and there is no cause assigned to the disaster.

Drainage is Needed

While it is true that as a whole the farmers are becoming widely awake to the importance of drainage provisions to such an extent as to draw off from the fields promptly all surplus water as soon as it has fallen, yet it is nevertheless true that there are many cases of crops drowned out in fields where an exit for the water could easily be provided for by a few hours work. A Journal representative while on a trip through the country recently, noticed some instances where a coulee or ravine headed in a field and within a few rods of several extensive pools of standing water, which had entirely killed out quite an area of the growing crops. Of course these are extreme cases of shiftlessness or ignorance, and yet they are to be found occasionally. But there are thousands of acres of crops which have this year been ruined, for want of a thorough system of drainage for the valley. And until such a system is inaugurated and put into operation the experience of this year is liable to be repeated in any year, as it has been in the past.

Preparing for Winter

A. P. Kirsch and Martin O'Brien are away for a trip to their claims in the Battle River district of the Red Lake country. While absent they will put up a few tons of hay, from their clearings, paris-green their potato vines, can a few jars of raspberries and make some choke cherry jelly that will come in handy during the long winter stay they intend to make in January. Each took a gun along to kill mosquitos.

Astounded the Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennetville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50 cents at A. G. Andresen's.

ELDRED.

O. A. Thompson of Bagley, Minn., is down for his fall's work.

The Climax ball team will play the home team here next Sunday. The score keeper will be expected to make the most scores, the umpire to be czar instead of emperor.

A game of base ball was played between the Eldred and Climax teams last Sunday resulting in a score of 18 to 23 in favor of the latter. By the way the Eldred boys fumed on their return one could tell they had lost, although we will admit that the umpiring and score keeping was extremely rotten and decidedly n favor of Climax.

A petition is now circulating endeavoring to have the Roome-Vineland town line ditched. This will evidently be a straight water course of about six miles and will naturally be the long-needed drain for Vineland township. We would suggest that the section lines south of this town line should be graded instead of having to dig a ditch. The so-called overflow water would thereby be led off and the country better improved.

DONALDSON.

A. Blomesness is out haying nowadays.

J. J. Lind will have a cook immediately.

Harvesting in this vicinity is in full blast now.

Herman Miller and Bessie Nichols visited Stephen Sunday.

Our old friend, Mike Chicago, made himself visible last Friday.

M. Borgesson entertained a few of his many friends last Sunday.

George Hallberg, our great northwestern hunter, is trying to sell his valuable gun.

Ole Myre, of Kennedy, was a pleasant visitor in town last Friday and Saturday.

The aged father of the Lind brothers arrived from Sweden Aug. 1, looking and feeling well.

Everyone in Donaldson was in Stephen Sunday. The attractions were simply irresistible.

Miss Annie Ford came up from Crookston last Friday to visit her parents. She will remain ten days.

S. O. Myre was the only one from Donaldson who visited "Peggy" during the exposition. Ole Myre taking his place during his absence.

The Donaldson base ball team went to Stephen to play the local team there last Saturday. A lot of scores were run in that were not counted.

A little party was had at C. G. Johnson's place on Tuesday evening in honor of his father's arrival from the old country. It was the old gentleman's birthday.

Conrad Miller is not through yet with his Fourth of July pig which he caught, it being the price that troubles him. He was sued here the other day on its account.

CARMAN.

Mr. Fred Rivard is on the sick list at present.

Alderman Arnold has one of the neatest dwelling houses in the Fifth ward now.

Carman is on the gain in population judging by the number of men that are making their stopping place here now.

The Hotel Berlin is more than crowded these days and Landlord Brown is doing his best in the way of accommodation.

Miss Emma Johason, who has been sick for a long time with lung fever, is on the gain and we hope to see her well soon.

H. R. Phillips is out in the country these days putting up wind mills. Harry has a great eye for getting a wind mill towen plumb.

Miss Florence Stewart and Miss Alva Bates gave a party in the club rooms last Friday evening and a good time was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Slowman have returned from their trip to Washington. Mr. Slowman is pleased with the country and maye go there to live.

Mr. C. A. Myers and Miss Katie McLaren are spending the week in Grand Forks visiting friends, and one of the young men of the Fifth ward is looking sad on account of the absence of Miss Kate.

CLIMAX.

Mr. and Mrs. John Braseth visited at Shelly on Friday.

Solomon Knutson severely injured his shoulder last Sunday.

Miss Emma Satermo came home last Wednesday from Donaldson, returning on Saturday.

Mrs. E. J. Eide returned last week from an extended visit with her parents at Rushford, Minn.

Mrs. F. Bonemie left last Saturday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. S. Locken at Bemidji, Minn.

The young child of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sather is still quite ill, but his recovery is ultimately looked for.

The ball game last Sunday between Climax and Eldred resulted in a score of 23 to 18 in favor of Climax. Mr. Julius Borsvold did some excellent work at the gat for the Climax team.

Mrs. Messner, A. Spokell, B. Spokell, Mr. B. Spokell, Ed. Evenson and Alex Spokell were visitors at the "Peg" last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Broberg, formerly of Hillsboro, have rented the rooms above Sather's harness shop, where they expect o conduct a laundry in the future.

Mrs. K. O. Ostby left last Saturday for Hendrum and Perley, where she will spend a couple of weeks visiting relatives.

Gunder, the young son of Ole E. Vraa, was kicked in the face by a horse last week while he was raking hay. The boy was brought to town in an unconscious condition for medical treatment. He was found to be suffering from a concussion of the brain and remained unconscious over 24 hours, but at present he is improving and his permanent recovery is looked for.

The Independent Elevator company has now almost completed the elevator building at this place and will be ready to handle grain as soon as the threshing commences.

Mr. John Fossum, while out exercising his fine driver "Kate," last week, became aware that she had become deaf. This is quite a misfortune for Mr. Fossum, as the animal is a thoroughbred Hambletonian and a fine driver, and John says, "she can step some." Mr. Fossum has refused big money for her from several of the boys who are lovers of fine horse flesh.

BIRKHOLZ.

Mrs. Trickey and her daughters were at the river on Sunday.

Miss Hilda Lindblom is staying with Mrs. Henry Olson during harvest.

Mrs. Erickson of Granville visited her relatives at this place last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson visited at And Anderson's, Manvell, N. D., on Sunday.

Miss Constance Locken who has been visiting relatives in the southern part of the state is home again.

Captain Rhinehart has purchased a new twelve foot cut binder. It has only been used a few hours and has not given good satisfaction so far.

Nearly all the farmers in this vicinity are harvesting at the present time, and we notice two shockers after each binder. There is a great quantity of twine being used, and the crop is the heaviest for years.

LENGBY.

Plums are getting ripe and there will be a big crop.

Rev. Nesseth will hold service in the Synod church Sunday.

John and Henry Aspli left for the Dakota harvest fields Sunday.

Martin Willborg, of Willborg postoffice, was a visitor here Sunday.

Geo. Lillo left for Grafton, N. D., Thursday to take in the harvest.

Kalmar Malstad went to Fosston on Friday to work during the harvest.

Inger Siegstad went to Fosston Monday to do some surveying for John Carlson.

Miss Cora Eaton and Miss Galaway came our from Fosston and visited with friends Sunday.

N. O. Nilson took his threshing engine to Fosston Saturday to prepare it for the threshing season.

John Riste of Leon, Red Lake county, came down for a few days' visit with friends here Saturday.

HORRIBLY BURNED

Accident to Four Minneapolis Women--One Will Die

Minneapolis, Aug. 8.—Mrs. B. Woolman and her two grown up daughters, Elma and Annie, and a sister, Miss L. Wheeler, were painfully burned in a fire resulting from a newspaper blowing into the flame of a gasoline stove. The flames from the burning paper ignited the women's dresses. Each attempted to help the other and in the meanwhile the flames spread to their hands and faces.

The entire upper part of the body of Annie Woolman was fairly cooked, and her mother, Mrs. Woolman, received painful injuries about the face and hands in attempting to assist her children. Emma Woolman and Miss Wheeler received slight but painful injuries about the face, hands and feet. It is thought that Annie Woolman will die.

Whipped by Whitecaps

Kokomo, Ind., Aug. 8—Sixteen whitecappers called last night at the home of Wm. Gare, near Poplar Grove, took him to the woods, tied him to a tree and whipped him until the blood ran. Gare, it is alleged, had abused his wife and four year old son.

THE CALL ISSUES

President Shaffer Calls Out all Operatives in the Steel Combine.

GREATEST STRUGGLE KNOWN

In History of Capital and Labor ---Wheels Will Stop Saturday.

Pittsburg, Aug. 7.—The die is cast. The battle of the giants is on in earnest, whether to the ignominious defeat of one side or the other, or compromise remains to be seen. Up to last evening it has been merely a skirmish, each side trying to find a vulnerable spot in the other's armor. Now it is different, brought about by the actual issuance by President Shaffer of the long talked of general strike order. This order was promulgated last evening to take effect after the last turn of the mills on Aug. 10. What the result will be no man can foretell, but judging by the expressed determination of both parties to the controversy, the battle will be waged fast and furiously. Much money will be lost, great suffering is looked for, even bloodshed and death are possible and feared.

The strike call includes practically all Amalgamated men in the United States Steel corporation employ not now on strike. It was issued from the Amalgamated association headquarters and mailed to all Amalgamated lodge officials who are expected to call their men into the strike. The text of the call follows:

> "Brethren: The officials of the United States Steel trust have refused to recognize as union men those who are striving for the right to organize. The executive board has authorized me to issue a call upon Amalgamated and other union men in name and heart to join movement to fight for labor's rights. We must fight or give up forever our personal liberties. You will be told that you have signed contracts; but you never agreed to surrender those contracts to the United States Steel corporation. Its officers think you were sold to them just as the mills were, contracts and all.
> "Remember, before you agreed to any contract you took obligations to the Amalgamated association. It now calls you to help in this hour of need.
> "Unless the trouble is settled on or before Saturday, Aug. 10, 1001, the mills will close when the last turn is made on that day.
> "Brethren, this is a call to preserve our organization. We trust you and need you. Come and help us and may right come to a just cause.
> Fraternally yours,

Affects 100,000 Men

Pittsburg, Aug. 7.—The order of President Shaffer is expected to swell the number of idle men to over 100,000 men at the end of the week. President Shaffer was asked if the call was not intended to go to the union men in the Carnegie Steel company. He said that he answered no questions on that score. The Amalgamated association has lodges in the upper and lower mills of the Carnegie Steel company, and a foothold in the Homestead, Duquesne and Braddock mills, of the great bulwark of non-unionism. In conformity to statements that have been made by President Shaffer before these men will be expected to join the strike, as will all Amalgamated men and sympathizers in all the plants of the United States Steel corporation.

NO ADVANTAGE

One Mill Opens and Another Closed by Strikers

Pittsburg, Aug. 8.—In the big steel strike honors are even in this section. The Amalgamated association succeeded in closing down the big steel plant at New Castle and the manufacturers partially broke the strike at the Clark mill in this city. Neither side is exulting, nor is there any expression of discouragement; victory or defeat of either at this early stage of the warfare can have but little effect beyond indicating the probable line of battle to be pursued by each. Up to today not the slightest trouble has occurred at any point in this immediate territory and the Amalgamated men are correspondingly happy because this condition would seem to be the carrying out of the association's new departure in this handling of strikes.

The United States Steel corporation, it was learned from an official source, will at once proceed in a systematic manner to start its closed mills, making the non-union plants of the Kiameshi valley the spot where strike breakers will be trained and then sent out to the mills that are closed. So far as President Schwab is concerned, no overtures will be made by the trust to the workers. In a talk with a Pittsburg man in New York he said:

> "We have made our last proposition and will now proceed to start our works."

President Shaffer makes the counter statement:

> "The next proposition must come from the United States Steel corporation."

Thus the two executives stand. It seems as if only outside efforts can bring them together.

TILLMAN ON LYNCH LAW

Upholds It and Says Negroes Must Stop Voting

Marinette, Wis., Aug. 6.—United States Senator Benjamin F. Tillman, of South Carolina, addressed a large audience on the race question from a southern standpoint. One of the features of his remarks was a plea in justification of lynching.

"In Wisconsin you have 5,000 black men," he said. "Why don't you try the bleaching process, and exterminate them by inter-marrying? The idea is repugnant to you. In South Carolina we have 750,000 blacks and 550,000 whites.

"The carpet baggers, the 'nigger' and the southern scalawags and scoundrels ruled us after the war until they had stolen everything that there was in the state; then we went with our shot guns to the polls and took it away from them. All men are not created equal, and the 'niggers' are not fit to vote. Come what may, the white people of the south will govern their own country."

Mr. Tillman made an eloquent plea in justification of lynching, saying that southern women could not be brought into court to testify to their shame and degradation before a jury for the purpose of convicting a beast. H's reference to the sanctity of the southern household and the southern women and his remarks on lynching were heartily applauded.

He closed with an impassioned statement to the effect that the white people of the south would remain on top, "in spite of the devil," and if necessary he and his brethren were ready to take down their shot guns again.

TERRIBLE FLOODS

Thousands Drowned in China as a Result of Overflow of the Yang Tse.

TWENTY THOUSAND PERISH

In One District---Towns Swept Away---River Rises Forty Feet.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 8.—Great floods caused by the overflowing of the Yang Tse have caused the death of many thousands in China. The river has risen forty feet and for hundreds of miles the country is a great lake with only the tops of the trees and an occasional roof showing. At Anking the native town is flooded and two feet of water stands in the foreign settlements. Lower down the river towards Swu Hue the destruction was greater and boatmen estimate that 20,000 were drowned in the district. Chong Teh was wiped away by the floods and 10,000 drowned there and many other points have been inundated, involving an awful loss of life and great destruction to property. It was feared the embankment built by Chong Chen Tung, near Wu Chang, would break and cause the drowning of hundreds of thousands.

The news was given in the Empress of Japan advices that the Hong Kong police seized on July 16, in a house in Queen road, many hundred new Mansers, old hammer and needle guns, several hundred revolvers and Chinese horse pistols with ammunition of every kind and reloading and recapping tools. A Chinese junk owner says his vessel had been chartered by Europeans to land arms in Samal.

LOST IN THE WOODS

Wandered Two Days and Went Against a Bear

Last Tuesday Ole Anderson, who lives ten miles east of here started for town. In leaving Skimmerhorn's place he got off the road and wandered around from that time until Saturday, when he struck the road coming into town from the north. He was out the two days and nights without any shelter or anything to eat. Saturday morning he met the largest bear he ever saw. His brother set out from here to look for him, but in the meantime Ole found his way in, nearly used up.—Blackduck Times.

Latest estimates place the damage by the hail storm of August 4 in the souther part of North Dakota at a quarter of a million dollars.

ROASTED A NEGRO

Mob Does the Stake Burning Act Down in Alabama.

CONFESSED HIS GUILT

Was Run Down With Blood Hounds and Identified by Victim.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 8.—John Wesley Pennington, a negro, was burned at the stake near Enterprise, Ala., before a crowd of 500 enraged and determined citizens of Cogee county yesterday morning. The mob was composed of both whites and blacks, and though the suffering wretch pleaded for merc and frantically endeavored to break the chains that tightly bound him, not a trace of sympathy was shown on the faces that peered at him through the flames.

Pennington has committed a brutal assault upon Mrs. J. C. Davis, wife of one of the most prosperous farmers of Coffee county, and confessed his guilt. The crime was committed yesterday while Mrs. Davis was gathering vegetables in her garden. She was stooping over plucking tomatoes when Pennington slipped up from behind and threw her to the ground. He choked the fear stricken woman into insensibility, accomplishing his intention and fled through the woods near by. As soon as she regained her senses Mrs. Davis crawled to the house and told her husband what had happened. A large posse was quickly organized with blood hounds and they chased the negro until early in the morning, when he was captured in a swamp. He was bound hand and foot and taken back to the Davis house for identification, after which he was summarily punished as above noted.

VALUABLE CLAIM

Drawer of First Prize in Land Lottery With $50,000

Fort Sill, O. T., Aug. 8.—John Wood, of Weatherford, O. T., who drew No. 1 in the Lawton land district, created a senastion at the land office, when, in filing on his claim, he chose the four forties running the entire length of the townsite on the south. According to the government plan, the two most valuable sections in the whole reservation were made to adjoin the townsite on the south.

Miss Mattie Beals, the Wichita, Kansas, telephone girl, who had drawn No. 2 from the wheel, had counted on selecting one of these, but when Wood made his selection she had to content herself with a tract south of Wood's, away from the townsite. Wood's claim is valued at $50,000.

Earl Lacey, 13 years old, was drowned Sunday in the Nemadji river. He disappeared from among a party of bathers without them noting his absence.

CREAMERY FACTS

Worthy of Thoughtful Consideration by Farmer Readers of the Journal.

BUTTER FACTORIES NEEDED

To Establish Agricultural Interests of Red River Valley on Substantial Basis.

Having been for some time past interested in the evolution of the creamery as a factor in northern Minnesota agriculturism, the writer has had recent opportunity to visit three of Polk county's creameries, and make inquiries in regard to the results that are being attained. He has also had opportunity to visit other parts of the valley that are thus far out of reach of creameries, and has been forcibly impressed with the great advantage the creamery farmers have over those not in reach of a creamery, other things being on an equal basis.

There are a few conditions which are absolutely essential, however, to the successful and profitable operation of a creamery.

Of course, the cow is the foundation of the creamery, and the first essential to the financial success of the creamery is the requisite number of cows. It goes without saying and is universally understood that the larger the output of a factory of any kind upon a given total expense, the greater will be the net profit to the owner or owners. This fact is as true in relation to the creamery business as it is with other manufactures. The management and other running expenses of a creamery are practically the same whether it is turning out 2,000 pounds of butter a month or 10,000 pounds in the same time. So that if the expense of manufacturing the 2,000 pounds amounts to six cents per pound, the 10,000 pounds will undoubtedly come at less than two cents a pound.

This would make a difference of four cents a pound to the farmers. So that, while probably 400 to 500 cows would justify the establishment of a creamery, 700 or 800 will insure more emphatically satisfactory results. And while the creamery may commence with the smaller number, it would not be wise to establish it without a substantial possibility of reaching in time the larger number named.

The abundant supply of pure water is also a fundamental necessity, and another one is good drainage. Without the latter the highest results in quality of the product cannot be attained, no matter how much care is exercised inside the building in handling the cream. Location with reference to this point is of more consequence than with reference to convenience of access to it.

Again, the most successful way in which to manage a creamery business with the maximum profit and advantage to the farmers, is by the farmers themselves through co-operative association. The expenses can in this way be kept at the minimum and the maximum of advantage in the way of net profits will inure directly to the patrons, who will of course also be the owners of the creamery.

The Fertile creamery has reached a point this season where its patrons are realizing extremely gratifying results, and are becoming enthusiastic in regard to it.

Mr. C. Siverson is in charge of the creamery as butter maker, and is turning out a product which is commanding the highest price in the New York market to which it is shipped. They are now receiving 22 cents per pound and this leaves the net returns to the patrons, 16 cents.

Cream only is received, and this is partly from separators and partly from gravity process, either kind being acceptable if properly taken care of prior to delivery, which is rigidly insisted on in every case. Seven hundred cows are now contributing the cream, which is gathered by three teams. The cream territory is divided into six routes, and collection is made every alternate day. This supplies about 300 gallons of cream daily for manufacture which is, however, increasing. The capacity of the factory is 450 pounds of butter daily, and the management is ambitiously hoping to increase their business until it shall be the largest of the kind in the northwest.

The Beltrami and the Eldred creameries are now in the first year of their experience, but are each of them established upon a basis which, with judicious management in the future, is sure to result satisfactorily and profitably to their promoters.

The Eldred creamery is equipped with a separator and either whole milk or cream is received, at the option of the patrons.

The chief advantage of the creamery and the attendant development of the stock raising industry, is not in the direct income from the milk product. It is in the inevitable elevation of the method of farming, the equally inevitable improvement of the fertility of the soil, and in the minifying of the uncertainty element which is so prominent in connection with exclusive crop raising husbandry.

Prominent among the localities which should early take steps to establish a creamery, is Nellsville, in the southwestern part of the county. This is one of the most delightful parts of the Red River valley, is favorably situated with reference to drainage facilities, and as a rule its lands are in the hands of careful, thorough-going farmers.

But in the absence of a creamery they are under a handicap in their efforts to develop their farms to the highest possible degree of productiveness and profit.

To arouse and stimulate an interest in the creamery industry in this and other similarly needy localities in the valley, is the paramount object of this article. As these creameries are established and conducted upon a proper basis, and within properly distributed tributary areas, the agricultural interests of the valley will certainly be materially advanced, and husbandry become more surely profitable.

MANUFACTURERS AHEAD

Seem to Have a Slight Advantage Over Operatives in Big Fight

Pittsburg, Aug. 13.—The struggle for the mastery between the manufacturers and their men in the steel industry is now fairly launched, and on the first show of strength the advantage is with the former. The general strike order issued by President Shaffer of the Amalgamated association has so far been obeyed by only about 14,000 men, according to the best figures obtainable here. The first two preliminary calls were answered by about 45,000 men so that the total number now out is in the neighborhood of 60,000. The strikers made gains here yesterday over the showing of Sunday night, and their prospects for further accessions at both McKeesport and Wheeling during the week are very favorable. The action of the Amalgamated men at Chicago, Joliet and Bayview in refusing to come out and the failure to secure any recruits in the Carnegie group throughout the Kiskiminetas valley and the big plants at Youngstown and Columbus, O., have been markedly disappointing to them. They are keeping up the fight, however, in a spirited manner and claim that they have strength in reserve which will surprise their opponents. They assert that they have gained a foothold in the Carnegie mills in this city and at the time desired the men will come out. They are pressing their advantage at McKeesport and Wheeling and their organizers are still at work in these two cities. President Shaffer has decided to personally visit Wheeling and will go there Wednesday to address a mass meeting of his followers. He planned spending today here directing the fight and conferring with his assistants as to plans for the future. Appeal for financial aid has been made to organized labor and the general public and it is said that the responses to it will be liberal. The Amalgamated leaders were not disposed to do much talking today. They would not discuss the desertion of their western fellows, although Shaffer made what was evidently intended for a brief reference to them in a short statement he gave out at noon. Another declaration in the same interview was regarded as highly significant here. It was to the effect that no effort would be made to call out the members of the American Federation of Labor and that any action on their part must be voluntary.

Officials of the National Tube company and Mayor Black clashed over the protection of non-strikers and property. A large crowd of strikers assembled around the works and their pickets intercepted the tube workers on their way to the mills. There was some excitement and the mill officers, claiming that their men were being threatened and in danger of violence, called on Mayor Black to clear the streets and protect them. The mayor said that he would only interfere to stop actual rioting and assault. Two other appeals were made to him later in the day, but he insisted that there was no danger of an outbreak. Another crowd gathered at noon when the tube men were leaving the plant, and while the workers were jeered, no violence was offered. The strikers say that it is only a question of time when material will give out and the tube men must quit. Otherwise, it is believed that there would be serious trouble in McKeesport.

First Violence

Warren, O., Aug. 13.—The first violence during the present steel workers' strike in the Mahoning valley occurred at Niles yesterday afternoon when an angry crowd of tin mill men surrounded the Erie train from Lisbon. But for the prompt action of the police five men would have been mobbed. Excitement runs high at Niles and if any attempt is made to operate the tin mill there serious trouble will result.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

Antony Tibesar a Deaf Mute, Ground to Pieces Under the Cars Last Night

LAD WAS GOING TO WORK

Took a Short Cut on the Track and Was Run Down by Switch Engine and Five Cars.

The life of Antony Tibesar went out under the wheels on the Great Northern track south of the railroad bridge across the Red Lake river at 7 o'clock Tuesday night.

The case is rendered more distressing by the fact that the dead boy was a deaf mute. The young man was the son of Peter Tibesar, a long-time resident of the city, and was employed on the night shift in the lumber mill.

Last night he took his dinner pail as usual and started from home about 6:30. When he came to the bridge he passed two lads who were working in the mill and motioned to them to accompany him. They were waiting for another of the boys, however, and he went on alone.

He had crossed the bridge and proceeded to a point about one hundred yards on the other side, when a switch engine pushing five cars overtook him throwing him to one side across the rails in such a manner that the entire train passed over him. The brakeman and one of the boys who were on the first car saw him and called to the young man to get off the track, but not realizing that he could not hear either their voices or the noise of the approaching train, they did not signal the engineer to stop the train until it was upon him.

The train was stopped as soon as possible, but not until the engine, tender and five cars had passed over and crushed all life from the lad.

The body was terribly mangled. All the bones in his legs and pelvis were stripped of the flesh and crushed, one foot being completely severed from the body. The head and arms, however, were left nearly intact.

The boy was 17 years of age but small. He had received some education at the Faribault school for defectives and was bright and active, and well thought of by those who knew him.

Coroner Chesterman and Dr. Dampier were summoned immediately after the accident, the latter arriving first. A glance was sufficient to show that life was extinct and the body was taken to Chesterman's undertaking rooms.

An inquest will be held tomorrow at 4:30 p. m., and those who were in a position to know something of the accident will tell the jury what they know of the facts.

THE FISHER BRIDGE

Threatens to Take a Tumble to Itself Into the Drink

The county bridge over the Red Lake river at Fisher is in a condition that warrants the belief that if the authorities do not move at once in the matter or giving it attention, it will collapse.

C. U. Webster, of that village, came to Crookston this morning and drove to the residence of Commissioner Eastman, who has called a meeting of the bridge committee to meet there and devise plans to prevent the disaster.

The cause of the trouble is of long standing, and has existed ever since the structure was built. It is due to the fact that the bank into which the piling which supports one end of the bridge continually slides toward the stream. This was met at first by raising the end of the bridge and placing it on rollers. The sliding process has continued until there is danger of the unsupported end of the bridge overbalancing the structure, and that the whole may tumble into the river.

SHAMROCK IS HERE

The Cup Challenger Makes Quick Trip to Sandy Hook

Sandy Hook, N. J., Aug. 13.—Shamrock II, Sir Thomas Lipton's second challenger of America's cup, in tow of her consort, the big steam yacht Erin, arrived off Sandy Hook lighthouse shortly after 11 o'clock last night and anchored for the night just inside the lightship half an hour later.

A newspaper tug and the tug boat James R. Lawrence with David Barrie, Sir Thomas' personal representative in this country, aboard, had been cruising off Sandy Hook for two days awaiting the appearance of the foreign cup hunter. When off the lightship the Erin burned her signals, green and red with a greenstar and the tugs ran alongside.

Greetings on both sides were hearty but beyond saying the yacht had encountered fine weather neither Captain Matthews, of the Erin, nor Captain Sycamore, of the challenger, would give details of the trip. That they regarded it as a fine performance was evident from Captain Matthews' ejaculations of surprise when informed that the tugs had been on the lookout for her two days.

"Give her a chance," he shouted. As a matter of fact the actual time of the Shamrock II is less than 14 days, counting her stop of one day at St. Michaels, Azores, a day better than the time of the old Shamrock, which was far and away better than that of any former challenger.

The yachting sharps on board the tugs had no opportunity to size up the latest aspirant for the honor of lifting the cup.

She lay simply a thin black smudge on the dark waters, looking strange with her stunted jury mast and queer sloop rig with her jib and forestays carried in board. She carries the jury mast of the old Shamrock, but her topmast is 15 feet shorter, so that the distance from deck to truck is possibly not over ninety feet.

She was towed in today by the tug Robert Hadden, the first tug to speak to her under instructions from Sir Thomas before she left to accept the first tow offered. After passing quarantine she will be towed to the man of war anchorage off Tompkinsville and later to the Erie basin where she will be stripped and her mast stepped preparatory to going into dock.

THE BLOCK SYSTEM

Inaugurated by the G. N. Between Here and Cass Lake

Lineman Will Hall has been putting in some busy days during the past month, and has succeeded in placing the telegraph lines into every station, great and small, between Crookston and Cass Lake, with the exception of Burwell and Benoit.

The great number of work trains now being run on the line between Crookston and the pine country, together with the logging trains and the regular freights, have made that the busiest part of the Great Northern trackage this year. The time is not far distant when the wheat trains will commence to roll, and the company has decided to inaugurate the Block system.

An operator will be stationed at each point and a chief dispatcher will control the movements of all trains, allowing none to enter the limits of one block unless the track is absolutely clear. The present dispatcher is A. M. Stotlar, until recently stationed at Carman, and he now has his office at Lenghy.

LOSES HIS WORKING HAND

Same Old Thing, He Grabbed the Gun by the Muzzle

Erskine, Aug. 14—The accidental discharge of a gun cost Henry Johnson of this place his right hand yesterday. The lad had gone out into a boat taking his shot gun with him in the hope of getting a shot at a duck. The gun was laid in the prow of the boat with the muzzle turned toward him.

After going some distance he turned to get the gun, taking it in such a way that his right hand covered the end of the barrels. As he pulled the gun toward him the trigger caught on something and the charge passed through his hand, tearing a piece out of the palm nearly three inches in diameter.

The boy managed to get the boat to shore and Dr. Olson was summoned to dress the wound. He will lose most, if not the entire hand.

The lad is a son of Even Johnson, who is well known in this part of the county.

FLOUR ON FREE LIST

Chinese Protocol Agreed Upon by the Powers

Washington, Aug. 13.—The state department has received a cablegram from Mr. Rockhill, at Peking, reporting that the draft of the final protocol has been agreed upon. A tariff of 5 per cent advalorem will be put in force two months after the signing of the final protocol, excepting on goods shipped within ten days after signing, and will continue until the conversion to specific rates has been effected by the expert commission. The Chinese free list will include rice, foreign cereals and flour, gold and silver bullion and coin.

This inclusion of flour in the free list is of much importance, particularly to Pacific coast shippers.

First New Wheat

Duluth, Aug. 13.—The first new wheat arrived yesterday, two cars from Campbell, Minn. Both were smutty and off grade. It is unsatisfactory for new wheat.

RUMORS IN THE AIR

Concerning a Settlement of the Strike That Can Not However be Confirmed.

LOSS RUNS INTO MILLIONS

A Fact That is Influencing Both Sides---Complete Tie-up at McKeesport.

Pittsburg, Aug. 15.—Rumors of a settlement of the steel strike are again being revived, but confirmation of them at any source is impossible.

It is related circumstantially that Amalgamated knows it cannot win; that the United Steel corporation fears the loss of both skilled men and others to the independent mills, and that it is close to terms which will be satisfactory to both.

The strike situation can be generally summarized as follows: In round numbers the last strike order by President Shaffer has been obeyed by 20,000 men and the total number of men who struck or were rendered idle by all three orders is now placed at 65,000 men. The manufacturers continue to hold their ground at Chicago, Joliet, Bayview, Youngstown, Columbus, the Kishimiaetas valley and in all of the Carnegie plants except the lower Union mill in Pittsburg. In the latter the strikers have made some gains, but the general result there is still in doubt. The steel managers also count the refusal of the furnacemen of the Mahoning and Shenanga valleys to strike as a victory. The steel corporation also scored in re-opening two mills at the Painter plant in Pittsburg and in forcing the opening of the Crescent tin plate plant at Cleveland. The strikers scored heavily at McKeesport when nearly 3,000 men and boys of the National Tube company joined the forces of the strikers and tied the plant up. They claim to have further extended their organization among the men of the Carnegie mills in this city and say that before the end of the week they will have the works stopped. They also expect to completely close down everything in the Wheeling district and assert that the last man will go out, after the mass meeting to be addressed by President Shaffer. The strikers are also completely in control at Bellaire and Mingo Junction. Good order still rules.

SOME HAIL FELL

Thief River, Warren and Angus Visited Yesterday

The valley was visited by some heavy showers Monday, and as a result wherever they fell the harvest work has been suspended. The worst feature of the visitation was the hail that fell in some districts, although later reports do not indicate that this is as serious as at first reported.

The rain extended from a point north of the city well up into Marshall county, and was particularly severe about Angus and Warren. The hail stones that fell along the line of the Great Northern were small and scattered over a considerable period of time, and so did not do the damage that they otherwise would. Southeast of Warren and about Angus some crop damage is reported, and all along the line well up into Kittson county the binders are idle today, as the fields are too wet to get onto. A report from Thief River Falls says that glass in buildings on the west side of town was demolished. The heaviest of the hail fell in North Dakota.

In the vicinity of Larimore there was a heavy downpour of rain accompanied by hail which has done considerable damage to standing grain. The storm did not extend west of Larimore, but passed on to the east over into Minnesota. The storm reached as far southwest as Steele county, from which point considerable damage is reported in the vicinity of Hope.

The hail storm in the vicinity of Blanchard, Traill county, has done considerable damage. In the vicinity of Mayville there is also reported losses by hail.

CARNEGIE LOOSENS UP

Promises $20,000 for a Public Library Building in Grand Forks

Grand Forks is to have a new public library building at once, Andrew Carnegie having offered to donate $20,000 for the purpose on the usual conditions that the citizens would furnish a site for the building and guarantee a yearly appropriation by the city of $2,000 for the maintenance of the library.

It has been known for some time past that there was a concerted movement on foot to induce Mr. Carnegie to determine upon Grand Forks as one of the objects of his liberality, and a letter received from him a few days ago, dated Skibo Castle, Scotland, conveyed the good news that he had decided to make a donation of $20,000 to Grand Forks for a library, provided the city would agree to the usual conditions which he imposes, and the meeting of business men last evening was called for the purpose of getting the opinion of a representative gathering of business men of Grand Forks. A meeting was held last night and the expressed sentiment was that the offer of Mr. Carnegie should be accepted, and that at once.

It was decided that in the neighborhood of $2,500 would be necessary to purchase a site centrally located, and the means of raising this amount was then discussed. This matter was simplified by the munificent offer of John Birkholz to be one of five men to donate $500 each to raise the necessary amount for the site, that all smaller subscriptions might be devoted to the purchase of books for the library, as the $20,000 from Mr. Carnegie will be devoted entirely to the erection of a building.

A committee was named to solicit funds and to negotiate for a site. The law provides for a one mill tax for maintenance.

MARSHALL'S ORDERS

Chief Grain Inspector Checks Up the Subordinates a Bit

All assistant chief inspectors and all deputy inspectors of the Minneapolis branch of the state grain inspection department have received orders from Chief Grain Inspector Marshall to "keep off 'change" from this time on.

The order, which has the full sanction of the railroad and warehouse commission, will end a practice which has, in times past, been embarrassing and which might easily become dangerous.

Chief Inspector Marshall yesterday admitted that such a ruling had been made. It was, he said, for the best interests of all concerned, and would put the inspection bureau on a more independent footing.

The order is more important than would appear on the surface.

The assistant chief inspectors and chief deputies in the Minneapolis inspection bureau have for years made a practice of appearing on 'change every morning. Their intention originally was to watch the results of the inspections made in the railroad yards by deputy inspectors. But abuses grew out of the practice. It was found that the wishes and judgment of grain owners were frequently reflected in the decision made by the chief deputies. In many instances they have favored the grain dealers, perhaps against their own good judgment. They formed friendships on 'change, and sometimes would give their friends the benefit of a far-fetched doubt. No charges of dishonesty, so far as known, have been made.

A Few Facts About Climax

Climax is on quite a substantial basis as a village and is rapidly forging to the front rank of county towns It has three elevators, two good hotels, the usual complement of stores of various classes, a good school, with two departments, a bank, etc., etc.

It has also a very efficient stationary fire engine, equipped with 1,500 feet of hose, and the volunteer fire department successfully demonstrated its efficiency on the occasion of the Steenerson fire, which occurred there a few months since. The boys practice evenings and are becoming very proficient in handling the hose.

The Climax Roller Mill is one of the neatest institutions of its kind in the country. It is equipped with up-to-date machinery, and is managed by its proprietors, the Braseth brothers, who thoroughly understand their business. Its capacity is 100 barrels of flour per day, and the quality of its "Splendid" brand is said to be second to none.

Striker Jailed

Kansas City, Aug. 13.—Judge Hook, in the federal court at Leavenworth, Kan., Saturday sentenced W. Barry, a striker, to four months' imprisonment in jail for contempt of court, for trying to prevent Isaac Turner, a non-union man, from working at the Riverside Ironworks in this city. The federal court in a previous order enjoined the strikers from interfering with the non-union men working for the Riverside Ironworks.

THIRSTY JANITOR

Tom Thompson at the Opera Block is a Swiper as Well as a Sweeper.

JUGFULS OF RED LIQUOR

Are Found Stored Away in His Room---Caught in the Act.

Medard Mercil, who deals in wet goods in the Opera House block, has during the past week had an idea that stock was being swiped from his basement, and confided to Chief Creamer, who advised the placing of a man on watch. He did so Friday, and in the gray dawn of the morning was rewarded by catching the offender.

As the watchman was awaiting the flight of time, a footstep was heard approaching from the boiler room of the block, which communicates with the Mercil basement. The door opened, and the janitor of the building, Tom Thompson, entering carrying a pail. He saw that he was trapped, and remarked that his intention was to get a pail of beer, but had decided not to, since finding himself trapped.

He was marched to the city hall, and the boiler room searched. A dozen bottles of whisky, five of champagne, three jugs of liquor, seven boxes of cigars and some soft drinks were found secreted about his sleeping place and hidden in various corners. Thompson was bound over to the grand jury and will board with Sheriff Sullivan until December.

GENIUS AT BAGLEY

Claims to Have Been Offered $15,000 for His Patent

An inventive genius has been discovered in Bagley, and this is what the Independent has to say about his creation:

"The patent is a highly practical and desirable adaption. It provides a sled of a class that is light, simple and cheap of manufacture. It enables the owner of a bicycle to utilize the same in the winter season, by using the frame and the rear wheel thereof and by adding the runners and the removable pulling tire, to quickly convert the same into a sled, to be used upon any ordinary roadway where the snow is sufficiently packed for sleighing, or upon the ice, at a rate with little effort.

"A forward runner is secured in place on the front wheel and the rear drive wheel has a runner secured on either side of it. A solid tire, preferably of wood, is substituted for the pneumatic tire. Pointed steel projections or teeth with threaded shanks are screwed into the solid tire in two rows around the outer circumference thereof, these points take hold in the ice or where snow is sufficiently packed.

"The operation of propulsion and steering are practically identical to that of the ordinary bicycle. The toothed tire is removable to restore the pneumatic tire for the road travel, in which case the runners are discarded for the time being.

"Mr. Ringborg has been offered $15,000 for the patent but declined the offer for higher bidders."

THE BAND MAY GO

And Possibly a Special Train May be Secured for the State Fair

The state fair management is of the opinion that if anything lacks to make the big show that it will pull off the first week in September the crowning effort of its existence, that thing is more music, and Crookston has exactly what will fill the bill in its crack band.

The members would like to go and help out the festivities, and a movement is being made to arrange the matter to that end. The men are willing to go and spend a couple of days, and if the transportation facilities can be satisfactorily arranged the state at large will be given an opportunity to hear some of the excellent harmony that the band is capable of giving.

The expense of the trip will be considerable, but a concession in the way of rates will clear up the difficulties in the way, and this will likely be made. It is among the possibilities that one of the roads leading through the city will decide to run a special train to accommodate the large number who wish to attend the fair, and with the band as an attraction a largely increased number would go down.

IT'S A CASE OF MUST

State Board of Health Takes Precautions to Prevent Smallpox

All school children, teachers, employes of railroads, lumber camps or mines will have to be vaccinated or prove that they are immune from smallpox.

This edict was issued Saturday by the state board of health. The persons designated in the order are given until Oct. 15 to comply. A general vaccination order was issued in 1889, but the attorney general held that it was without warrant except in case of an epidemic. The order just issued is not mandatory, but advisory.

An attempt was made last year by Dr. Bracken to get the lumbermen to make vaccination a condition of employment. They refused on the ground that all of their men had been hired and that many of them would quit if vaccination was made compulsory. This year they will co-operate with the health board, and vaccination will be one of the requirements exacted from employes.

While smallpox is on a decrease in the state, as shown by the reports, Secretary Bracken says the further precautions will be necessary because of the ease with which the disease is spread. Smallpox is not appearing in a virulent form. The patients are able to be about, and in traveling from place to place they spread the disease.

AN EARLY BREAKFAST

Of Cold Canned Salmon With an Arrest for Dessert

Early Friday morning the police officers were notified that the trainman incoming on the freight train from Cass Lake had made an arrest, and they met the train and received the prisoner. He proved to be one A. E. Gillis, and is safely behind the bars awaiting an examination. The man was caught at daylight Friday morning on a flat car that was a portion of freight train No. 85. He was asleep at the time and near him on the car was a case of canned salmon, from which seven cans had been removed.

Investigation showed that the man had broken the seal of a box car and had taken the case of goods from a shipment that was billed to Northwood, N. D.

Will Shoot at Warren

The Warren shootists have been attending the various tournaments held in the valley this year, and feeling that something was due from them in the way of a return of the civilities, and in order that their visitors might have an opportunity to see their city and judge for themselves what sort of fellows they are when at home, and in the bosom of their families, they have decided to hold a one day's tournament at the traps there.

They have fixed the date for Thursday of next week, and the Stevens boys have turned out of the Register office a neat folder telling all about it. The tournament is to be a purely social affair and all shooters will get in on the division of money or for merchandise prize, although they may not be crack shots. A number of the Crookston sports will put in the day there, and there is no doubt that they will be treated royally.

In Memory of the Discoverer

On the 28th of this month the settlers of Buena Vista, out in Beltrami county, will hold a picnic on the shores of the fair lake, Julian, to which the people of the county are cordially invited. The occasion is the 78th anniversary of the arrival of the first white man to this county—Beltrami. In this "Beltrami picnic" the settlers will continue the discoveries of the man they honor by trying to measure the depths of the lake, which has not yet been fathomed.

Testing a New Feature

Manager Felsing, of the Mapleboy Wind Stacker company, was testing a new appliance at the machine warehouse of N. P. Stone & Co. Thursday, the motive power being one of the gasoline engines sold by the latter named company. The improvement when completed will materially increase the efficiency of the stacker, and even in the unfinished form showed up well. The test was made on some green barley which had just been cut.

Make a Pacific Steamer

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—A large lumber firm in this city has awarded a contract to a ship building firm of Toledo, O., for a steel steamer for the Pacific coast lumber trade. This contract marks an important departure, as this is said to be the first time a vessel for this coast has been ordered from a ship builder of the lakes. The new boat is to be 180 feet long and will use oil for fuel.

A New Flour Mill

J. Frederickson, of St. Thomas, N. D., was here this morning shipping the machinery for a flour mill to a point east of Stephen. A portion of the outfit was a Corliss engine that will furnish the motive power. Mr. Frederickson has successfully owned and operated mills at various points in Norman county.

To Save Her Child

From frightful disfigurement Mrs. Nannie Galleger of La Grange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all her hopes. It works wonders in Sores, Bruises, Skin Eruptions, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Piles. 25c. Cure guaranteed by A. G. Andersen, druggist.

The Cass Lake band is keeping itself in the favor of the public by open air concerts, and by getting itself up neat, natty uniforms. A weekly excursion on the lake is a pleasant feature and the boys make it pay.

Read the Journal and get the news.

Uncle Jo's Column

I was readin' in the Journal about Comrade Burnham's "Cozy Nook" farm, and I think that name just fits the place good. I've been out there and I tell you he's got things fixed up good there. You can see them nice tall cottonwoods that he set out there 18 years ago, a long ways off, but when you get most there you'll see about as pretty a flower garden as you can imagine. There's some of the loveliest hollyhocks and sweet peas and pansies I ever saw. And I guess the girls must take care of that garden, it's so clean and nice. And his farm, take it all 'round, is as nice a one as a man need want. If I had a farm like "Cozy Nook" farm and a nice family of boys and girls to help me take care of it, I'd think Minnesota was the best state in the union. And I guess it comes pretty near it anyway, even with Comrade Burnham owning "Cozy Nook."

—o—

I've been on the lookout about that Bromus inermis grass I've read so much about, and I've about made up my mind it won't do as well in every place as they claim for it, but still I guess it's a pretty good kind of grass. I understand, though, that it grows kind o' patchy in some places, but from what I've seen of it, it has a fine thick undergrowth that I think must make awful nice hay for cows, or horses either, for that matter. I guess that Speltz is another nice feed too. Frank Bivins has been raisin' it an' he thinks it's about as good feed for cows as there is. He threshes it out and grinds it and feeds the straw, and he says the cattle eat it all up clean. I guess I'll have to get some Speltz and some Bromus too, and try 'em both.

I guess potatoes are going to be a good crop this year from the way they look now. All I've seen this summer showed up all right, and the early ones are pretty near ripe now. That reminds me that Comrade Burnham has some potatoes that are about the earliest I know of around these parts. He calls them the North Pole potatoes. They are dead ripe now. I think he got 'em from some man that lives in New York and sells seeds.

—o—

I am glad to notice the farmers are gettin' to raise more corn. Some of 'em raise it just for fodder and don't make any effort to get ripe ears. Of course, the fodder is all right, but they can raise ears too. And it does the land more good where they plant it so they can work it both ways. Now, there's Uncle Lorenzo Davis, who took a tree claim on section 18, in the town of Andover in 1877, and has lived there ever since. He had a piece into fodder corn last year and got a beautiful crop off it, and this year he's got some Mansury barley on the same piece, and he's goin' to get about forty bushels to the acre.

But talkin' about corn reminds me of a piece of fodder corn I saw the other day on Dr. Low's place as I was drivin' along there. I'm a little afraid he won't get ripe corn there, but I never saw anything handsomer than that corn. It stood just about three feet high and I don't believe there was a hill missin' in the whole piece. And every hill looked just exactly as tall as every other hill. The leaves was so dark green they was almost black. And it just looked to me as if it was growin' so fast, it must have growin' pains, some as I uster have in my legs when I was a boy. In fact, it almost seemed as if I could hear that corn stretch and grow. And then there was another thing about it that made it handsome; I couldn't see a single weed in it from one end of the field to the other.

I heard of a preventive for hog cholera the other day, and I just thought I'd write it down for the Journal readers. Somehow I'm gettin' so I think a great deal of the Journal readers, and if I can do anything to do 'em any good any time, they can call on Uncle Joe for it an not be afraid. But about this medicine, I started to tell about that. One of my farmer friends was tellin' me about it. He never had any cholera among his hogs at all, and he thinks it's all on account of usin' this preventive. He takes a chunk of assafetida about the size of a couple of hen's eggs and puts it into a big bottle, and then fills the bottle up with alcohol and lets it stand until the alcohol has cut the assafetida all up. Then he puts a tablespoonful of this mixture into a pail of slops for the hogs once or twice a week. It can't do any harm to the hogs anyway, and I think it would be a good plan for farmers to try it when cholera is around.

I see the prosperity wave has struck my old friend Jake Ide, who lives in section 14, in the town of Roome, and he's putting up a nice new barn 26x64, with a nice shed on one side for his cows, 14x52 feet. He workin' along in the direction of more stock, too. He complains that the wild oats are about the worst thing he has to contend with and he's layin' a plan to head 'em off. These wild oats are awful bad, that's true. But do you know, I think they're a real good thing one way. By the time we get the way to kill 'em studied out, we'll get our lands in a good deal better condition than they would be if we didn't have to fight the oats. And somehow I've noticed that all these difficulties we have to contend with are in a greater or less degree blessings to us if we only conquer 'em.

—o—

These feed mills that so many of the farmers are gettin', that run by windmill power, are about the best investment they can make with that amount of money. They've got 'em down quite cheap now, and when you get 'em fitted up once it don't cost much to run 'em, and they'll be workin' nights while you're sleepin' if you want 'em to. And it not only makes better feed for the stock if you grind it, but it takes care of the wild oats and other weed seeds in the grain, so they won't scatter around and grow again.

--Uncle Joe.

WINTERS CONFESSED

And $130,000 of the Stolen Gold is Recovered

San Francisco, Aug. 12.—Jack Winters, who was arrested as a suspect in conection with the Selby smelting works robbery, has confessed, and so far $130,000 worth of the bullion has been recovered from the bay, where he had sunk it.

For three days detectives have tried all sorts of persuasion to make Winters confess, but apparently without effect. Finally he asked to see Superintendent Ropp of the Selby works, who, he said, was the only friend he had.

In his conversation with Ropp, Winters' maners indicated that he knew where the gold had been hidden. Ropp told Winters that they had a strong case against him and that he would be sent to prison for 30 years. He said:

"You will be an old man when you get out and it will do you no good to hide the gold. We know it is hidden in the water near the works, and we will search every inch. You may be sure that the gold will be found before you are out of prison."

Winters finally weakened and told Ropp that he had taken the gold and would take him to the spot where it was hidden. Winters in company of Superintendent Ropp and a force of detectives, left on a tug for Crockett. There they waited all night for low tide. Winters pointed out the place at the end of the railroad wharf beyond the coal bunkers, at the head of the Vallejo ferry slip. At that point at low tide the mud is about four feet deep, covered by a foot of water.

When the tug reached Crockett, Winters pointed out the spot in the water where he said he had thrown the gold. Superintendent Ropp marked the place on the wharf, the tug steamed away to wait for low tide. In the morning Winters got in the mud and water up to his neck for an hour and a half and groped for the missing bullion. Up to ten o'clock $110,000 had been recovered. This includes four bars of fine gold. Winters had put some of the bars in bags. He said one of the bags was broken and some of the bars had dropped out. It is only a question of careful search to find the rest of the $380,000. Winters claims that he did the job alone.

Rainfall Was General

Thursday's rainfall was general throughout the Valley and all over North Dakota, and as a consequence harvest operations have been suspended. The storm was more severe in the Dakotas than on this side of the river, and unless it continues work will be resumed tomorrow or by Monday at the latest. The wheat harvest has just fairly started, and ten days of good weather will be needed in which to cut the crop.

The suspension of operations sent a large number of men into the city from the farms near by, and with the farmers who drove in to secure additional supplies the merchants have been busy today.

CHRISTIANSON & STRANDER,

Abstracters of Title.

JOLLY OLD UNCLE JOSH.

His Great Generosity Toward His Newly Married Niece.

A Realistic Romance of Crookston—Many Prominent Business Men Take Very Conspicuous Part . . .

Copyrighted by W. S. Guthrie.

"Miss Summers—Polly—I—I—er—dare—I" But the speaker took a header over bashfulness, only to hear a sweet

"Yes, Charley."

"Can I aspire to—er—to—that—is"

Again a lapse into silence, followed by an encouraging

"Yes, Charley."

"Oh, if I might only hope to er—to—

Another failure of language. It was seemingly a hopeless case, and might have been, only for a demure

"Charley, I have said 'yes' twice, and if you mean it, I mean it, too, and—"

And to this day that young man will insist that he popped the question.

All this happened away "down east," and it wasn't long before there was a wedding. Not much longer before there was a letter from Polly's Uncle Josh, (Hon. Joshua Turner, an old pioneer of Polk county) rich, generous and level headed, who wrote effusively of his delight at her exhibition of what he called "grit," and he proposed that if the young people would locate at Crookston, he would start them up in life, as a wedding gift, having fully explained that this is the best spot in the world for young married people to get a good start. Of course, they accepted and were soon bidding their friends adieu.

A few weeks subsequent to the above conversation a travel stained party arrived in Crookston. Our friend, Uncle Josh was in charge and he led the party straightway to the Hotel Crookston. "We'll go to the Crookston," said he, "'cause that's the popular place and strictly first class. I have known Lycan, the proprietor, for years and he is mine host after mine own heart; being endowed with that delightful intuition that makes a guest feel at home, comfortable, contented and in mighty good luck. The house is one of convenience; the apartments are well furnished and the cuisine—well, that hotel is noted for its excellent table so I have engaged rooms here until your house is in readiness."

"After breakfast is over," continued the old man, "I must take you for a little drive and then we'll proceed to buy your outfit. To expedite matters I'll just call up phone 41 and have Collins, our enterprising liveryman, send us around a rig." When the handsome carriage, with elaborate trappings and prancing horses drew up in front of the hotel Polly declared it to be a turnout fit for a queen. "Yes Sir—ee," replied Uncle Josh, "that is a party neat rig—the three S's, 'Speed, Safety and Style' is Collins' coat of arms and best of all the rate is mighty reasonable. Collins' wedding, party and funeral equipments are unsurpassed." It was in a stylish turnout indeed that the rounds of the city were made.

"No grass shall grow under our feet," remarked Uncle Josh, "so what's first on the program?" "Oh, goodness knows, there's lots to buy," remarked Polly. "Then suppose we buy 'lots' first," quoth Charley without turning a hair. "Well, I see you've got a great head for business," laughed Uncle Josh, "we'll just stop at George Purvis' office, general land agent for the Great Northern Ry. Co. I can always depend upon him for bargains in real estate, as he never holds out false lights to induce people to buy, but what he tells you about property, may be set down as solid facts. George Purvis controls a large list of desirable improved and unimproved farm and other properties, and his judgment on the 'good things' is par excellence." Accordingly Mr. Purvis acompanied the trio on their drive and before returning had sold to Uncle Josh, for his wards, a cosy cottage and a fine farm in the Red River Valley.

"Having already provided a cage for the bird," said Uncle Josh, "now the first thing we'll look after will be the furnishings for it." Hereupon Polly energetically declared that she had heard so much about the People's Furniture Co. that she had decided to go there. The result was that they were ushered into such a bewildering display that the girl was at first at a loss how to select. But she soon yielded to the seductiveness of a magnificent parlor suit, a bed room set in oak, golden finish, that would do credit to old Mr. Klondyke himself. To this she added an easy rocker for Uncle Josh, and didn't forget a most convenient and ornamental writing desk for "Hubby" Charles, having come to the conclusion that the People's Furniture Co.'s prices were below the very whisper of competition.

"A pretty good start," said the old man, "and now we'll go to Arne Busterud's big hardware and stove store where Polly's housewifely instincts will have full play in marvels of kitchen apparatus. There is not an establishment in the country that carries a more comprehensive stock of cooking machinery," remarked Uncle Josh. "Every possible piece of kitchen furniture from a tin dipper to a cooking range is here in all styles and variety." If Polly fails to accomplish wonders in the culinary art, it will not be from want of superior cooking utensils, for she purchased a Radiant Home with all other equipments needed in a well regulated kitchen, all of which Uncle Josh paid for with delight 'cause he knew Arne Busterud had treated him all right, just as he treats everybody.

Well, Scat my!" exclaimed Uncle Josh, with a David Harum accent, as they reached the street, "I must run over to the Scandia American bank and get another check book. Come along with me and get acquainted with Mr. Ellington and staff, for of course you will do business with them and it is always more pleasant to be personally acquainted with the people you do business with. This bank is as solid as the base of the universe, is managed on safe conservativeness, and has a strong working capital. You will find them ever ready to extend any accommodations compatible with business principles."

"Guess I'll open an account with the Scandia American right away," replied Charles and he did.

I would like also to make you acquainted with Dr. J. F. Boles, my dentist friend," said the old man. "If you ever have to supplement your natural teeth." "Ugh! Don't you mention false teeth to me," cried Polly. "I'll never carry 'pearly-lies' in my mouth if I go toothless." "Oh, as for that," laughed Uncle Josh, "if you'll only consult a good dentist in time, you can save the catastrophe. Dr. J. F. Boles, for instance, is wonderfully expert in saving natural teeth, and he has the skill and every modern mechanical appliance necessary to do his work with the least discomfort to his patients. Just come up to the office a minute anyway, 'til I see if my new teeth are finished yet."

At this point, somewhat to the confusion of Charley, the old man indulged in a half serious criticism of his personal appearance. "You are decidedly off style for a townsman," said he, "and we' d better go see the C. O. D. store about some new duds. That's an up-to-date place, where they understand the changing styles and are noted for good fits, and I'll bet you'll look more like a newly married man when you get togged out in a C. O. D. suit." Accordingly, having found goods and prices irresistible, Charles purchased a neat suit and then invested in a complete outfit of men's furnishings from a late style hat down to sox, and he readily agreed that Uncle Josh took him to the right place when he took him to the C. O. D.

Again strolling along Main street, Polly cast some very wistful and eager glances into Hitchcock & Keating's store, and with a coaxing smile she told Uncle Josh all about her great love of music. Uncle Josh was noticed to examine his bank book very lugubriously. "Well, I guess I can stand it," he said, "but what piano would you most prefer?" "I think I'd like to have a Hobart M. Cable," she quickly answered. "Several people have recommended it to me for its purity of tone, sympathy of touch, beauty of finish and a whole lot of other good points." "You couldn't choose a better instrument," rplied the old man, "and sure enough Hitchcock & Keating are the very men to see about it." Polly selected the coveted Hobart M. Cable, while Uncle Josh wrote out a check, pleasantly too—'cause he knew the price was extremely reasonable.

"Yum, yum," laughingly escaped Polly's rosebud lips, as she glanced into John Moorhead's attractive confectionery store. "Uncle Josh you know I've got a sweet tooth, and those home made candies look so nice I just can't resist the temptation to go in." Charley here objected, 'cause he knew if Polly got into a confectionery store once, there's where she'd likely want to stay. He relented, however, when Uncle Josh said, "fruit, my boy," so in they went, and after regaling themselves on delicious fruit, the girl loaded up on chocolates and bon bons enough to make every tooth in the county ache. Polly was a splendid judge of sweetments, and she indulged in a profuse compliment to what she found at John Moorhead's "Halt!" commanded Uncle Josh, as the party came in front of S. A. Wallace's drug store, "walk right in." "Why, Uncle, we're not sick, and—" "Guess I know that," laughed the old man, "but I suspect it won't be long before this young man begins to take an interest in matters of paregoric and—" "U-n-c-l-e!" "We'll go in anyway and get acquainted, besides Polly may find some toilet articles she wants." Sure enough, before leaving she was loaded down with combs brushes, face powders and several bottles of fine perfumes. "Don't forget," added Uncle Josh, "to come here with your prescriptions, as Wallace and his clerks are competent pharmacists who use none but pure and reliable drugs."

"Let's see—I promised you a gold watch, didn't I?" queried Uncle Josh of Polly, "and Tom Morris is the man to give us the worth of our money." Entering the popular jewelry store the old man gallantly acquitted himself of the promise and then directed Polly's attention to the superior stock of silverware carried by the house. "There is no other such a house in town," said the old man, "and I'll guarantee the quality to be the very best. Pick out your family clock while here," he added, "Morris carries a magnificent line. Don't forget another fact," he continued, "if ever you unfortunately need optical goods, this is the place to get your eyes scientifically tested and fitted free, and say, my boy, remember that Morris is also an expert doctor on sick watches."

"O, say, Uncle," exclaimed Polly, "where can I go for dry goods? This dress is hardly suitable, I must admit." "Well, my girl, if you want to select from one of the most popular establishments in the city, I will direct you to the Crookston Dry Goods Co., which carries a stock of dry goods that for variety and real value is seldom seen outside of the metropolitan cities. The Crookston Dry Goods Co. has all the latest weaves in fashionable dress goods and you are sure to be guided right in your selections. You will find Mr. Ferguson pleasant to deal with and his employes polite and expert, while the prices can not be duplicated." It did not take Polly long to tell a bargain when she saw one. She got a handsome dress, with all necessary trimmings, and several other articles of "fantastic disarray" so dear to the heart of every woman.

After this visit, Uncle Josh suggested a visit to some place of refreshment. At the refreshment table, the old man waxed philosophical. "Never neglect your larder," said he. "That important adjunct to housekeeping controls masculine temper. To that end you must patronize a grocer on whom you can depend for honest goods. Through a long term of years I have found Keller, Ryan & Co. perfectly reliable. You will find this a careful firm, always fully stocked with every possible thing in the line of staple and fancy groceries, fresh and first class, no shelf-worn goods there, while the prices are down to brass tacks. To keep peace in your family get all your groceries of Keller, Ryan & Co."

"Oh me! Oh my!" ejaculated Polly as they halted before a show window, "what a perfectly lovely slipper." "Yes," said Uncle Josh, "John Kiewel's stock can't be equalled in style and extent in this section. Go in, look it over and get acquainted. Pick out what you want and I'll foot the bill." It might have been policy not to have extended that invitation, had not Uncle Josh known what wise economy it is to trade at John Kiewel's, for Polly found prices and goods so seductive that she purchased an outfit from a pretty slipper to a handsome walking boot. Charley invested in gent's fine shoes, while Uncle Josh indulged in a stout boot, with rubbers for the crowd. None needing footwear can resist the styles and prices offered by John Kiewel.

"So far, so good," sententiously remarked Uncle Josh as they left the shoe store, "and so one thing suggests another. To make this personal decoration business complete Charley, you'll also need a tailor made suit. Now, the next place this car will stop at is S. Melby & Co.'s.

Charley found a large stock of woolens to choose from and the prices so reasonable that he left his measure, and when his new suit was finished, he looked so stylish in it his wife declared she'd fallen in love with him much sooner, had he only been getting his clothes made by S. Melby & Co., the popular tailors.

While Uncle Josh was pondering where to go next Polly suddenly asked: "Uncle, where can I find the leading millinery establishment?" "Just across the street," remarked Uncle Josh, "and we will visit Mrs. M. Challis, who, by the way, has on hand one of the completest stocks of millinery to be found in the city. You can get what you want there, the latest styles and lowest prices being her motto. Mrs. Challis' good taste and experience guarantee that when you have purchased of her, you have the thing according to fashion and the satisfaction that your work has been done by a competent artist." In a few minutes there never was a happier girl than Polly, for she got a "perfect dream" of a hat and the bill didn't scare Uncle Josh, either.

"By the way," exclaimed Uncle Josh, with a paternal air, "the next thing to look after is the lumber for those improvements, which are absolutely necessary. Come with me and I'll introduce you to the Robertson Lumber Co., who are the principal dealers in that line here, and they carry the most complete line of building material in the county—everything, from the sills for the foundation to the shingles for the roof, including doors, windows, mouldings, ect., and don't want all the money a feller's got either. It is pleasant to deal with the Robertson Lumber Co., their greatest aim is to give satisfaction to every customer." And it didn't take Uncle Josh long to place a "right smart sized" order for building material.

"And another place I wish to take you, children, is to the City Roller Mill," remarked the old man. "Your introduction to Crookston would not be half complete without. Talk about flour, why bless you, there ain't no flour that can come up to Pride of Crookston, made by this mill. All good housewives around this section won't use anything else but Pride of Crookston. Ask your grocer for a sack. Then as to feed, this mill is headquarters for that. They handle everything from golden oats down to corn cobs and serve customers with promptness and dispatch. I've been dealing with J. S. Malm for a long time, and I tell you he is a good man to tie to, and I always did believe in patronizing home industry."

"And now, young man, let me give you another pointer," remarked the generous old uncle. "Do not understand me to say the clothes make the man, but I do affirm that clean and spotless linen helps a heap. Now in this connection, I am happy to inform you that the Crookston Steam Laundry is one of the best in the state. Polly will want her lace curtains and shirt waists done up, its a ticklish job, you know, but the Crookston Steam Laundry is so very careful that the most delicate fabrics are washed without the slightest injury and I don't like a Chinaman nohow. C. D. Billings, the proprietor, will see that your collars, cuffs and shirts are made as white as snow unless they happen to be colored, but then you needn't be afraid of a fade, for Billings prides himself upon the proper care of colored garments."

"Well, great smoke, Charley, where in the name of creation did you get that rope? That's about the worst snipe that ever came in contact with my olfactory nerve," laughingly remarked Uncle Josh. "Step in here to H. F. Brown's store and get a Columbia Club, then you'll have a gentleman's smoke. Brown takes great pride to keep all the leading brands, both imported and domestic, and consequently his place grows more popular every day." Charley was so well pleased with the cigar that Uncle Josh treated him to that he bought a whole box and advised his wife to remember the brand when she got his next birthday present, not forgetting to also make a note of Brown's fine display of other cigars, tobaccos, pipes etc.

"I declare, uncle," exclaimed Charley, "there goes a handsome buggy. I must have one like that for the girl." "Get it right up here," said the old man. "You see Larsen & Carpenter conduct a carriage repository here that for variety and excellence of stock can not be beat. They carry surreys, carriages, buggies, phaetons and wagons of all the leading makes and styles and Larsen & Carpenter are satisfied with a moderate profit, too." Polly was soon the possessor of a handsome carriage, but before they left, Charley also got interested in a road wagon. Uncle Josh saw what was up, so he quickly said, "I'll honor your draft for that too, my boy, 'cause I know anything you get of Larsen and Carpenter is O. K."

At this point Uncle Josh was again noticed to inspect his bank book with a dubious "where am I 'at'" expression. "Gee all hemlocks!" he ejaculated, "my balance is mighty near exhausted but fortunately I think I can solve the difficulty. I'll see my friends the Wheeler Land & Loan Co. and negotiate a farm loan. They have all kinds of money to loan on farms and real estate security. A man can get money of them and don't have to go through a lot of red tape. No commission, no delay." So saying, Uncle Josh proceeded to replenish his exchequer.

"Law sakes!" suddenly exclaimed Uncle Josh, "all this trading around town has caused me to forget another one or two of the greatest essentials to future existence. Newly married folks can't live on love and scenery any more than anybody else—but your table would look slim without bread: it's the 'staff of life,' you know. Polly must make the acquaintance of T. E. Clysdale, the baker: his bread, pies, cake and knickknacks are conceded by all to be the finest on earth. Remember, Charley, there is no use of your 'ootsy wootsy' bothering herself much about baking, so long as there is a good baker in town like T. E. Clysdale. He made that elegant cake I sent to your weddin'." "Yes, and everybody said it was just lovely," eagerly responded Polly.

"Yes, and while we are at this important topic of gastronomics," continued Uncle Josh, "we must not forget meat. It goes hand in hand with bread. Now the next thing is to locate a good market where you can get fresh wholesome meats, poultry, etc., at all times, and according to my notion A. Anderson's is the only place to supply you. This is the boss meat market in the city and is popular with everybody who is particular to have the best. The reason for this is all because Mr. Anderson is very careful in the selection of stock, gets the best of everything, and keeps it fresh on cold storage. To keep your 'hubby' in a good humor, Polly, trade at Anderson's market every time." Good advice.

"Now," cried the old gentleman, "now for a picture of this crowd. In good old country fashion, we'll go to the photograph gallery, and my friend Skrivseth has a good one. His pictures are wonderful in fidelity and finish. I want one full-size photo for my study and some small ones for my friends. Skrivseth has the soul of a true artist; all his work is a labor of love, in which he will not stop short of perfection. As he is famous for successful enlarging, I want to give you a full-size representation of 'yours truly.'" (The pictures of Uncle Josh, Polly and Charley may all be seen at Skrivseth's studio any time the reader desires to call.)

En route to their home the party called at the Journal office. "You'll want the news every day," remarked Uncle Josh, "and as this is the favorite local paper here, I'll subscribe."

Upon summing up the wonderful events of the day Polly began to volubly express her thanks. "You have bought us everything," she exclaimed. "Only one thing," replied Uncle Josh, reflectively, "but I can remedy that. The People's Furniture Co. always has a nice line of them and you can get one whenever you want it; I'll pay for the best."

"W-h-y," exclaimed Polly with great surprise, "Uncle, what can it be?"

"Well, it's a baby carriage, and—"

But Polly had fainted.

Read the Journal and get the news.

ALASKAN GOLD

The Cahoon Mining Company's Stock is to be Placed Upon the Market.

COMPANY IS INCORPORATED

Progress Detailed in a Letter from Mr. Cahoon to Friends Here.

The Crookston stockholders in the company that has been backing Messrs Cahoon and Hawes in their mining operations in Alaska, have heard from the principals on the ground, and as a result are feeling greatly encouraged over the prospect.

The following letter written by Mr. Cahoon was received by Mr. W. G. Lytle, Friday. It was written from Tacoma, where Mr. Cahoon had arrived after a trip to San Francisco, taken to secure surgical aid for his son Dexter. Here is the letter:

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 5, 1901.

W. G. Lytle, Crookston, Minn.

Dear Friend:—Upon my arrival here from San Francisco I found your letter of July 25th awaiting me. In reply to same I will say that when we left Porcupine everything was looking well for a good season's work in the mines. We had a very late season on account of the heavy snowfall, but we improved our time in getting in logs and making lumber. We sawed about 30,000 feet of lumber, so we have plenty of it for future use. Our flumes and penstock came through the winter all right and in fine shape. We had been mining less than two weeks when I left, in two places; we could tell nothing about what the result would be, but in the little side place we cleaned up $300, working two men. The boys are all well pleased with the general outlook.

You know I wrote you that we had decided to incorporate, so as to get ahead of our company. I have been attending to that since I came back from San Francisco and have the papers all out, and I am now waiting for the return of papers from the secretary of state, and expect to go north tomorrow. We incorporated for one million dollars, par value $1 each. We have decided to place a little of our stock on the market at 25 cents per share, in order to be able to install our plant this fall, so that we will be able to do business right next year.

We want to put in about 1500 feet of 12 inch steel pipe, two No. 2 giants, and two power derricks, also a dynamo to furnish us lights so that we can work night and day from the time we go in the spring until we close in the fall. As soon as we get this pipe in we will have between 400 and 500 feet head, which will be the best proposition in the district.

The cost of this machinery will be about $5,000, and we are losers this year by several thousand dollars by not getting it in this last spring. The district generally has got past the prospect period, and now there is being installed some fine machinery. One firm that has a leace of only 500 feet have spent upwards of $15,000 before taking out a cent, so that goes to show what faith they have in the district. I was elected as one of the directors of the company and as soon as I get to camp and we have our directors' meeting, and elect our officers, I will write you. Remember me to all the friends. Very truly yours,

—C. P. Cahoon.

Mr. W. G. Lytle and Col. John Rasmussen will have stock in the Cahoon Mining company for sale, as soon as the preliminaries mentioned by Mr. Cahoon in his letter can be arranged. They are reliable men, have the best of assurances of the value of the stock, and an investment with them promises far more in the way of returns than though the money was placed with a company whose directors were not known to Crookston people, or with some wild-cat oil company.

The Seattle Post Intelligencer of recent date, speaking of the Porcupine district, says:

In another year the Porcupine mining district in Alaska will be one of the principal gold camps in the frozen north, in the opinion of J. W. Van Winkle, an experienced mining man. Gold has already been taken out in large quantities with crude methods, and this fall will see the installation of modern hydraulic plants. Last year Porcupine produced more than $100,000 in the precious metal.

The Porcupine district is an American territory and is a rich gold-bearing country. This summer Jack Dalton took out $7,000 in four days. S. Mix, another miner of the district, was taking out from $1,000 to $1,500 a day when I left, says Mr. Van Winkle. A number of others are doing equally well. The mines which were discovered in 1898 are all rich and will run from fifty to one hundred dollars on the bed rock of the creek. Our gold assays $17.80 to the ounce.

The principal creeks in the country are the Porcupine, McKinley, Cahoon, Big and Little Salmon and the Nugget. The same men who went into the country four years ago are still working on the creeks, which is an evidence of their faith in its richness. It is not, however, a poor man's country. You need capital for machinery. The climate is delightful; the summer resembles that on the sound and the winter is never colder than ten below. All kinds of game and wild berries abound. The game includes bear, mountain sheep, goats and grouse.

On McKinley creek the Cahoon party are piping with two giants in rich gravel on the high bars. Their flume will furnish ample water at good elevation which will enable them to wash a large amount of bed rock this season. Wm. Harris, on Cahoon creek, is running one giant under good head and is in shape to wash a large area of bed rock. Taken altogether it may now be said that Porcupine creek has reached a stage of development warranting the assertion that it will yield millions in placer gold.

BASS ARE THRIVING

Fish Placed in Maple Lake Have Made Good Growth

The first actual proof of the success of the efforts made by those who are interested in Maple Lake as a summer resort, to stock the lake with game fish was brought to Crookston yesterday by Sam Rosenthal. It was a beautiful specimen of the big-mouth black bass, and the coloring showed that the waters of the lake are all that could be desired to make the experiment a success.

The fish was attracted to the spoon hook while Fred McGregor was trolling, and to him belongs the credit of landing the first specimen of this, one of the best of game fishes, and one that it has long been desired to get established in the lake.

There have been two lots planted in the lake, one last August and another the year previous. They were the size known as "fingerlings," and in either case the growth must have been very rapid in order for the specimen to have attained the size shown.

Those who have been instrumental in securing the young fish from the state are making an effort to get more from the same source, and will not make any attempt to catch them during this or the coming year. They are old enough to breed, and it is by this means that the increase is looked for. In the course of a few years by this means and the addition of others from the state hatchery, the lake will furnish the best of fishing grounds.

THE NORTH BORDER

Messrs. Riggs and Rowe are Enthusiastic Over the Country

G. Oliver Riggs returned Thursday from his claim in the Big Fork country. He is more than pleased with the northern Minnesota region since seeing it from the Rainy River route, and like all others, he thinks that there is a great future before it agriculturally. Both the Rainy and the Big Fork rivers are streams whose magnitude is not comprehended by those who have never seen them. The water power on the Big Fork is almost unlimited, and the possibilities in the way of manufacturing are inexhaustible.

Mr. Riggs found Attorney Rowe at Warroad on his homeward journey, and they are both very enthusiastic when speaking of the north country. Mr. Rowe declares that the village of Warroad will become the leading city of northern Minnesota in the near future, and that it is destined to be one of the best in the state. The market for wheat is being looked after, and it is the intention of the business men there to offer a price that will induce the grain raisers of Rosean county to sell all their grain there this fall. The merchants, he says, are progressive, and owing to their contiguity to Canadian transportation facilities, they can undersell the dealers further south in the valley.

Strike at Bemidji

Bemidji, Aug. 9.—Several of the men who have been working for the Minnesota & International on Bemidji Lake as hoisters and loaders struck late yesterday afternoon.

The consequence is the men have all quit work, or rather they have been let out, the boarding house closed and all the hoisting machinery is at a standstill. The men made a demand for higher wages and their employers decided to give them their time and close the business down. They were getting $60 and struck for $70 per month.

The M. & I. has the contract for hauling these logs, but more men will have to be secured before the work can be continued.

A Disastrous Fire

Lime Springs, Col., Aug. 10—Both sides of Main street were swept by fire between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday morning, causing a loss of $150,000. Two banks and a hardware store are the only business places surviving.

A Charivari Tragedy

Red Lodge, Mont., Aug. 10—Alex Matson, a member of a charivari party was killed by Deputy Wm. Gebe while resisting arrest and local Finlanders are much wrought up and threaten trouble if Gebe is not punished.

What a Tale It Tells

If that mirror of yours shows a wretched, sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, it's liver trouble; but Dr. King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, purify the blood, give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only 25c at A. G. Anderson's drug store.

HOW SHALL WE REMEDY IT?

"Drowned out" is the epitah written over what would otherwise have been an excellent crop on hundreds of acres of the fertile soil all over the county of Polk. When a wet season is on it is a matter of impossibility to accomplish anything in a general way toward drainage. The time to do this is in the dry seasons. Where the facilities for an outlet has been previously provided, either artificially or by nature, much can be done to relieve the fields of their surplus water after it has accumulated.

But the first need is the inauguration of an effective system of an ever open outlet and a rapid passage of the water to the lowest waterways possible. Some farms are so situated that but little labor and expense is required to completely dispose of all surplus water that gathers on them, and perhaps the owners of such farms will feel but little interest in any movement to inaugurate a general system of drainage from which the neighbors will receive, as it may appear to them, the entire benefit. But we believe every township should, at as early a day as practicable, take some steps to discuss a practical remedy for this present existing evil.

It occurs to us, that one way of getting at it would be for the supervisors of each town to call a mass meeting to be held at an early day in the winter, at which the question shall be thoroughly considered, and a committee of three men whose personal interests in relation to the matter will emphasize to them its importance, men who will take the time and have the judgment to discover the best possible way of accomplishing the desired end, in view of all existing conditions, and will act promptly in the matter.

Then let the drainage committees in the different townships whose interests in the matter are materially involved in consequence of the physical conditions existing, meet together for discussion and interchange of ideas, and agree upon some general system for such naturally established districts.

Then let the services of a competent engineer be secured to make a complete map of such drainage district, giving all necessary levels and estimates of the cost of work, etc. Having thus fixed definitely the outlines of the system needed and its scope and approximate cost, provisions for carrying it out can be more intelligently made by the different townships and by such aid from the county and state as is found to be merited by the situation.

In a general way the work which is being done by the state is toward the perfection of such a system of drainage as will facilitate the success of the plan thus outlined.

But more specific united work is needed for the speedy accomplishment of the work in such a way as to operate to the fullest advantage of individual farms.

Nor is this a matter of such exclusive interest to those only whose lands are now thus liable to be submerged from year to year. It will be impossible to benefit such lands and materially enhance their value, without in a proportionate measure enhancing the value of those lands which are now fortunately situated. And the material increase of tax paying ability which will be given to the lands now most needing drainage will ultimately operate most effectively to relieve the lands now more highly favored, from a large part of the tax burden which will otherwise continue to rest upon them, so that no land owner in the Red River valley can consistently claim to be disinterested in the matter and refuse to participate in providing the needed remedy.

More attention should be given to the making of buttermilk a profitable foctor of the dairy business. Whenever it can be had in sufficient quantities, and fresh, it is in good demand as a sumer beverage. Physicians advocate its use, and as a therapeutic agent it is given to invalids when nothing else is allowed. It is also a powerful nerve tonic. For people inclined to dyspepsia it is better than sweet milk, because one of the difficulties of milk—its slowness of digestion—is removed at once, the buttermilk having already gone through one process of digestion. Near towns of any size of good buttermilk trade could be easily established, and as a "by-product" its sale would undoubtedly yield a better net profit than the sale of sweet milk.

There is a story going the rounds in connection with the T. M. Roberts failure which, whether it can be verified or not, is interesting. A young farmer in one of the counties in the western part of the state, who was about to get married, sent the order for his household goods amounting to about $300 to the T. M. Roberts Supply House. The order came in just in time to get tied up in the legal proceedings that were instituted and the expectant bridegroom is still waiting for the goods. The wedding has been postponed awaiting the adjustment of the present difficulty, and the local merchants who heard the story are not allowing the farmer to forget his troubles.

A bit of gossip is going the rounds which properly comes under the head of "Important. If True." It is to the effect that Former Governor Lind will not be the Democratic nominee for governor because he is said to have signed an agreement with his law partner, Judge Ulund, to keep out of active politics during the five year term of their contract. The "initiated" into John Lind's confidence are scarce as hen's teeth, but those supposed to be knowing, smile at the story. The fact remains that former partners of Judge Ulund have hurt the firm's business by mixing up in the political whirl.

As in most of the improved breeds of stock, America leads the world in swine. The statistical department of the government has recently made a careful estimate of the number of hogs now living in the world, and the figures are placed at 122,376,000, of which number the United States is credited with 69,000,000, equal to 54.6 per cent of the entire world's supply. Austria-Hungary, Russia and Germany have between 10,000,000 and 11,000,000 each, France has a little over 3,000,000, the United Kingdom has nearly 3,700,000, Spain, Italy and Canada almost 2,000,000 each, Belgium and Austria a little over 1,090,000, and other countries smaller numbers.

Some one started the story that Congressman Eddy had purchased an interest in the Redwood Gazette, in order to better control the political situation there. This Mr. Eddy denies and goes further to say that he has no intention of moulding public sentiment by writing heavy editorials in a paper owned by himself. The success of the Glenwood man in the old Seventh district was won by keeping his feet on the ground instead of under the editorial desk, and the people in the new Seventh will find that he is still able to conduct a vigorous campaign on the same lines that have been marked in previous campaigns.

Something new in the way of iron for people who need strength comes from Berlin. The process is somewhat indirect, the iron being fed preliminary to hens, which take it into their systems in the form of "saccharate"—a carbonate of iron mixed with 20 per cent of powdered sugar. This stuff is stirred up with the mush they eat, and, as a result, the eggs they lay are found to contain considerable amounts of iron. The eggs, cooked in any way that mey be desired, are then furnished to the invalids, and the iron thus conveyed is found to be readily absorbed and taken up by the blood.

The Litchfield News-Ledger notes the fact Sir Michael Dowling, Earl of Renville and ex-officio hero of Manila, is now giving the school ma'ams and others a fine lecture on what he knows about Manila, and Harry Wakefield of the Hutchinson Leader says that possibly the title is applied by Joubert to Dowling in recognition of the fact that it is the Earl-y bird that catches the worm. Earl Mike is travelling about the state under commission from Van Sant— and Who knows but a deal is on?

Editor Weatherhead has turned the first yearly mile post in his career at the head of the Ada Herald, and begun the second year with a good speed for both friends and enemies. The Herald is all right, barring its disposition to nauseate its readers with too frequent reference to Charley Ward of the Index. Family affairs do not interest the world at large.

Charley Scheers, once a Crookston printer, and his partner, Mr. Giese, are keeping the rollers inked and the press whirling down in the office of the Akeley Independent. Prosperity is coming their way, they have made the paper an all-home print, and it looks as clean and as bright as a newly discovered Mississippi river pearl.

The action of the Board of Control in letting contracts for furnishing groceries to five state institutions to two Chicago firms has called out a storm of protests and disapproval from the press and dealers. The former have no reason to kick except that they are always fighting some one else's battles, but the latter have, and the roar is a loud one.

What can the government do? The most important witnesses against Neeley flatly refuse to testify, and there is no power in the land to compel them to do so at the behest of the Cuban government. Yet some people will keep on abusing the war department for not bringing him to trial without witnesses.

We infer from the cabled reports from Paris that the Santos Dumont air ship is a perfect success whenever a test is made. But tests are only made when there is a dead calm, and if a breeze springs up while the ship is in the air, Mr. Dumont hastily descends and does not count that time.

The evolution of the rubberneck has been finally established. A man who fell on a scythe near Rochester, N. Y., had his punctured throat neatly mended with glue and tire tape from a passing cycler's kit.

Now hear the democrats howl because the extortionate automobile makers have raised the price of their machines $100, thus robbing the common people of one of the very necessities of life.

An Ohio preacher has told his flock that the temperature of heaven is 826 degrees above zero. Hasn't the reverend gentleman confused the two places?

Notes From Exchanges.

Tenstrike Tribune: Last Saturday was pay day at the railroad camps. The men are leaving every day for the Dakota harvest fields where they expect to make a rich haul this season, and there are very few men left. With full crews the railroad would be at Tenstrike in two weeks, but with the present amount of labor it may take two months. The company is now paying $2.25 per day for common labor.

Several coveys of quail have been noticed in this vicinity this summer. For the past few years these birds have been very scarce here and if hunters will not slaughter those which have now come here in a few years they will be quite thick.—Thief River News.

Two gentlemen, who have been prospecting for iron in the country around Red Lake, were in the city last week enroute up river. While here they investigated the local situation and with a magnet discovered a large amount of fine iron in sand below Carl Kretzschmar's dam. This would indicate that there was a bed of iron ore somewhere up the river, but whether it will be found in paying quantities or not it is hard to say. The gentlemen have options on a large amount of land up around the lake and a thorough investigation will be made.—Thief River News.

W. G. Smith reports that within the last week he sold six lots at Maple Lake for building purposes. This summer resort is becoming more popular every season and a great many Grand Forks people are putting up cottages there. There are a number of good sail boats and a great many excellent row boats for rent and several owned by private parties. Swimming and fishing there are as good as that to be found at any resort and a person can spend a few weeks enjoyably there.—Plaindealer.

Ernst Mueller's new hardwood fixtures arrived from Crookston last week and have been placed in position at the "Bee Hive." They are the handiwork of John Florin, and are first-class evidence of that gentleman's skill as a wood worker. Mr. Mueller will go to St. Paul this week in quest of more decorations and attractions for his place, as he says there is nothing too good for Fertile.—Fertile Journal.

The Thief River News says: T. G. Thompson has purchased the S. Kenison building east of the postoffice and will move his hardware store into it Sept. 1.

Akeley Independent: A buxom Staples girl neatly attired in a pair of tight fitting overalls, jumper and slouch hat made a great hit with the Wadena bald heads the other day. She thought petticoats were a hoodoo to a girl looking for big wages as a cook in the harvest and threshing season and decided to change her sex—but her shape was too attractive—and upon advice of Sheriff Irwin, she purchased a blue skirt, black waist, straw hat and took the evening train for Fargo. The Tribune says "she looked stunning."

Copper has been found in Beltrami county: The above may sound like a "pipe dream," but nevertheless it is true, that the copper shown us and of which a sample is now on exhibition in this office was taken from the rock by James McNichols, who is an experienced miner and had done considerable prospecting in the Black Hills. Mr. McNichols refused to tell of the place, except to a few intimate friends who were out to look the place over and who can vouch for the truth, as they carry with them some of the metallic ore as additional proof. The piece we have has parts of the hard rock sticking to it and copper is in one clear chunk. A piece of the ore has been sent away to be assayed. Don't take our word on this article if you wish, or think it to be a parody of the "lost river," but wait and you will hear of the Turtle River copper mine in a few weeks.—Tenstrike Tribune.

Hawley Herald: Farmers, beware. Don't sell your potatoes by contract. The tubers will bring a higher price than the contractors offer, their prices being from 30 to 45 cents. The potato crop in the drought stricken states to the south of us is practically a failure, as is also the case in portions of the far east. Potatoes are today selling for $1 a bushel in the Twin Cities, 2 cents a pound in Chicago, (the highest ever paid before was ¾ of a cent) and $5 per barrel in Philadelphia. Post up a little on the market before you sell your potatoes or anything else by contract. Cabbage formerly sold for $6 per ton in Chicago, now brings $40.

August and Will Anderson, who still turn to Crookston as their home, although one is living in Cass Lake and the other in Minneapolis, are here for a vacation, while they are at work in the harvest fields.

Bought a Log Chewery

Mittum & Randklev of Fosston have bought out C. B. Simon's mill, now located about four miles east of Ferris and will have it removed to Blackduck, where it will be run until the railroad is further extended and then it will be taken to Bridgie, where this local firm of lumbermen have extensive pine timber properties that will be utilized to furnish their local yards with lumber for years to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace P. Glover, of Mifflinberg, Pa., came up from Neillsville this morning where they have spent the past month as guests of Jas. O. Hayes and family, and departed for their eastern home.

The Times says this harvest season, it will be safe to estimate that Roseau will furnish 1,500 men and 800 teams to aid in securing the grain crops in the Red River Valley. This with an average daily wages of $2 per day would mean earnings to the aggregate amount of over $125,000.

John the Baptist Second

Henry Bush, an eccentric character who calls himself "John the Baptist Second," and whom the Journal mentioned a week ago as due to arrive shortly, has spent the day in the city. He came from Euclid, where he went to visit the grave of a daughter, who was an inmate of the family of Robert Teal at the time of her death. He preached in that village Sunday and visited with the city ministers Monday, from whom he secures most of his living in the way of donations.

Death of J. W. Peterson

The death of J. W. Peterson of St. Hilaire occurred at the residence of his brother, J. H. Peterson, in this city at 5 o'clock Monday morning, the immediate cause being paralysis. Mr. Peterson has been a resident of Crookston during the past twelve years until two years ago, when he engaged in Business at St. Hilaire.

Besides his brother and other relatives here, he leaves a widow and one child, the latter but a few years of age. The funeral will be held from the residence of J. H. Peterson at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon, Rev. M. H. Green officiating. The interment will be made at Oakdale.

Several fine pearls have been found in clam shells littering the shores of the Mississippi at Bemidji. John Patterson recently found one of great purity and size in Lake Irvine.

The condition of David Collins was such that the commission to examine as to his mentality decided to send him to the asylum, and Sheriff Sullivan delivered him there Thursday.

Jas. Muir, manager of the Russia farm was here late Thursday getting some extras for the harvest work. He is pushing the cutting as rapidly as possible and is satisfied with the crop.

Oscar Barness has severed his connection with Christianson & Strander and has gone up to his claim for a short trip, after which he will return to Fosston, where he has secured a position.

Alex. McKinnon is spending a few days in the Valley calling on the grain shippers in the interest of the new commission firm of which he is a member. He is meeting with good success, and his trips always result in securing promises of shipments.

The new artesian well and pumping outfit recently put in operation by the village of Fertile is giving entire satisfaction, and the people down there can now boast one of the best water supplies in that portion of the state. Not only is there plenty of water, but it is of the very best quality.

Theodore Weins, of Independence, is here heading a party of land seekers who arrived this morning to see what the Red River valley looks like in harvest time. The members of the party were pleased to find Conductor Murray here, with whom some of them used to play "hookey" in the old school days in Iowa.

W. H. Reker has resigned his position as manager of the Warner & Andrus Land company. Mr. Reker has made a valuable man and has an extensive acquaintance in southern Minnesota and Iowa that will be valuable to him whether he decides to conduct an independent land business or combine his efforts with those of some one else.

The J. Stevens Arms & Tool company, of Chicopee Falls, Mass., are offering to distribute the sum of $500 to the 60 young persons sending them before Oct. 1. the 60 best targets made with STEVENS RIFLES. The prizes range from $50 to $5.00. Mention the Journal. Send them ten cents in stamps and state the calibre of your rifle, and they will mail 12 official targets and conditions of the contest.

Miss Alderman left Friday evening for Stoughton, Wis., on business connected with the settling of the estate of the late Mr. Alderman. Miss Alderman will spend several weeks before her return, visiting with relatives and friends at her girlhood home. She made the journey as far as Minneapolis with Mrs. Nolan, and quite a party of friends were present to see the two ladies off and wish them bon voyage.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stevens returned Saturday from an extended eastern trip upon which they were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George C. Howard. They did the Pan-American exposition and proceeded to New York, Boston and other cities. They returned via Mr. Stevens' former home in Iowa, and he got into the political game there in time to be present at the convention that nominated Cummins for governor.

Miss Maud Fisk is visiting friends at Euclid this week.

Mrs. George O'Riley is away at Euclid for a few days' visit at the old homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Campbell arrived from Ada Monday, called by the illness of their daughter, Mrs. Zan Farley.

Attorney McIntyre, of Red Lake Falls, was in Crookston this morning, returning home from a trip to the Twin Cities.

C. W. Palmer arrived Saturday from Troy, N. Y., to spend a few months looking after his extensive landed property.

Nannie and Malcolm Brown, who have been visiting Master Chase Mix during the past week, returned to their home at Stephen.

Chas. Lattu came in from St. Hilaire Saturday to pack his household goods preparatory to removing to that place as his permanent home.

Mrs. Sempf, a former resident of Crookston, is here from Detroit, her present home, on a brief visit. She is enroute to Hillsboro, N. D.

Z. Luslan, father of the Luslan brothers of this city, who has been here for a visit during the past ten days, left Saturday morning for Argyle.

Will Espe, who has been conducting a fruit and confectionery business at Akeley, has sold out and is putting in a few days with Crookston friends.

E. C. Fox, night dispatcher on the Great Northern at this point, has commenced the erection of a new residence on Lincoln avenue, Jerome's addition. Hans Morberg has the contract.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Mix left Saturday night for Detroit Lake where they will spend a fortnight enjoying themselves with the fishing and boating. Miss Celina Lalonde will accompany them.

Between the creamery prosperity and the good crops, the Fertile farmers are in high feather this year, and as a consequence the little village has adorned itself with a bustle which is in the height of fashion.

Thester Faeto and wife, who left for Vermont a month ago for a visit to their old home, returned Tuesday. It goes without saying that there was a joyous time in that particular part of the east while they were there.

Mrs. Wm. Davidson and Miss Jean Woodall tarried with friends here a few hours Saturday while enroute to Keystone. Mrs. Davidson and her daughter, Mrs. McPhee of Lockhart, have just returned from an eastern trip.

J. W. Barden, who was injured last fall in the Great Northern accident at Thief River Falls, left Tuesday for an extended trip in the west, and will have Seattle as his objective point. Mr. Barden hopes to benefit his health by the trip.

F. X. Mineau, of the town of Russia, has disposed of all his real estate and will soon leave for Buffalo, where he will spend some time taking in the exposition, and will then make a trip to the west in search of desirable investment opportunities.

Elmer Ellington returned Friday from a pleasant trip through the state, during which he has visited relatives in the southern part, where he formerly lived. He returned via Cass Lake and Bemidji, where he caught a few fish, finishing up his outing with a couple of days at Maple Lake.

K. G. Chrysler, of Lake Park, Iowa, arrived here Tuesday and has spent the day calling upon friends whom he has known during his four years' attendance at the University of Minnesota, from which he graduated this year. Mr. Chrysler is looking after some landed interests he has in southwestern Polk county.

The Fertile Roller Mills met with a severe loss during the recent hot weather, in consequence of the heating of between 6,000 and 7,000 bushels of stored wheat. Attempt was made to keep it cool by occasional fanning, but in spite of this it became severely heated and was damaged to such an extent as to render it unfit for milling.

Mr. H. C. Suttle, of Chicago, who recently invested $160,000 in the Lockhart farm and became its latest owner, is now negotiating with sundry parties for a division among them of the 4,700 acres included in the premises. He conducted a large party of would-be purchasers over the place Thursday and the announcement of consummated sales may be expected.

John S. Nichols, formerly of Fertile, now employed as solicitor by the Rockford Daily Republic, is visiting with his son, Roy Nichols, on the old home place and taking note of the oncoming wave of creamery prosperity which is lifting the Fertile farmers on its crest and which he was so largely instrumental in starting by his own strenuous efforts to start the creamery.

Graham Munch arrived Saturday from his home at Sheldon, Ill., where he is conducting a successful drug business, and will remain for a fortnight's visit. He is accompanied by a friend, Mr. Frank Zumwalt, a young man from Sheldon, who has demonstrated the fact that farming pays in that portion of the universe.

Mrs. C. U. Nolan, wife of former Assistant Roadmaster Nolan of the Great Northern, left Friday to join Mr. Nolan at New Lewisville, Ark., where he recently accepted a position with the Cotton Belt. She will spend a few days visiting with relatives at Minneapolis and Flandreau, S. D., while enroute. Mr. Nolan is well pleased with his work and has received an advance in position, now superintending the construction of a new road, as well as extensive improvements along the line.

Mrs. Allan McKinnon has gone to the home of her parents at Wylie to spend a few days.

Sever Quarberg, the well known farmer living in the town of Onstad, was in yesterday to consult a doctor for a case of blood poisoning in one of his hands.

Espe Bros., who are drilling a well in the Fifth ward for the use of the city, are down a trifle over two hundred feet, and have reached a point where there is considerable water. The intention is to proceed another hundred feet, and thus secure sufficient to supply the needs of the city in that ward, with possibly enough to meet the private demand a part of the time.

Death of Amanda Eiken

Death entered the household of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eiken at an early hour this morning, and removed therefrom their eldest daughter, Amanda. Death ever loves a shining mark, and although it has been evident for several weeks that recovery was impossible, no one who has know the fair girl with the sunny smile and the loveable disposition can feel entirely reconciled to the early taking off which seems so ernel.

Amanda was born in Crookston Feb. 22nd, sixteen years ago. She has spent her whole life here, and was just budding into womanhood. None who knew her but felt the happy reflex of her sunny nature, and none ever found aught in her to chide. A few months ago she began to fail, and the disease was diagnosed as tuberculosis of the throat and lungs, and medical skill was of no permanent avail. Her last days were filled with suffering, although she bore all with rare fortitude, and little complaint. Her life was a beautiful Christian idyl, and her death a triumph of the Christian faith.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30, from the Synod church.

May Come to Crookston

It is given out on excellent authority although it is not to be considered official, that the headquarters of the Iron Range Long Distance Telephone company will be removed from Wadena to Crookston.

Should this occur, some of the general officers of the system would remove to this city, and this would be a source of all supplies for all the lines both in the valley and through the pine country to the iron ranges. This would make Crookston a point of considerable importance to the telephone interests and would bring here a number of families to be added to the population. This city will, of course, be headquarters for everything in the valley and a better point from which to manage the business, Wadena being off from the regular lines of the company.

Lockhart's Prospects

The new town site of Lockhart is beginning to become infused with the breath of life and promises to soon assert itself as one of the thrifty business points of the Red River Valley. August Maas, who is not only the proprietor of a productive farm adjoining Rolette station, but also has a monopoly of the mercantile business at that place is erecting a large store building there which will soon be ready for occupancy, and other parties will put in a hardware store in the near future. The attention of still other business men is being attracted to Lockhart's prospects, and it is likely that it will soon have its full quota of business enterprises.

DESCRIPTION OF MANILA

Sergent Berg Gives the Journal Something Interesting

Editor Journal:—Unless one is accustomed to the ways of the people and their mode of doing business, the city of Manila, from a business standpoint, would look small. As most of the merchants are "Chinos," they accomplish in their non-excitable way more than the native, who is a smooth and close calculator, but does not seem to have the business capacity of the "Chinos." Consequently the mercantile affairs of the islands are in the hands of the "pig-tail" population, and very seldom is there a "Chinos" seen doing manual labor. Upon arrival from the Flowery Kingdom they will do any kind of drudgery, for their own class of people, until they have saved enough to start some kind of business, either in Manila or some inland town where there is a show of making a small profit. They can live cheaper and on less than the natives themselves, and that is next to nothing. Perhaps that is the reason of no enterprise on the islands in the way of modern machinery, railroads, sugar refineries, etc. As all the sugar produced here has to be shipped to foreign countries for refinement, it is said that it could be done on the islands if some of the capital was turned in that direction.

The old walled city of Manila, with its moats, port-cullis and ancient coast defenses, show that many years ago it was a great shipping point, and these walls have withstood many fierce encounters of the piratical bands that cruised the Spanish main. But the Manila of today is outside these walls; the real city has gradually crept past the port-cullis—past the moats—and has taken root in the open country where there is no limit to its growth. Since occupation by the Americans, street accommodations have been found too small, the bridges too narrow, and everything points to yet a new Manila on the American plan, with streets wide enough for all, where street cars can operate, and then be wide enough for the accommodation of the army mule and the ever present transportation wagon.

Manila's places of amusement are not on a very grand scale, considering the population. There are several playhouses that have only a small seating capacity, a race track, several cock fighting arenas, and the Luneta. The Luneta, which has been improved, paved and two band stands erected, is where the elite of the city gather as the cool of the evening comes on; swell Quilz turnouts with liveried drivers, carrying richly bedecked Mestiza girls with their demure expression, army officers and their wives, navy officers from all the foreign vessels lying in the harbor, merchant marines, rich Spanish Dons, with their stately Senoras and pretty dark eyed Senoritas; the yellow faced "Chink" with his flowing pants and tottering walk; the sturdy Japs with their eye-brows up side down, all go to make up the crowd that gathers here to get a look at the quiet bay and the sunset, and also to listen to the band and see who has the best turnout, listen to the latest scandal, etc; and as the sun drops over the distant Batan mountains in a purple and gold sky, reflected by the quiet waters of the bay, the band plays its last soft strain, the boats riding at anchor cast long and erratic shadows, electric lights begin to flash here and there; the twilight has gone in true tropical fashion, and you hear someone say, "We ought to get mail soon; Transport —— left 'Frisco last month."

Hail Destruction

Field Agent Williams, who has been canvassing for the hail insurance company for which Attorney Marin is the local representative, 'phoned in from over west Tuesday that five losses by hail had been reported to him up to the hour that he was heard from, and that he expected more to follow. The strip where the damage was done began five miles north of East Grand Forks, and the parties reporting losses lived four miles apart. He did not know how much further the destruction extended nor how wide-spread it would prove.

On Saturday a storm struck the farm of Carl Beiswanger, near Fisher, and he had applied for indemnity for a 30 per cent loss.

FEDERATION OF LABOR

Will Assist the Strikers and the Idea of Compromise Has Been Abandoned.

Pittsburg, Aug. 10.—There were grave and important developments in the strike situation today. The United States Steel corporation moved decisively in its strike campaign with a peremptory order directing that the great Dewees Wood plant at McKeesport be dismantled and removed to Kiskimentas Valley. President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, after a two days' conference with President Shaffer and his associates, issued a formal statement specifically pledging the federation to the moral and financial support of the Amalgamated association, declaring that nothing remains for labor but to battle for the cause of unionism.

The official announcement of the order to dismantle the Dewees Wood plant came toward the close of an otherwise uneventful day, and its importance was such that it claimed the serious consideration on either side of the great industrial conflict now being waged. President F. Smith, district manager for the American Sheet Steel company, made the formal announcement in the following statement:

> "I have orders from President McMurtry of the American Sheet Steel company, to at once tear down the Dewees Wood plant at McKeesport and remove the same to Kiskimentas Valley. This I shall proceed to do immediately."

The publication of the order was a great surprise and McKeesport received it at first with doubt. Actual preparations were made later in the day for the dismantling of the mill and there is little room for doubt that it will be torn down and taken apart forthwith.

The strikers heard the order in a spirit of defiance. They simply said that it showed the steel corporation was convinced that it could not reopen the plant in the face of the opposition of the Amalgamated association. The strike leaders said that the order was a bluff that had been worked successfully before and declined to take it seriously. The steel officials decline to give any reason for the order, but it is openly stated here that the pronounced sympathy of citizens and city officials at McKeesport with the strikers is responsible for it. It is also said that the plant of the National Tube company at McKeesport will be abandoned and the old Carnegie tube plant at Conneaut, O., revived.

President Gompers would not say just what the Federation of Labor proposed to do, or in fact, anything beyond the communication issued by him today. It is presumed, however, that all of the Federation men engaged in the iron and steel trades will be called out.

DOUBLE MURDER

Was Perpetrated at the Canadian Soo Yesterday

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 9.—A double tragedy was enacted in a Canadian Soo home at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Frederick Shultz shot his wife and 12 year old stepdaughter, in a drunken fit of jealousy. His wife died almost instantly and the girl, who was shot through the breast, cannot live. Schultz had been drinking on this side of the river and on going home had some words with his wife, during which he worked himself into a frenzy. He secured his revolver and fired at his wife. The daughter was clinging to her mother's neck, and received one of the bullets. The murderer, after emptying the revolver of all but one shot, turned it on himself, but did not inflict any injury. A man and two women were in the house at the time, but were terrorized at the point of a revolver by Schultz, who remained there for half an hour after the tragedy and then made his escape. No trace of him has yet been found.

STATE FAIR OF 1901

Vice President Roosevelt Will Open the Big Show

It seemed as if the Minnesota State Fair of 1900 would be "hard to beat" but the plans for the 1901 fair quite set last year's into the shade.

Not content with last year's cattle show—the largest yet held in the world—the fair managers have secured for this year the national exhibits of both the American Short-horn Breeders' Association and the American Hereford Breeders' Association. These are the two great cattle breeding organizations of the world and they will each aim to have the finest display at Hamline. They will offer large premiums which will be supplemented by offers of the feir association. Auction sales of prize animals will be an attractive feature of these exhibits.

Naturally the other classes of stock will be much in evidence as none of the breeders will like to be left entirely out of sight. President Cooper assures us that the stock display will excel that of Chicago last winter. This will make it still the greatest live stock show in the world.

Vice President Roosevelt will open the fair on Monday, Sept. 11, making an address from the grand stand and afterwards attending a luncheon and reception.

Premiums have been increased and a total of $40,000 in prizes is offered for distribution during fair week. Much of this money will go to agricultural exhibits. The new agricultural hall for which the legislature appropriated $25,000 last winter, will be occupied and will give the displays of fruit and agricultural products ample space for the first time in years. This building is a beautiful one and will be worth seeing in itself.

Each evening during fair week there will be racing by electric light and a program of amusements ending with a magnificent spectacular pyrotechnic drama put on by the Pains, of Chicago. The afternoon races will also be supplemented by specialties of the highest class.

Altogether the fair management is keeping up its reputation for making the best fair in the world.

Half fare railroad rates have been secured from all points within 200 miles of Minneapolis and St. Paul for the week of Sept. 2 to 7.

Commends Temperance Work

In an address at Hartford, Conn., on Sunday, Archbishop Ireland said of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union's work:

Archbishop Ireland recounted the events attending the founding of the union in Washington thirty years ago, and traced its growth through the early years down to the present time.

In speaking of the work of the union he said that in years past the criticism had been justly made that the proportion of drinkers among Catholice was greater than among persons of other religions, but that now such a statement would be untrue, the change being due to the Catholic Total Abstinence union and other similar organizations in the church.

The speaker did not, however, fail to pay a tribute to temperance societies in churches of other denominations. In closing he made an eloquent plea for temperance among the men of the twentieth century in view of the demands of the age for clear-headed and active men.

Noyes Explains Matters

Washington, Aug. 9.—Attorney General Knox has received the answer of Judge Arthur H. Noyes of Alaska to the charge mede against him, that he used his position to further his personal and financial interests in the settlement of a number of mining cases arising at Cape Nome. Judge Noyes was recently granted leave of absence to come here and in the meantime he has sent on to the attorney general a written answer to the charges that were preferred He denies these charges in whole and alleges that rival mining concerns are at the bottom of the charges. Attorney General Knox will go over the papers in the case and will possibly make them public in a day or two.

Bronson is the Man

M. E. Bronson, one of those who know land values from long experience, and who can talk them understandingly, is greeting friends these days at the Warner & Andrus Land agency, 103 South Broadway, next to the office of Miller & Foote. Mr. Bronson has an extensive acquaintance throughout the state, having been on the road during the past 18 years, with headquarters in St. Paul, and has seen the development of the farming section of Minnesota from its original prairie condition to the present increasing values. His connection with the Warner & Andrus company is a good thing for both parties.

Nebraska Storm

Elwood, Neb., Aug. 10—A terrible wind, rain and hail storm swept over Gospher county during the night and caused much damage. Many farm buildings were destroyed.

Astounded the Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennstville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50 cents at A. G. Andresen's.

Four children played with matches over at Akeley last week and the four year old son of James Daggett was burned to death as a result.

NEW USE FOR BOYS

Indian Ties His to a Tree to Prevent Bear from Escaping

Carson, B. C., Aug. 10.—A peculiarly cold-blooded incident—one which might have resulted in a tragedy but which, as it transpired, was nothing worse than a comedy—has just come to light. An old Indian named Phillip Adolph was going on foot across the mountain to visit relatives and was accompanied by his son and that omnipresent feature of Siwash life, a cur dog. The latter treed a silver-tip bear of unusual size, and the Indian wanted the hide and incidentally desired to gorge himself on bear steak. But his rifle was in his tepee four miles away.

Now bruin will stay up a tree so long as a dog sits at the bottom. So Phillip tried to persuade his son to return for the rifle while he and the dog kept watch. But the boy was afraid. Neither would he remain alone on watch while the senior Siwash went for his arm. A warm discussion ensued, but both father and son remained obdurate. Finally the old Indian lost all patience and seizing the boy, he bound him to the base of the tree with both arms clasping it and left him there.

When the bear attempted to descend the boy's screams drove him back up the tree and there he remained for two hours until the Indian returned with his rifle, released his son and laid in a supply of bear roast.

Profit in Horse Breeding

At a meeting of the Texas Live Stock association a while ago it was said that there were 3,000,000 less horses in the United States now than in 1890, and yet there were 1,000,000 more in use, the shrinkage being mostly in the herds that then ran wild on the plains. There is a greatly increased use of horses in this country and a demand for large numbers from abroad, and it will take six years to begin to have a supply to equal the demand, even if it does not largely increase within that time. If this is correct there should be a profit in breeding horses at almost any time for years to come.

BIG FIRE AT MINTO

Thirty Thousand Dollar Loss by Burning of General Store

Saturday about 1:30 fire broke out in the Spratka general store at Minto, N. D., the largest in that city, and the loss on the goods from fire and water was total and amounts to about $30,000. The citizens and fire department turned out and put up a great fight, and succeeded in saving the building, but the stock will be a total loss.

The origin of the fire is a mystery as yet, but it is thought that it was the work of an incendiary, and will be thoroughly investigated. The stock was fully insured, but the companies carrying the risks could not be learned. There was great excitement for a time and fears were entertained that the fire might spread, but on account of the damp conditions of the buildings, resulting from the recent rains, and the fact that every effort was put forth to corral the flames, the feers were groundless, as it turned out.

Fortune for Mail Clerk

Redfield, S. D., Aug. 9.—A snug fortune is in sight for Elmer B. Stevenson, a mail clerk on this division of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, as teh result of his invention of a new locking device for mail pouches. Mr. Stevenson has just returned from Washington, where he submitted his invention to the postoffice department in competition with a number of others. Mr. Stevenson's device was found to be more simple, and to lock the pouches more securely than the others, and was accepted. The department had offered a prize of $20,000 for the best device of this nature, but Mr. Stevenson has decided to forego the reward and accept the royalties which the government will have to pay. These will amount to at least $200,000.

Population of Canada

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 9.—The total population of Canada, as shown by the new census, is 5,300,000. The official figures will not be announced until next week, and they are being closely guarded to prevent premature publication. The figures will come as a disappointment to many Canadians. The increase is only 466,761 over the figures of ten years ago, or an increase of less than 9.7 per cent. The figures, when contrasted with the 21 per cent increase in the population of the United States, are not as favorable as many leading Canadians had anticipated. The census of 1891 gave Canada a population of 4,833,239, an increase of 508,429 over the census of 1881.

A Grewsome Find

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 9.—While grading near South Seattle, workmen unearthed a small trunk, which on examination was found to contain the remains of a young girl. According to the coroner the girl had been murdered, a bullet hole being found in the skull and the body cut to pieces and placed in the trunk. The coroner says the body must have been buried at least four years.

NOYES' DEFENSE

Outline Given to the Public by Att'y. Gen'l. Knox Contains General Denial

OF ALL THE ACCUSATIONS

Noyes Now Enroute to Washington to Defend Himself Against the Charges

Washington, Aug. 10—Judge Arthur H. Noyes' reply to the formal charges filed against him for alleged misconduct in the discharge of his official duties at Cape Nome, reached the department of justice Thursday afternoon.

He takes up in detail the various cases in respect to which irregularity has been charged against him, and specifically denies each and every allegation thereof.

He describes the chaotic conditions existing at Nome at the time of his arrival, wherein he states he found in the neighborhood of 20,000 people of all classes, and the utmost confusion and disorder prevailing. He sets out that every lot of ground in the whole town had two or more claimants; that possession was held in a great many instances by armed force, and that he was besieged upon every hand immediately upon his arrival by parties seeking relief against those whom they claimed to be wrongfully and unlawfully in possession of their property.

He then recounts the circumstances under which he appointed Alexander McKenzie receiver of certain mining claims, alleging that it had not been prearranged that McKenzie should act as receiver.

In his answer the judge reaffirms the wisdom of that choice and compliments McKenzie's administration of the property.

He admits that in most cases where he appointed receivers the representations made to the court were largely untrue as to the capabilities of the mines.

Judge Noyes is coming to Washington in person to defend himself, as the northwest already knows, and so the written reply which he has made to the charges is only a preliminary step in the proceedings.

AGREED TO IN PEKING

Statement of Interest in View of Delay in Signing the Protocol

Washington, Aug. 9.—The following exact statement of certain phases of the Chinese negotiations is given from authoritative sources in order to correct some misapprehension which has arisen from published reports as to the possible cause for delay in signing the protocol at Peking:

All the negotiators are agreed on the tariff matter. The present ad valorem tariff is to be converted into a specific tariff at the average rates of the present treaty tariff, 7 percentum, elective, and articles now on the free list are to be included in the new specific schedule. The details of this arrangement are to be left to a special commission to sit hereafter, probably at Shanghai.

The details of the arrangement for the prohibition of the importation of firearms, munitions and materials for their manufacture were settled some months ago. They provide for the seizure by the foreign warships, of any Chinese or foreign ships entering Chinese waters with the prohibited articles on board and also for such steps as each of the several foreign governments may deem it proper or be in a position to take in order to prohibit the exportation or arms and supplies from their respective countries to China. The state department is not officially advised of the provisions of an amendment to the articles of the protocol which is reported to have been recently introduced, but its object would seem to be to require the Chinese authorities actively to co-operate in enforcing the prohibition which the Chinese negotiators have already accomplished in principle.

MINNESOT'A CENSUS

Analysis of the Figures as to Sex, Color and Nativity

Washington, Aug. 10—Minesota, with a population of 1,751,394, has 932,490 males and 818,904 females within her borders, according to the census bulletin issued yesterday. Divided by color, there are 1,737,036 whites and only 14,358 persons classed as colored, which includes negroes, Chinese, Japanese and Indians, taxed and untaxed. Divided by nativity, 1,246,076 of Minnesota's population are native born and 505,118 foreign born. Of total white population, 1,232,101 are natives. Of native whites, 425,780 were born of native parents and 806,321 of foreign parents. Of native born inhabitants, 644,722 are males and 601,354 females; of foreign born, 287,768 are males and 217,550 females, and of total whites, 924,851 are males and 812,185 females. Of foreign whites, 287,473 are males and 217,462 females. The colored population is divided into 2,836 negro males and 2,123 negro females; 161 males and 5 female Chinese, 50 male and 1 female Japanese, and 4,592 male Indians and 4,590 female Indians.

From the foregoing figures it will be seen that 54.2 per cent of the inhabitants of Minnesota are males and 45.8 per cent females, that the foreign born element constitutes 28.9 per cent of the whole; that 99.2 per cent of population is white, 24.3 per cent of native white population was born of native parents and 46.1 per cent of foreign parents, and that of the total white population 28.8 per cent was born of foreign parents.

Prince Henry Dead

Saigon, French Cochin China, Aug. 10—Prince Henry of Orleans died at 3:30 p. m. yesterday. Prince Henry was the eldest son of the Duke of Chartres and a cousin of the Duke of Orleans. He was born in 1867 and was not married. The prince had been dangerously ill for some time past. He was on his way to the United States by way of San Francisco and was to have passed some time at Newport this fall. His name has been mentioned as a suitor for the hand of a well known American heiress and at one time he figured as a suitor for the hand of the eldest sister of the young king of Spain, the Infanta Maria de las Mercedes, who was married in February of the present year to Prince Charles of Bourbon, son of the Count of Caserts.

Record in the Philippines

Washington, Aug. 9.—In his report of a year's operations in the Philippines, General McArthur gives the following statistics from May 5, 1900 to June 30, 1901, during which time there were 1,026 contacts between American troops and insurgents, which show the casualties on both sides:

Americans—Killed 245; wounded 490; captured 118; missing 20.

Insurgents—Killed 2,854; wounded 1,193; captured 6,572; surrendered 23,095.

During the same period the following material was captured or surrendered from the insurgents:

Rifles 15,693; rifle ammunition 296,385 rounds; revolvers 868; bolos 3,516; cannon 122; cannon ammunition 10,270 rounds.

Reward for Thieves Increased

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—"Buck" Taylor has been arrested, suspected of complicity of the robbery of the Selby smelting works. Taylor was employed in the works until about six weeks ago. He lived in a cabin half a mile from the plant and it is said had been missing from Sunday night until he was arrested. It is reported that men now in the employ of the smelting company are under suspicion.

"Dick" Phelan, a paroled convict, who was suspected, has reported to the authorities and claims to be able to establish an alibi. The Selby company has increased the reward offered from $5,000 to $25,000.

Kept the Cash

St. Paul, Aug. 9.—Wm. E. Lee, of the state board of control, yesterday afternoon recovered the pocketbook stolen from him Sunday evening at Wildwood. It was returned through the mails. With the pocketbook was a short note, written in pencil:

"Dear Sir: Enclosed please find pocketbook, with everything intact, except cash. Sorry it happened. Did not know who Mr. Lee was at the time, or the money would have been returned. Will try and make it up at some future date. Yours, etc."

Russian Tariff

St. Petersburg, Aug. 10—The customs tariff on tanning extracts and mimosa bark has been amended so as to exempt from import duty quebracho in planks and logs and mimosa bark in pulverized form, while tanning extracts, chestnuts, hemlock, quebracho, mimosa, oaks and firs are taxed 45 kopecks per pood.

Boers Capture a Post

London, Aug. 9.—Kitchener reports from Pretoria that a post of 25 men belonging to Steinacker's horse on Saby river have been surprised and captured by the Boers.

Wants Divorce From Carrie

Medicine Lodge, Kan., Aug. 10.—David Nation, through his attorney, yesterday brought suit for a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Carrie Nation, the temperance crusader. The petitioner, who is now visiting in Iberia, O., alleges that his wife held him up to public ridicule, neglected her family duties and abandoned his home.

Their Secret is Out.

All Sadieville, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whittaker, who had for a long time endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. TWO AT FARGO

Fatal Mishaps From Fly Poison and Boiling Water

Saturday morning a 10:30 o'clock, the little two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Johnson, managed in some manner to reach a saucer in which fly paper was held with the liquid. The little one drank the whole of the liquid, with the result that he became very ill within a few minutes. Dr. Campbell was sent for and arrived at the home quickly and administered antidotes but without success, death ensuing in about five hours.

On Friday afternoon Edna, the little three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Kennedy, met with a terrible accident which resulted in her death, which occurred yesterday morning. A pailful of boiling water had been placed on the floor of the kitchen temporarily and the little one in playing about fell backwards into it. She was frightfully burned about the back and hips and though all possible was done to relieve her sufferings, she died yesterday morning.—Fargo Call.

Bootleggers' Harvest

This is the season when the bootleggers get in their work in North Dakota, and many of them have already filled their grips with medicine and started for the harvest fields, says the Grand Forks Herald. In the past they have done a good business in different parts of the state, and as this is one of the best crop years for several seasons past, there will be more than the usual number attempt to make a few dollars in this manner rather than by pulling their coats and going to work in the harvest fields.

As a practical illustration of this, a man giving his name as Harper was arrested yesterday by the police, and in his grip was found 24 pints of whisky, though he termed it "Rheumatism Cure." He was sent on his way rejoicing, though his "cure" was held for examination. State's Attorney Wineman is determined to use every effort to stop bootlegging in Grand Forks county at least, and has issued a circular letter which he thinks will aid in the suppression of the traffic.

Entire Business Portion Burned

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 10.—The entire business portion of Rantoul was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The Martin house in the only building in the business section that escaped. The fire originated in a grain elevator. Among the buildings destroyed were the postoffice, depot, Masonic Temple, new hotel and opera house. Both newspaper offices were burned. While much of the contents of the stores were saved, the loss will exceed $100,000. The insurance will fail far short of the loss.

Uncertain Comet

Boston, Aug. 10—Interviewed in regard to Encke's comet, Professor Pickering said: We have a great interest in Encke's comet, because the time of its arrival is not fixed. Since it was discovered it has been shortening its time about two hours. There is no way of accounting for it. It tends to prove that it is passing through a resisting medium, which, instead of causing the comet to lessen the speed of its motion, quickens it. The comet is vague and somewhat indistinct when seen by the naked eye, and it is not very clear when photographed. It is irregular in form and rarely exhibits a marked nucleus.

Col. Liggett Inspects

Col. Liggett, who is visiting the branch experiment stations in the state came in from Grand Rapids yesterday. He has spent today with Supt. Hoverstad and together they have driven around and examined all the crops on the Crookston farm. Col. Liggett thinks the wheat will go twenty bushels per acre, possibly more. He says it will yield better a good deal than that on farms in the southern part of the state. The oats will go 75 bushels if no misfortune befalls the crop. He heartily endorsed the idea of seeding down a good deal of the land to the grasses that have proved most successful in the valley, and in the spring his idea is to stock the farm heavily with cattle and probably sheep.

He also endorsed the idea of selling off a part of the live stock and building an addition to the horse barn in which to winter the remaining cattle.

The erection of the new barn for which the legislature provided will not be undertaken until next spring.

Found New Pearl Beds

St. Paul, Aug. 9.—The Minnesota river at Fort Snelling is said to be one of the most promising fields for pearl fishing and incidentally for clam shell gathering in the northwest. Indications are found at the junction with the Mississippi of the most beautiful river pearls that have yet been discovered. The Mississippi has been fished from below Langdon as far down as Clinton, Ia., with varied success, but the Minnesota river bottom, which produces the finest specimen of clam shells, with the most beautiful hues, has been indifferently searched.

The Minnesota river fishers have already placed pearls on the market, and buyers are visiting the plants near the fort.

Miss Anna Christianson, stenographer for the Northwestern Marble Works, has been given a vacation and will leave tonight for Minneapolis where she will spend a month visiting at her former home with old-time friends.

PERJURY AND BRIBERY

More Sensations Promised in the Butte Mining Case

Butte, Mont., Aug. 12.—County Attorney Breen, of Silver Bow county, has procured warrants for the arrest of Miss E. L. Walters and J. Walters, two detectives in the employ of the Amalgamated Copper company, who made compromising affidavits against Judge E. W. Harney on a charge of perjury. Neither of the accused was in Butte, having left after making their sensational affidavits.

It is reported that Heinze has a few cards up his sleeve which he will spring. It is said that affidavits will be filed charging a well known citizen of Butte with having made an unsuccessful attempt to bribe Judge Harney by a fabulous sum to decide the Minnie Healey case against Heinze.

Judge Harney is said to be visiting at Livingston under the assumed name of E. A. Reynolds. Mrs. Brackett is in the Yellowstone Park. The state and local press demand the judge's resignation or impeachment. There are current rumors he will not return.

Found a Roll of Money

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 12.—Two children playing with rakes on the farm of Joe Lamb, near Hubbell, Neb., unearthed a roll three inches through of paper money suposed to contain a modest fortune. The bills were badly rotted but examination with a microscope disclosed that one was of the denomination of $1,000 with a strong likelihood that others will prove of the same value. The money will be sent to Washington for redemption.

The accepted theory is that the money played a part in the wreck of a passenger train on the Burlington fifteen years ago in that vicinity, and for the commission of which James Voorhees was convicted and is now serving a long time sentence in the penitentiary. Voorhees loosened the plates, tied a wire to a rail, and pulled it out when the train approached, sending several cars into the ditch. During the clearing of the wreck many passengers were robbed. It is believed Voorhes then hid the plunder which the children found.

Crooked Insurance Man

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 9.—Sheriff Bailey last evening placed under arrest D. W. Leach at Motley. Leach is charged with grand larceny, the complainant being General Agent Pruden of Duluth, of the Fidelity Mutual Insurance company. He is well known at Brainerd, Little Falls and St. Cloud. He was taken to Bemidji. It is charged he collected premiums and failed to turn them over.

Crookston Won Easily

The ball game yesterday between Crookston and Fargo resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 7 to 4. The game deserves an extended notice which lack of space prevents. Bradish pitched in his usual good form and struck out 17 men. Winslow caught a faultless game and all the other players did equally well.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Nicholson had their home brightened on Saturday by the arrival of a son and heir.

In Two Minutes

There will be another car. But the man can't wait. He chases the car and swings on, panting and hot, but satisfied. He keeps this gait up all day. He works that way, he lunches that way. He continues this until his stomach "breaks down" and nature compels him to "go slow."

Business men who have impaired their digestion by hasty eating will find in Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a cure for dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It does not give mere temporary relief, but it effects a radical cure. It strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves and purifies the blood.

"For six long years I suffered with my liver, kidneys, and with indigestion, which baffled the best doctors in our country," writes E. L. Ransell, Esq., of Woolsey, Prince William Co., Va. "I suffered with my stomach and back for a long time, and after taking a 'cart-load' of medicine from three doctors, I grew so bad I could hardly do a day's work. Would have death-like pains in the side, and blind spells, and thought life was hardly worth living. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets,' as advised. Before I had taken half of the second bottle I began to feel relieved. I got six bottles and used them, and am happy to say I owe my life to Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

Shoes That Burst and Shoes That Don't

There is no question about the kind you want. And there is none about the kind we sell.

The "Don't Burst" shoes fill every box on every shelf in the store. And besides possessing this good feature they possess many others which will recommend them.

Our $3.00 Men's Calf Shoes are models of elegance and have that durability which only good leather gives.

Last Tuesday morning while Steve Quesnell was taking a hay rack off the wagon, he fell in such a manner as to dislocate his shoulder. Dr. Darling was [illegible] and put it in its usual place and Mr. Quesnell is able to be around as if nothing had happened.

CARMAN.

The new well that was being sunk here has proved a grand success; they have struck a flow which proves to be the best of water and lots of it.

The city council should give us a policeman for fall months, as we are very much in need of one and we think it is no more than right that we should have one on duty here.

Some hoboes created some excitement here Saturday night. They were gathered in a box car and in some manner set fire to it. It took some lively work to extinguish the blaze.

C. A. Meyers says a grass widower's life is not the best and he is anxiously awaiting the return of Mrs. M. from Grand Forks, where she has been visiting for the past week.

The night flier at the big saw mill was held up Monday night along by the board fence by the lumber yard by three men. It is getting serious here and the city should take steps to protect her citizens even if they do live in the Fifth ward.

G. W. Banks is laid up from a bad hand caused by a sting from an insect. A dance was given by the members of the C. C. club last Saturday evening and a good time was enjoyed by all. The boys of the club are royal entertainers, and for a good time go to the club for it.

W. W. Brown has leased the Columbia hotel and will move over in a short time. We are very sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Brown from our midst. A host of friends join in wishing them a happy wedded life.

FOSSTON.

Dr. M. McKinnon is at Duluth on business.

Harvest hands are rushing for North Dakota by the trainloads.

Oscar Helgeson of Ada is canvassing the city with a fine line of stereoscopic views.

Marshall and Street Commissioner Gus Holt have been pushing the work on the county road west of Fossten lately.

O. R. Vaaler of the firm of Vaaler & Grannum has moved into his new residence in Stadsvold & Lohn's addition.

Mr. Harris of Minneapolis, who was here some time ago writing up Fosston in a book form, is here delivering some. They are a fine souvenir of Fosston.

Wheat cutting is partially done east of Fosston, and with such elegant weather as we have now the bulk of the wheat in the eastern part of the county will be in shock by the end of this week.

D. S. Dickenson of Leon, Beltrami county has rented rooms over Vaaler & Grannums store. Mr. Dickenson was a resident of Fosston for two years previously and was street commissioner for one year.

Messrs. Hans Hanson and Lauritz Ask, two hustling farmers from Windsor, Beltrami county, were in Fosston last week and each bought a new McCormick binder from J. C. Scott & Co. They reported crops to be pretty fair around Windsor this year.

GENTILLY.

Olisime Merell is very sick.

Plowing and harvesting are keeping every one on the move.

Renl Fortier started his threshing machine yesterday morning.

H. F. Gendron has his new store building about half completed.

Martin Lally has purchased Charley Trepander's gray team of horses.

Prepare yourself with ammunition this year to fight the prairie chickens.

Call at Labonte & Co's store if you want good threshing oil, give your order early.

Rev. Elie Theillon began yesterday putting the first coat of paint on his new house.

Crops are looking fine in this section and every one seems to feel good as a consequence.

The Gentilly cheese factory is running full blast. John Porter, the Louisville butter maker, has taken Arthur Merell's place with Mr. Verity, as helper.

Married: On Aug. 12, Nestor Sauvo to Marie Painsenault, both of Gentilly. Mederic Painsenault acted as groomsman and Bertha Sauvo as bridesmaid. The ceremony was performed at St. Ann's church, Gentilly, Rev. Father Theillon officiating. Mr. Sauve is one of the first members of the M. W. A. camp to commit matrimony since the Gentilly camp was organized. We all wish them good luck.

FERTILE.

The weather is fine and harvest is nearly over.

Andrew Huff started threshing this morning, but harvest hands are very scarce.

It is rumored that Fertile will have a $5,000 brick hotel.

Chas. Tschida is putting up a fine brick building which he will use as a cigar factory, where he expects to employ six or seven men.

The new bank building on the corner of Mill street and Lincoln avenue is progressing very nicely and will be completed about the first of November.

Editor Knappen, of the Journal, returned this morning from his trip to Chicago.

H. L. Gaylord's new brick block on Washington avenue is nearly completed and is a beauty. Who says Fertile is behind the times. We even have a merry go round to make the nights pleasant.

Mrs. Wm. Klinger returned from Crookston Sunday after a week's visit with relatives there.

Miss Carrie Moen and Mrs. Hans Wik attended the teachers' examination in Crookston last week.

P. B. Hunter and H. A. Bakken drove down to Woodside Sunday to see how harvest was progressing.

E. G. Gustafson and wife drove to Fertile Saturday for an over Sunday visit with E. B. Gustafson and family.

The teachers here who attended the summer school at Crookston and returned home last week were: Misses Carrie Estelle, Eva Hunter and Azile Horton.

LEESTON.

Harvest is in full blast.

Aslak Skael of Eden is working for [illegible] H Torgrimson nowadays.

J. O. Nordal and family visited with John Senningsen of Melvin Sunday.

A grand dance was given over at Tom Gulbransen's last Saturday. All present report a good time.

G. O. Broden has secured a position as head feeder on the threshing rig of Johnsrud Bros. of Fertile.

Tom Gulbransen has built himself a nice new residence on his farm one mile south of here, John Strom doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertils, Mr. Albert and Miss Dickie Lee and their mother and Torval Torgrimson were in Fertile Sunday.

Henry Hansen of Gary visited with Mr. and Mrs. Torgrimson last Sunday and at the same time had a chance to talk with some one else.

T. O. Gulbransen has sold out his share in the threshing rig to Henry Johnson and said firm will hereafter be known as the Nordal & Johnson Threshing company.

Thomas Hansen is going out east so often nowadays that he must have matrimonial intentions. Hope there will be a wedding in the near future.

Miss Lena Temanson and Miss Millie Torgrimson returned from Crookston Wednesday, where they have been attending the state training school for teachers.

CLIMAX.

Mrs. B. Spokelt was a Crookston visitor on Monday.

Mrs. K. O. Ostby returned from a visit at Hendrum and [illegible] Tuesday morning.

J. Ralston became lonesome one day this week and took the train for Crookston to spend the day.

There are a great number of men passing through the country in this vicinity looking for work.

Rev. Dyke preached at Shelly and Caledonia last Sunday. Next Sunday evening services will be held in the Climax church.

Carl Rosholt, a younger brother of [illegible] Rosholt, arrived here from Wisconsin last week and will assist the Climax band during the busy season this fall.

Ole Erickson was a very sick man last week for a couple of days. Cholera morbus was the cause, but at present he is on the mend. Hans Berg has also just recovered from an attack.

A young son of E. Vingeland of Neby was brought to town one day last week having been severely injured by a vicious sheep. Upon examination it was found that one of it's arms was broken, which was set.

Mrs. George Schr[illegible] left last [illegible]day evening for Alexandria, where she expects to spend some time visiting her parents. Mr. Schrump also has a vacation and left by team for his old home at Larimore, N. D.

LOWELL.

Too much rain for harvesting.

Most farmers are through haying.

Mr. Hardrath has begun stacking wheat.

School in district No. 82 began Monday with 16 pupils enrolled.

Arthur Jensen fell from a hay rake last week and sprained his ankle very badly.

Farmers think the yield of wheat this year will be very light—not much more than half a crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Seibert and their children attended the funeral of their son-in-law, Will Peterson Tuesday.

BIRKHOLZ

Lena Dalen is at the store for a while.

Clara Mortenson is helping Mrs. J. Anderson during harvest.

There was a very pleasant dance at Jack Anderson's on Sunday evening.

B. J. Dunning has a new twelve foot cut binder, and the grain does not stand very long when Henry and those six horses get out in the field.

Across the river, north, the grain is not ready for harvest and several hundred men have congregated and are waiting for work. They helped themselves to a fat steer, killed and cooked it, and to all kinds of garden stuff and visited granaries and took sacks of flour. It is reported that they have formed a union and will not work for less than $2.50 per day. The farmers who advertised for so many men so far in advance of the time they were needed are in a measure to blame. Most of the laborers have little or no money to buy food.

CLOVER A SUCCESS

One Instance in Which This Valuable Grass Disproves the Common Verdict.

FOUR TONS TO THE ACRE

Grown Under Conditions That are Not Exceptionally Favorable.

A field of clover is an unusual sight in the Red River valley, and in fact, perhaps it will be something of a tax upon the credulity of many farmers to assert that there is a nine acre field near St. Hilaire, in Red Lake county, which is now carrying as fine a second crop of this valuable grass as is the average of the second crop in the regular clover growing localities.

This crop is growing upon the farm owned by G. A. Brooks, on section 33 in the town of Rocksbury. The land upon which it is growing is rather heavy and considered as of rather a cold nature, has been under cultivation twelve years or more without any manure or other fertilization, and has been cropped in small grain continuously.

In the spring of 1900, after the wheat was sown, Mr. Brooks sowed upon the tract in question between seven and eight quarts of pure red clover seed per acre, with a wheelbarrow grass seeder, and harrowed the ground. During the winter the snow kept it fairly well covered, and it came on in the spring producing a crop of about two tons per acre. Since this was cut it has again produced a crop which, as it now stands, is estimated at about the same amount as the first crop, though Mr. Brooks intends to let it stand and ripen its seed, and expects to realize from three to four bushels per acre, if he can secure the services of a clover huller to save it.

The field is indeed a beautiful sight, with its almost unbroken mass of blossoms just at their best for beauty, and throwing out their delightful fragrance far and near.

It has long been held as a demonstrated fact that clover cannot be successfully raised in the Red River valley.

But if nothing more, this field certainly furnishes a notable exception to this negative rule. A Journal representative was informed also that a former owner of the farm, from whom Mr. Brooks purchased it two years ago, had a successful experience in raising clover, though he had tried it only in a limited way. Mr. Brooks, who formerly resided in the southern part of the state and is familiar with clover culture, claims that the clover should be sown by itself and not with timothy or other grasses, if the best results are desired.

That a clover crop is of great advantage to the soil, and will maintain and even increase its fertility, is generally understood by all agriculturists. And in view of the fact of the perfect success of it as a crop in this instance, it would seem to be well worth an experimental test by others, on a small scale. It may not succeed in all localities, but we believe even if not now, that at some time in the future clover will be among the most profitable crops in the Red River valley.

ANOTHER INJUNCTION

East Grand Forks Must Stop Work on City Light Plant

The fight against the electric light plant in East Grand Forks is evidently not over yet awhile, and it is possible that work on the plant will be stopped for this season at least. Yesterday the city officials were served with injunction papers ordering them to discontinue work on the electric light plant, which has been under way for the past few weeks, and it is said that the fight will be a bitter one, as those in favor of the plant are very determined in the matter, and those opposed are also aggressive, and will stop the deal at every turn of the road, if possible.

The hearing under the injunction will be on the 30th inst., the same date the bids for the purchase of the electric light and waterworks bonds were to have been sold, and it is expected there will be all manner of fun and fireworks at that time. The electric light building is practically completed and if the injunction against further prosecution of the work is made permanent, it will be some time before there will be any use for the structure, and one of the arguments in favor of the plant is that now the building has been erected, it would be poor policy to let it stand empty.

The fight over this proposition will be one of the important factors in the municipal elections which will take place this fall in East Grand Forks, and the various candidates are already taking soundings in the political channel with a view to getting on the band wagon in advance of the other fellow. The election will be one of the most hotly contested ever held.

A Successful Farmer

A visit to the farm of L. J. Regimbal in Gentilly yesterday, disclosed conditions that should prevail on every farm in the valley, that the owner desires to get the best results from. Mr. Regimbal is not this year, and never has, carried his eggs all in one basket, and as a consequence has prospered. He farms for profit, and his pasture contains a herd of 75 head of Shorthorns, many of them full bloods, while the remainder are high grades. He has twenty of his broad acres cropped to timothy this year, and it has been cut for the seed. As a sample of the way Mr. Regimbal manages it, it may be stated that off a piece of ground two rods wide and ten rods long, he raised 20½ bushels of potatoes, for which he received 90 cents per bushel.

THE FISHER BRIDGE

Will Likely be Placed Upon a Permanent Foundation

The bridge committee of the board of county commissioners spent Saturday afternoon at Fisher examining the bridge over the Red Lake river. The structure is in bad shape at present owing to the sliding bank on which one end rests, and the fact that this is constantly moving makes any repairs that might be placed upon it of little value in remedying the conditions. It is likely that the board will decide to move the bridge to a new site, where the banks are solid, and that the work of placing a suitable tubular foundation will be commenced this fall.

TOO MUCH MOOSE MEAT

A Tenstrike Hotel-Keeper Arrested by a Game Warden

Deputy Game Warden Saunders of Brainerd has been at Bemidji and the surrounding country where he has been doing some missionary work on behalf of those interested in the preservation in the state of big game.

He had the Richards House at Tenstrike pulled a few days ago. There seemed to be an abundance of moose meat in the place and the proprietor was called before a magistrate to tell the why and wherefore. He was held to the grand jury.

FORESTRY URGED

Secretary Wilson Says Drouth is Due to Timber Destruction

"I do not know exactly what direct influence the presence or absence of forests has on the climate," said Secretary of Agriculture Wilson recently to a correspondent of the New York Sun, "but I know this, that the devastation of the ranges is resulting in the growth of the arid lands of the West; that these arid lands can not be irrigated for lack of water is partly due to the destruction of the forests at the sources of the streams.

"I have sent experts into the Western country and have directed that every source of information shall be utilized to obtain all the data possible concerning the hot wave, its causes and effects. I think we can safely promise some highly important and interesting information for our next monthly crop bulletin."

Gifford Pinchel, chief of the forestry bureau, who has done much to arouse national interest in this subject, is now on a tour of inspection, but the acting head of the bureau gave it as his opinion that the hot spells of the middle West were undoubtedly due in part to the destruction of the forests, and especially in Michigan and Minnesota, about the headwaters of the streams.

"If the people of the west continue to alter the face of nature," he said, "they must expect to change natural conditions."

THE TWO SENATORS

Nelson and Grindeland are Investigating the North Boundary

Mr. Nelson was joined here Friday by State Senator Grindeland and together they left on Saturday morning for the northern boundary of the state where they will look into matters of interest to the state and general government.

Prominent among those is that of removing the obstruction from the mouth of the Warroad river that exists in the form of a floating bog, and which was blown in on the waves of a furious storm that raged there last year, and which is several acres in extent.

THE KELSO MILL

Plant at Turtle River Reported Burned to the Ground Yesterday.

TOTAL LOSS ON MACHINERY

Lumber in the Yards Also Destroyed---Origin of Fire Unknown.

Advices from Turtle River, out in Beltrami county, on the north line of the Minnesota & International railroad and 18 miles from Bemidji, tell of a disastrous fire there on Monday. In some manner not learned, a fire broke out in the plant of the Kelso Lumber company, and the citizens were unable to do anything toward saving any portion of the mill or machinery.

It is also reported that all the lumber piled in the vicinity of the mill, comprising the entire season's cut, and amounting to several million feet, was destroyed. The owner of the plant, Mr. Kelso, is at Hallock, whither he went a few days ago to attend to some necessary business, and it was impossible to ascertain the extent of the loss, but it will be very heavy, and the report received by the Journal included the information that no insurance was carried on either the mill, lumber or machinery. If this is the case, the loss will be so great as to stagger the company.

The origin of the fire could not be learned, but it is likely that it was of an incendiary nature. It is said that considerable jealousy has been shown by parties out there who thought Mr. Kelso was crowding into territory that did not of right belong to him, and a peculiar feature of the case is the fact that the yards were destroyed, as the lumber was piled some distance from the mill, and should not in the nature of things be jeopardized by the burning of them ill.

The mill has been under the management of Frank Hawkins, and was cutting a large amount of lumber. It has been the making of the little village in which it was located, and the fire will seriously retard the prospects of the place.

AN ALASKAN BOAT SINKS

Passenger Steamer Islander Sinks With Eighty Souls Aboard

Victoria, B. C. Aug. 20.—The steamer Islander, the crack passenger steamer of the Alaskan route, operated by the Canadian Pacific company of this city, struck an iceberg off Douglas island on Thursday last and went to the bottom, carrying down from 68 to 80 sons including passengers and members of the crew. Some of the survivors arrived here last evening by the steamer Queen. They report that as the vessel went down her boilers exploded, causing the death of many who might have escaped. Captain Foote was on the bridge when the vessel struck and stayed there and went down with the steamer.

Among the passengers lost on the Islander were:

Mrs. Ross, wife of the governor of Yukon Territory, her child and niece.

Dr. John Duncan, of this city.

W. G. Preston and bride, of Seattle.

P. Mills, Victoria.

Mrs. J. C. Henderson, Victoria.

W. H. Keating and two sons, Los Angeles, Cal.

J. V. Douglass, Vancouver.

Mrs. Phillips and child, Seattle.

Mr. Fall, Victoria.

Mrs. Nicholson, wife of Captain Nicholson.

Mrs. W. Smith, Vancouver.

J. A. Bethan, Vancouver.

Mrs. J. L. Wilcox, Seattle.

There was $275,000 in gold on the steamer, $100,000 of which was carried by passengers. H. H. Hart, who has spent 16 years in the Klondike, lost $35,000 in dust. Some say that Captain Foote reached a raft, but when he saw the extent of the disaster jumped overboard. No accurate list of dead will be available until the arrival of the purser on the steamer Farallon tomorrow.

George McL. Brown, executive agent of the Canadian Pacific railroad, after interviewing the officers and passengers who returned, said:

"The purser is remaining in the north attending to the forwarding of through passengers. It is impossible to give an exact list of those lost, but from the fact that 113 were saved, the number lost must be very much below the figures mentioned. In my opinion the loss will not exceed 20."

AN IMMENSE YIELD

Ottertail County Farmer Gets Off an Oat Story

Fergus Falls Journal: Bronson Strain came in from Battle Lake Friday morning and reports something really phenomenal in the shape of a grain yield. Nels Anderson, who resides near that village, received 29 pounds of Norway oats from a friend this spring and planted them on a half acre of land as an experiment. Conditions were favorable and the oats grew and grew. At the time of cutting the heads were long and heavy and the oats large and of fine quality. The threshing occurred this week, and the half acre yielded 85 bushels of the choice oats, which means 170 bushels to the acre. They would have shown up even stronger than this, but Mr. Anderson saved out two or three sheaves to take to the state fair.

A Poor Crop There

G. H. Fargo of Euclid, who was here last week getting some additional supplies for the harvest, reported that the present harvest is the poorest he has ever reaped in Minnesota. The failure is owing to the fact that the heads of the grain did not properly fill.

Farm House Burned

St. Hilaire, Aug. 16.—Yesterday afternoon a disastrous fire broke out at the home of Ole Hegg, about seven miles east of here in Wyandotte township. Mr. Hegg lost his house, barn, granary, three calves and one mule in the flames. The loss will probably be $1,200 with no insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Brainerd Man Killed

Minneapolis, Aug. 20.—An unidentified man, whose home is supposed to be at Brainerd, Minn., was struck by a Northern Pacific train on a crossing bridge at St. Anthony Park, and knocked onto the Great Northern tracks, some forty feet below. He was picked up and brought on an Omaha train to Minneapolis. Death came as the unfortunate man was being carried from the train sheds into the union station. His body was taken to the morgue.

The dead man was horribly mangled and almost every bone in his body was broken. There was nothing about his clothes by which his name or address could be learned, save a note in a memorandum book, which read: "My father lives at Brainerd." There was no name on the book.

He was apparently not over 25 years of age. His clothes were those of a laboring man, and in a paper he carried several pieces of soiled linen.

Four Days Entombed

Cleveland, Aug. 20.—Adam Kest and Joseph Eugine, two of the dozen or more workmen who were entrapped in the waterworks tunnel two hundred feet below the surface of Lake Erie by the burning of crib No. 2 last Wednesday morning, were rescued from their horrible position yesterday afternoon and are now lying semi-conscious at the Huron street hospital, where, with careful nursing, physicians say they will soon recover their former strength and probably be none the worse for their experience.

Good if True

Two men have been arrested at Drayton by a detective in the employ of the N. P. for the attempt to wreck one section of the Northern Pacific excursion train on the return trip after a visit to Grand Forks on the 15th. It will be remembered that ties were placed across the track at Bowesmont, and that the engine left the track, an appalling accident having been averted only by the fact that the engineer had seen the obstruction in time to reverse the engine.

North Dakota Coal

Mr. E. H. Walker, traffic manager of the Bismarck, Washburn & Great Falls railway, was here yesterday representing the good qualities of lignite coal to dealers and consumers. The railroad mentioned is the Washburn line that has opened the coal beds in central North Dakota, where such vast quantities of the native heating product is being secured, and the outlook is fair that a large amount of the company's output will be used in Crookston this winter. Mr. Washburn has secured Mr. A. D. Lytle to handle the coal from the mines represented by him to the people of this city this year.

Oldest Woman in Minnesota

Duluth, Aug. 21.—Dorothy Washington, aged 107 years, 5 months and 2 days, died last evening at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Ann Hopkins, in Duluth. She was the oldest person living in Duluth, and so far as is known here, she was the oldest in the state. She was a colored woman and was clear of head and active up to a short time before her death.

HAUL BIG CARGOES

Historical Society

That's the Way to Build Up Traffic With the Orient.

COST WOULD BE LOWERED

James J. Hill Talks of Recent Developments and Prospects in the Far East.

James J. Hill said in New York recently that in order to capture the trade of China the cost of delivering American goods in Oriental ports would have to be greatly reduced. This could be done by carrying much larger cargoes. He says that with his big liners now building at New London, he will be able to carry ocean freight at half what it costs the average vessel. Mr. Hill says that the surplus of the crops raised in the western half of the United States must find a market in the Orient, instead of being hauled half way across the continent and made to compete with the exports of Atlantic ports. When they do this both the agricultural class and the railroads will make more money. According to Mr. Hill, the development of the Oriental trade means a big increase in the revenue of western railroads without greatly increasing their operating expenses. They will carry back full cars instead of empty ones.

"It is reported that a representative of your company, who has just come over the Siberian railroad, conferred with the Russian government about entering into traffic relations for interchange of business?" was suggested to Mr. Hill.

"It is too early to talk about anything of that kind," was the reply. "I don't know that there is any particular need of traffic relations. They will take what they want from us and rates will adjust themselves."

Mr. Hill was asked at what price he could deliver wheat or flour in China, and he said it was too early yet to discuss that subject.

"What we want," he said, "is that the powers should not put any duty on flour and other food products in making the treaty with China, and there seems now to be no danger that there will be such duty, although we feared at one time there might be. This would restrict the trade which is already carried on between the United States and China, instead of building it up.

"If the flour trade, for example, with China and Japan should double or quadruple during the next few years—which is easily possible—just see what a benefit it would be to the Pacific slope and some of the states east of the Rocky Mountains. It would furnish an outlet for a still larger surplus than at present. There need be no limit to the expansion of our trade if properly handled.

"It is 2,700 miles from the wheat fields of Russia to Port Arthur, and the Russian railroads would charge probably $1.50 per hundred pounds to carry the grain to that seaport. Now, for less than 30 cents per 100 pounds with our big ships we can deliver it at Port Arthur. It is therefore plain that not so much grain can reach Port Arthur from Russia and we will have an opportunity to put this commodity into Siberia if we want to."

"But how will Great Northern and Northern Pacific steamship lines be operated without friction when the steamships of the former are so much larger than the latter," was asked.

"There will be no trouble," said Mr. Hill, "the two companies are working in harmony. There is use for all the vessels, large and small. The smaller ones can be put on different routes where they will answer just as well as the larger ones."

GRIM DETERMINATION

Actuates Both Sides of Great Steel Strike--End Afar Off

Pittsburg, Aug. 21.—Following the rapid moves of yesterday on either side of the great steel strike there was a lull, and neither side took decisive action that showed up the surface. An interesting feature of the fight at small victories and minor defeats for both sides, but it now seems to be > Settling down to a hard, determined struggle, in which neither side will acknowledge defeat while there is hope left.

Speculation as to the length of time to which it will be prolonged and the extent of its spread is idle. Joseph Bishop, the Ohio arbitrator, appeared gain yesterday, but both sides mptly repudiated the suggestion hat another move for peace was being considered. The steel managers succeeded in starting the last idle mill at the Clark plant and are evidently planning a series of extensions at every point where there is a chance of success under existing circumstances. They probably will start the Star Tin mills in this city and increase the force at the Lindsay and McCucheon mills.

An interesting feature of the fight at the latter mill is contributed by the claim of the strikers that Mrs. Fred Baugh, wife of the superintendent, is escorting the strike breakers to and from the mill. She has always been very popular with the mill men and the pickets would rather face a regiment of soldiers than do anything improper in her presence. They say in peace times she nursed their families and that they simply cannot interfere with her or the men she escorts.

MORGAN HILL AND HARRIMAN

The Three Heavy Weight Railroad Boys Get Together.

Bangor, Me., Aug. 21.—J. Pierpont Morgan, James J. Hill and E. H. Harriman were in conference here today on Morgan's yacht, the Corsair, regarding the western railroad situation.

It was one of the most important railroad meetings ever held and had for a subject the distribution and division of practically all the traffic of the west. The conference was to arrange the details of the great harmony agreement resulting from Mr. Morgan's settlement of the Northern Pacific controversy.

It could not be learned from the men present at the conference just what progress had been made, but it became known that the discussion had to do with the establishment of even closer alliances among the roads represented, and a plan whereby the lines not controlled absolutely by the three great railroad men could be included in the harmony agreement. Mr. Harriman's trip to Bar Harbor is significant even in itself. It was he who headed the Kuhn-Loeb faction in the fight against the Morgan party, managed by James J. Hill.

PADUCAH DISASTER.

Overturning of Steamer Islander Causes Large Loss of Life.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 21.—The horror of the City of Golconda disaster at Cottonwood bar, four miles above Paducah, grows as body after body is brought into the city and taken to the undertakers. The boat's register has not yet been recovered, but it is certain the death list will number 17 and perhaps 22. An official investigation will be made, as it seems certain that the most culpable carelessness caused the catastrophe.

M. A. Peck, pilot, claims the engineer deserted his post and that he could not manage the boat with the engines helpless. The engineer denies this and claims that he remained at the throttle until the water was waist deep.

Frank Enders, one of the passengers, corroborated by several others, declares that the effort to land brought the side of the boat around so that the wind struck it with full force. There had been almost a gale blowing for ten minutes, and one man, who could not swim, went to the pilot house and begged the pilot to land. A hurricane, visible as a huge black streak sweeping across the river, struck the boat as it swung around in a position unable to resist it.

Early in the morning the work of searching for the remains began, the party being led by Chas. Graham, co-clerk, and Luther Graham, his brother, whose sister was among the dead. In the forenoon the bodies of Miss Trixie Grimes, Miss Lucy Barnett and Mrs. David Adams were recovered. In the afternoon the bodies of Miss Graham and Mrs. Wm. A. Hogan and Lucile, her 6-year-old daughter, were recovered. All bodies were brought here and prepared for burial. The reason the work of recovery is so slow is because the boat's furniture is piled on the bodies. The boat is being dismanteld, as she lies in 18 feet of water, in order that the dead may be reached.

Three Children Dead

St. Paul, Aug. 21.—A Currie, Minn. special to the Dispatch says: The house of P. Brice was completely consumed by fire and three children are dead and a fourth probably dying from burns. The parents were in the harvest field and the origin of the fire is unknown.

BARRY IS GUILTY

Jury Out But Two Hours and Stood 11 to 1 for Conviction on First Ballot.

HE HAS $10,000 CASH LEFT

And Will Spend It all in an Attempt to Secure a New Trial.

Langdon, N. D., Aug. 16.—The Barry trial is at an end, and the court house which has been the scene of so many exciting scenes during the past three weeks is deserted.

> We find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree and fix the penalty at imprisonment for life.

Judge Cochrane finished his masterly address at 2:30 yesterday afternoon. Judge Kneeshaw immediately followed with his address to the jury. This was able, concise and the law in the case clearly presented. He finished its delivery at 3:50 and the jury retired. The judge and attorneys and most of the spectators left the court house, not expecting a verdict evidently for some time. At 5:45 the sheriff informed the judge that the jury had agreed on a verdict and at 6 o'clock, when the jury was ushered into the court, the room was packed to suffocation almost. The verdict was handed in by W. L. Drury and after being read by Clerk of Court Truax as above, the jurors replied in the affirmative as interrogated. Tracy Bangs at once gave notice of a motion for a new trial, and Judge Kneeshaw gave notice that sentence would not be pronounced until Mr. Bangs' motion had been argued. The time was not fixed.

It is learned that the first ballot of the jury was 11 to 1 for conviction, the second and third ballots were 10 to 2. Then a canvass of the matter resulted in the ten winning over the two, who had voted for acquittal, Geo. Olds and E. Sarazin. A ballot then taken on the penalty resulted in eight for life imprisonment and four for the death penalty. The punishment was discussed for half an hour, and the verdict as reported above was then agreed to. The jury was thus less than two hours in agreeing on its verdict.

The court room yesterday was a mass of humanity whose faces expressed the inward evidence of the great desire to hear the last act of the great criminal play. The halls of the court room for the past three days have rung with those magnificent periods of eloquence characteristic of the speech of the attorneys who have tried the case and who are beyond question among the most learned of their profession from New York city to the Pacific coast, excepting none.

When Mr. Cochrane continued his argument the last farewell shot of the counsel was heard to re-echo from wall to wall and die over the scene where has been fought one of the greatest legal battles of which the history of this land hears a record. The scene in the court room when in the course of his argument on the question of Barry's memory, turning to the prisoner and with all the power he could concentrate behind that terrible voice, exclaimed:

> "Is the sore still on your head, Bill? Was the depression in your skull still there when you stood over your victim? Can't you still hear his prayer: "God have mercy on me," which you refused that morning?

Was one which will never be forgotten by those who heard it, and the room was jammed to the doors. At the other end of the table sat Barry with his elbow on the table and his head resting on his hand, never once making a motion that would evidence the resentment of the terrible lashing to which he was being submitted.

Langdon, N. D., Aug. 17.—Excepting among members of the Barry family and Barry's most intimate friends, the outcome of the trial seems to be viewed as just, although all felt that Barry has long been sincere in his sorrow for the act that will result in the remainder of his life being spent in prison. There was no public manifestation either here or at Barry's home town, Milton.

Since leaving the court room yesterday Barry has interviewed the court stenographer and arranged for his counsel being furnished with a typewritten manuscript of the entire testimony, of which Stenographer Prince says there are 1,200 pages in short hand. Barry has retained his counsel, Judge Templeton and Attorneys Bangs and Erwin, and a warrant for arrest of judgment will be served on the court when Barry is brought up for sentence on the 27th.

A motion for a new trial is already decided on by the defense and, taking it for granted Judge Kneeshaw will refuse to grant the motion, work is already under way in preparing an appeal to the supreme court, where it is presumed the case will be taken before the fight is given up.

Barry has already spent half of $20,000 accumulated in nineteen years of hard work in Cavalier county and he has placed the remainder where it can be used in taking his case up to the supreme court, hoping that some overlooked technicality of counsel or court may give him a loop hole through which he can escape a life sentence.

That Barry will go from the county jail to Bismarck after the hearing of the motions here on the 27th is inevitable, the counsel for the state deciding that it is in the penitentiary that Barry should await the final outcome.

No public expression by Barry as to how the verdict affects him has been made, his silence evidently being in accord with instructions from his attorneys.

FOUR LONG YEARS

Two Crookston Men Plan a Trip to Arctic Regions

Time was, and not so far distant either, when the man who went to the Alaskan gold fields undertook a trip from which his friends considered his return very doubtful. It was fraught with difficulties and dangers that seemed almost insurmountable.

Nowadays a trip to Alaska is a summer outing, and sinks into insignificance compared to one that is contemplated by Messrs. Fred Anderson of this city and Iver Krohn of Shevlin.

Theirs is no summer jaunt, but a four years' cruise in a five ton sailing vessel in which they propose to make their home during all that time, whether they are in open water or frozen in an ice pack, as they will be if they carry out their present intention.

The end and aim of their long cruise is prospecting for gold, and their field of operation is to be the coast of Siberia, south of Bering Strait.

The plan as outlined to a representative of the Journal is to proceed to the Pacific coast during the coming spring, build or purchase a strong sailing vessel of, say five tons carrying capacity, load it with a cargo of lumber, machinery and provisions sufficient to last four years, and as soon as there is a possibility of sailing in the Arctic regions, start for the north.

They intend to go to Nome, and several hundred miles further up the coast as far, in fact, as Kotzebue Sound, thence, watching a favorable opportunity of weather, they will make a dash across Bering Strait to the Siberian shore, and spend the time during the stay they have planned in prospecting for gold.

It is their belief that the frozen and unexplored shores of that far away land will prove rich in the yellow metal, and they argue that two such intrepid discoverers as they will be able to prove this to a certainty.

The trip they have planned will remove them far from the bounds of civilization for a long time, and they will be frozen into the icepack of the Siberian coast during probably ten months of the year, and will make their boat their place of residence during the whole time, although there may be times when they will use it as a base of supplies, and build a temporary hut for themselves on the land, wherever their prospecting indicates hopeful results.

Their many friends here will wish them a prosperous journey and all the gold their craft will carry home.

Train Men Not to Blame

The inquiry into the cause and manner of the killing of Anthony Tibesar was conducted by a jury at the undertaking rooms of Coroner Chesterman last Thursday, the train crew in charge of the switch engine testified that they were not running faster than the usual rate of speed and those on the car that were being pushed ahead of the engine stated that they called to the lad in an attempt to attract his attention. They signaled the engineer, who had previously blown the whistle, and the train was stopped as soon as possible after the lad was struck and it did not, as stated in the Crookston Times, run to Carman before the crew learned that the accident had occurred.

The jury rendered the following verdict: We, the jury, appointed to determine the manner of the killing of Tony Tibesar on the Great Northern railway, hereby give our verdict to be that Tony Tibesar came to his death by being run over by the switch engine and cars from his own incapacity to hear the signals, namely, the blowing of the whistle and ringing of the bell, which we found by the evidence given was done by the train crew.

It Was a Fine Trip

Will Low returned Saturday from a very enjoyable trip to the Pacific coast. While away Mr. Low visited the Yakima valley and saw a number of the old residents of Polk and Marshall counties. Among them were J. P. Bullan, I. Mailloux, H. Fortier and Fred Warnecke. He says that the valley is all that has been claimed for it and that those who have gone from Crookston are all doing well and satisfied. While in Seattle Mr. Low went through the battleship Oregon and saw a number of our other fighting craft.

Hanson brothers, living near Twin Valley, put in some winter wheat last fall and have just threshed 23½ bushels to the acre. They'll sow more next year.

A FLOATER FOUND

Red Lake River Gives Up the Body of a Burly Negro Yesterday.

PROVED TO BE A THIEF

Who Was Drowned While Swimming the River to Escape Arrest

Sunday morning as C. C. Carlson, a fisherman living at East Grand Forks, was running his lines in the Red Lake river, he noticed the body of a man floating near his boat. He called the attention of Chief Hurst to the fact, and it was secured, tied to the shore, and Coroner Chesterman was notified.

The latter went over late Sunday, and on arrival an inquest was held. The body was that of a burly negro, and in one of the pockets was found a purse containing $7.50, but nothing on the man indicated his name or home. It was ascertain that the man appeared in East Grand Forks ten days ago and had been about that city up to Thursday, Winnipeg day. On that evening as Engineer Wm. Gould was sitting on the platform of the depot awaiting the departure of the train for Winnipeg he was assaulted and choked almost into insensibility by two hoboes, who robbed him of his watch and money, and the purse found on the dead man was identified as the one stolen from Gould.

After the assault on Thursday night the men ran down the track, and meeting two others coming in the opposite direction, they turned and ran toward the river. The supposition is that believing themselves pursued, the hold-up artists attempted to swim the river and in doing so the negro, and perhaps the other man also, was drowned.

The body was buried at midnight last night and a watch is being kept at points along the river to see if the body of the other robber comes to the surface.

PRAYER AND POTATOES

Get Mixed With Two Dollars of an Attorney's Money

City Attorney Holston is a firm believer in prayer. He has invested money in it and he knows its a good thing. He isn't exactly a Dowieite, nor is he Carnegieizing to any great extent, but he is a practical, living illustration of a man whose good intentions went askew, albeit he isn't inclined to question the ways of Providence.

The story escaped him while talking to acquaintances yesterday, one of whom was a Journal man. It seems that a neighbor who gathers up soiled clothes for his wife to wash fell sick, his ailment being a combination of grip, rheumatism and an aversion to manual labor, and it was reported that the family was in want of the necessities of life. The golden rule seemed to fit the case, and the best off-hand talker in the city dropped in to see the couple. A glance around the room that constituted their meagre quarters confirmed the report of their straightened circumstances. There was evidently very little lard in the larder or anything else eatable. Mr. Holston happened to have a couple of dollars in his pocket that he hadn't spent that day, and being a free silver advocate he chucked the situation under the chin by handing the man the lucre, accompanying the procedure with the remark that it would buy a few groceries, and tide them along a week anyway.

The act was accomplished by the right hand, the left not being in sight at the time, and no one perhaps would have ever heard of the matter only the woman told a neighbor woman who mentioned the matter in the presence of Mrs. Holston, whose pride in her husband increased when she realized that he had quietly done a good deed. Four months later (that means ysterday) the same neighbor woman was gossiping with Mrs. Holston and asked her what she supposed the man did with those two dollars. Mrs. Holston was sure that they went for groceries but she had another guess coming. The facts are that the man immediately sent for his spiritual adviser and gave him the two planks for interceding at the throne of grace for his restoration to health!

The man is now selling off his household goods and is contemplating a removal to Washington, where his wife can get more washing to do, and Mr. Holston says that hereafter he proposes to ascertain what is most needed by the next man that he gets sorry for, and if it is prayer, he'll put up a few petitions himself and save his cash.

COUNTY EXHIBITS

State Fair Offers Unusual Inducements This Year

The new agricultural building at the Minnesota State Fair will probably see the largest display of farm products ever made in the state. In addition to the natural desire to have a part in the opening of the new building there will be the temptation offered in the possession of fine specimens of grain and vegetables. But beyond this will be the special offer of the fair management.

This year the fair offers the same premium as last year—$1,200 to be divided pro rata among the county exhibits scoring 70 points or more and in addition makes this offer:

For the exhibit scoring highest in this class an additional $200 will be paid; for the exhibit scoring second highest, $150; for the exhibit scoring third highest, $100; for the exhibit scoring fourth highest, $75; for the exhibit scoring fifth highest, $50; for the exhibit scoring sixth highest, $25.

The fair opens Sept. 2 with an address by "Teddy" Roosevelt.

Branch of McKinnon-Smith Commission House to Open at Once

Alex McKinnon left Monday morning for points along the east line, and will reach Duluth in a couple of days, where he will file the necessary bonds of the McKinnon-Smith commission firm that will enable it to commence business at the head of the lakes. The membership that has been secured on the Duluth board of trade will also be posted, and the office opened with Mr. McKinnon as manager, Mr. Smith, the other partner, being the manager of the Minneapolis end. The firm received its first consignment of wheat on Saturday last, ex-Representative Marin being the consignee, the shipment being a couple of carloads of grain from last year's crop.

Time to Duck

The county attorney was out in the northern part of the town of Crookston and southern part of Parnell Sunday, and during the drive he interviewed a large number of farmers who told him that every day during the past week hunters from Crookston had been there killing chickens. They promised to come in later on when the rush of harvest is over and complain against the parties. They have their names, and are anxious to appear against them.

Ball Team Disbanded

Owing to the lack of support, the management of the ball team has decided that there shall be no more effort made to maintain an organization here this year, and the members of the team have been paid off and most of them have left for their homes. There were no games scheduled, and the fact that the team is not in any league will in no manner disturb any schedule of games yet to be played by other teams.

A Freak Kitten

Peter Nelson, who resides in Chase's addition, has a mother cat that is proud over the possession of a family of kittens, one of which has two well developed heads, with the corresponding number of mouths, ears and eyes. It is well and healthy, and as frolicksome as any other cat's kittens.

Their Secret is Out.

All Sadieville, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whittaker, who had for a long time endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. "It's all due to Dr. King's New Discovery," writes her husband. "It completely cured her and also cured our little grand daughter of a severe attack of whooping cough." It positively cures Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, all Throat and Lung Troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at A. G. Anderson's drug store.

A BEAUTIFUL FARM

To be Sub-Divided Into Quarter Sections Among Purchasers.

THE FAMOUS LOCKHART

And Some of Its Prominent Characteristics of Fertility and Beauty.

The well known Lockhart farm, situated on the Great Northern railroad in Norman county, near its northern boundary, presents many features of interest to a visitor. This celebrated farm, which has with the apparent majority of Red River Valley farms become involved in the land boom, has already twice changed hands since the beginning of the year, the last time at an advance of $60,000 over its first sale price.

The present owner, Mr. H. C. Suttle of Chicago, intends to carry out the purpose of its late owner, the John Grove Land company, and subdivide the premises into quarter section farms with the exception of the headquarters' section upon which the buildings are situated. This will probably be kept intact, as its subdivision would necessarily involve too large a sacrifice of value in the extensive farm buildings to be justified.

The farm, as it has up to this time been operated, consists of 4,700 acres of land, much of which is of the highest fertility, and is liberally supplied with the purest water, from strong flowing artesian wells, which is forced by its own pressure into all the buildings where it is needed.

The equipment of buildings, twenty-three in number besides the smaller outbuildings, constitute what from a distance appears to be a neat little village. All the buildings have been kept in good repair and well protected with paint.

Prominent among them is the spacious residence of the manager, Mr. J. D. McPhee, which is protected on the west by a beautiful grove and in its exterior appearance and interior adornment is suggestive of luxury and comfort.

1,400 acres of wheat, 1,000 acres of oats, 350 acres of barley, 150 acres of winter rye, 75 acres of fodder corn, 40 acres of German millet, 10 acres of field corn, (which by the way is a beautiful looking crop) and 8 acres of rutabagas and mangels constitute the crop of this year.

With the exception of a small proportion these crops give promise of a good yield.

The farm is fairly well stocked with horses, cattle and hogs.

A fine herd of 27 yearling and two year old colts furnishes ample evidence of the merits of their Percheron sire, who stands in an airy stall in the barn, and a fine herd of 50 young shorthorns (or no-horns, to be more exact) are equally eloquent in their testimony as to the fine stock getting qualities of their sire, a fine four year old weighing more than 2,000 pounds.

Their milkers furnish the dairy products for the use of the farm, and contribute a generous supply of cream to the Beltrami creamery.

Over 200 Berkshire swine of various sizes constitute the stock of growing pork.

One striking characteristic of this beautiful farm, which is everywhere conspicuous is an indisputable evidence of the painstaking efficiency of Manager McPhee, who has had charge of the place for the past twelve years.

All tools and machinery when not in use are kept in their respectively appointed places, and no litter of any kind is allowed to accumulate at any point on the place.

The same care and attention paid to such details on all the smaller farms in the Valley would result in a vast saving of money, and a great improvement in their general appearance.

NOT A CASE IN POLK

Semi Monthly Report of Smallpox in the State

The smallpox epidemic in Minnesota has dropped to a low ebb. During the two weeks ending Monday, there were only 126 new cases reported to the state board of health. There was one death, on the Fond du Lac reservation in Carlton county. The new cases were distributed as follows:

Beltrami county, 10; Carlton, 1; Cass, 3; Crow Wing, 4; Fillmore, 1; Itasca, 2; Norman, 21; Olmsted, 1; Otter Tail, 1; Pine, 3; Ramsey, 1; Red Lake, 3; Redwood, 1; Renville, 1; Rice, 17; St. Louis 12; Stearns, 16; Sibley, 1; Todd, 1; Washington, 26.

Crop Conditions

About 75 per cent of the wheat crop which is worth cutting in the Red River valley is estimated to be now in the shock or stack. Considerable stacking has been done in localities where the crop was earliest, notably around Fertile. The harvester is well up with the ripening grain in most localities, though there are some instances where wheat and oats now standing would be much better off in the shock.

On quite an extensive percentage of land in many parts of the valley the desired crop of grain was overcome by standing water, and an undesired crop of weeds has sprung up in its place, usurping the land with a rank and heavy growth. An observer of considerable experience who has had opportunity to note existing conditions somewhat extensively, estimates Polk county's average yield of wheat for the acres sowed, at nine bushels per acre.

A DECORATIVE SUCCESS

On Display in the Office of Julius Pleth at St. Hilaire

A visit to the office of Julius Pleth, the live real estate man of St. Hilaire, will convince any one that he is not only a pronounced success as a real estate hustler, but is possessed of considerable artistic genius as well.

The harmonious arrangement of beautifully mounted moose heads, native and cultivated grasses of many varieties, small grains of all kinds, stuffed birds and small animals, together form a decoration which is decidedly pleasing to the eye, and at the same time strongly suggestive of the possibilities of the Red River valley. Among these, a glass case containing many beautiful and skillfully mounted quails and prairie chickens posing in characteristic positions, is perhaps the most noteworthy.

But while Mr. Pleth very justly takes considerable complacent satisfaction in the artistic success of his decorative efforts, a still deeper undertone of satisfaction becomes evident when questioned in regard to his land business, notwithstanding the fact that his replies are quite modest and non-committal.

ALLEY SEWER SYSTEM

To be Adopted by the City of Thief River Falls

Thief River Falls will be the first place in Red Lake county to inaugurate a sewer system. Civil Engineer Day F. Stacy arranged the plans and specifications for the system and these were recently adopted by the city council.

They have decided to put in about 2,000 feet this year, and will proceed with the work as soon as a satisfactory contract can be made. Bids have been advertised for, and it is hopeful that the contract will soon be let.

The sewers are to be laid in the alleys instead of the streets, as is usually done, it being claimed by Mr. Stacy that this is perfectly feasible, and has the advantage of leaving the streets undisturbed except at crossings.

It is estimated that the cost of the work contemplated this year will be $5,000, and will be paid for without bonding the city, as funds for the purpose are already on hand.

It is intended to use the sewers for street and cellar drainage only until the installation of a waterworks system, toward which no definite steps have yet been taken.

WYLIE'S AMBITION

Wants More Emphatic Recognition by G. N. Railroad

The little village of Wylie in Red Lake county is becoming ambitious for a more honorable recognition on the map than has yet been accorded her, and it would seem as though she is justly entitled to receive it.

It has three general stores, one store that handles hardware, implements and lumber, one that deals in shoes, harness and furniture, a blacksmith shop, a hotel, three elevators and a fully equipped cheese factory, the latter, however, not yet in operation, as difficulty was experienced in securing the services of a competent cheese maker in time to make a profitable season's business.

With the opening of the season in 1902 manufacturing will commence in earnest, and meanwhile the farmers are adding to their herds of cows as rapidly as possible.

A depot and a telegraph operator are sorely needed, and it is in this direction that the Wyliehtes feel they have just cause for complaint on the grounds of neglect.

Searched the Rig

Rumors that there were game wardens in town Sunday, caused thrills of expectancy to traverse the spinal marrow of several who were said to be afield and of others who had been breaking their dogs and guns during the past week. In fact, they were more than rumors, and one party, headed by the mayor, who had nothing to exhibit to the officers in the way of dogs, guns, game or anything else that was contraband, but that had gone out for a drive and a pleasant afternoon was called upon to stand a search of the rig. The wardens allowed His Honor to go his way with his friends after a look through the rig. So far as known no capture was made.

Thinks P. M. Looks Like Knute

Ex-State Senator P. M. Ringdal of Crookston has been in town this week He says there is no political significance in his visit but he is representing the Northwestern Marble Works of Crookston, in which he is interested. Our people are grateful to Mr. Ringdal for his assistance in organizing Beltrami county, and again they like him because he looks like Knute Nelson.—Bemidji Pioneer.

BOLT OF LIGHTNING

Caused the Destruction of the Large Barn on the McKinnon Farm.

SEVEN MEN SLEPT THERE

But None Were Injured--Loss Aggregates $1,200, Insurance $500.

The large barn on the farm of A. J. & A. McKinnon was struck by lightning during the storm of Saturday night and was burned to the ground. At the time of the occurrence there were seven of the men engaged in harvesting on the premises, who were sleeping in the hay loft, but none of them were injured. The manager, Ed. Lucas, arrived in the city yesterday morning and reported the case to the owners. He said that while he was not actually stunned by the bolt, he felt as if he had fallen a hundred feet through space.

There were twenty horses in the barn at the time, and none of them were in the least injured. The building contained about twenty tons of hay, and this at once caught fire. The men hastened to get to the stock, and every animal was gotten out safely. All the feed in the barn, some harnesses, a lot of smaller tools and about 75 chickens were burned.

The building and contents were valued at $1,200, and the firm carried insurance amounting to $500.

GENTILLY'S FACTORY

Is Turning Out Large Quantities of Fine Quality

The Gentilly cheese factory is doing a very successful business this summer, even more so than last year. More cows are now making contributions of material than last year, which of course decreases the percentage of cost of manufacture. Under the skillful management of Cheesemaker Verity, the product of this factory has acquired a reputation which causes its rapid sale wherever introduced, and the entire season's product was contracted for at a satisfactory price early in the season.

About 6,000 pounds of milk are received daily at the factory, and are being manufactured into cheese at the rate of one pound of the latter to a little less than ten pounds of milk.

The patrons naturally are very much pleased with the future prospects of the business and are generally moving to increase the size of their herds of milch cows.

The future hope of the Red River valley's agricultural interests is largely in its dairying, and the more cheese and butter making industries that can be established on a judicious basis, the higher will be the standard of agricultural prosperity in the years to come.

Rumor of Railway Extension

In a private letter to the News a gentleman who is connected with the Great Northern in an official capacity, states that it is possible the road will be extended north from here next year the objective point being the Lake of the Woods. While the policy of the Great Northern at present is to improve its present system rather than build more branch lines, several surveys have recently been made and the proposition is looked upon with favor. The route that will probably be selected will be almost a straight line to the lake, crossing the Thief river a short distance north of here. Another survey will be made this winter, after which it is expected some definite action will be taken.—Thief River News.

Hello Line to Ada

President Kerlin, of the Iron Range Telephone company returned Monday morning from Ada where he spent the closing days of the week canvassing the people concerning the proposition to install a telephone exchange. He tells the Journal that he was greatly encouraged by the feeling there, and that a considerable number of subscribers have already pledged their support to the proposition. He will return later and complete the list, and he expects to have the plant in running order this fall. Mr. Kerlin went out on the Cass Lake line this morning.

New Land Firm Up River

Thief River Falls, Aug. 16.—An important business deal was consummated in this city last week whereby S. F. Staples and H. G. Dobner disposed of their interests in the Northern Real Estate & Mortgage company to David N. Winton and Daniel Shaw, and the stock of the company is now owned by the two last named gentlemen and O. L. Dobner. Mr. Shaw will be manager of the company and his good judgment and hustling ability will insure a large and prosperous business.

Twenty-three young women took the vows of nuns at the Academy of Sisterhood at St. Paul on the day of the ascension of the Blessed Virgin last week.

The deafness of Queen Alexandria of England began, it is said, when she was quite a child, but developed much more rapidly after marriage, so that she has now for several years had practically no use at all of one ear.

The unsecured debts of T. M. Roberts, the Minneapolis mail order man, are about $85,000 more than the unincumbered assets. This leaves the country merchant who has been offering to duplicate the orders in the position of the man who stole his goods.

The "News and Comment" column of the Duluth News Tribune says: "Bemidji seems to be in earnest in the matter of trying to send County Attorney Street to congress." And suggests that they: "Break it easy in the Ninth by sending him to the legislature for a little preparatory work."

An officer of a fraternal accident society illustrates the prompt methods of his society by the following statement: "One of our members recently fell from the roof of a five story building and a check for the amount of his certificate was handed to him from the second story window on his way down.

The beet sugar industry in Minnesota is growing. This year the factory at St. Louis Park, near Minneapolis, will be forced to run night and day and will keep 600 men busy in disposing of the beets raised by the farmers in that locality. The factory is taking all the beets grown at a good price and the amount produced has nearly doubled each year.

At last Senator Jack Ryder has been located. The silver-tongued orator, brilliant newspaper promoter and expert booze sampler is working at the printers' trade in St. Paul. It's a far cry from the state senate to the nonpareil case, but it has the merit of being honest, and that is more than Ryder was accused of being in the more pretentious capacity.

Hereafter when one railroad wishes to cross the tracks of another in Illinois it will have to go either above or below them, for the board of railway and warehouse commissioners has decided that there shall be no more crossings at grades in that state. Existing crossings however, are not to be molested, at least not for the present.

Cass Lake thinks Congressman Morris' acknowledgement of the receipt of the resolutions passed by them favoring the opening of the Chippewa Indian reservation was very curt and in marked contrast with the sentiments expressed by Senators Nelson and Clapp and Congressman Eddy. They threaten things when Morris seeks a re-election.

The plans, purposes motives, thoughts, desires, utterances, acts, indulgencies, self denials, gratifications, restraints and sympathies woven into the fabric of today's experience will form the memory which will give us joy or sorrow in the days and years to come, according to the wisdom or folly we exercise in selecting from these the materials we make use of.

The Bemidji Pioneer is of the opinion that the pioneers of Jamestown, Va., adopted one plan which this county might well follow. They shipped in a cargo of females to be manufactured into wives for the bachelor contingent of that colony. In Bemidji the lack of hired girls is distressingly felt, and there are thousands of shacks through the woods that need the touch of a womans hand.

The Rochester asylum for the insane will furnish all the soap used in the state institutions for the current quarter. The board of control advertised for bids on soap, but after consultation with the Rochester officials decided to depend on their soap plant, as an experiment. The hospital has been making its own soap for several years and its plant is large enough to supply the other sixteen institutions.

Three memberships in the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce association sold Saturday for $2,500 each. When the association started in 1882, the price was $25 and the membership was limited to 550. A year ago the full limit of membership was first reached. It then cost about $600. Now, to be entitled to all the privileges of the association, costs $660 for a clearing house certificate beside the $2,500.

A Grand Forks business man states that a valuable blooming maple tree that he has kept in front of his store for several years was stolen the other night. He says that the policeman on duty woke up just in time to see the culprit get away, but the cop knows who he is and if the article is not returned at once they will make things hot for him. The height of meanness has been pretty nearly attained when a thief will steal the shade from a sleeping policeman, right on a hot day, too.

The superintendent of one of the railway divisions in Iowa has issued a sweeping order to employes which prohibits them from using intoxicating liquor in any form or at any time. It applies to trainmen, station agents, foremen and others who hold responsible positions with the company. It prohibits them from entering saloons or using liquor whether on or off duty, and the penalty for any violation of this rule is the immediate discharge of the offender. This is simply good business policy and is a very significant pointer.

The clearances of flour and wheat last week from Atlantic and Gulf ports aggregated 8,842,000 bushels, being 1,358,000 bushels in excess of the previous high mark in November, 1898. Since July 1st they have reached 21,000,000 over last year. The crops throughout Europe generally have been poor, and in spite of the steady raise in the price of cereals the European buyers are still gobbling up everything offered in this line, and with the price of corn where it is, and the shortage in the crop, it looks as though wheat was bound to go higher than it is now.

The unutilized resources of the Red River valley in the form of that portion of the grass crop which will not be cut, are of far greater magnitude than is realized. Many thousand acres of the finest grass that grows, which would yield from one and a half to two tons per acre, will be buried under the winter's snow. This is the more unfortunate in consideration of the fact that the hay crop in many other places is practically a failure, and the prices will in consequence range high. Even now $3 per ton is being freely offered as a contract price for all that will be delivered, and higher prices will prevail later on. And where the grass is as heavy and clean as it is this year, it can be put up very cheaply.

To say that the land in certain sections of the state is "good for nothing but forestry" is as much a solecism as to say the other land is "good for nothing but wheat" or "good for nothing but gardening," says the Duluth News Tribune. Practical experimentation has shown that certain lands can be devoted to forests with just as much assurance of profitable returns, and just as much advantage to the community at large, as others to wheat raising and gardening. The forest crop is as much needed, and can, under scientific methods, be harvested with as much regularity as the grain crop or grain products. Neither can be spared, and a combination of all from different sections will enrich more than any one of them the city to which such sections are tributary.

The possibility of Prof. W. M. Hays, of the state university, being chosen to manage the agricultural department of the Australian government, is a compliment to that gentleman that should be appreciated at its full worth to the state. Mr. Hays has risen to the height of being considered, and justly so, as the best authority on the subject of cereals in the United States, and particularly so as to wheat. He loves the work, and out of this love has come through close application and thorough study, a measure of success rarely attained. Should he be chosen, as it now appears that he will be, the state would lose one of its most able agriculturists, and the agricultural school one of its most valuable representatives.

In selecting A. C. Clausen, former chief grain inspector, as secretary of the railroad and warehouse commission, that body has secured a man who is fitted for the position by long years of public life in a line where the duties ran somewhat concurrent with those of the new position. He is capable, and although as chief grain inspector he was a target for a great deal of abuse which, though not merited, some one had to take, none but those of extreme bias were simple enough to believe him deserving of the abuse or accountable for what was charged, and all will concede to him practical talent for the position to which he is called. His duties are clerical rather than executive, and his wide acquaintance will be valuable to him and to the commission. Mr. Clausen was a resident of Polk county when he entered public life, and his friends in northern Minnesota were pleased that he was selected for the position.

The number of bicycles manufactured in this country from 1895 to 1898, inclusive, was 4,000,000, or an average of 1,000,000 a year, while there are evidences that the total sales for 1901 will not exceed 250,000. Again the value of the wheels exported from New York, Boston and other Atlantic ports amounted in 1898 to $7,000,000. In 1899 the figure had declined to $5,000,000, while $3,000,000 was the total for last year. Golf, automobiling and other "fashionable sports," including coaching, which is regularly growing in popularity as a fad, seem also to be making great inroads upon the popularity of the bicycle as a form of recreation and entertainment. In view of these facts, however, they may be interpreted, there seems to be little doubt but that there is at last some grounds for the assertion, now so frequently made, that the bicycle "craze" is decidedly on the wane.

EDDY TALKS POLITICS

Seventh by Ninth District Congressman Talks to a Reporter

Congressman Eddy, fresh from the wilds of Pope county, spent a day in Minneapolis and a Journal reporter gave out a very characteristic interview, which reads this way:

"They are not talking politics in my neighborhood just at present. Everybody is engaged just now in garnering the crops. We will have a two-thirds crop in our section, and I speak with perfect sincerity when I say that in the farming sections of Minnesota the times are very prosperous. The sale of land in Pope and adjoining counties has perfectly amazing to the "oldest inhabitant" this year; and, of course, prices have advanced in sympathy with the demand, while settlers have come in proportion to the sales. Yes, we are all comparatively happy up my way.

"The new Ninth congressional district, which is chiefly taken from my old district, I regard as somewhat in the doubtful column. You know they used to be pretty much all populists up there, and when populism turned over and died of a surfeit of free silver, the voters, unfortunately, did not all come back into the republican party. There are four names mentioned for the republican nomination in 1902 in the Ninth—Comstock of Olay, Grindeland of Marshall, Steenerson of Polk and Valentine of Wilkin—either of whom ought to be elected unless they get snarled up, and I don't think they will.

"Yes, I am a candidate for nomination and re-election if the people of my district want me. Going to congress is just like holding any other job. If both the employer and the employed are satisfied, there is no obstacle to a continuance of business relations. I have held different elective offices now for twenty years. I like it—rather—and if the people continue to like me, we may strike up a trade for another term. But my judgment is that, whether they nominate me or some other man, the republican will win in the reconstructed district."

Compton Re-elected

EVERY BRINGS RELIEF

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge. Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthamalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

We want to send to every sufferer a trial treatment of Asthmalene, similar to the one that cured Mr. Wells. We'll send it by mail POSTPAID, ABSOLUTELY EREE OF CHARGE, to any sufferer who will write for it, even on a postal. Never mind, though you are despairing, however bad your case, Asthmalene will relieve and cure. The worse your case, the more glad we are to send it. Do not delay, Write at once, addressing DR. CROOKED KENOSHA CASHIER

He Traveled at too Rapid a Pace to be Honest

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 21.—Herbert E. Thompson, formerly of Chicago, commonly known to bicycle makers and dealers in all parts of the United States at Bert Thompson, occupies a cell in the county jail here on a charge of embezzlement.

Thompson is charged with having embezzled a large amount of the funds of the A. D. Meiselbach company, which companey he had served in the capacity of condential bookkeeper for the last two months.

He had resided in Kenosha for the past four months and part of this time he had held the position of bookkeeper. He was clever in his work and most of the money was secured by the raising of checks. He admitted to Mr. Meiselbach that he had cashed six spurious checks.

Since Thompson has been in the company's employ he has lived a gay life and the first inkling that all was not right was brought to Mr. Meiselbach It has been a running fight with from the bank which had been raised from $2.50.

When confronted with the check Thompson "gave up the ghost" and admitted the fact.

Milton, N. D., will endeavor to have a creamery ready for business by May 1, 1902.

Ordinance

An ordinance relating to street curb and boulevards in the City of Crookston.

The City Council of the City of Crookston do ordain:

Section I.—In all public streets and thoroughfares heretofore or hereafter laid out, established and opened in the City of Crookston, Minnesota, which are not less than sixty feet wide and/under eighty feet wide, in which paving may be laid or boulevards be constructed, as hereinafter provided, the roadway shall be graded between the curb lines to the width of thirty feet in the center of such street or thoroughfare, and the sidewalks on said street shall be six feet wide or such other dimensions as the City Council shall hereafter order, and the remaining portion of said streets between the sidewalk and the curb line shall be boulevard and sown to grass, provided, however, that all boulevard shall be of grade two inches below the level of the sidewalk on such streets and sloping toward the curb line, and shall be enclosed with substantial plank or stone curbing; where plank is used for such curbing, the said plank shall be of two inches by fourteen inches dimensions, and securely spiked to cedar or other posts firmly set in the ground, and said boulevard shall be constructed under direction of the street commissioner in accordance with the plans given by the city engineer.

Section II.—Where any public street or thoroughfare of said City is eighty feet wide or over, then in that case the roadway between the curb line shall be graded to the width of forty feet in the center thereof, and the sidewalks and boulevard shall be constructed of the dimensions and in the manner of the material as provided for in section one of this ordinance.

Section III.—The boulevards on any street or thoroughfare shall be of uniform width and construction for the full length of such street, and no boulevard shall be laid in front of any lot of any block without permission of the City Council, nor until and unless the said boulevard shall be constructed as herein provided along the entire frontage of such block fronting on said street. Any boulevard constructed in violation of the terms of this ordinance shall be removed as an obstruction by street commissioner when so required by resolution of the City Council.

Section IV.—The City Council of said City may, by resolution, prohibit the construction of any boulevard on any public street or thoroughfare of said City, whenever in the opinion of the City Council said boulevard will interefere with business or travel in said City, or may by resolution cause the removal of any such boulevard, when in the opinion of the City Council, it shall be necessary for public convenience, travel or business.

Section V.—The City Council of said City may require the construction of said boulevard as herein provided for, and cause the same to be constructed on any public street or thoroughfare in said City and provide for the payment of the same and for charging the construction of the same to the abutting property owners in the same manner, as near as may be, as is now provided for in the construction of sidewalks in the said City.

Section VI.—Where any street or streets are boulevards or paved and a curb line therein is established, all telephone, electric light or telegraph poles shall be placed near to and inside the curb, but no such poles shall be placed between the curb lines in any street or thoroughfare.

Section VII.—Any person or persons who shall wilfully drive upon or in any manner unlawfully injure any boulevard or curb in said City shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum of not less than five nor more than twenty-five dollars, and the costs of prosecution, and in default of the payment of such fine may be imprisoned in the County Jail of Polk County, Minnesota, for a period not exceeding ten days.

Section VIII.—This ordinance in so far as it relates to the construction and dimensions of boulevard shall not apply to Cowling street or any street or thoroughfare, where boulevards have heretofore been constructed in conformity to any ordinance of said City.

Section IX.—This ordinance shall take effect after the same is duly passed, published and recor Passed this 20 day of August, 1901.

G. S. CHESTERMAN,
President of the Council.

Approved this 21st day of August, 1901.

N. CAMPBELL,
Mayor.

Attest: W. A. LANCTOT,
City Clerk.

Crops in Grove Park

Stephen Quesnelle, living a few miles north of Mentor, threshed ten acres of oats Tuesday from which he obtained 345 bushels. He expects to get at his threshing in earnest next Monday, weather permitting. As a general rule the crops around Mentor promise an excellent yield, and the farmers were in a hopeful frame of mind up to the time of the occurence of Tuesday night's storms, and the unfavorable weather prospects which continued yesterday.

Storm at Mentor

Mentor was visited Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock with an exceptionally heavy rain storm accompanied by very sharp lightning and heavy thunder, but little wind. A second storm came up in the night at about 2 o'clock, which was also attended by severe electrical disturbances, and it is expected that one or more instances of the lightning's work will be heard from, though no casualties seem to have occurred in the village.

May Search Buggies

Minneapolis, Aug. 20.—Deputy game wardens have the right to search buggies driven by persons suspected of killing game illegally. This is the view of Attorney General Douglas, who was consulted by telephone from Cambridge, Minn. Two strangers drove into town with guns in their buggy. They had evidently been hunting chickens, and the warden wanted to look into the buggy. They ordered him away and made such a demonstration that he decided to ascertain how much law he had on his side before making the search.

It Was a Twister

A small cyclone struck the country north and west of the city Tuesday afternoon and did considerable damage. It came from the direction of Shirley and procceeded southward until it reached the experimental farm, turning westward and following a southwesterly course, striking the river near the Klinger place. It scattered the shocks, blew down hay stacks, upset chimneys and out buildings generally along its course, damaging the telephone lines considerably. T. O. Bergland, who is in the city today, says that the blow was one of the worst he has ever experienced, and that considerable damage was done to the grain in shocks.

Tailor Made Clothing

I have received the samples of the fall and winter cloths from Wanamaker & Brown, the big tailoring house of Philadelphia, for which I have been agent for over a year, and they are beautiful. Any tailor can show you beautiful cloths, but I am talking of beauty that is more than skin deep. It is in the way these cloths are treated, how the cloths fit, how they wear. Messrs. Wanamaker & Brown authorize me to give you perfect satisfaction, whatever it costs.

A Fortune in Potatoes.

Moorhead, Aug. 21.—Chris Nelson, a resident of Moorhead, made an investment of $216 in potatoes for seeding last spring. He now has a crop worth $11,200. His net gain will be $8,960, a profit of 4,148 per cent.

Nelson was so hard pressed when he desired to plant the potatoes that he had to borrow most of the money invested for seed. His crop covers 80 acres and is yielding about 175 bushels to the acre. This makes a total of $11,200. Twenty per cent of this 14,000 bushels. Potatoes are bringing 80 cents a bushel on the Moorhead market making the value of the crop $11,200. Twenty per cent of this amount will be eaten up by various expenses, care of the crop, digging, hauling to market, etc. Thus Nelson will have left a net profit of $8,960.

Bankrupt's Petition for Discharge

In the District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota, Sixth Division.

In the matter of Alvin Newland, Bankrupt. —In Bankruptcy.

To the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota, Sixth Division.

Alvin Newland of Crookston in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 13th day of June, A. D. 1901, last past, he was duly adjudicated bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore, he prays that he may be decreed by the Court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

ALVIN NEWLAND,
Bankrupt.

Dated this 24th day of July, A. D. 1901.

United States District Court, District of Minnesota, Sixth Division, ss.

On this 16th day of August, A. D. 1901, on reading the foregoing petition, it is Ordered by the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 24th day of September, before said Court, at Fergus Falls, in said District, at two o'clock in the afternoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Polk County Journal, a newspaper printed in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the Court, that [illegible] clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the said Court, and the seal thereof, at Fergus Falls, in said District, on the 24th day of August, A. D. 1901.

CHARLES L. SPENCER,
Clerk.

Weekly Crop Bulletin

A moderately warm week. On the 12th and 13th there were scattered and light showers in the western part of the state, and locally heavy showers in parts of the extreme southeast. Where the showers were heaviest, the corn, potatoes, gardens and pastures were revived somewhat and the ground was softened for plowing, but in most of the state there was practically no benefit from the moisture of the week. A severe storm of wind, rain and hail passed across the southern part of Polk county on the 12th, with some damage to the standing grain.

Harvesting has made rapid progress during the dry weather in the Red River valley, so that all grain, except late oats and flax, are cut as far north as northern Norman county. In Kittson county a few have not yet begun to harvest. Late wheat is not filling well and late oats are in danger of rust. Threshing from the shock is going on in the central portions, and preparations are being made in the south for threshing from the stack. The cutting of flax has advanced to north of the central part of the state, and threshing is going on in the the south. The crop is poor in the north, and in the south that sown late and on new land is also poor. Corn is irregular and generally very poor because of the drought, which has interfered with the formation of ears, and their filling where they were formed. Many fields look to be nearly ripe, and cutting is begun in the south. Potatoes, except in a few scattered places, are poor. Pastures are drying up, so that cows have to be fed in order to keep up the flow of milk. Gardens are seriously injured, and vegetables of all kinds are scarce, poor and very high priced.

Plowing is being done in much of the south, but the soil is so dry that the work is difficult and unsatisfactory. In central portions a large wild hay crop is being secured.

Notice of Meeting

In the matter of the grading of McDonald avenue and Sixth street from Alexandria street to Ash street.

Notice is hereby given, that we, the undersigned, having been duly appointed and qualified as commissioners to view the premises, assess damages and benefits, fix compensation and estimate expenses in the matter of the grading of that certain highway in the City of Crookston, being the grading of McDonald avenue and Sixth street from Alexandria street to Ash street, and we will then and there meet on the 3rd day of September, 1901 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the corner of Sixth and Ash streets, and after viewing the premises will meet at two o'clock p. m. at the office of C. H. Mix, in the Odd Fellow's block on Robert street in said City, and will then and there hear such allegations and proofs as any interested person or persons may offer.

Dated August 20th, 1901.

TIE ON THE TRACK

Dastardly Attempt to Derail a Section of the Winnipeg Excursion Train.

ESCAPE WAS MIRACULOUS

Engine Was Derailed---Eight Hundred People Aboard, None Injured.

Grand Forks Herald: A bold attempt was made to wreck the second section of the N. P. excursion train on the return trip to Winnipeg from this city Thursday night at Bowesmont, and the attempt would have been successful had it not been for the fact that the engineer, Jack Downey, noticed the obstructions on the track and reversed the engine so that the speed was slackened materially before striking the railroad ties which had been placed across the track to wreck the train. It is estimated that he train was moving at the rate of 40 miles an hour when the ties were struck near the Bowesmont depot, and the train did not come to a standstill till the far end of the switch at that place was reached. Nothing left the track but the engine and no serious damage was done, the only result being a delay of 40 minutes while the engine was being jacked back on the rails.

There is no clue to who the perpetrators of the cowardly deed were, but it is supposed that it was the work of a gang that intended to hold up the passengers after the train had been wrecked. The train had been going at the rate of 50 miles an hour, and it was little less than a miracle that the entire train was not ditched and many people killed or injured, and this would have been the result had it not been that Engineer Downey saw the ties and reversed his engine. The train was packed with excursionists, there being at least 800 people on board, but the stop was so gradual that those in the rear car did not know that anything unusual had happened till after it was all over, and then there was general consternation for a few moments.

One of the ties was cut completely in two as clean as though it had been a big piece of cheese, and how the accident could have occurred without throwing the engine and several cars in the ditch is beyond comprehension.

RED MEN AT WALKER

The Grand Lodge of the Order Selects New Officers

Walker, Minn., Aug. 17.—The eighth great sun council session of the great council of Minnesota, Improved Order of Red Men, is being held here this week. It is the most noteworthy gathering in the history of the order in this state, and appropriately this organization, which copies from the early customs of the original inhabitants of this continent, is holding its meetings in a spot so "near to nature's heart." The great council elected the following chiefs:

Great Sachem—Dr. R. H. Pierce, Duluth.

Great Senior Sagamore—Ross Hazzard, Minneapolis.

Great Junior Sagamore—W. E. Cowles, St. Peter.

Great Prophet—Geo. W. Hoffman, Winona.

Representatives to Great Council of United States—H. A. Finlayson, Minneapolis, and Geo. W. Hoffman, Winona.

ARRIVAL OF NEW WHEAT

It is Not Grading Well and is Disappointing to Commission Men

From 150 to 200 cars of new wheat a day is received in Minneapolis from the Southern territory, embracing Southern Minnesota, Northern Iowa and portions of South Dakota, and though the territory suffered from the intense hot spell of July, the percentage of No. 1 northern grade is figured at from 10 to 20 per cent. This is some better than was expected.

"The samples of wheat received from North Dakota, in the country north of Fargo," says Gus Ewe, of the Van Dusen-Harrington company, "show a much higher quality than that from the southern territory. This, of course, was to be expected, but in justice to the grain from the southern territory, it is of the very best milling quality."

By the end of the week wheat will be coming in from North Dakota and northern Minnesota.

COURTS WILL BE ASKED

To Pass Upon the Compulsory Vaccination Law

Duluth, Aug. 16.—The supreme court will be asked without further delay to determine whether or not the present law regarding vaccination is valid.

This has been decided upon evidently as the result of the meeting held in this city last Tuesday which was called to devise means of coping with smallpox the coming winetr. Local antis received word yesterday from the headquarters of the society in St. Paul stating that the long delayed action would now be begun, to prevent the possible wholesale inoculation of the people should the decision be in favor of the society.

The law reads that whenever in the opinion of the state board of health, the existence of smallpox in a community is so great as to warrant being called an epidemic, the board has the authority to enforce vaccination.

The fact that the anti-vaccinationists were not in evidence at the meeting held in this city Tuesday has caused considerable comment on the part of those who have watched the strife between the two belligerent elements.

Asked as to why some of their numbers were not present the antis assert that no amount of argument on their part could have done a particle of good and it would simply have been ammunition thrown away. They declare, however, that there is no more reason why the lumberjacks and railway employes should be vaccinated than that the public school children should be, and they consider that the latter is nothing short of a crime.

HAD A BAD DREAM

Imagined Himself Falling and Awoke to Find It True

New York, Aug. 19.—Because of the heat, James Smith slept on the roof of a five story hotel at 104 Sixth avenue and early in the morning he "fell out of bed" into the back yard.

He awoke saying he had a frightful "falling drem" and found that he had actually fallen five stories. He was only slightly bruised.

The mystery of this marvelous escape was explained as soon as day dawned.

The back yard was a maze of clothes lines, several being stretched across at each floor. In falling Smith had struck these lines bounded and rebounded from one to another, breaking six in the descent.

He was taken to St. Vincent hospital but walked home after a few hours of repose under the eye of a nurse.

Plan to Settle Strike

New York, Aug. 16.—J. Pierpont Morgan has planned the greatest labor union of the age, a union of labor and labor's ally, capital. According to his plans, the stock of the United States Steel company, valued at several millions of dollars at par has been set aside for purchase at inside figures by the 165,000 men employed by the companies that make up the great steel trust. It is contemplated to form this co-partnership between the shareholders and employes of the United States Steel corporation.

The plan was conceived before the strike was thought of and then it was expressed that it might be in operation in two years. It required time to formulate the details of such a tremendous undertaking. For this reason the announcement was withdrawn.

The plan contemplated by the United States Steel corporation is nothing more than a high development of the scheme that has prevailed in the Carnegie plants since 1892.

Prof. Hays May Go to Victoria

Prof. Williet M. Hays of the Minnesota Experimental Station at St. Anthony Park has just been signally honored.

The government of Victoria, Australia, is looking for an experienced agriculturist to take charge of agriculture there and draw a salary of $10,000, and Prof. Hays may get the position.

The department of agriculture in Washington has recommended to Jas. M. Sinclair, superintendent of exports for the Victorian government in London, the names of B. T. Galloway and Prof. Hays. Mr. Galloway is chief of the bureau of plant industry.

It is highly probable that either Mr. Galloway or Mr. Hays will secure the position, which will be one of great importance, as Victoria is preparing to develop her agricultural resources to the utmost.

Prof. Hays has many warm friends in Crookston who will hope for his success in landing the appointment.

Big Land Sale in Montana

Helena, Mont., Aug. 16.—The state of Montana will shortly have a land sale that will eclipse the recent government affair in Oklahoma, where about 2,000,000 acres were disposed of to home seekers. In other words, about 3,000,000 acres, distributed in every county in the state, will be auctioned off by Land Register Long. This course was decided upon at a meeting of the state board of land commissioners.

A state law prohibits the sale of any lands at less than $10 per acre. Thus, where Register Long fails to receive bids of at least that amount he will only lease lands to the highest bidder.

To Save Her Child

From frightful disfigurement Mrs. Nannie Galleger of La Grange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all her hopes. It works wonders in Sores, Bruises, Skin Eruptions, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Piles. 25c. Cure guaranteed by A. G. Andersen, druggist.

MURDER AT WAHPETON

Rejected Lover Kills His Inamorato and Ends His Own Life

Wahpeton, N. D., Aug. 19.—The entire community was shocked on Saturday to learn of a horrible tragedy which occurred at the home of Diedrich Deeder, a few miles south of this city.

At 8 o'clock in the morning Claus Fisher shot and instantly killed Miss Annie Henrichs and then blew his brains out. Fisher and Miss Henrichs are from the same place in Germany, and were lovers. On her arrival in this country last spring she worked as a domestic at the home of Sheriff Moody of this city.

Two weeks ago she went to work for her uncle, Diedrich Deeder, at which place Fisher was employed. His attentions grew tiresome to her and she refused to keep the engagement He procured a shot gun and shot her dead while washing dishes.

Deeder and his wife were in the field stacking grain when they heard the gun. They hurried to the house and found her with the back of her head blown off. Fisher took the end of the gun in his mouth and blew off his right cheek, deliberately reloading it and took it in his mouth, blowing off all his head above the lower jaw.

The girl will be buried in Fairview cemetery in this city, and the man will be buried west of town in the Wild Rice river. Miss Henrichs was 17 years old and has a father and mother in Germany. Fisher was 20 years old, and well known in this city. He was industrious and honest.

RATHER PESSIMISTIC

Is View Taken of Valley Wheat Crop by Duluth Authority

Duluth, Aug. 19.—The new wheat crop is beginning to appear in this city. Up to Saturday about 50 cars had arrived. The first consignment came in last Sunday. Eleven cars were received Friday and 27 cars Saturday. It will not be long now until the regular fall rush is on in full force.

The wheat thus far received has graded No. 1 and No. 2 northern. Two or three cars graded lower than that. All, or nearly all, the receipts thus far have been from Minnesota points. Dakota wheat is likely to arrive any day for threshing has commenced at various points.

There is a good movement in barley and rye, but flax is a little slow. One or two cars has been the ordinary size of the receipts, but a record of seven cars a day has been made.

A grain man who has just returned from the Red River valley and North Dakota points is quite pessimistic over the situation in North Dakota. Said he:

"I was in the Red River valley from Fargo to Grand Forks and as far west as Devils Lake. The wheat and flax crop from Fargo to Grand Forks is thin. The best conditions are found out west of Larimore. I saw much flax that will not be ready to cut for six weeks yet.

"Around Devils Lake cutting has just commenced. Reaping is pretty well over in the Red River valley and, in the southern part of North Dakota, threshing has commenced.

"The crop has suffered from the wet and then the hot weather has had an ill effect. In my opinion the larger portion of the wheat in the section I visited will grade No. 2 northern and under.

"Many wheat men are estimating a crop of 75,000,000 to 95,000,000 bushels for North Dakota, but my guess is 65,000,000 bushels."

Made False Returns

Ulen, Minnesota, August 16.—William Maddagh, a fourth class postmaster at Rollag, Clay county, Minn., was arrested by Deputy U. S. Marshal Picha on a warrant charging him with falsifying his return to the auditor of the postoffice department for the purpose of increasing his compensation.

Maddagh will be given a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Griffin at Detroit. The penalty for the offense is $50 to $500 fine, or imprisonment not to exceed one year.

Made a Good Record

Israel Laframboise, of Gentilly, last year delivered at the Gentilly cheese factory during the months of July, August, September and October, 1,870 pounds of milk, the average test of which was 4.54 per cent of butter fat. The factory being run on the co-operative plan, he received 1,400 pounds of cheese for this milk, which brought him 10½ cents per pound. This makes a record for the six cows of which they may well feel proud. This season bids fair to furnish still more satisfactory results, as he now has one cow which is giving him 55 pounds of milk daily, and the test is running equally high. Mr. Laframboise is quite a fancier of specialties, and is raising fantail pigeons, Toulouse geese and Angora goats.

Blown to Atoms

Duluth, Aug. 16.—Details of a recent frightful accident on Stewart's railroad contract at Sturgeon Falls, in which three men were blown to atoms by an explosion, were brought to Duluth yesterday by a trio of prominent citizens of Mine Centre.

It appears that the workmen in a railroad cut charged five holes with dynamite. When they fired only four exploded. The men returned to work and a large gang was in the narrow cut. The blast had hung fire, and, suddenly and unexpectedly, exploded. Three men were killed outright, seven seriously and several slightly injured. The men who were killed stood almost over the blast, and they were blown to pieces. Flying rocks did the other damage. The dead were buried beside the dump and the injured were taken to the Atikokan hospital.

GOOD ADVICE.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. More than 75 per cent of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects, such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness Palpitation of the Heart, Heartburn, Water-brash Gnawing and burning pains at the Pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and Disagreeable Taste in the Mouth, Coming up of Food after eating, Low Spirits, Etc. Killed at Willmar

Willmar, Minn., Aug. 16.—A horrible accident occurred at Kandiyohi station this morning. A. O. Ahlin was on his way to the creamery, While crossing the railroad tracks with his team he failed to see an approaching freight train and was run over. The wagon was struck in such a way as to throw Ahlin about 100 feet in the air, killing him outright. The wagon was smashed into kindling wood, only one wheel being left. One horse was badly hurt.

G. N. Bandits Again

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 17.—James G. Ronkin, ex-sheriff of Carbon county, is of the opinion that the Great Northern train robbers are in Wyoming. Ronkin believes the three robbers are now in hiding at a rendezvous south of Rawlins, and the detective is positive the three men were in Cheyenne last Tuesday. It is known that a number of detectives are at work on the clues in this state, and it would not be surprising to hear that the robbers had been located.

A GREAT FARM PAPER

Northwestern Agriculturist Free to Journal Subscribers

We have made arrangements by which we are enabled to send the Northwestern Agriculturist absolutely free from this date until January 1, 1903 to every Journal subscriber (either old or new) who pays one year's subscription in advance to the Journal during the present month.

The Northwestern Agriculturist is a great farm paper having a circulation of nearly 60,000, and is issued twice a month.

The broad policy of its manager, P. V. Collins, has secured the most valuable corps of department editors ever allied with a farm paper in the West.

Prof. Thomas Shaw edits the sheep and cattle departments and also an invaluable department called "Shaw's Suggestions," in which all kinds of questions on farm management, asked freely by subscribers, are discussed by this practical as well as scientific farmer. Prof. Shaw is recognized throughout America as the leading authority on live stock, and he also is a leading general farmer.

Hon. A. K. Bush is editor of horticulture and gardening and writes regularly on farm topics. Mr. Bush is known as the state lecturer on horticulture at the Minnesota farmers, institutes.

Forest Henry tells about swine. He knows swine. Ten years ago he had $1,500 and with it bought a farm which required a $10,000 mortgage. Farmers ridiculed him for his rashness. He declared he would sell no crops. Neighbors thought he was foolish. He proposed to raise hogs and feed his crops to them. Ten years later: Henry paid off his mortgage—with hogs—and bought two neighbor's farms—with hogs—and became the hog editor of the Northwestern Agriculturist. If there is any one else in America that has any more hog sense than Forest Henry, The Northwestern Agriculturist may want his help, but some farmers can learn how to pay mortgages or buy extra farms with hogs now by reading the Northwestern Agriculturist.

Sam Haugdahl, the only man who won a gold metal on butter at the Paris exposition is the editor of the Creamery Department of the Northwestern Agriculturist. "Nuff ced."

A. X. Hyatt, over three score years old and with a life time experience with cows edits the dairy department.

Other departments are strong and interesting.

The secretary of agriculture, Hon. James Wilson, and Dairy Commissioner W. W. P. McConnell contribute special articles frequently during the year.

Sample copies will be sent to any one making application, or may be obtained by calling at the Journal office.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of three hundred seventy-seven and 46-100 dollars ($377.46), which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by John F. Lingren, an unmarried man, Mortgagor, to Franklin Edgerton, Mortgagee, bearing date the 18th day of August, 1885, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 18th day of August, 1885, at 3:30 o'clock p. m., in Book "W" of Mortgages, on pages 304-306.

Included in the amount above declared to be due on said mortgage is $49.38 being for taxes upon the premises described in said mortgage for the years 1896, 1898, 1899 and 1900, paid by the mortgagee, with interest on said taxes to the date of this notice.

And no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The south half of lot number eleven (11) in block number two (2) in the townsite of south Crookston, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for said county, in Polk County, Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston in said county and State, on the 7th day of September, 1901, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty five dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 24th, A. D. 1901.

MOBILE HARD HIT

The Great Storm Was the Hardest at the Alabama Seaport.

MANY SHIPS DAMAGED

The Entire Coast Wreck-strewn, Plantations Ruined and Many Lives Lost.

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 17.—The tropical storm which came up out of the south Wednesday and increased in force during the day following, is believed to have been the severest in the vicinity of Mobile. The highest wind blew at the rate of 70 miles an hour for some time. Various reports of the drowning of men in the bay have reached here, but it is impossible to confirm, owing to the demolition of all means of communication.

Nothing has been heard from Fort Morgan. Two companies of the coast artillery are stationed there. The barracks undoubtedly received the full force of the blow. No communication can be had with any of the islands in Mississippi sound, just outside the bar, 40 miles below here. All news concerning the fate of the islanders must come by boat, and this is anxiously awaited. The fruit steamer Herald from Puerto Portes arrived late last night. She reports speaking a two masted schooner near this place totally dismasted. The captain of the schooner declined assistance.

The logging camps and mill manufacturers have suffered considerable loss by the breaking of booms. Saw logs and squared timber floated into Mobile all day, much of it coming up [illegible] Royal street, three blocks from the [illegible] front. The Dixie saw mill and [illegible] mill of Heiornhaus Bros., located [illegible] Magazine Point, were badly damaged, parts of the plants being blown [illegible]way. No estimate of the damage in Mobile is possible at this time.

Six Lives Lost

New Orleans, Aug. 17.—The storm has passed and seems to have done no great damage anywhere except along the river below the city, six fatalities occurring near the river's mouth. In the city the only injury was to the Lakeside resorts and to the section flooded by a break in the canal bank, which was closed before morning. The rice and orange farms on the lower coast were severely injured.

THE APPLE CROP

Will be the Smallest Ever Raised in the United States

The apple crop of the United States is far below the average and prices on the local market it is expected by commission men, will be at least twice as high as those of last year, says the Pioneer Press.

The reports made to the convention of the Apple Shippers' association held recently at Toronto, Canada showed that the coming crop will be but 46 per cent of the yield of last year. The greatest shortage is in the East.

The variety that will be most missed on the local markets will be the Baldwin apple, which comes only from the eastern states. The substitute for the Baldwin is the Ben Davis from the Southern states. The Ben Davis and the Wine Sapling are the best apples produced in the South.

The lowest price during the fall of 1900 for all varieties of apples was $2.50 a barrel. During the following spring after the summer apples were on the market the price dropped to $1.75 a barrel. Summer apples are now worth $5 a barrel. The fall apples, which are the principal crop of the year, are expected to be worth about $4 a barrel at the opening of the season.

Prof. G. T. Powell of Briar Cliff Manor, N. Y., who is considered the best authority in the United States on apples said in his address before the Toronto convention that the Minnesota experiment station is the best horticultural school in the United States; that the school is graduating the very best practical fruit growers in the world.

GRANT MAKES A CAPTURE

Next to Aguinaldo It's the Best Thing of the Year

Manila, Aug. 17.—Second Lieutenant Walter S. Grant, of the Sixth cavalry, while scouting with a detachment near Taal, Batangas province, has made what the military authorities consider to be the most important capture since Aguinaldo was made a prisoner. Grant captured Martin Cabrera, his adjutant and six other insurgents. Cabrera had been growing in power for some time. He controlled all the insurgents in Southern Batangas and also those west of the city of Batangas.

Col. Panagan, a captain and two men, with 26 rifles and considerable ammunition, have surrendered to Lieut. Smith, of the Twentieth infantry, near Luzon. They formed a portion of Gen. Malvar's command. After taking the oath of allegiance they were released.

Capt. Policarpio, a lieutenant and five men from the Sixth company of Malvar's command, also surrendered to Col. Baldwin, refusing at the same time payment for their rifles and revolvers, and saying that they surrendered for peace and not for money.

Lieut. Evans reports that he has not seen nor heard of any insurgents recently on the island of Mindoro. He reports burning a camp, however, and he succeeded in capturing thirty tons of rice. He says the people in the valley back of Manjau reside in the richest farming country on the island. The district is thickly settled and plentifully supplies with cattle and rice.

Gen. Chaffee is greatly pleased by these accounts from the province of Batangas and the island of Mindoro.

HARD ON PIANO TUNERS

Thumpbox Brought to Concert Pitch by Christian Science

Minneapolis, Aug. 17.—During a recent experience meeting at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, a member of the congregation related a most remarkable story illustrating the efficiency of the Christian Science belief. Her family, she said, had been away from home for about four months. On their return one of the daughters went to the piano, opened it and started to play. The instrument, however, was found to be badly out of tune, and it was agreed that the first person who went down town was to send up a piano tuner.

Later the thought came to some one that God was harmony and that music was harmony, and a piano tuner was decided to be unnecessary. The instrument was closed again and at intervals, during the next two weeks, various members of the family gathered in the parlor to affirm "God is harmony, music is harmony."

At the end of two weeks the instrument was again opened and once more the daughter sat down to play. The piano was found to be in perfect tune and has remained so ever since.

This story is vouched for by every person who lives in the house in question and is regarded as a most remarkable instance of the universal efficacy of Christian Science.

PHILLIPS GOES BUMP

The Great Corn Corner Was too Much for Him

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Under proceedings in involuntary bankruptcy, the Chicago Title & Trust company was last night appointed temporary receiver for the George H. Phillips Grain company. A bond in the sum of $100,000 was given. John S. Goodwin, attorney for Mr. Phillips, stated that the latter will not oppose the receivership.

Mr. Phillips when seen last night made an effort to appear composed but it was evident that he deeply felt the final step in the disentanglement of his affairs, which had been enforced upon him through the action of three of his company's creditors.

By his own statement, the company is insolvent. The liabilities he placed at about $200,000, with assets, taken at their face value, amounting to $225,000 to $250,000. Of this, he believes $100,000 is in worthless accounts, so that the company will fall approximately $100,000 short in the settlement. This, Mr. Phillips declares, he will make up to the creditors to the last cent. He says that he has lost or given up all of his money and real estate, but that, accepting the offers of financial assistance, he will resume business individually. Voluntarily he proposes to give, for the benefit of the creditors, every dollar of profit he makes in his transactions above $2,500 a year, which he will keep for himself and family.

Old Indian Fighter Dead

Fergus Falls, Minn., Aug. 16.—Levi P. Clark, who has been a well known character here for many years, died at the insane hospital yesterday. Clark's family—his wife and several children—were killed by an band of Indians in the pioneer days. He was absent from home at the time and on returning and finding his cabin in ashes he took the trail of the band and followed it to the Missouri river, watching his opportunities and killing several redskins who strayed away from the main body.

Numerous tales as to the number which he succeeded in dispatching and the manner in which he mutilated his victims have been told from time to time. Some of these were doubtless exaggerated, but wounds which he carried to his grave bore testimony to the fact that he went through some terrible hand-to-hand conflicts with the savages. These wounds seriously affected his health. He was stricken with St. Vitus dance and his mind gradually weakening, he was finally taken to the hospital.

Killed in a Mine

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 17.—The hanging way in the 28 level south of No. 2 shaft, Tamarack mine, gave way last night at a late hour, killing three men and injuring two.

The rock fell about ten feet on the men at work below. Samuel Jacobson, one of the men injured, had worked in the mine only two shifts and was from Quincy mine at Hancock. The killed are Richard Trezona, John Simmons, Matthew Stanihas. The injured: Matt Amsula, Samuel Jacobson.

HILL TELLS THEM HOW

Pacific Lumbermen are Advised to Lower Their Prices

New York, Aug. 17.—James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern, has refused to grant the request of the Pacific coast lumbermen for lower rates for their product.

According to Mr. Hill's idea, the lumbermen of the Pacific coast are now getting as low a rate as they are entitled to. Mr. Hill said:

"It is all very nice for the lumbermen to speak of what I have done for the lumber interests of the coast. When I went out there they were paying 90 cents to the Twin Cities and Lake Superior. They told me that they would be perfectly happy if they could get a rate of 60 cents. I looked into the matter and concluded they did not ask quite enough. I gave them a rate of 50 cents and 40 cents on fir. It is possible to give a lower rate on fir, because it is possible to load more in a car. I understand what they are after now. They are seeking a broader market for their common lumber. There is no trouble about the fancy higher priced stuff. They think that by cutting the rate for them, I can give them the market they are looking for. I am in the railroad business, however—not the lumber business.

"Now here, this letter says that the lower rate would double their business. We will assume that it would, but where would there be any advantage in that from a railroad standpoint? I haul the lumber east now. How am I to get those cars back west again? To give a low rate one way, it is necessary to haul a load each way. There is no getting around it, if empty cars must be hauled one way the freight the other way must pay for that dead haul.

"Now, I could make a suggestion to the lumbermen of the Pacific northwest as to how they could enlarge their eastern market," continued Mr. Hill. "Why do they not cut their prices a little and capture the new territory they are after? I know something about the lumber business in the northwest. I know how prices have gone up. I remember when the lumbermen were getting $5 where they are now getting $10. They come to me and tell me how I can greatly enlarge their market, and benefit the entire northwest. I tell them how they can do it themselves."

JIM HURT HIS BACK

Isn't Used to Handling Horsesand Got Squeezed

Minneapolis, Aug. 19—James Younger, the paroled bandit, now engaged in selling tombstones in the country, was painfully bruised while driving across a field at North Branch Friday afternoon. His wagon got caught in a bed of weeds, and he got out to clear the wheels.

While thus engaged the horse gave a sudden lurch and Jim was caught between the wheels and the box of the buggy. Luckily, he had hold of the lines, and checked the animal before it had gone very far. Mr. Younger received a severe wound in the lower part of the back, and was obliged to abandon his trip.

Shamrock Looks Well

New York, Aug 16.—Shamrock II. went into dry dock today and American experts had their first chance to study the lines of the craft Sir Thomas Lipton has sent over in his second attempt to lift the America's cup. The yachtsmen who went to the Erie basin with the expectation of seeing something in the way of a radical departure in yacht designing were doomed to disappointment. The cabled reports from Glasgow had led to the belief that Designer Watson had evolved quite a new style of boat embodying the "cod's head and the mackerel's tail." This turns out to be only fiction, the result perhaps of the pontoon which hid the yacht from advantageous view when she was launched. The cup challenger resembles the Columbia very much, so far as her under body and fin are concerned. That the Shamrock II is a dangerous opponent was conceded by the experts who saw her. From her easy entrance forward to her clean run aft there is power and speed in every line.

A New Inspector

H. P. Hall, a veteran newspaper man of St. Paul who, at various times, has been connected with practically all of the St. Paul papers and who once had his own daily, the St. Paul Call, has been appointed inspector of the rural free mail delivery for Minnesota. The position is a new one and has caused considerable trouble between Minnesota's senators and congressmen, each of whom had his candidate for the place. Mr. Hall did not seek the job, and his appointment came to him as a complete surprise. He was formerly a democrat, but of late years has drifted away from that party on national issues.

Quick Atlantic Trip

London, Aug. 15.—The house of lords took an unusual step this morning in suspending the sensational order with the object of passing on its second reading the bill granting special powers to build a pier and other works at Berehaven, Ireland, in connection with the proposed fast steamship line from Berehaven to the United States, by which it is hoped the voyage will be accomplished in four and one-half days. The bill had already passed the house of commons.

The steamers will be built in Great Britain and will accomplish the voyage in four and a half days. The assent of the admiralty officials, who are constructing naval works at Berehaven, had been given for the building of the proposed works on the foreshore.

HIGHER THAN EVER BEFORE

The N. P. Earnings Break Record for Increase

St. Paul, Aug. 17.—The Northern Pacific's earnings for July were $3,137,176, an increase of $404,004 over the same month in 1900. The increase was 14.8 percent for the month, a higher ratio than ever experienced before by the company. This increase was earned on the decreased mileage, as the total mileage of the company is 176 miles less than it was a year ago.

Northern Pacific officials expect that the year 1901-2 will show gross earnings of $35,000,000 to $36,000,000. Last year the gross earnings were over $32,000,000.

This increase is based on the more careful estimates, and is less extravagant than the predictions made in New York by J. J. Hill.

Mr. Hill estimated that the total increase in the gross earnings of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern would be about $10,000,000, which would give the Northern Pacific something like $37,500,000. This estimate is considered excessive by the most conservative Northern Pacific people.

DO DOUBLE DUTY

Clicking and Talking Possible Over Line at Same Time

St. Paul, Aug. 17.—C. H. Gaunt of the Northern Pacific telegraph department has invented a system for the simultaneous transmission of telephone and telegraph messages over the same wire.

The Northern Pacific is making extensive tests between St. Paul and White Bear Lake, and some remarkable results are being secured.

An official of the company said today that the apparatus had been in use for two or three weeks and that it has given perfect satisfaction. It has been possible to send telegraph messages by the use of the usual code, at the same time that two parties were conversing over the wire, and there was absolutely no confliction of the two systems.

The telephone instruments do not carry the influence of the telegraphic current in the slightest degree, nor is there any clicking noise. Mr. Gaunt uses an original system of reduction coils and condensers.

Astounded the Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennetville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsie," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50 cents at A. G. Andresen's.

A freight train in the M. & St. L. yards at Jorden killed Johnny Deltz, 7 years old.

Sixty Teachers Start for Philippines and Marry at Honolulu

Carbondale, Ill., Aug. 17—Among the 400 American teachers who sailed on the transport Thomas from San Francisco to Manila, 60 of them on reaching Honolulu were married. The teachers had been chosen from the many normal universities of the country and were all strangers to each other. Their acquaintanceship and courtship extended over a period of less than ten days. The captain of the transport refused to permit the weddings while enroute and the thirty pairs upon their arrival at Honolulu sought out a clergyman and were married. A boat was chartered and the thirty pairs made a tour of the bay. The information reached this city from one of the men who was appointed from this school.

Degree for Ireland

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 19.—Definite confirmation of the statement that Archbishop Ireland will receive the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the Yale centennial exercises next October was made today. He will leave the west about Oct. 1 and be in the East fully a month. He will visit distinguished leaders of the church in New York city, attend the Yale celebration during its four days and spend several days at Hartford with ecclesiastical officers.

Great Irish Battles

Chicago, Aug. 17.—There was a great outpouring of Irishmen yesterday afternoon and evening to commemorate Irish battles. Two men known to Irishmen the world over were in the city to address the meeting. At Sunnyside Park, Michael Davitt made two addresses to the members of the United Irish societies. In Oswald's Grove, O'Donovan Rossa talked to the Chicago Nationalists. Among other speakers were James F. Egan of Dublin, Thomas Clark and Senator T. Sullivan of New York.

Senator Fairbanks Jumped

Minneapolis, Aug. 19.—United States Senator Fairbanks of Indiana was slightly injured in a runaway accident here Saturday evening. The senator and District Attorney R. G. Evans were out riding when the team started to run away and both gentlemen jumped from the carriage, leaving the driver to care for the horses. Both gentlemen are slightly bruised but their injuries are far from serious.

There will be another car. But the man can't wait. He chases the car and swings on, panting and hot, but satisfied. He keeps this gait up all day. He works that way, he lunches that way. He continues this until his stomach "breaks down" and nature compels him to "go slow."

Business men who have impaired their digestion by hasty eating will find in Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a cure for dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It does not give mere temporary relief, but it effects a radical cure. It strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves and purifies the blood.

"For six long years I suffered with my liver, kidneys, and with indigestion, which baffled the best doctors in our country," writes E. L. Ransell, Esq., of Woolsey, Prince William Co., Va. "I suffered with my stomach and back for a long time, and after taking a 'cart-load' of medicine from three doctors, I grew so bad I could hardly do a day's work. Would have death-like pains in the side, and blind spells, and thought life was hardly worth living. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets,' as advised. Before I had taken half of the second bottle I began to feel relieved. I got six bottles and used them, and am happy to say I owe my life to Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

KANGAROO COURT

Was Organized at Beaudette, the New Town on Rainy River.

FIRST VICTIM WAS A THIEF

Whom They Hanged, Ducked and Then Kicked Out of Town as Punishment.

Beaudette, the new town on Rainy River at the crossing of the Winnipeg & Port Arthur railroad, made another bid to be retained on the map this week, although it has not yet effected a village organization. The lack of courts has made the lawless element very bold, and the citizens decided that something must be done to check the tough element.

Last week a Canadian Frenchman drifted across the Rainy and secured work on the road. He was put into a room with a fellow workman and the second morning thereafter the late comer, who was from the west, awoke to find that his room-mate, whose name was Montour, had robbed him of a sum of money and left without awakening him.

Later in the day Montour was located, and the citizens decided to take up the matter and show by their acts that they were capable to administer justice for themselves. A "Kangaroo court" was organized, and Montour brought out. He was asked where he had hidden the $30 which the court assumed that he had stolen, but he flatly denied the theft, and a search of his person failed to disclose the cash.

His captors believed him guilty, and felt that a lesson to him would have a salutary effect on others who might be inclined to lawlessness, whether they were or were not justified. Accordingly a rope was secured, placed around Montour's neck and he was told to say his prayers, as he was to be strung up. He continued to deny his guilt, but notwithstanding was pulled off the ground and raised nearly to the height of the limb of the tree over which the rope had been thrown.

After a few seconds he was lowered, and asked to tell where he had left the money, but persisted in denying his guilt. He was again strung up, and this tim was not lowered until he was black in the face. It was several minutes before he could talk after the second effort to hang him, and then he sputtered a good deal in telling the crowd to go ahead and hang him if they wished; he didn't have the money, he said, but if they thought he did they could complete the job, the same as they would down in Canada where he came from.

His captors then took Montour to the dock and threw him into the Rainy river, where the stream was 15 feet deep, having removed the rope from his neck and tied it about his waist. He was ducked three times, and after each attempt he was allowed to cough up water enough so that he could talk, and each time he maintained his innocence. After the last attempt Montour was so nearly drowned that he had to be rolled on a barrel to bring him back to citizenship, and his first words were, "Well, go ahead and drown me, why don't you?"

About this time it occurred to some one to make a more thorough search of the man's clothing, and the missing mony was found pinned to his underwear. He was allowed to don his clothes, and as a final punishment, considering all that Montour had undergone, it was decided to run him out of camp.

A double line was formed and he started down the avenue, each man taking a kick at his anatomy as he passed. His way led to the new bridge across the Rainy, and when he reached it he continued to travel into Canada, and is not likely to return.

Photographs of Montour hanging, and clinging to the dock were secured, and they will make a valuable collection to add to the records of the early day doings in Beaudette.

IS HE INSANE?

Man Shows Up at Climax Who Swipes Horses

Climax, Minn., Aug. 28.—Last week a stranger came along one evening and took one of Olam Benson's horses, riding horse-back until he reached his neighbor's, Richard Stae. There he took the front wheels of an old buggy, also a harness, and drove as far as Neilsville. In the morning Mr. Benson noticed his loss and at once gave notice. Towards evening the man returned the horse, but tied it to the fence outside the yard and walked to Climax where he was promptly locked up. He was without coat and barefooted and claims to have come from Kandiyohi county. His name is Chas. Shostey and has a brother living near Eldred. The man was taken before Judge Axdahl, who placed him under $300 bonds, which he was unable to furnish, and was taken to Crookston to await the decision of the court. It is generally believed here that the man is insane.

HUNTING A MURDERER

Morrison County People Searching for McGrath's Slayer

Little Falls, Minn., Aug. 28.—Another man hunt is in progress in the western part of Morrison county, somewhat similar to the one last spring that ended in the capture after a six days' chase of Roller, the leader of the gang of St. Cloud jail breakers.

This time the officers and posse are after the three men who held up fellow passengers in a box car on the cut off line Saturday morning and fatally shot John McGrath of Rush City. The robbers left the train near Lincoln Saturday morning and were seen that day in the woods southeast of there. Sunday they traveled through the country to the southwest, and the last heard of them they were at Swanville.

One of the men is quite sick, and their progress is slow. Dozens of armed men are now searching the country and guarding the roads.

An effort will be made to secure the hounds from the St. Cloud reformatory to track the men. The men are armed with revolvers, and their brutal killing of McGrath shows that they are desperadoes who hold human life lightly.

WHEAT BEGINS TO MOVE

Southern Minnesota Grain Received--Most of It Grades No. 2

Minneapolis, Aug. 28.—New wheat is beginning to move from central and southern Minnesota. Within three weeks the movement will be general all over the northwest. Most of the new product is coming to Minneapolis although an occasional car goes to Duluth. The latter city's big receipts will not begin until the northern grain is ready for shipment. Freight men are predicting a shortage of cars, but all roads are putting forth their best efforts to prepare for the crop.

Chief Grain Inspector Marshall said: "The most from central and southern Minnesota grades No. 2 this year instead of No. 1. This may be explained by the heat, which lightened the grain and made it impossible to meet standard weight. All the grain so far received is of excellent milling quality, however, and will command nearly as high a price as No. 1.

"I think the estimates placing the average crop at from twelve to twelve and a half bushels are substantially accurate."

PUSHING THE M. & I.

Now Looks as Though Construction Would Reach Bridgie

Bemidji, Aug. 28.—From all appearances the Minnesota & International Railway company intends to push road building with all possible speed toward its Canadian terminus. Day and night crews have been placed on the two cuts this side of Tenstrike and rails will probably be laid to that point within two weeks. Liberal wages and treatment is bringing plenty of help. Over 200 men were brought up from Minneapolis last week. Contracts have been let for the cutting of the right of way between Blackduck and Bridgie, and a crew of railroad engineers is engaged in the final work there. It is quite evident that the road will be pushed through to Bridgie if possible.

DOWN AT FERGUS

Machine Dealers are Prosecuted for Obstructing Streets

Fergus Falls, Aug. 27—The city council has taken steps to have all obstructions removed from sidewalks, and John England, a leading machinery dealer, paid a fine of $5 and costs for displaying two or three plows on the sidewalk in front of his place, the complaint being sworn out by Alderman Chappell. Mr. England did not object to paying the fine, but claims that he is being discriminated against, as one or two of the aldermen are making far larger sidewalk displays than he has and have been allowed to go unmolested. Another warrant, said to contain a charge against one of the aldermen in question, was sworn out.

The bondsmen of William Mittag, the Rollag postmaster who is charged with defrauding the government by padding his stamp accounts, had a meeting with Inspector Drake and arranged to compromise settlement on a basis of $700. Mr. Mittag's shortage was said to be about $1,600. His trial will take place here in September.

LIFE SENTENCE

The Last Scene in the Barry Murder Case Enacted at Langdon Yesterday.

MOVED TO STAY JUDGMENT

But Motion Was Denied---Barry Escapes Costs by Disposing of His Property.

Langdon, N. D., Aug. 28.—Judge Kneeshaw yesterday afternoon sentenced Wm. Barry to hard labor at the state penitentiary for the rest of his natural life. The court ordered judgment entered, taxing the costs of the prosecution against the defendant.

At the opening of the court the defendant interposed a motion asking for arrest of judgment on the grounds that the information did not show sufficient cause to constitute a public offense. His attorney asked for further time in which to argue the motion. Judge Kneeshaw denied the motion and after a brief review of Barry's crime and conviction, imposed the sentence.

Barry will go to Bismarck today. The judgment taxing the costs of prosecution against him will, it is understood, be non-effective, as he has disposed of all his property since the close of the celebrated trial.

Ex-Judge C. F. Templeton, chief counsel for Barry, and his associate, Attorney Tracy R. Bangs, were here from Grand Forks to watch the closing of the case.

THE CROOKSTON COLLEGE

Will Open for Its Fall Term September 9th

With the opening of the various educational institutions so near at hand, the attention of the Journal was directed to the Crookston Business College, and a representative sought out President Sathre, who is at the head of the institution that has turned out a large number of graduates, all of whom are filling excellent office positions in various capacities. In response to questioning Prof. Sathre said:

"We will open up on Monday, the 9th of September. As to the outlook, it was never better. We have had more applications for catalogues and inquiries about the school than we ever had before. The building has been put in first class shape and as soon as I can get carpenters at it the basement will be fitted up for a gymnasium. This is a feature heretofore lacking in the city and will be greatly apreciated.

"We have made a very important change in tuition this year. Heretofore we charged 50 cents extra per week for shorthand; now we have put all our courses under the same tuition. For $1 per week the student has the privilege of selecting his own studies. We will also have classes in French and Norwegian for those who may desire to study those languages.

"We will have evening sessions from the start. Those who cannot attend in the day classes will be accommodated in the evening with the very same kind of work. This will enable those who have a real desire for a business education to gratify it and secure what they want, while others are idling their time away. There is no reason nor excuse for the young man or woman who fail to educate themselves for the business of life when the opportunity to do so at the least possible outlay of time and money is brought rights home to them."

IN EVENT OF "EXTRA"

Several Legislators Who May be Out of a Job

St. Paul, Aug. [illegible].—In the event of an extra session of the legislature there will be some complications with regard to the right of a few members to their seats.

Senator F. B. Dougherty, of Duluth, was elected from the fiftieth district while he was temporarily residing at a hotel in that district during the absence of his family. He has again removed to his own house in the Fifty-first district, which is represented by Senator Baldwin, and the question is whether he can now legally represent the fiftieth district.

Senator J. J. Ryder, of Polk county, has been a resident of St. Paul since the session closed, and some of the people think they are entitled to a resident senator.

Senator Myran has been in St. Paul most of the time, but as he has simply been forwarding settlers to Norman county, there will probably be no protest from the people.

Representative J. W. Torrey, of Meeker county, committed suicide a month or two ago, and the people of Meeker county want a special election in the event of an extra session.

FOUND—About half a mile this side of Gentilly bridge, on Monday, a white fur coat. Owner can have same by calling at the Journal office.

NOTHING ELSE TO DO

That's Why Harry Noles Killed Mrs. Charles Williams

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 27.—Harry Noles, the negro who criminally assaulted and shot to death Mrs. Charles Williams, wife of a prominent farmer near Winchester, Tenn., last Friday, was captured at Water Tank, near Cowan, Tenn.

He was taken to Winchester by his captors and placed in the county jail. Sheriff Stewart made haste to try and barricade the jail and protect the prisoner.

Soon an angry mob of several hundred men gathered, several hundred citizens from the neighborhood where the crime was committed and augmented the crowd by thousands. They swept forward upon the jail, overpowering the sheriff and his deputies, took the prisoner and started for the scene of the crime, twelve miles distant.

Arriving at a point near the scene of the crime the negro was placed on a stump and given a chance to make a statement. He mounted a stump stoutly and laughed as he began his statement. He said:

"Tell all my sisters and brothers to meet me in glory. I am going to make that my home. Tell my brother to meet me where parting will be no more."

He was then asked if anyone else was implicated in the crime. Noles stated emphatically that there was no one else implicated but himself.

"Why did you kill Mrs. Williams?" he was asked.

"I just done it because I had nothing else to do."

He finished his statement at 1:30 p. m. He was taken from the stump, carried to a tree nearby, bound to the tree with chains and his body saturated with oil. At 1:40 a match was applied and instantly the quivering body was enveloped in flames. Fence rails were pitched about the burning body and soon life was extinct.

The negro made no outcry at any time and died as stolidly as a stone. There were no disorderly scenes about the burning body. At least six thousand people witnessed the terrible fate of the negro. Many remained until nightfall, augmenting the blaze until the body was entirely consumed. They then departed for their homes quietly.

BRAKEMAN KILLED

Thrown from a Caboose at Brainerd and His Neck Broken

Brainerd, Aug. 27.—Sunday morning Wm. T. Drake, a brakeman in the employ of the Minnesota & International railway, met death in a tragic manner in East Brainerd by being thrown off a caboose of a train which was leaving the city for the north. The train broke in two and the unfortunate brakeman, who was standing on the front platform of the caboose, was thrown head first off the platform and it is thought broke his neck. Drake was 28 years of age and he had been braking for the M. & I. for two years. He was a good natured, jolly fellow, and had friends galore among the railroad men in this city.

BIGGEST GUSHER KNOWN

A Texas Oil Well Gets Loose and Floods the Country

Beaumont, Tex., Aug. 26.—Two men are dead and one of the largest gushers in the world is going absolutely wild, utterly defying the mechanical efforts of men to stop it.

The famous oil field presents the possibility of one of the direst calamities which ever visited Texas should fire join forces with the great gushers.

Tomorrow the gusher will still be spilling itself on the prairies and filling the country with oil.

James Smith died trying to shut off the gusher and John McDaniels died trying to save Smith.

Both showed great heroism. The wild gusher is in the Hogg-Swayne district syndicate tract. The well belongs to the Palestine Beaumont Oil company.

PRESBYTERIAN MEETING

Is in Session at Warren Today---Crookston Delegates Attend

The convention of the Presbyterial union of the C. E. societies is in session at Waren today, and is being attended by Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Fraser, Miss Jessie Davies and Miss Westover of this city. Among others who went up were Dr. Adams of Minneapolis and Rev. M. Holzinger of Fisher. The Red River Presbytery will convene there tomorrow, and among the matters of business will be an action of the call recently extended to Rev. Mr. Walker to the pastorate at Red Lake Falls.

Van Sant's Parents

Mason City, Ia., Aug. 27.—At Le Claire, Iowa, if they live till Oct. 1, will be celebrated perhaps the wedding anniversary covering the longest period of any couple in Iowa. T. L. Taylor starts from Hampton today to look after his big rice interests, but this wife, who generally accompanies him, remains behind to attend the 70th anniversary of the weddig of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Van Sant, at Le Claire. They are also parents of Gov. Van Sant of Minnesota, and he will be present. The veteran Van Sant is 92 years old and his beloved wife 89. Both are enjoying good health.

STATE DRAINAGE

Engineer Ralph's Report Will be Acted Upon at the Next Board Meeting.

SURVEYS ARE COMPLETED

Polk, Beltrami, Norman, Marshall and Roseau Counties are to be Worked.

Civil Engineer Geo. A. Ralph, in charge of the work to be done by the board appointed to expend the state drainage appropriation, has made surveys of the four principal canals to be built, and will submit his report to the board at a meeting to be held in St. Paul early next month.

The four places at which the work will be done are in the counties of Norman, Polk, Roseau and Marshall. One of the most important matters is the opening of the channel of Lost River, in eastern Polk county. This involves the building of a drainage ditch through a swamp into Beltrami county five miles long, and unite the two beds of the stream, whereby several thousand acres of land will be redeemed and made productive.

The work in Roseau county consists in opening a ditch nine miles long from a point northeast of Badger, to the Roseau river, while the condition in Marshall county will be remedied by the digging of a canal five miles long in range 44, to Middle river. Norman county will be benefited by the draining of a large tract in the townships of Good Hope and Shelley, the outlet being the Marsh river.

Altogether the amount of canal to be dug will aggregate 26 miles, and bids for the construction will be advertised for as soon as Mr. Ralph's report is submitted. The work will cost more than it would in ordinary years, owing to the high price of labor, but Mr. Ralph is confident that the appropriation will be sufficient to enable the work to be done this year.

A NEW CULTIVATOR

That Will be a Valuable Aid to the Farmer

The new patent harrow and cultivator that is owned and controlled by Messrs. Johnson and Larson was given a very thorough and successful test on Nels Hanson's farm near the city a few days ago, and those who witnessed it were greatly astonished at the results.

The new soil tiller was the subject of a notice in the Journal several months ago, and the good words then said of it were borne out by the performance of the machine. As stated, the machine is a combined cultivator and harrow, and will take the place of the spring tooth and disc harrow both. It pulverizes the soil very thoroughly, and for summer fallowing it is far ahead of any machine yet invented.

It is made in sections four feet wide, and one team will do a large amount of work with one section in a day, while three horses will double its capacity when attached to two sections, and four horses will walk along with three sections.

Each section has eleven teeth, shaped like those on a cultivator, which are prevented from going into the soil too deeply by the wheels upon which it runs, while a lever action admits of clearing the machine without difficulty. The patentees will have a sample machine on exhibition at the state fair.

THE MAPLEBAY STACKER

Sells Canadian Right of Its Patent at Good Price

A business transaction of considerable importance was consummated in the city Thursday whereby the Maplebay Wind Stacker company disposed of its patent covering Canadian territory to the Indiana Manufacturing company.

The purchasers were represented in the transaction by Mr. J. K. Sharp, Jr., secretary of the Indiana company, who has spent the past three days here and during his stay has examined closely into the merits of the attachment that is making Crookston famous as the place where the leading wind stacker of the world is being Manufactured. After careful investigation, Mr. Sharp decided that the investment was one that his company could make profitably, and the deal was closed, the purchase price being $15,000.

The Maplebay company is at present working a force of upwards of sixty men, and has a night force engaged. The daily output of the plant is six complete stackers, and there are orders ahead for eighty machines, with more arriving every day.

The season's business has far exceeded the expectations of the company, and the industry is rapidly taking rank as one of the most important in the northern country.

AT DES MOINES

The Maplebay Stacker Will be at the Iowa State Fair

Ralph Childs left for Des Moines, Iowa, today whither a sample of the Maplebay stacker has been sent, which he will place on exhibition at the Iowa state fair this week. The attachment has been highly finished and the good points of the machine will be explained by Mr. Childs, who is all business when talking the merits of the Crookston make of straw stackers, and after the close of the fair at Des Moines the same stacker will be brought to Hamline and put on exhibition at the Minnesota fair.

The company will be able in this manner to place the machine before thousands who have not heretofore seen it, and there is no doubt that its good points will appeal to all who see it in active operation.

More Settlers Coming

The large number of land buyers arriving these days is proof of the truth of the prediction that the fall rush of home seekers will equal, if it does not exceed, that of the spring. Those now arriving are from the farms where the harvest work is completed, and they form a class of men that seek to secure land upon which they can settle, and bring their families at once, prepared to put in a crop another year. The earlier arrivals were men whose interest in the land was largely speculative, or who intended to secure it at as low a rate as possible for those who were to come later.

The real estate agents are confident that the real influx of the solid class of settlers has but just begun, and the large numbers that are arriving on every train bears them out in their belief.

THE SENATORS RETURN

From an Enjoyable Trip Up Rainy River

Senator Grindeland returned from his trip accompanying Senator Nelson down the north border of the state. He continued to Ashby on Saturday night, reaching Crookston on his return this morning. He speaks in the highest terms of the pleasure afforded by the trip, which was by rail from Winnipeg to Rat Portage, thence down the lake and up Rainy river to Mine Center.

The country is all that it has been represented to be and will develop into a region that will be rich and productive, and that, too, at no distant day. The return trip was by rail to Winnipeg over the new line of railway.

The trip was a combination pleasure and business jaunt, and Senator Grindeland disclaimed the charge that there was any political significance attached thereto.

Business at Erskine

Assistant County Superintendent Kaasa has spent the past two weeks here, and has assisted Superintendent Casey in getting the affairs of the office brought up to date. He left for his home at Erskine this morning, and his last official act was to tender his resignation as assistant in the office.

He will withdraw from the school life of the county and enter upon a career in the mercantile line. In company with Everett Southmayd of McIntosh he will at once open a store at Erskine, and will hereafter devote his attention to managing and making a success of the venture. Both Messrs. Southmayd and Kaasa are well and favorably known in the eastern part of the county and there is no doubt that they will build up a prosperous business.

Mr. Casey has selected his assistant to succeed Mr. Kaasa, but has not yet announced the name of the fortunate party.

A New Business Block

Architect Strasshurger today showed a Journal representative a set of plans prepared by him for an office building to be erected at once by Mr. W. A. Marin on the lots north of the Commercial hotel.

The plans show a tasty building, such as are always shown on the drawings made by Mr. Strasshurger, that will be two stories in height and of fifty feet frontage. There will be two roomy office suits on the ground floor, one of which will be occupied by Mr. Marin for his law and collection business, the other being already leased to parties in the city.

Ground will be broken next week and the process of building will be pushed to a rapid completion.

Banking at Bagley

A deal was consummated in this city yesterday whereby Al Kaiser, of the Bank of Fosston, and A. D. Stephens, of the Merchants National Bank of Crookston, became part owners of the Bank of Bagley. Mr. Olson retains one-half interest in the bank, and his position as heretofore. Mr. Huseby will continue as assistant cashier in the bank. The individual responsibility will be $150,000. The new corporation will take effect Sept. 1.—Bagley Times.

IN A COLLISION

N. P. Passenger Train Goes Against a Freight Below Anoka

The passenger that arrived Tuesday morning on the Northern Pacific road was a half hour late, and those on board were glad to get out of an accident with nothing worse than a trifling delay. Things might have been much worse.

When leaving Minneapolis last night and before arriving at Anoka, the train collided with a freight train near the North Minneapolis Junction. Three freight cars were piled upon one another, one standing completely on end. The passengers were shaken up considerably, ad one man whose name could not be learned was so severely injured that he was taken from the train and cared for at a hospital.

The train was transferred to the Great Northern tracks and ran as far as Anoka, where it was again switched to the N. P. road. The cause of the accident could not be learned.

Cracked a Safe

Bankers Short and Drew at the State Bank of McIntosh got into a jack-pot with their safe Thursday and consequently the safe held the best hand. There was over $2,300 in the safe which had been put in some time ago, and last Thursday when they went to get the money out the combination refused to work. Monday they went at it with crowbars and jack screws, took it out and tipped it over two or three times, when they finally succeeded in getting it opened. A cigar box full of gold and silver laying up against the lock caused the perplexity. —McIntosh Times.

Finals in Red Lake Case

Thursday in chambers before Judge Watts the motion of Polk county in the case against Red Lake county was heard, to have the findings of the court amended to conform to the decision of the supreme court. The attorneys for the two counties agreed upon the form of these proposed findings and as soon as they are signed, a peremptory writ of mandamus will be issued to Red Lake county to carry out the directions of the supreme court in the case. This will close the action brought to compel a settlement of the difficulties that have arisen out of the county division matter.

Firebug at Wadena

Wadena has a fire bug of a very low order. He entered the Methodist church there, poured kerosene on the carpet, tore up a few bibles and hymn books and placed them over the oil, set the pile on fire and left the building. The fire burned quite a hole in the carpet and floor, but not having air, it finally went out of its own accord.

A FAITHFUL DOG

Attempted to Attract Attention and Lead Parties to the Body of a Suicide.

AN INTERESTING INCIDENT

Recalled by People at Dugdale in Connection With the Death of Hendrickson

A few facts in connection with the suicide Hendrickson, whose remains were found in a grove one half mile east of Dugdale a month ago, have come to light in a conversation between a Journal representative and Messrs. Herman and Otto Camp of Dugdale, which have not heretofore been published.

Since the remains were found and interred, it has been recalled by Dugdaleites that along in March at about the time the suicide is supposed to have taken his life, there appeared in Dugdale a medium sized, short haired yellow dog, which bowled and barked at frequent intervals. No one recognized him as the property of any resident in the vicinity, and his ownership was a matter of some speculation, but was never solved. When efforts were made to call the dog or to approach him, he would invariably turn and go in the direction of the grove where the remains were found.

This was continued for quite a time, but after a while he seemed to take a fancy to Harold Johnson, who lives near by, and has since then adopted him for an owner.

At the time of the dog's appearance little thought was given to the matter beyond a casual speculation as to his ownership, and it soon dropped out of mind, and was not thought of again even when the discovery of the remains was made. As the incident is now recalled, however, it is quite evident that the dead man must have been the owner of the forsaken canine, and that he was attempting to lead some one to discover his master's remains.

Another thing incidental to the case which was not at the time made mention of in the published account, was the fact that a short distance from the body was discovered a large canvas grip, which contained three suits of nearly new underwear of good quality, an American dictionary, two American song books, a Spanish-American war history, a Scandinavian Bible, two American story books, a lady's photograph—evidently taken in Sweden—a razor and strop, a bunch of nearly new clean handkerchiefs, and various other small items.

The entire contents of the satchel were, of course, thoroughly soaked and in bad condition. In one of the books only was found the name Thos. T. Hendrickson.

No inquiries have ever been made of parties at Dugdale in regard to the matter by any one appearing to have an interest in the dead man, and no further disclosures in regard to him have yet been made.

BUILDING TO CLIMAX

The Iron Range Company Commences Its Fargo Extension

Manager Downing, in charge of the construction on the Iron Range telephone line, began today the work of building the Fargo line. Poles are being set, commencing south of the city, and the construction will be pushed as far as Climax as rapidly as possible. The line will be built clear through to Fargo this fall, but the hurry just at present is to connect with Climax and intermediate points so as to afford the business men and elevators the advantages of the wheat markets during the fall season. The work being done will in no way interfere with the process of making the new improvements in the city, which are rapidly nearing completion.

THE NEPTUNE SHOOTING

It Now Appears to Have Been the Result of an Accident

Later accounts of the accidental shooting of Frank Neptune, mentioned in Saturday's Journal, place the matter before the public in a different light. The message received by the Journal was sent by a party that was not fully informed as to the occurrence, although the main facts are correct.

Mr. Neptune had as stated gone into the claim country in the vicinity of Thief Lake, and accompanied by Mr. McNichols was aboard of the steamer that plies Thief river. They had reached a point about 30 miles above the city of the name, when the accident happened. Mr. Neptune was leaning on the gun when the boat lurched, and the butt of the rifle slipped off some lumber on which it was resting, the hammer striking in such a manner as to discharge the gun. The ball entered the upper part of the left arm between the elbow and the shoulder and came out on top, shattering the bone from the point of entrance to the shoulder.

The captain immediately staunched the flow of blood and put the boat about, returning to Thief River Falls with all possible haste, reaching there after the train had left on Friday night. This necessitated a delay of one day in reaching Crookston. On arriving here on Saturday night Mr. Neptune was taken to the Sisters' hospital and is now under the care of Dr. Dunlop. The wound is a serious one, but an effort will be made to save the arm although it may possibly have to be amputated.

FAILED TO CONVICT

Game Warden Nipped Two Alleged Poachers on Saturday

Another case of prosecution for violation of the game laws was heard in Judge McLean's court today, and the defendants were discharged.

The action was brought against Angus Camerson and John Bachman, and the warrant was sworn out by Joseph Noesen. The facts alleged and sworn to by the plaintiff, who is a game warden, are about as follows:

While in the country north of Crookston yesterday he saw the defendants on the prairie and heard them shooting. He followed the rig at a distance and they shot several times. He approached nearer, and they seeing him coming, drove off the road and took a circle onto the prairie. After going a short distance they dropped a sack from their rig, and he closed in on them shortly after, halting them and searching the rig. There was nothing that would criminate except the fact that they had a dog and a gun. The rig contained no game, and he retraced his steps to the point where he had seen them drop the sack, finding it lying where he saw it drop. It contained a dozen prairie chickens, and he placed the two men under arrest, securing the guns, which he afterward gave back to them.

They said that their horse was tired, but that they would return to Crookston today and answer to the charge, and were allowed to go on that promise.

The defense was a general denial of the charge of killing the chickens, and a statement that when they turned off the road to avoid the game warden, as alleged, it was for another reason. They saw a man coming and wished to ask him the way to Euclid.

The case was tried before a jury, and was prosecuted by County Attorney Rowe. L. E. Gossman defended and cleared his men on the basis of the belief that the farmer who was coming from the opposite direction was the man who killed the birds.

BITS FROM BEMIDJI

Auditor Dunn Disposes of State Lands--Light Plant Accident

Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 23.—State Auditor Dunn of St. Paul held in Bemidji the most successful sale of state lands, in his estimation, that has ever been held in the northeastern part of the state. It did not bring as large amount of money as other sales, but, considering the price per acre for purely wild agricultural land in a pine country, and that the bidders were almost exclusively homesteaders who desire to increase the extent of their farms, the sale was a very creditable showing for the new county of Beltrami. Some land without timber sold as high as $30 per acre and the average price per acre was about $5. The first payment amounted to $5,000 and 5,000 acres were sold.

An explosion in the Warfield electric light plant demolished about $2,000 worth of property and destroyed the larger dynamo. A short circuit in the dynamo caused the explosion and the eighty inch wheel on the shaft flew into a thousand pieces, tearing a hole through the roof and side of the building. An extra engine and dynamo has been used to furnish light for the business houses until a new dynamo can be installed.

A FERTILE MAN

Gets a Hand Shot Off and a Load in His Under Jaw

Fertile, Minn., Aug. 26.—While handling a loaded shot gun yesterday afternoon Gilbert O. Sandaddeu, a young man living ten miles north of this place, met with an accident which will probably cost him an arm and possibly his life. His left wrist was resting on the muzzle of the gun when the weapon was accidentally discharged, the load entering his wrist and under jaw. He was brought to Fertile for medical treatment. Amputation of the arm may be found necessary and it is feared blood poison will set in.

Threshing Machine Explodes

Candy, Aug. 26.—A steam threshing engine exploded on the farm of C. L. Christenson, near Porter, Minn., instantly killing Mrs. Christenson and severely injuring her daughter, Lars Christenson, John Amundson and one of the assistants at the machine.

To Save Her Child

From frightful disfigurement Mrs. Nannie Galleger of La Grange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all her hopes. It works wonders in Sores, Bruises, Skin Eruptions, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Piles. 25c. Cure guaranteed by A. G. Andersen, druggist.

The New Ninth.

"C. B. C.," who writes "Minnesota Politics" for the Minneapolis Journal, gets into the territory up north in this way:

"If Halvor Steenerson of Crookston has congressional ambitions, the recent utterances of A. D. Stephens, his fellow townsman, must give him some uneasiness. There is no love lost between Steenerson and Stephens, and their careers crossed each other in a most provoking way at various times. Since the Steenerson boom for congress started, Stephens has concluded that he has just as good a right to represent the republicans of Polk county and the new Ninth district as his rival. He has given it out among his friends that he is quite likely to be a candidate.

"This may have the effect of keeping Steenerson out of the race, and it may force him in. Polk county may have two candidates for the republican nomination, or it may not have any at all.

"Beltrami county is persistently booming W. F. Street, the talented county attorney of the "northern empire." This will doubtless be resented by Beltrami's senator, O. H. Myran of Ada, who is enthusiastic for Grindeland. Myran has great influence in Beltrami, and with Street out of the way, could bring a large part of the county in line for the man from Warren.

"Street has the congressional bee, and no mistake, but if the road looks too rocky he may be contented to represent the sixty-first district in the next Minnesota house. When Beltrami county fills up a little more and Street is better known, he will make a very formidable man.

"The members of the legislature from the Red River valley are for the most part for Grindeland. They showed that when they so incontinently turned Ezra Valentine down last winter on the drainage bill."

The Crookston Times man has his lamps twisted. He remarks:

There is trouble for Mr. Morris. Senator Buckman of Little Falls is out for the congressional nomination in the Sixth district, and when "Buck" attempts any line, he does it in very thorough fashion

Buckman's candidacy will not hurt Morris any. The last legislature put a fence between them, and Morris is in district No. 8. Both gentlemen have their troubles, however.

Grand Forks has a New Bank

The Northern State Bank will open for business in fine quarters in the Security block in Grand Forks on the 2nd day of September. The bank will have a capital stock of $50,000 and the management after a careful canvass of the situation, feels that there is room for a third bank in Grand Forks, and hopes to receive a fair share of the patronage an institution of that nature is entitled to when it is conducted along proper lines and has an unquestionable foundation.

It has been known for some time that the bank would be ready for business in the near future, but nothing definite as to the time of opening was given until yesterday. The officers of the bank are as follows:

President—Lester F. Thurber.
Vice President—T. L. Tillisch.
Cashier—F. S. Sargent.
Assistant Cashier—W. H. Shnize.

Cass Lake Telephones

Cass Lake, Aug. 26.—An agreement was made Saturday between the Cass Lake Water company and the Iron Range Telephone company, whereby the latter is to put a telephone exchange at Cass Lake, connecting the long distance service between Crookston, Duluth and Minneapolis. The Cass Lake Water company owned the telephone franchise in the village and caused a delay until the agreement was made. The exchange will be put in as soon as possible.

SHOT HIMSELF DEAD

Painter Out at Deer River Handles a Gun Awkwardly

Deer River, Aug. 26.—Alfred Holdridge, a young painter, aged about 20 years, shot himself dead while fishing in White Oak lake. He was taking the gun out of the boat and the load of one barrel went into his body, killing him instantly. Holdridge's home was at Rice Lake, Wis., and he was staying here with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dennie. Mrs. Dennie is a sister of the unfortunate young man, and when some children told her the news she ran to the lake, a distance of one mile, without stopping. The body later on was brought to the house and was shipped to his home at Rice Lake.

Astounded the Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Minnesota has 644,722 males and 601,354 females who are native born; 287,768 foreign born males and 216,550 females. There are 6,639 male Indians and 6,719 females. The negroes number 3,836 males, 2,123 females, making a total population of 1,770,311 for the state.

In the purchase and sale of transports Uncle Sam is not a brilliantly successful trafficker. For the McPherson and the Terry he paid more than $350,000 originally, and his total outlay on the two vessels, including repairs and improvements, was more than $500,000. He has now sold the pair at auction for a total of less than $40,000. As a dealer in ships our honored uncle is not likely to amass a fortune in a hurry.

The yearly report of the pension department, just issued, shows that another high water mark has been reached in the number of war pensioners on the rolls. The total to June 30 was 997,735. There is one survivor and 1,525 widows of the war of 1812 on the pension rolls. The total number of widows drawing pensions is a quarter of a million. The total amount of money distributed during the year was nearly $150,000,000.

Here's the way the Duluth News Tribune speaks of the Ninth district congressional outlook: "The square, four cornered fight for the Republican nomination in the Ninth is progressing none the less fiercely because noiselessly. Steenerson, Valentine, Grindeland and Comstock are stayers and political interest will be at white heat by primary election time. The Democrats may nominate Alex McKinnon of Crookston, a member of the Land board of grain appeals.

The man who invents a really practical corn husker which will husk standing corn is assured of a fortune. As in the case of the trying work of picking cotton, but little help has been given to the farmer by the inventor. Numerous attempts have been made, but none of the machines constructed has proved practical. One of the latest is a combination of the corn binder and the husker and shredder, which is attached to the ordinary farm wagon. The fingers of the husker collects the stalks and convey them to the rollers of the shredder, where the husks are removed and the ears elevated to the wagon box. Th principle seems to be all right, but the practicability of the machine is yet to be demonstrated. Some day the successful machine will appear.—American Agriculturist.

The Crookston Times has began the publication of an Annanias department, and the first item therein appeared last night. It is a statement that that sheet has a greater circulation than all other newspapers published in Polk county together. Mac. never was noted for modesty, and he has certainly maintained his reputation in this regard in heading his prevarication department with this statement. The day has passed and will never return when Mac's statement for a matter of this sort will be taken in earnest, and his saying a thing doesn't make it true anyway. All who have to do with such matters know that such a statement is not in the range of possible facts, and others pay no attention to it. As a matter of fact, there are two Norwegian publications issued right here in Crookston, and both printed on the presses of the Journal, whose subscription lists lead the combined daily and weekly Times, by more than two thousand. And the Journal leads them all.

A tempest in a teapot has been aroused in Washington by the discovery that a clerk in the pension office who was drawing a salary of $1,800 a year, spent his nights by going on the night shift in the pension office, receiving there a salary of $1,200. This is positively against the law and the clerk will not only be dismissed from one job but will have to refund the entire salary he has received from the other. As he has worked night for nearly a year or more he will have to refund some $1,500. If he resigns both places, theUnited States will sue him for the money. This seems unjust, but without such a law, favored clerks would soon be regular Pooh-Bahs, reveling in aggregate salaries larger than those of cabinet officers.

It is pleasing to note that the pernicious little cigarette is losing its grip. During the past four years the number on which revenue has been collected has constantly decreased. In 1897 the high water mark in production was reached. There were 4,153,252,470 of the coffin nails consumed during that year. Last year the number had fallen off a billion five hundred thousand, and it promises to drop lower still this year. This decrease means that 200,000 people have given up the habit, or died without leaving any one to take their place as users of the little destroyers. The cause of the decrease is assigned to the general legislation and crusades against them. Anyhow, the consumption has decreased and the death rate has lowered, and we are thankful for these blessings, whatever the cause.

MORRIS' NEW BILL

Duluth News-Tribune: The matter of taking steps to have the Cass Lake reservation opened for settlement will undoubtedly occupy a portion of the time of the next session of congress. As stated in the News-Tribune some time ago, Congressman Morris will prepare a bill for the purpose and he feels sanguine of obtaining the support of the entire delegation from the state. Lack of harmony among the members of the state delegation would render any legislation having the opening up of the reservation in view extremely difficult, if not impossible, and Judge Morris, in drafting the bill, will endeavor to secure the co-operation of each member in aiding its passage by eliminating any features which might cause antagonism from any quarter, always bearing in mind that the main object is to induce and enable settlement of the land to be made at the earliest practicable moment. With this object Mr. Morris will consult with his colleagues and Captain Mercer to ascertain just what provision sshould be contained in the bill to insure its passage.

While of course unable at the present time to foreshadow the details of the measure, Mr. Morris says that it will be in effect a modification of the Nelson law, the main idea being to get rid of the objectionable features of the "dead and down" timber system and provide for the disposal of the pine on the lands with a bank scale. The general idea will be to have the timber sold in blocks of considerable area, instead of as under the Nelson law, by single forties, which latter plan would have the effect of disposinng of all of the more valuable sub-divisions, while the less desirable became isolated and a drug, as it were, upon the market. A clause will be introduced providing for a minimum cut each year after purchase, which would insure the clearance of the land at an early date. As these areas so sold were cleared, the secretary of the interior would be empowered and directed to open them for settlement under the homestead law, the government paying the Indians $1.25 per acre for each homestead taken, as is the case with agricultural lands on Indian reservations now open for settlement, thus providing free homes for the settlers.

It would be Congressman Morris' personal desire to have a provision in the bill that the lumber should all be manufactured upon the reservation, but his provision in the bill drawn by him for the last session of congress, which, from various causes, he was unable to introduce, excited the strenuous opposition of at least one member of the Minnesota delegation, and Mr. Morris states that he would not jeopardize the early opening up of the reservation by including such a comparatively unimportant clause. He suggested, however, that the secretary of the interior should be given authority to permit the erection of saw mills on the reservation at points to be designated by him, thus enabling any owners of timber who wished, to manufacture the lumber upon the reservation.

With the combined efforts of the Minnesota delegation in the matter, it seems reasonably certain that the present unsatisfactory condition of the reservation will be brought to an end during the next session of congress and a large and valuable tract of farming land will shortly be added to the territory tributary to Duluth.

In Paris they have institutions to make people beautiful, and now some unkind person talks of getting up a subscription to send Congressman Eddy on a trip to Paris.—St. Peter Journal.

Halvor Steenerson and A. D. Stephens, both of whom want to go to congress, have agreed to pay for the paving of a street in Crookston. Are both gentlemen, in this manner, seeking to pave their way to that coveted congressional nomination? — Duluth News-Tribune.

Former Editor Moffett, who spent most of his time a couple of years ago fishing for type and presses in the river and dodging bullets over at Bismorck, where the blind piggers objected to the way in which he exposed them, is now a cavalry lieutenant and after a career of unusual strenuousness in the Philippines is stationed at Fort Assiniboine.

New Yorkers must be easy marks. They are raising a great howl because out of 200 students of medical colleges of that city who are eligible for examination to practice, one-half the number has been barred because they are under 21 years of age. People out west would welcome such a law. They want a few more years on the experience side of those who are allowed to dig out their appendixes and hunt through their inwards for the scolex of a Taenia Sollum.

In the last issue of the Cass Lake Times Judge Ives declares that he is tired of the everlasting editorial grind and proposes to take a rest. He isn't satisfied to rehash the productions of others, and his stock of original ideas is exhausted. He positively refuses to use boiler plate editorials and he is going out under the pines. He down on the ground in some quiet nook near a glassy lake and think a few rounds. There are others like the judge, and they'd like to get away and join him in his outing. Listen to his prospectus: "Have you ever lain down by the side of a purling brook, under the shade of a broad limbed willow, the tips of whose symmetrical limbs dance gaily in the bright swift running brook, and watched the birds and the bumble bees and the hornets, as they came down to get the soft sticky mud for cement for their nests, and watched the secluded humming bird as he sips the sweets from the flowers for his evening repast? Did you appreciate the freedom and the wild life of the bird and the bee, and wish that the duration of your earthly existence might be as free and joyous as his? And did you ever wish that you might follow the winged beauty to his southern winter home and lie down upon the shore of the brook which he inhabits while the rigors of grim winter are upon us in the frozen north? If you can answer all these questions in the affirmative, you may forgive us for our desire to commune with nature and loitre away the sweet summer hours while they are with us."

Notwithstanding the vast amounts of land which Uncle Sam has recently been giving away in Oklahoma there is still enough left to make several million more farms big enough for comfortable homes. Nebraska has over 7 million acres; Minnesota has 5 millions lying near Duluth, with plenty of timber, water powers, and rich minerals, and farther west there is lots more, the whole amount not yet taken up being estimated at 100 million acres.

The state tax commission will submit its report in January. The committee has been making an exhaustive study of the subject of taxation, and ought to be able to recommend a system that will place all forms of property, including valuable franchises on the tax rolls, and one that will discourage rather than foster perjury.

There is some talk of putting in machinery for the manufacture of shoes, clothing and other articles in the insane hospitals of the state. The Rochester hospital has a soap plant and it is thought that other articles could also be manufactured.

St. Cloud Times: For the first time in its history Minnesota will this year head the list as the largest potato producing state in the Union. Heretofore it has stood no better than fifth, being outstripped by New York, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa. The bulk of the Minnesota crop is raised along the Eastern Minnesota and the St. Paul & Duluth division of the Northern Pacific and reports received from farmers, who make a specialty of raising potatoes in these districts say that the crop this year will easily surpass that of any other year both in quality and quantity. The early crop already in the market is bringing immense returns to the farmers. The demand, especially from the southern states, has doubled and the farmers of Iowa, Missouri and Kansas, who in previous years not only raised enough for their own use but also supplied the outside markets, are compelled to buy from foreign markets or go without.

A BROKEN NECK

Resulted from a Thresher Accident Near Fisher

The first threshing machine accident of the season happened Monday afternoon near Fisher. Peter J. Lerum, who owns a farm southwest of Fisher, had begun threshing and was standing in a wagon box at the side of the separator when the "sacker" swung around and struck him in the head, throwing him from the wagon. Mr. Lerum fell from the high box in such a manner as to strike on his head and break his neck, death resulting almost instantly. Deceased was about 55 years of age and an old resident of the county.

Notes From Exchanges.

St. Hilaire Spectator: A blinding flash of lightning and a sharp burst of thunder woke up several of our people here about 2:30 this morning. The lightning struck the barn of A. G. Abrahamson, of the American house, and killed a fine horse. The damage done to the building was slight. The loft was filled with hay and it is a wonder that the building was not destroyed by fire. Mr. Abrahamson was unfortunate in not having any insurance on the property.

Wadena Tribune: For years the complaint has been made that the elevators in Wadena have paid from one to three cents less per bushel for wheat than was paid in the surrounding towns, and that much trade was lost to our merchants on that account. Several citizens, who claim to have investigated the matter during the past few days say that the small towns around us are paying more for wheat this fall than are our elevators. They are therefore advocating a return to the plan adopted here several years ago of placing independent buyers upon the street and thus forcing the elevators to pay the top notch price. Whether any action will be taken by the local business men remains to be seen.

Shocking Suggestions

It is noticed that quite a percentage of the farmers in some localities set their grain in shocks either long or round without capping.

So far as oats are concerned, there is of course less advantage in capping the shocks than with wheat, and in fact, unless very ripe and dry, it is better to set them in open shocks without caps, on account of the advantage in drying out. But when so set, the shocks should always range north and south, as no other direction will as fully provide for sunlight on all sides of the shock.

Wheat and barley should always be capped, and failure to do so will result in a sacrifice in quality and loss in quantity almost invariably. It would seem as though this fact should have been learned by every farmer by this time, but does not seem to be fully remembered from year to year at its fall value.

BETTER THAN EXPECTED

Threshing Returns According to Weather Bureau Reports

The Minnesota climate and crop service bulletin of the weather bureau for the past week contains the following summary:

A moderately warm week, with high temperatures in the northern portion the first of the week and on the 24th. Scattered light to heavy local showers occurred on the 20th and 21st, and more widely distributed moderate local showers on the 24th. The showers delayed harvesting in the extreme northern counties, and also stacking and threshing, but were beneficial to late potatoes and corn. A severe storm of rain, wind and hail occurred at Minneapolis on the evening of the 25th, and much damage was done by the wind and hail, especially in breaking glass.

Considerable progress was made in harvesting in Polk, Marshall and Kittson counties, and the greater portion has been completed in that section. Threshing has continued, except where hindered by rains. The yields seem to be above expectations in the northern portion. In the northern portion of the middle section the corn and potato crops have improved in many localities, and in other sections they are generally light, except in a few localities. Corn is being cut for fodder in the southern half of the state, and in many localities the pastures are almost dried up, though the rains of the 24th should improve all growing crops and pastures in the favored localities.

Plowing has been in progress during the week except where it has been too dry in some portions of the southern and middle sections, and where too wet in a few localities in the northern section. In the central portion a large crop of hay has been secured, but the second crops of hay do not promise well. The cutting of flax has advanced into the northern section of the state, and threshing is in progress in the southern. The crop is generally poor.

Three Cornered Debate

As a result of a recent debate in Fergus Falls, J. Adam Bede has challenged O. W. Stewart to a series of 24 triangular debates during the coming winter, Mr. Bede to represent the republicans, Mr. Stewart the prohibitionists, and some really able democrat—probably S. M. Owen—the democrats. Mr. Stewart has accepted the challenge, and the debates will occur under the management of B. B. Haugen. It is proposed to hold about 18 of the series in the cities of the northern part of the state, and the balance in Duluth and at other points in the Sixth district.

Henry Nolan returned on Saturday from Fisher, where he has spent the past week repairing the bridge that spans the Red Lake river at that point. It is now in good condition and perfectly safe to cross. That's the way Mr. Nolan does all his work.

Fruit raising is the chief industry, and those who have gone there from Minnesota are getting well started in the business. He brought home samples of various sorts, that hang so plentifully from the trees as to break down the branches. One of the twigs brought home by him bore forty pears.

The Journal's informant concerning the fire which was alleged to have destroyed the Kelso saw mill plant at Turtle River made a mistake in locating the blaze. It was the mill belonging to Wm. Fellows of Tenstrike, the station beyond Turtle River. The blaze destroyed Mr. Fellows' residence in addition to the mill, his loss being estimated at $10,000.

Dr. Langevin, who has spent a month on a trip to the Yakima valley, Wash., returned Thursday. He is greatly pleased with the country in which so many Polk county people have settled, and it is not impossible that he may decide that that is the only place in which to spend his declining years, although he has not announced his intention of removing there as yet.

Contrary to the common belief, boils are not indicative of blood disease. They are really indications of local poisoning by pus bearing germs, and the boil is an abscess. Every pus prick, every scratch, every abrasion, every cut with a razor or pocket knife, every splinter that enters the skin may cause a boil. Nor need the wound be a serious one. It may be so minute as to be invisible to the unaided eye.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Miller, accompanied by their son and daughter, Lucius and Annie, will leave tonight for the east. Together they will visit the Pan-American exposition and after that is done to their satisfaction they will visit other points, their son and daughter proceeding to Oberlin where they will take up their work in college. Mr. Miller will return in a month, Mrs. Miller tarrying a couple of weeks longer for a visit with Wisconsin friends.

A change is imminent in the office of express agent of the Great Northern at this point. Herb. Newland, who has long and acceptably filled the position, will remove his family to Duluth, and take a run from that city to Grand Forks. Mr. F. C. Callender will arrive about the first of September and assume the duties of the the local work. He is a long-time employe of the company and will doubtless satisfy the people, who will regret, however to have Mr. Newland leave Crookston.

Two men at Langdon, Minn., have secured and shipped twenty tons of clam shells, gathered in the river there to a pearl button factory at Muscatine, Iowa. The price received was $20 per ton. They expect to leave the latter part of the week to work on their newly located clam bed, in the Minnesota river near Shakopee. The new bed there is of immense size, being several miles in length and is reported very deep. The shells are of the most valuable kind, used in the manufacture of pearl buttons and knife handles.

Word was received at Ada Tuesday that Halstad was the scene of a fight Sunday which resulted seriously to Edward Hawkins, one of the participants. The trouble arose over a game of cards between a negro and several others who were indulging in some of fortune's fickle ways. Hawkins, it is said, was standing behind the colored gentleman and made some remark which did not suit the man from the south, who drew a razor and cut Hawkins up in a very serious manner. The negro was arrested and placed in the village lock-up.

Paul Brunelle has purchased the house and lot recently advertised in the Journal and paid A. R. Holston a premium on getting ahead of him and securing o. the original owner. Paul will hereafter read the Journal as carefully as does his neighbor.

CHANGE OF FIRM

E. Barrett & Son Succeed to the Owens Harness Business

The familiar faces of Ed. Barrett and his son Joseph again greet those who visit the harness shop which has been owned by C. G. Owens for the past year. The transfer took place this morning and the new firm is again in full possession of the old business. The firm name will be Barrett & Son, and their former record in the business is a guarantee that their patrons will be well cared for.

Mr. Owens has been traveling for the past year and he felt he could not take care of two businesses to his satisfaction, hence the change. He will continue, however, to make Crookston his home.

Messrs. Barrett and son are installed at the old stand and will, as heretofore, keep the stock and quality of the output up to the standard they set in the old days, and which has been maintained by Mr. Owens.

Home Grown Apples

Frank Montague was showing to his friends who called at the land office today, a Northern Spy apple grown in his yard in this city, and which stands as proof that it is possible to grow apples here. The specimen measured nine inches in circumference and was the last of those that grew this year; the others having been shaken from the trees during a heavy storm earlier in the season. Mr. Montague has four of the trees, and another year expects to have apples to exhibit at the state fair, and a few for the land office force and the newspaper fraternity.

Adding to His Stock

Tom Morris has received two elegant show cases that will be added to the number now containing his stock, and they will be filled with new goods that he has purchased for the fall trade. There are few jewelers' establishments in the northwest that are more complete in furnishings and appointment, and when the additions contemplated are made, it will lead them all.

Sold His Practice

Dr. Irwin, the veterinarian who has been located in Crookston during the past three months, has sold his practice to Dr. J. Rennie of Argyle, and will give possession in ten days. Dr. Rennie is a graduate of Toronto university and has a reputation that will command a constantly increasing business. Dr. Irwin has in mind a change that will give him work in a new line of veterinary practice.

Aged Resident Dies

Robert Hunter, one of the old settlers in the Red River valley, died on Wednesday afternoon at his home in the town of Esther. Deceased had been suffering from cancer for a long time and his death was not unexpected. He leaves a wife and two sons to mourn his death. It is thought that the remains will be taken to his old home in New York for burial.

DELIGHTFUL DRIVE

In Eastern Polk County--Region Unexcelled for Fertility

A delightful drive is that from Erskine to McIntosh, taking the route four miles south from the former, thence directly east through the town of Knute. The country is gently undulating and dotted here and there with small lakes, which, lying among the natural groves or as in some cases, surrounded by fertile fields, give a delightful picturesque effect. Emerging from the woods three miles south of Erskine, and turning to the left a short distance, one suddenly comes in view of a nice, large, new house, 28 x 48 feet at its extremes, two stories in height, a short distance in the rear of which is the frame of a large barn, 50 x 60 feet in process of construction. The buildings are all well protected on three sides, and stretching out southward from them are undulating fields, the fertility of which might possibly be questioned by a casual observer, were it not for the large shocks of wheat which stand in such neighborly proximity to each other all over the ground.

Inquiry at the premises will disclose the fact that ex-sheriff Thos. Lawrence and his son George, are the proprietors, and it is more than likely that the ex-sheriff himself will be found hard at work, using his muscle as well as his money in bringing the premises from a condition of native wildness, into one of comfort, convenience and beauty.

The work of subjugating this spot for a home has only recently been commenced, and the work already accomplished bears ample testimony to the energy and industry of the two proprietors.

Mr. Lawrence is enthusiastic over the location and his plans for the details of arrangement of the buildings. He also has some very fine stock of which he is justly proud.

But continuing the drive toward McIntosh, still heavier crops of wheat are noticed.

Martin Beason has a beautiful farm with comfort suggesting buildings, delightfully sheltered among the trees, as has also Lillman on the other side of the road. And in fact, several other places along the road attract the eye of the passer-by, so nearly alike in their features of beauty as to leave him in doubt as to which one is entitled to the superlative adjective. The huge shocks of golden grain standing so thickly all over the fields attest the high fertility of this part of the Red River valley. There is probably no part of the valley which furnishes better facilities for stockraising and dairying than does this region. And if within the next five years, the farmers here do not largely increase their dairy herds and see to it that well equipped creameries are established at convenient points, they will prove to be possessed of less good, hard, agricultural common sense than the writer credits them with.

FARM LAND WANTED.

I can furnish a few desirable purchasers for land at rock bottom prices. Parties having "snaps" should call on or write Attorney R. M. Hayes, Crookston, Minn. Office over Merchants National Bank.

Story of Good Crops

O. H. Johnson and the brothers Torkelson, John and Halvor, were in from Grove Park today as witnesses in a case and called to make the Journal a valued visit. The story that the threshing machine tells out in that part of the county is cheering, and there is a tone of pride in the way these gentlemen tell about the 20 to 25 bushel yield of wheat, with a no limit margin on the oats and barley yield.

Flour Factory Burns

Jamestown, N. D., Aug. 28.—The Russell Miller mill was struck by the lightning yesterday morning and the mill and 70,000 bushel elevator were burned and are a total loss. The mill had been undergoing extensive repairs and was about ready to start for a long run. The insurance was $24,000 on the building. There was little grain in store. The mill will be rebuilt at once.

Bankrupt's Petition for Discharge

In the District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota, Sixth Division.

In the matter of Alvin Newland, Bankrupt. —In Bankruptcy.

To the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota, Sixth Division.

Alvin Newland of Crookston in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 13th day of June, A. D. 1901, last past, he was duly adjudicated bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore, he prays that he may be decreed by the Court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

ALVIN NEWLAND,
Bankrupt.

Dated this 24th day of July, A. D. 1901.

United States District Court, District of Minnesota, Sixth Division, ss.

On this 16th day of August, A. D. 1901, on reading the foregoing petition, it is Ordered by the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 24th day of Sept., A. D. 1901, before said Court, at Fergus Falls, in said District, at two o'clock in the afternoon: and that notice thereof be published in the Polk County Journal, a newspaper printed in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the Court, that the clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the said Court, and the seal thereof, at Fergus Falls, in said District, on the 24th day of August, A. D. 1901.

CHARLES L. SPENCER,
Clerk.

CASH CORN PRIZES

Instructions to Competitors About Samples to be Entered in Contest.

STATEMENT OF POINTS

By Which the Judges Will be Governed in Making Their Awards.

In the issue of the Polk County Journal of March 21st last, we made an offer of cash prizes for the best twelve stalks of corn raised during the current year in Polk and adjoining counties as follows:

"For the best twelve stalks of some variety of dent corn, each stalk to contain not less than one good, well developed ear of corn, fifteen dollars; for the second best, ten dollars; third best, five dollars; fourth best, three dollars; fifth best, two dollars, and one dollar for each of the next five in merit.

The conditions and manner of judging specimens will be announced later. We will mention here that the plat from which the stalks are selected must not be less than one acre in area.

We also explained that the conditions and manner of judging specimens would be announced later.

In some respects the season has not thus far been as favorable as might be wished, as so much moisture has prevailed it has in many cases interfered with thorough tillage of the crop. But notwithstanding this fact, a great many fields of excellent corn are in evidence in various portions of the valley.

And as the time for the distribution of the promised prizes approaches, the following instructions are issued for the guidance of competitors.

First: The twelve stalks entered in competition to be composed of three groups of four stalks each, as follows: viz: one group of four stalks, all of which grew in the same hill, one group of four stalks, each one of which formed a separate hill, and the third group of four stalks to be pulled or dug out, and the dirt carefully washed from the roots, so that the root system can be studied.

Each competitor will also bring 12 ears of corn typical of the corn in the field.

Each competitor will also give information upon the following points as nearly as he is able, upon blanks which will be furnished for the purpose at this office, on application therefor:

Character of soil, subsoil, drainage, protection by trees, state of fertility, when manured, ground when plowed and what depth, number of times harrowed before planting, previous crop, kind of seed, where seed was grown, date planted, number of times cultivated, size of field and when corn matured.

The judges will observe the following points in making the awards:

1—Stalk.
(a) General appearance	5
(b) Height	5
(c) Leafiness	5
(d) Height of ears	5
(e) Free from disease	5
	25
2—Ears.
(a) Weight of shelled grain per plant	40
(b) Maturity	20
(c) Form of ear	5
(d) Quality of grain	5
(e) General appearance	5
	75
Total	100

The date of the award will be fixed and announced as soon as definite arrangements can be made with competent judges.

It is expected to have it early in October, but it cannot be more definitely stated at this time. We expect a liberal number of exhibits and hope the information obtained upon the points named, in connection with the results secured will be of value to readers of the Journal.

THE EAST GETS A TOUCH

New York, Jersey City and Philadelphia Wind Swept

New York, Aug. 26.—A most violent and protracted rain storm accompanied by wind which at times in some sections approached the proportions of a hurricane, swept over New York city, West Chester county and the northern portion of New Jersey. The most damage so far reported was at Jersey City, where buildings were wrecked, including a church and a theatre. Rain had been falling intermittently all the morning and about 1 p. m. the low hanging clouds began to discharge torents of water, and this was kept up until after 5 o'clock.

Three blocks south of St. Mary's church and nearly on a line with it on Newark avenue is the Bijou theatre. "The Man Who Dared" company were rehearsing for an opening of the theatre for the season. Two lions that are used in the play were in cages on the stage, when a sudden rush of wind made the building tremble. Warning cries caused the performers to leave the stage not a second too soon. Bricks came down from the high walls, ruining the stage and bending the lions' cage. The lions roared in terror.

As the performers rushed out a shout was raised in the street that the lions were loose and the crowds which had sought shelter in the corridor fled panic stricken. The lions did not escape, but their cages were hit and the beasts were cut by the bricks, but the bars held them.

MURDER AT HIBBING

Bartender Perforated for Suggesting that a Man Pay for Drinks

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 26.—Wm. Carson was shot and killed in Hardman & Co.'s saloon by James King, alias Jim Dau.

Carson was tending bar, when King entered and called for a drink, which was handed him. King did not pay for it, and Carson quietly told him not to call for any more unless he could settle. Thereupon King pulled a 38-calibre revolver and, without word, shot Carson, the ball penetrating the head. Carson turned and, with the remark, "Bill, I'm shot!" fell dead on the floor back of the bar.

There was no wrangling or loud talking before the shooting and, although the place was crowded, few knew for several minutes what had happened.

Immediately after the tragedy King started for the rear door of the saloon, with the smoking revolver yet in his hand. As he neared the door he was overtaken by Wm. Nevell, another bartender, who struck him on the head with a cuspidor and knocked him senseless. King was immediately taken to the village jail. He was not noticeably intoxicated when he committed the horrible deed, and there was no provocation for the murder.

MURDER WAS DONE

Hoboes Held Up John and Paul McGrath on Cattle Train

Little Falls, Minn., Aug. 26.—A most cold blooded murder was perpetrated about 2 o'clock Saturday morning on a moving cattle train, bound for the west, about three and one half miles from this city.

Two brothers, John and Paul McGrath, were held up by hoboes and John was shot dead with a bullet in his left breast.

Paul McGrath, as soon as the trouble commenced, escaped to the top of the car, but they followed him up, took what money he had and then threw him back into the car, closed the doors and jumped off. The train crew were not aware of the murder until the train reached Lincoln. The body was brought to town and an inquest held.

The brother gave what description he could of the men and Sheriff Tanner is busy looking for them. Officers think they have a clue to one of them in a fellow that was at Myott's restaurant and acted very strangely when told about the affair, and immediately got up and left town. He answers the description of one of the men.

The murdered man was shot after he was robbed. The McGraths are from Rush City, Minn.

ROBERT G. EVANS DEAD

Stricken With Heart Disease in Minneapolis Yesterday

Minneapolis, Aug. 26.—Robert G. Evans, United States district attorney for Minnesota, died this morning from heart disease on the balcony of his home in Queen avenue, Kenwood.

Mr. Evans was 47 years old. He had been entertaining Senators Fairbanks, of Indiana; Quarles, of Wisconsin, and Clapp, of Minnesota, the past week and the party returned from a fishing excursion to Alexandria on Thursday.

He seemingly was in excellent health up to a few hours before his death.

Struck an Old Mine

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 22.—Considerable excitement prevails here over the discovery of an abandoned shaft of an ancient Spanish mine, a few miles from the city in the Franklin mountains. At a depth of 125 feet the shaft was found to be closed by a solid wall of masonry. It was found by J. C. Criss by means of ancient charts and descriptions, furnished him by an aged Indian who was once a resident of the border. He said that before abandoning the mine and walling it up, the Spanish priests stored all the costly gold and silver images from their churches. A local stock company was formed to explore the shaft for the hidden wealth.

Their Secret is Out.

All Sadieville, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whittaker, who had for a long time endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. "It's all due to Dr. King's New Discovery," writes her husband. "It completely cured her and also cured our little grand daughter of a severe attack of whooping cough." It positively cures Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, all Throat and Lung Troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at A. G. Anderson's drug store.

SEATTLE HANGING

Crime Was the Killing of a Man Nine Years Ago for the Sum of $3.85.

DOOMED MAN STRUGGLED

And Was Strapped to a Board Before He Could be Placed on Gallows.

Seattle, Aug. 24.—Chas. W. Nordstrom was hanged here today for the murder of Wm. Mssou on Nov. 27, 1891.

Shortly after 9:30 Nordstrom was taken to the room adjoining the death chamber. He wept continually. It required the utmost efforts of four men to keep him on his feet. When he was taken into the death chamber he broke down entirely, crying in a childish voice, and praying that his life be spared. Then he collapsed entirely and fell to the floor.

Efforts to raise him and keep him on his feet were fruitless. Finally Sheriff Cudihee ordered that a board be brought. To this Nordstrom was tied. It required six men to hold him for the operation. Several times Nordstrom seemed to speak, but his words were unintelligible. The six men who had held him raised his body on the board and with great effort succeeded in getting him on the scaffold. There he was placed upright, while four men stood on the four sides of the trap and held him. I less than two seconds after the condemned man had been fastened the trap was sprung. This was at 9:40. Nordstrom was pronounced dead at 10:42.

A GREAT FARM PAPER

Northwestern Agriculturist Free to Journal Subscribers

We have made arrangements by which we are enabled to send the Northwestern Agriculturist absolutely free from this date until January 1, 1903 to every Journal subscriber (either old or new) who pays one year's subscription in advance to the Journal during the present month.

The Northwestern Agriculturist is a great farm paper having a circulation of nearly 60,000, and is issued twice a month.

The broad policy of its manager, P. V. Collins, has secured the most valuable corps of department editors ever allied with a farm paper in the West.

Prof. Thomas Shaw edits the sheep and cattle departments and also an invaluable department called "Shaw's Suggestions," in which all kinds of questions on farm management, asked freely by subscribers, are discussed by this practical as well as scientific farmer. Prof. Shaw is recognized throughout America as the leading authority on live stock, and he also is a leading general farmer.

Hon. A. K. Bush is editor of horticulture and gardening and writes regularly on farm topics. Mr. Bush is known as the state lecturer on horticulture at the Minnesota farmers, institutes.

Forest Henry tells about swine. He knows swine. Ten years ago he had $1,500 and with it bought a farm which required a $10,000 mortgage. Farmers ridiculed him for his rashness. He declared he would sell no crops. Neighbors thought he was foolish. He proposed to raise hogs and feed his crops to them. Ten years later: Henry paid off his mortgage—with hogs—and bought two neighbor's farms—with hogs—and became the hog editor of the Northwestern Agriculturist. If there is any one else in America that has any more hog sense than Forest Henry, The Northwestern Agriculturist may want his help, but some farmers can learn how to pay mortgages or buy extra farms with hogs now by reading the Northwestern Agriculturist.

Sam Haugdahl, the only man who won a gold metal on butter at the Paris exposition is the editor of the Creamery Department of the Northwestern Agriculturist. "Nuff ced."

A. X. Hyatt, over three score years old, and with a life time experience with cows edits the dairy department.

Other departments are strong and interesting.

The secretary of agriculture, Hon. James Wilson, and [illegible] Commissioner W. W. P. McConnell contribute special articles frequently during the year.

Sample copies will be sent to any one making application, or may be obtained by calling at the Journal office.

STRANGELY INSANE.

Refused to Speak a Word and Died With His Lips Unsealed

Some time the latter part of June a man was arrested by the police of Grand Forks on account of his crazy actions. When first noticed he was wandering about the back alleys, and on the afternoon of his arrest had been followed for several hours, and was caught eating pieces of bread and meat from the swill barrels at the rear of kitchens. He was arrested and taken to the county jail and after a few days was examined by the county board of insanity and committed to the asylum at Jamestown. The case was one of the most remarkable that has ever come to the attention of the insanity board or any of the physicians of Grand Forks or of the asylum at Jamestown, from the fact that from the time of his arrest until the day he died in the asylum, August 15, he never spoke a word. Apparently he understood what was said to him, but seemed utterly indifferent to everything. He refused to eat anything, aside from bread and water and appeared to spend much of his time in silent prayer, moving his lips but uttering no sound. When he was arrested he was in an awful condition being nothing but skin and bones, and improved but little in this respect till the time of his death.

His identity is a mystery. There was nothing found on his person that would give the least clue to who he was or where he came from and when asked regarding this matter he would simply smile, and at times a far-away expression would be noted in his eyes, as though he was thinking of some distant land. He was not violent at any time, and was obedient, doing whatever he was told to do without protest. He dressed himself without aid and kept his person clean at all times. Judge Hassell has received notice from Dr. Moore of the Jamestown hospital that the unfortunate man was taken sick on the 12th inst. and died on the 15th and was buried the day following. While he was at the asylum every known means was resorted to to get the man to utter a sound, but all was in vain and he died and was buried unknown to anyone, and all hopes of establishing his identity have been abandoned. He was apparently a Scandinavian, smooth faced, light complected and about thirty-five years of age.

Weekly Crop Bulletin

A moderately warm week. On the 12th and 13th there were scattered and light showers in the western part of the state, and locally heavy showers in parts of the extreme southeast. Where the showers were heaviest, the corn, potatoes, gardens and pastures were revived somewhat and the ground was softened for plowing, but in most of the state there was practically no benefit from the moisture of the week. A severe storm of wind, rain and hail passed across the southern part of Polk county on the 12th, with some damage to the standing grain.

Harvesting has made rapid progress during the dry weather in the Red River valley, so that all grain, except late oats and flax, are cut as far north as northern Norman county. In Kittson county a few have not yet begun to harvest. Late wheat is not filling well and late oats are in danger of rust. Threshing from the shock is going on in the central portions, and preparations are being made in the south for threshing from the stack. The cutting of flax has advanced to north of the central part of the state, and threshing is going on in the the south. The crop is poor in the north, and in the south that sown late and on new land is also poor. Corn is irregular and generally very poor because of the drouth, which has interfered with the formation of ears, and their filling where they were formed. Many fields look to be nearly ripe, and cutting is begun in the south. Potatoes, except in a few scattered places, are poor. Pastures are drying up, so that cows have to be fed in order to keep up the flow of milk. Gardens are seriously injured, and vegetables of all kinds are scarce, poor and very high priced.

Plowing is being done in much of the south, but the soil is so dry that the work is difficult and unsatisfactory. In central portions a large wild hay crop is being secured.

How many mothers realize that when the baby's advent is expected they need strength for two instead of one. Women, weak, nervous, "just able to drag around," find themselves confronted with coming maternity. They have not strength enough for themselves, how can they have strength to give a child. We don't look for the birth of strong ideas from a weak mind. Why should we expect the birth of strong children from weak mothers?

The way to ensure health and strength to mother and child is to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a preparative for motherhood. It brings the mother's strength up to the requirements of nature, so that she has strength to give her child. It nourishes the nerves and so quiets them. It encourages a natural appetite and induces refreshing sleep. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

"I wish to let you know the great benefit my wife derived through taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mr. Robert Harden, of Brandon, Manitoba, Box 235. "It was when her baby came. We had heard so much of your medicine that my wife decided to try it (I may say my wife's age was thirty-three and this was her first child). She commenced to take 'Favorite Prescription' five months before her child was born. We have a fine healthy girl, and we believe that this was mainly owing to the 'Favorite Prescription,' taken faithfully according to directions. We shall certainly recommend it wherever we can."

Bankrupt's Petition for Discharge

In the District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota, Sixth Division.

In the matter of Alvin Newland, Bankrupt. —In Bankruptcy.

To the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota, Sixth Division.

Alvin Newland of Crookston in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 13th day of June, A. D. 1901, last past, he was duly adjudicated bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore, he prays that he may be decreed by the Court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

ALVIN NEWLAND,
Bankrupt.

Dated this 24th day of July, A. D. 1901.

United States District Court, District of Minnesota, Sixth Division, ss.

On this 10th day of August, A. D. 1901, on reading the foregoing petition, it is Ordered by the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 24th day of September, before said Court, at Fergus Falls, in said District, at two o'clock in the afternoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Polk County Journal, a newspaper printed in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the Court, that the clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the said Court, and the seal thereof, at Fergus Falls, in said District, on the 24th day of August, A. D. 1901.

MOOSE IN DANGER

Of Utter Extermination Notwithstanding the Law for Their Protection.

HOW IT IS BEING DONE

Amendment of Law to Permit Their Being Bred Very Much Needed.

It is claimed by those who are most familiar with the situation that the rigid enforcement of the game law with reference to the preservation of moose is rapidly operating toward the utter extinction of this race of noble animals.

It is claimed with what seems to us a show of good common sense, that if the law were so amended as to permit the taming and breeding of these animals, the privilege would be frequently used and become a source of profit to many of the settlers in the vicinity of the districts where the moose abound. If taken at an early age they are easily tamed and become very quiet and docile as domestic animals. But under the rigid and indiscriminate enforcement of the law, no matter by what means a person becomes possessed of one of them, its possession, or even the toleration of its presence on his premises undisturbed, causes him to be regarded as a criminal and subject to prosecution as such.

Several illustrations of this are related. A man named Crawford, who lives 24 miles northeast of Thief River Falls, had two young calves a few weeks old in his possession which had been brought to him by a couple of young men who had killed their dam, with the request that he feed them. This he consented to, but wrote the following day to the game warden notifying him of the affair. The little fellows took very kindly to their domestic surroundings and were very tame and gentle, going and coming as they pleased.

Some time later the deputy warden came and confiscated them, which, of course, was what the law expected of him. But it would seem as though it would have operated more effectually toward the end which the law was enacted to serve, to have allowed Mr. Crawford to keep the calves and rear them.

Again, another case is related by Mr. Sam Cheely, a taxidermist of Thief River Falls. On the 16th of June, in the evening, an Indian came to him and wanted he should go with him to see something he had just outside the village. He acceded to the request, and going with the Indian, was shown a young moose calf, which gave but little indications of life at the time, appearing to be completely overcome by being brought a long distance.

But thinking that in the event of its death it would be a valuable specimen for mounting, he finally purchased it of the Indian, giving him $6 for it. He then took it home and fed it with a spoon as best he could, and fixed it up comfortably for the night. On visiting it the next morning, to his great surprise it had entirely recovered the use of its legs, and was in excellent condition. He then wrote at once to Warden Fullerton, reporting the matter in full, but received no reply to his letter.

Not very long afterwards Deputy Warden P. O. Stephens of Detroit arrived, and having fully investigated the case, instructed Mr. Cheely to keep the calf and take care of him well, and assured him he would be allowed to keep it, or if not, he should certainly be fully compensated. These instructions he complied with, and the calf thrived finely.

It developed an enormous appetite for milk, and Mr. Cheely invested in the dairy product liberally until the investment in this one article of moose diet amounted to $12, besides the potatoes and other vegetables it made way with.

About his time, which was some four weeks after Mr. Cheely bought the calf, Deputy Stephens called on him and informed him that he was instructed to take the calf to St. Paul, but again assured Mr. Cheely that he should be reimbursed for all the expense he had incurred.

Vouchers for the payment were accordingly made out and signed by Mr. Cheely, who was later on informed that the auditing board emphatically refused to make any allowance on the claim, and that he ought to consider himself fortunate in escaping prosecution.

If the law was really effective in preventing the older ones being killed, it would be very consistent with its declared purpose to insist on leaving the young ones in a condition of natural freedom. But it seems very apparent that notwithstanding the strict vigilance which is being exercised on the part of the state, the violations of the law by shooting moose are sufficiently numerous to be surely and rapidly exterminating them, and even under the most zealous guardianship, their extinction will be accomplished in the not far distant future. And if, as is claimed by those who appear to be competent authority, the young animals can be very profitably reared and bred, it would seem as if the law should be so changed as to allow parties to engage in this industry.

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE

Thousands of Harvest Hands Apply to Authorities for Aid

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—This city is at present in a state of turmoil scarcely conceivable, due to the presence in the city of several thousand angry harvesters who claim that they were brought here from every part of eastern Canada under the promise of big wages and employment for several months.

The harvesters are holding three or four "demonstrations" a day, and while hundreds of them have been fed by the provincial government, there are scores wandering through the city who claim that they have not tasted food for two days, and have not had a bed to sleep in since they left their eastern homes.

The dissatisfied harvesters include about six hundred who came here from Minnesota and Dakota.

The situation has caused no end of worry to the provincial government, which advertised for 20,000 harvesters, and to the Canadian Pacific railway officials, as the demonstrations which took a very mild form last Saturday, are daily becoming of a character that causes no little alarm. Last Saturday the harvesters held three meetings, and made the threat that if they were not taken back to their homes in eastern Canada they would seize the Canadian Pacific railway cars and compel the company to carry them back east.

The harvesters claim that they were brought here by the provincial government and the Canadian Pacific railway under the promise of receiving from $50 to $60 a month and board for at least three months. When they reached Winnipeg, and visited the largest farming district along the line of the Canadian Pacific railway, they were offered from $30 to $40 a month, and naturally refused to take these wages. Thousands returned to the city and as nearly all were out of money, they appealed to the city and government for assistance. The city could do nothing, but the government fearing a serious riot, fed hundreds of them at Immigration hall.

The unemployed harvesters are parading the streets of the city daily, and the work of distributing them to the various farming sections is proceeding slowly.

The scenes in Winnipeg are remarkable. Hundreds of men aimlessly wandering through the broad thoroughfares, hungry and disheartened. The platforms of the hotels near the stations are nightly filled with crowds of tired, hungry men, who have not money to get a bed, and the waiting room at the station is packed to suffocation by men, women and children, who have traveled over a thousand miles to start life anew in what they considered the promised land.

Hundreds of harvesters are coming in daily, and they are met upon their arrival with the hard luck stories of the advance guard. Then follows an inquiry into the conditions and a speedy application to the Canadian Pacific railway to be taken back home.

Manitoba Indians Starving

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 22.—Much interest has been created here by a dispatch to the government from Rev. B. F. Stevens, Methodist missionary, stating that the Indians of the Cree nation, 400 miles north of Winnipeg, on the border of the barren lands, are starving.

It was Mr. Stevens who last year made a similar statement concerning the Salteaux Indians, which formed the subject of parliamentary inquiry. Of the Crees only 1,400 remain, and Mr. Stevens says he saw the bodies of forty who had died from starvation.

The government agent is 200 miles north of Winnipeg, and he was instructed to look after the band. In addition, the officers of the Hudson Bay company, whose chief post in that country is Norway house, have instructions to relieve any distress among the Indians.

Hypnotism Proves Effective

Duluth, Aug. 22.—Burton H. Bellinger, the alleged thief and forger, who has been puzzling physicians and county officers for ten days by a case of real or feigned insanity, was brought out of his fit by hypnotism imposed by Dr. D. H. Day, a dentist. After Bellinger came out he professed that his mind was a perfect blank regarding the last ten days. Bellinger came back to Duluth after his arrest intending to plead guilty, expecting to get about two years or less. When he was informed that he would probably get ten years, he became insane, starting in with violent insanity and turning in a night to idiocy. Four doctors testified that he was shamming Saturday, and the court so held, remanding him for trial at the September term.

Scandinavians Agree

Stockholm, Aug. 23.—The wrath of patriotic Sweden has been aroused by the action of Director Arloff of the iron works in southern Sweden in employing Russian blacklegs to the exclusion of Swedish workers. Serious rioting occurred at the works, but was suppressed when the Russian minister, M. E. Debutzoff, made strong representations to the government.

The split between Sweden and Norway is beginning to disappear in the face of the common danger apprehended from the Muscovite. Since Russia's absorption of Finland and its suppression of that country's liberties, Sweden and Norway feel that the empire of the czar is drawing uncomfortably near the border. Russian spies have recently been appearing on every corner in Sweden and Norway, but their number has somewhat diminished since the enactment of the new army organization, abolishing the present militia and introducing conscription for periods of from eight to twelve months.

STOCK SHIPMENTS BRISK

Sup't. Brown of G. N. Stockyards Says 'Twill be a Good Season

M. R. Brown came in from Minot last night where he is busy attending to the demands on his time, made by the stock shippers. The movement of cattle is of a large volume and three train loads per day are being handled. The prospects for large shipments are unusually favorable. The quality of the stock cattle now being shipped to eastern markets is better than for years, and the range conditions are favorable to both stockers and feeders. The grass is the best for years and has cured in a manner that will furnish the best of feed during the winter. What stockmen now fear is the possibility of prairie fires destroying it. An occasional rain, however, will prevent this and furnish the best feed the ranges have ever borne.

He reports business good at the Larimore stock yards also, and has a considerable force of men there as well as at Minot. At both places he maintains boarding establishments for the accommodation of the men, and where he can also supply the wants of the crews who come east with the train loads of stock.

TEDDY'S CHILDREN

Are Under a Surgeon's Knife in a New York Hospital

New York, Aug. 24.—Vice President Roosevelt's youngest child, Quintin, 4 years of age, is now in Roosevelt hospital as well as his sister Alice. The boy was operated upon Thursday by Dr. George E. Brewer, one of the visiting surgeons in the hospital. It is expected that he will be well in a reasonable length of time. The vice president spent all afternoon by the beds of his children. Alice Roosevelt, the vice president's eldest child, was operated upon a week ago Thursday. She had an abscess of the jaw and the operation she underwent was very successful. It is expected she will leave the hospital tomorrow.

Col. Roosevelt and his wife secured private apartments in the hospital for themselves, so they could watch the progress of their daughter, and they will continue to keep the rooms while their boy is ill. His unexpected serious illness has somewhat upset the plans of the vice president, but it is believed not seriously.

A Million for a Lumber Jack

While legacies are the latest things being distributed throughout the country, Deer River shows up a long lost heir in the person of William G. Richardson, who for the past year has been employed in the cedar camp at Ball Club Lake. He has been a resident of this section for a number of years and claims to have been the first settler at Cass Lake. A sister of Richardson's, residing in St. Louis, sent him a clipping from an English newspaper the first of this week signed by solicitors of Otley, Eng., seeking his whereabouts. Mr. Richardson received a letter today from the solicitors stating that an uncle, only brother of his father's, was dead, leaving his fortune to Richardson and his only sister. Mr. Richardson does not say much about the amount of the legacy, but he gave the News to understand it would reach over a million.—Deer River News.

Fast Horse at Sauk Centre

Sauk Centre, Aug. 23.—Horsemen throughout this section of the state are astonished at the record made yesterday afternoon by a pacing mare owned by former Senator Henry Keller. The animal is seven years old and has never been on the track, and has had no training. To settle a $200 wager the horse paced a half mile on a country road, quite sandy, up hill and drawing a buggy, in 1:09.

W. M. Henderson, the well known horseman, who has a fine string of racing horses himself, says the Keller mare was handicapped at least ten seconds in the half mile go by lack of training, the poor track, etc. He has no doubt but that the mare can beat the world's record. Fully two hundred people witnessed the race, and many hundreds of dollars exchanged hands. The original bet was that the mare could not go in 1:20. Heretofore she has been used only as a family horse.

A GOOD THING.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German Physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in Medicine. It quickly cures Coughs, Colds and all Lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cents. Get Green's Prize Almanac. F. H. Hillard & Son.

VOL. XXVI CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1901 No. 22

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE HEAD HUNTERS

Sergeant Berg Writes of the Tribes that Infest the Mountains of Southern Ilocos.

THEY WILL NOT CIVILIZE

The Polk County Soldier Says They Have Small Mental or Moral Capacity.

The trail that zigzags over the high range of mountains past small towns, barrios and rencherles leads from Canden, the principal port in the southern part of Ilocos Sur, to the Bontoc country, where at present there is a mineral stampede, as gold and other mineral has been found in paying quantities and qualities in the ruged fastnessess of the country above the clouds in the northern part on Luzon.

Nestled in the valley at the foot of the first range is the little town of Concepcion, which consists of a church made of bamboo thatch, which, during the war, was used as a kitchen for the troops stationed there. The altar was the commissary storehouse and everything, from ham to Govt. soap was stacked thereon. There is also a small building that was used for a school house in the days of the Friars, who, in days gone by, were the whole thing doctor, lawyer, beggarman, and in some cases thief. The inhabitants of the mountain town are what is called Tinganies, a tribe or class of people who are very numerous in the Luzon mountains. They have no religion. wear some clothes, and a great many heads and fancy head dreses, and are industrious considering the fact that they are half civilized, although more intelligent looking than the Philippinos.

The trail crosses the battle field where Gen. Gregarlo Pilar, who, after holding his ground until the 33rd Vol. Infantry climbed a mountain and outflanked him, was killed just as he was giving his order for retreat. There are several desolate looking graves of the men of the 33rd, and their names are scrawled on the nearest rock in a manner that showed time was precious. As the Tela pass is crossed, a fine sight of the China sea, thirty miles away can be had, and the outlying reefs and towns dot the coast with their white churches and monasteries., and a network of trails leading from each one gives a good reason why the insurrectionists could get away so easily after an ambuscade of "los Americanos."

Looking inland toward the Abra river, with its cascades reaching away to the pine covered mountains that rise to meet the clouds on the other side of the Abra valley, is seen the country of the Igorrote the headhunters of the Althados. The pine lands of these mountains are as good as those of Northern Minnesota. Great trees seem to pierce the tropical blue sky, rocky canons full of tropical vines, chattering monkeys, birds that sing, whistle and talk in as many different keys as their plumage is variegated, for this is the land of two years in one, where the language of the inhabitants consists of a few words over three hundred and they believe in a seven headed crystal snake that haunts the mountains; believe that when a man dies he is like the water in the river that flows onward toward the sea, never seen more; that if your neighbor offends you, call your tribe together and get his head, and if he was very bad and a trifle fat, eat him; if his tribe comes over to do battle a local war is on, which can only be stopped by a juicy dog feast and a good supply of "bossy" (their native drink, made of tree sap), or the appearance of the American troops for which they have great regard, as they think that people who could whip the Spaniards, their natural enemies for the past two or three hundred years and then put the Philippinos out of business, should be respected. If one of the tribe commits murder, that is killing without a fair fight, a cross is tattooed on a conspicuous part of his face. Each tribe has its sign which is tattooed on the left arm. If one tribe overcomes another, the victors place the loser's sign under that of theirs and the fallen tribe loses its caste. Among them, to steal or tell an untruth is considered a fine joke and they will laugh immoderately when caught. Their dress is quite simple, a girdle of woven bark a small basket which is fastened to the back of the head to carry their tobacco and flint stone, some rough beads made out of moss agate or other found in the hills, some ear-rings made of wild boar tusks completing their clothing list. Their arms are the spear and the shield, also a war ax and a blow gun with poison arrows. How long, think you kind reader, will it take to make good American citizens of these small mountain denizens?

ROOSEVELT AT THE FAIR

Is the Center of Attraction for Thousands of Visitors

Minneapolis, Min., Sept. 3— Vice President Roosevelt arrived here at 8.25 A. M. over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway from Chicago to participate in the exercises of the opening day of the state fair on the invitation of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society. He was accompanied by General Manager James H. Hiland, of the Milwaukee road, in whose car the journey was made. The vice president was the guest during his stay in Minneapolis of Senators Nelson and Clapp and stayed at the home of National Committeeman T. H. Shevlin.

A committee consisting of Gov. Van Sant United States Senator Moses E. Clapp, W. R. Merriam, United States director of the census, and others accompanied the vice president to Minneapolis, when the party boarded the private electric car of President Lowry of the Minneapolis Street Railway Company, for a trip "around the loop," a view of the city and to the fair grounds at Hamline, where the vice president delivered an address.

He was unquestionably the drawing card at the state fair for the day.

As the speaker of the day he attracted nearly 9,000 people to the grand stand, for the seats were free for the occasion.

His speech was as interesting for the manner of delivery as for the matter of it, for he exhibited during its delivery all those odd tricks of gesture and face that have furnished material for the cartoonist.

The intensity of the ideas which he put forth was not more marked than the intensity with which he uttered them.

From the first sentence he began leaning forward over the railing of the caller's stand before the grand stand. As he did so he gesticulated with his uplifted right fore finger, not strictly in accordance with the rules of elocution as taught at schools, but with all in a forceful way.

STRIKE SITUATION

The Plants are Gaining Operatives Although the Output is Small

Pittsburg, Sept. 4.—Developments in the steel strike show decided gains for the manufacturers. The accession of 32 skilled men to the Star plant, increased production at the Painter and Lindsay and McCutcheon mills, defection from the strikers' ranks of 75 machinests and pipe cutters at the Continental Tube works and 50 at the Pennsylvania Tube works, the importation of 12 men to the Monessen Steel Hoop mill and the installation of three mills on the night turn at the Clark mill, all point to an early resumption all along the line as viewed by the steel officials.

The Amalgamated officials, however, make the claim that everything is progressing satisfactorily and say that much of the supposed advantage of the manufacturers is a bluff and cannot be made good. As an instance they cite the Lindsay and McCutcheon mills, where the company claims to have as many men at work as they can accommodate, and are turning out merchantable product. The Amalgamated people claim that James Hurley, vice president of the first district. visited the Lindsay and McCutcheon mills in the guise of a roller seeking work. He made an inspection of the mill and according to his report there are thirty men at work, six of whom are skilled. The strikers also claim that the Monesson plant product turned out last week amounted to 250,900 lbs., while before the strike the daily output was 100,000 pounds.

Now A Creamery Trust

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 4.—Announcement was made Friday that a trust is being formulated to consolidate all creameries in western Wisconsin, headed by La Crosse capital. S. Y. Hyde, this city, is said to be at the head of the deal, also L. S. Sander and W. W. Leet, West Salem, are interested in the deal. The combination will be capitalized in a large amount. It is propsed to erect a large plant in La Crosse to be supplied with cream by the surrounding country.

Cut Their Own Lumber

Houston, Minn., Aug. 4.—Owing to the high price of lumber a number of farmers in this vicinity have built saw mills upon their farms. The mills are now being operated and the native lumber is being sawed and used with great success. This is probably the only locality in the state where farmers own and operate their own saw mills in defiance of the prices of lumber.

THAT G. N. WRECK

One of the Most Serious Disasters in the History of Railroading.

DEATH LIST IS FORTY-ONE

Fire Adds to the Horrors and Cremates the Body of Nearly Every Victim.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 3.—All reports show that the wreck on the Great Northern, forty miles east of Talispell, Mont., was the worst in the road's history and one of the most terrible in the annals of American railroading.

> Thirty-four lives were lost and ten persons were injured. Three of the injured will surely die and the others were seriously hurt.
> By strenuous and heroic efforts fifteen of the bodies were taken from the wrecked cars. All the others were cremated. including Superintendent P. T. Downes and his son T. Kirk Downes.

There is a heavy grade near the scene of the wreck. Two engines had taken a train of twenty-eight freight cars up this grade and drawn off to take water. While doing this all the twenty-eight cars started down the grade. The runaway train dashed down the grade at frightful speed and crashed into the rear of a passenger train near the siding at Nyack. Superintendent Downes's private car was attached to the passenger and next to it was a day coach filled with railroad laborers from Duluth.

As the runaway train sped by the switch it struck a caboose and day coach on the siding wrecking them. Fire imediately started in the oil lamps of the caboose. The point where the wild train crashed into the passenger was several hundred feet away, and it was two and a half hours before the flames reached the main wreck.

Meanwhile frantic efforts were made to take out the dead and injured. The wreck was piled high and wedged into almost hopeless confusion, and in spite of superhuman efforts the flames burst through the wrecked cars before the work was completed.

The runaway tore down the hill at lightning speed, rounding the most severe curves at a speed of upwards of seventy miles an hour where regular trains barely crawled along. With a roar they swept around the curve, and what is most remarkable, jumped a split switch which would have turned it to the side track and crashed into the passenger train.

There was neither time nor opportunity for escape. Mr. Downes's car and that of the laborers were smash into kindling wood, the occupants of the private car meeting death instantly. The debris and shingles and lumber of the freight burned like tinder.

The train crew was forced back from its work of rescue by the flames. One man penetrated as far as the private car, where he saw the dead bodies of Mr. Downes and his son, and from which he dragged the body of the cook.

> In the laborers' car many of the forty-six occupants were so pinned in that they could not be reached, and were burned before the eyes of the spectators.

The fire was so fierce that the rear sleeper could not be saved, though it had left the track. Its occupants were hurried into forward cars, which were hauled out of the reach of the fire.

MINNESOTA'S BIG SHOW

It is a Record Breaker in Point of Attendance and Interest

Hamline, Sept. 4.—The auspicious opening of the state fair is a promise of its continuing to a successful close, weather, of course, permitting.

In this one essential thing of weather, the fates could not be more kindly. The days have been warm, perhaps too much so, but that is far better than the raw, chilly winds so common in September.

The increased number of buildings has had the effect of scattering the crowd more over the grounds than heretofore, and it takes a thousand more people to make a good impression as used to be looked for.

The fair has been particularly lucky in the absence of accidents.

The paid admissions up to noon yesterday were 10,262. Up to noon the day previous there were 4,408, making today's admissions up to the same hour 5,854 more.

The whole number of admissions yesterday were 25,518. This beats all previous records. Of that number 20,?1? were paid admissions. The grand stand admissions were 9,972, compared with 3,938 last year.

The county displays are all excellent. One of the interesting items among them is the alfalfa shown by Beltrami county. Beltrami surprises the people from the southern counties with what it can raise in the way of grains, grasses and vegetables.

Tams Bixby a while ago bet C. L. Smith a box of cigars that he could not raise corn in this county. Mr. Smith is now on hand with corn to burn and is waiting for those cigars. He is also showing second growth clover that is four and ah alf feet long; buckwheat four and a half feet long; buckwheat growth alfalfa. He claims to show the best specimens of wheat, oats and vegetables in the building.

The belated herds of cattle from the Iowa state fair and from other distant points have arrived, and the barns with the exception of the Herefords departments, are all equal to past years, and in some lines, particularly Shorthorns, the exhibits are far better than formerly. The Hereford exhibit is not up to that of last year, in numbers particularly. The Shorthorn auction sale was a great success. Up to noon 28 animals had been sold for an average price of $317 each, the prices ranging from $200 to $700 per animal.

Deputy A. M. H. Marty of the fish hatchery is in charge of the fish and game display. This is the most comprehensive display in this line ever made by any department of the state government. In 34 glass tanks are shown every specie of fish native to the waters of Minnesota. No other single exhibit rivals it in popular interest.

All the game birds of the state are represented in the game display. The big white pelican, the little snipe and the attractive woodcock are all there. Elk, moose, deer and other big game are also represented.

The racing progrom attracted an immense crowd to the grand stand at the state fair yesterday. Interest centered in the 2:40 pace, the big event of the day, and about every entry had been picked for a winner, the favorites being Glen Mont, Gale and Dacy. Glen Mont won the pace easily in three straight heats.

Time 2:17¼, 2:14¾, 2:17.

Diamond won the half mile running race and the $200 purse.

NOT A WORD OF FAULT

Is Heard in Connection With Foot Race

The result of the fast race on Saturday between J. H. Maybury of Crookston and W. W. Smith of Winnipeg was not what Crookston expected and desired. Mr. Maybury's friends had shared his confidence in his ability to win and the trials which he had done were in such remarkably good time that it did not seem within the realm of probability that he would lose. However he went up against a man at Winnipeg who not only beat him but both men lowered the world's record for the distance by two-thirds of a second.

There never yet has been a foot racer so fast that he didn't eventually find someone who could beat him and it looks as though this was the case with Maybury.

He did all that could have been expected of him. He was in the very pink of condition, he made better time than he did in his trial heats and he made better time than has ever been recorded in any preceeding race but he was defeated. In Maybury's race with Wefers, who is generally recognized as being the greatest sprinter that ever lived, he got a bad start and Wefers got a yard and a half the best of him in the first twenty yards but he made up all but eight inches of this in the remainder of the 100 yards making it then in 9 4-5 seconds. But in Smith, Maybury for the first time in his life found a man he couldn't gain on and Smith increased his yard start to two before reaching the finish.

In 1884 Bonine, of Ann Arbor, ran the distance in 11 seconds, two years later Baker the great yale sprinter made a try at this record but failed to lower it and it has stood ever since.

Smith and Maybury Saturday both ran in better time than this and Smith demonstrated clearly the fact that he is the greatest sprinter on earth.

Mr. Maybury had decided that win or loose this would be his last race and he intends to hold to that decision.

STRIKE IS DOOMED

Trend of Affairs Points Unmistakably to This Conclusion Today.

STRIKERS ARE RETURNING

And Everything Now Points to a Speedy Collapse of Amalgamated Hopes.

Pittsburg, Sept. 5—Agitation and uneasiness prevails in the ranks of the strikers, caused by the apparently unfavorable developments of yesterday. The leaders, however, profess to be satisfied with present conditions and claim that ultimate victory will be theirs. Much was hoped for from the peace conference in New York, but the announcement of a failure to reach a decision put a damper on their hopes. Still, many hold to the belief that the matter now being up to the strike leaders to accept or reject whatever may have been the proposition made, a settlement will speedily be reached.

President Shaffer's only remark when shown the announcement of the adjournment of the conference without decision was: "I have no comment to make."

The steel officials are in a very confident mood and appear to think the strike is broken effectually and that only a few more days will be required to make it a thing of the past. The return of the 400 tube workers at McKeesport and the report that 150 or more men went in at the Pennsylvania tube works and the protection of Sheriff McKinley and his 75 deputies at Demmler, where a start was made this morning, give much weight to this belief.

Terms of Peace

New York, Sept. 5.—Terms of peace in the steel strike were discussed at length yesterday at a secret conference at which sat officials of the United States Steel corporation, leaders of union labor and representatives of the civic organizations which have intervened. Unusual safeguards of secrecy were resorted to in order to preserve the privacy of the proceedings, but it was evident that no conclusion was reached and that the decision either to terminate or continue the strike must be made by the strikers.

The nature of the agency from the Amalgamated association held by leaders who participated in the discussion is not known, but it is believed they possessed an outline of terms from President Shaffer and that they will place before him and his associates terms resubmitted by President Schwab of the United States Steel corporation.

TEXAS TRAIN ROBBERY.

Fifty Thousand Dollars in Treasure Secured by Bandits.

Texarkana, Ark., Sept. 5.—Cotton Belt passenger train No. 1, south bound, due to leave Texarkana at 5:25 last night, was delayed in its departure and did not pull out until 11 o'clock. It reached the Texas and Pacific crossing, four miles south of Texarkana about 11:25 p. m. As it stopped to blow, six men boarded the train. Two of these were on the engine and compelled the fireman and engineer to go back and out the mail and express cars from the train. When this had been done the six men boarded the engine, left the fireman with the train, and the engineer was instructed to pull out south.

The train was run to Rylau, a small siding, where a stop was made. While one man guarded the engine, the five others went back to the express car and forced the doors and blew open the safe. They took their time at the work and when they had concluded returned to the locomotive with two sacks heavy with booty.

These they tossed on the engine. Turning to the engineer one said: "We'll just shell you out here. You are not the only engineer in this crowd and I guess we can run the machine a few miles without your assistance. When you locate your wagon, figure the run in on your mileage, as we won't put in time for the run we make."

Putting out the headlight, the bandit engineer reopened the throttle and pulled out. Engineer Henderson was left with the express and mail cars and the messenger and postal clerks. He made his way to a section house within a mile or two of the scene and procured a handcar and some men to assist in propelling it, starting on a search for the locomotive. It was slow work. At a point south of Rowan, within four miles of Redwater, they came upon the deserted engine standing on the main track, throttle closed, lights out and no one in sight. Engineer Henderson backed to the express and mail cars and some time after midnight succeeded in getting his engine and the two cars back to where the first stop was made by the robbers.

The trick was turned by men more experienced in railroading than in robbery. They knew the stops of the train and were prepared for the emergency thus presented. It was not necessary for them to flag the engineer and when he stopped to blow for the crossing they climbed aboard. They were armed but did not make unnecessary display of their weapons. All were masked, and each wore a coat. Tonight posses which were sent out returned here, having called bloodhounds from the track. It has been discovered that the robbers secured one bag of gold which required the combined efforts of two men to carry from the express car to the engine. While the dogs were trailing. it is claimed enough was learned to place the guilty parties, who are believed to be Texarkana men, or one man, the remainder being boys. The arrest of the leader is looked for hourly. The amount of booty has been reported too low and it is now said will reach nearly $50,000.

PRESIDENT AT THE PAN-AM

Enthusiastic Reception Given the Distinguished Guests

Buffalo, Sept. 5.—President McKinley, in whose honor today has been set aside on the Pan-American calendar, entered Buffalo last night through the portals of the rainbow city.

Screach of whistles and booming of guns greeted the president's train as it passed along the lake and river fronts over the Belt line tracks to the grounds. As the train flashed past Front street the salute of 21 guns boomed forth from Fort Porter.

An enthusiastic reception was tendered the presidential party after which the members were driven to the home of President Milburn of the exposition, where they will stay while in the city.

At 10 o'clock this morning the president, accompanied by an escort of mounted police and cavalry, proceeded directly to the exposition grounds where ceremonies were held in honor of the day.

BIG WHEAT MOVE

Not a Record Breaker, But Kept Them Busy

Minneapolis, Sept. 4.—Sixteen hundred and seventy-seven cars of grain were reported on track in Minneapolis yesterday awaiting disposition. As there was no session of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce Monday, the figurs represent the receipts of Saturday, Sunday and Monday. While the figures are not record breaking by several hundreds of cars, they are neverthe less intersting as showing the rapid accumulation of grain on track consequent upon any suspension of business on account of a holiday. Of the total receipts there were: Wheat, 1,251 cars; corn, 26; Oats, 108; rye, 94; barley, 127; flax, 71 cars. For the corresponding three days last year the wheat receipts here were 884 cars, compared with 1,251 this year, or an increase of 367 cars.

Heard From at Perham

Perham, Minn., Sept. 5.—Two men have been seen near here who answer to the description of the men who murdered John McGrath on a stock train near Little Falls and threw his brother, Paul McGrath, into a freight car and locked him in after robbing him. A posse of 30 or 40 men has been organized in Perham and the country where the men are supposed to be hiding is being thoroughly explored.

For Criminal Assault

Battle Lake, Minn., Sept. 5.—Hoomer Rize, of Tanglewood camp, on Otter Tail lake, five miles north of this village, was arrested last night for criminal assault on Miss Sleagel, who was employed by his father at the camp. Miss Sleagel swore out the warrant late last night. Rize gave bonds and the case will be tried in ten days.

Exonerated the Crew

Kalispell, Mont., Sept. 5.—The coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict that the Great Northern accident of Friday night at Nyack, in which 35 men lost their lives, was caused through no fault of the train crew.

DIED FROM SHOCK

Strange Case at Cass Lake that Results in the Death of a Four Year Old Girl

WAS RECLINING ON LOUNGE

And Following a Peal of Thunder She Bled to Death--Building Wasn't Struck.

Cass Lake, Aug. 31.—One of the strangest deaths in the history of Cass Lake occurred Wednesday afternoon. Mabel, the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Leeman had been playing in the yard in front of her parent's house, when a severe storm broke. She went into the house and reclined on the sofa. Following a severe flash of lightning and peal of thunder she jumped to her feet and grabbed her head, blood at the same time oozing from her mouth.

After she had passed away, the remains were examined and the flesh covering the spine was found to be black and blue. There were no symptoms of poisoning or anything of that kind, and it is now supposed she succumbed as a result of shock by lightning, which struck and shatered a tree in the rear of the house. However, no other person in the room felt any bad effects from the flash. How the lightning could have been communicated to the body of the girl is a mystery.

PROMINENT IOWANS HERE

The Man Who Managed Gov. Cummins' Campaign Among Them

C. E. Stevens, head of the Stevens Land company in this city, is entertaining several men whose names are prominently connected with politics in the state of Iowa, but who are taking advantage of the lull in the business of looking after the welfare of that commonwealth to look after their interests in land matters in northern Minnesota.

T. A. Way is one of them, and no man in Iowa is better or more favorably known as an astute political manager than he. He recently managed the campaign for A. B. Cummins, who was named as the next governor of the state, and his success has added largely to his reputation for shrewdness in practical politics. Mr. Way is a partner of Mr. Stevens in the extensive land business, for which this city is the headquarters.

Others in the party are Hon. A. P. Healey of Britt, Ia., and A. C. Smith, a Storm Lake newspaper man, who is one of the right sort. They are away at Warren today viewing the landscape o'er.

RUN AGAINST A KNIFE

A Young Man of Sporty Tendencies is Cut Up Some

The opportunity to get into trouble is always in wait, and Fred Slater seized it Wednesday, just in time to tackle some one who had a knife. The young man had a piece of a jag, and had fallen into the hands of the police, who had allowed him to go on the promise that he would go home and behave himself. He failed to keep his promise, and some one with a knife resented his actions later. He has an ugly cut on his chin extending from the corner of the mouth far enough to require several stitches, and another cut in the chest. He would not lodge any complaint, and it is not known who was the offender.

Death of Mrs. Brosseau

The death summons came to Mrs. Noe Brosseau during the night at the family home on Broadway, as a result of typhoid fever, and a husband and family of seven sons mourn her death. Mrs. Brosseau was 56 years of age, and has been ill three weeks. The family is all in the city with the exception of Eudor, who is on his claim in the Red Lake country, and who does not yet know of the cloud that will darken his life. He expected to return on Sunday next, and if he arrives in time the funeral will be held after his return on that day.

The sympathy of a large circle of friends will be extended to the mourning ones in their affliction.

IT'S FINALLY DECIDED

Crookston Band Will be Numbered Among State Fair Attractions

The members of the band were informed Saturday morning that they were expected to be ready to leave for the state fair on Tuesday evening of this week where they will stay during the two following days, and assist in enlivening the occasion. The matter has been in doubt, and was cleared up by J. N. Kirsch who spent yesterday there. The allowance made the Crookston players will be sufficient to pay their expenses, and they will enjoy the outing.

Bandmaster Riggs will secure a few additional players to strengthen the reed and bass sections, and Crookston will get a long credit mark from the state at large for maintaining the style of a musical organization that will go down. Through the efforts of Agent Bell and Traveling Passenger agent Thorson of the Great Northern that road has provided a special sleeper for the accomodation of the band, and they will thus be fresh on arrival there.

ONE DAIRY FARM

And a Few Features in Connection With Its Operation

Rev. S. Currie of Euclid who owns a fine farm just east of the village and who learned some years since that exclusive wheat farming could not be relied on as a steady income producer and engaged in dairying in connection with it, has a fine herd of about forty Jersey cows and as many younger animals, part of which are thoroughbreds and are individuals of much excellence.

At the head of his herd he has a registered bull of the Pedro stock, who shows standard dairy points in a very marked degree and whose progeny are emphatic witnesses as to the merits of their sire as a stock getter.

Mr. Currie's method of keeping this bull under restraint and at the same time giving him an opportunity for exercise in the open air is an excellent one, and worthy of being imitated by every one who keeps one of these animals.

A strong wire cable is stretched from the top of a post eight feet high to a point of the same height under a shed some fifty feet distant. Upon this cable a large ring was placed when it was stretched, and to this ring the animal is attached by a rope of sufficient length to enable him to feed or lie down, but not long enough for him to get tangled in. This permits him to travel back and forth and to be in the shade or the sun at his option. The device is the best one for the purpose the writer has ever seen.

Mr. Currie has a tread power in his barn which runs a feed chopper, a pump, a wood saw, a churn or a grain elevator as may be required. He has a complete creamery equipment on a small scale, and his butter has acquired a reputation which commands for it a premium above the market price the year round.

A small flock of grade Shropshire sheep also contribute their share toward the net profits of Mr. Currie's farm. A field of luxuriant fodder corn is a noticeable feature on the farm, an inspection of which furnishes strong manure as a crop stimulator, by the contrast shown between the spots where it has been applied and those not so favored.

Mr. Currie has discovered, however, that in order to secure the best results in farming, he must restrict his operations to such area as he can do full justice to, and has decided to dispose of a portion of his large farm, which is an example which might be followed by many farmers with profit to themselves and the valley as well.

THIRTY DOLLARS OUT

John Peterson Hoboized Out of that Amount of Wealth

One day last week John Gilbert of the town of Roome was in the city and hired a man who represented himself as being a "good worker" and took him home with him, arriving there about 10 o'clock P. M. The man ate his dinner and then explained that having spent the previous night on the train coming from Duluth without sleep, he was sleepy and would like to lie down and take a nap.

Mr. Gilbert who was very busy repairing a harvester with some extras he had brought from town, told the man he could find a place for the purpose where the men slept during hot weather over the granary, and continued his work, forgetting in a few moments all about the man.

At supper time the newly acquired help failed to put in appearance and investigation disclosed the fact that he had dissappeared. Nothing further was thought of the matter until the next morning when John Peterson who was working for Mr. Gilbert but was absent from home the previous day and returned late in the evening, discovered that a roll of bills of the value of $30. was missing from the pocket of a vest he had left hanging in the room. It was then remembered that the man had made inquiry about the nearest railroad station, and it is supposed that he went to Eldred direct and took the evening train for the West with Mr. Peterson's $30. At any rate he has not reported since.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somehow the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking

Hunting Train Arrives

The train arriving over the Great Northern Saturday morning was 12 cars long, and one of the baggage cars was loaded almost completely with hunting dogs. There was the largest variety that ever reached here at the opening of any hunting season and they were of all sizes, varieties, shapes and colors. Their owners took them out on the various branch lines except in cases where they will form portions of hunting parties out of Crookston, and it is safe to say that many a one that cost big money below will be given away as worthless before its owner returns.

Enterprising Burglars

Burglars effected an entrance into the Opera House Block saloon during Friday night, and when "Baldy" Couvrette who smiles across the mahogany arrived next morning he found the till had been taped, the slot machine had a broken back and its store of nickels had been taken.

The parties had bored holes in the back door above the lock, and had been able to enter without serious difficulty, all that was necessary being to throw the bolt. The loss is about $20. with the possible addition of a few cigars.

Injured an Arm

Adolph Remshardt came in from off the Cass Lake line Wednesday bringing a damaged arm that will require a month's nursing to get into shape to shovel coal. While working with the construction crew he managed to get the member into the rigging of the ledgerwood, the machine that unloads cars, and the flesh was severely bruised.

Deliberately Planned

Speaking of the murder and suicide near Wahpeton, the Globe says: When Fisher's trunk was opened by Coroner Kauffman and Sheriff Moody they found written on a tablet, "In memory of Clause Fisher. I will shoot and kill Annie Heinrich and myself. I want my money to be used in erecting tombstones at the head of Annie's grave and my grave." Money and notes to the amount of $552.19 was found in the trunk.

To Save Her Child

From frightful disfigurement Mrs. Nannie Galleger of La Grange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all her hopes. It works wonders in Sores, Bruises, Skin Eruptions, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Piles. 25c. Cure guaranteed by A. G. Andersen, druggist.

FOUND BIG MONEY

Omaha Youngsters Dig Up a Few Thousand Dollars in Greenbacks

WAS AN OLD TIME PLANT

Beleived to be the Proceeds of an Express Robbery Committed Years Ago.

Omaha, Aug. 3.—Three boys playing in a lumber yard at Ninth and Farnam streets today found three packages of paper money, greenbacks and national bank notes, thought to aggregate $3,000 to $6,000.

The packages were badly crusted with mold from exposure to the weather and they will require expert examination to determine the denominations of the bills.

The boys who found the money did not realize the value of their find and turned over the packages to a local attorney who was passing at the time. On examination he found they bore the wax seal of the First National bank, to which institution he at once proceeded.

At the bank it was said that no such packages had been lost but it was learned that the Pacific Express company has lost in the past six years two such packages, each containing several thousand dollars and having a wrapper on which was the seal of the First National bank. George Archibald, a driver for the Pacific Express company was robbed of a package containing $3,000 about three years ago. He was arrested and tried for the robbery but was acquitted. He recently brought suit for $25,000 damages for defamation of character, but lost the case.

Six years ago a $6,000 package disappeared but an office employe later committed suicide, wrote the express company a letter acknowledging the theft and telling where the money was hidden. A large amount of it was recovered.

The express company will investigate the matter, and if there is reasonable cause for doing so, the company will claim the money.

HAIL AT THE PEG

Warst Storm in the History of the Manitoban City

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—The worst hail storm in the city's history occurred yesterday afternoon. For half an hour clouds of ice came down and the loss to merchants and others is placed at $50,000. The walls of a brick block on the corner of Main and Graham fell in, foundations were destroyed in other new structures and windows by the thousands were smashed. Banfield's big store on Main street, filled with light textures, curtains and laces, was flooded. Sewers backed up and cellars along the west side of Main street in the principal business section were inundated and valuable stocks destroyed.

The district visited is small, the city getting the worst of it. Crops were all cut, but the flowers and foliage in the city parks in readiness for the Duke of Cornwall's visit were cut down clean.

UNFORTUNATE ANGUS

Crop Will Not Supply Bread and Seed for Another Year

ANGUS, Aug. 30, 1901.

A cloud of gloom rests upon the usually light hearted and hopeful Angusites this year. An exact statement of the crop conditions in this beautiful township will suggest the thought of an exaggeration. But the misfortune of the situation is not likely to be overstated.

Thousands of acres of crops in this single township were completely destroyed by water and others by hail, and many hundred acres are being cut and have been cut which will not pay for the twine and labor. Numerous instances exist where every acre the farmer had in crop was completely ruined, and he is left without any grain for either seed bread or his cattle. And taking the town through it is claimed the crop will not furnish seed for next spring and bread for the inhabitants.

Mr. A. E. Brush, whose farm has usually produced from 8,000 to 15,000 bushels of wheat per annum, his crop in 1895 reaching 20,000 bushels, is hoping to get from 1,000 to 1,500 bushels this year, but is somewhat in doubt of reaching even the smaller amount. In fact the crop conditions prevailing throughout the township of Angus are the worst the writer has ever seen in this line. And another feature of the misfortune is the fact that in many cases the farmers are in a condition of enforced idleness, being unable to convert the abundant crop of grass which exists into hay or to plow the ground for another crop. The ground quite generally is like a saturated sponge, and in the lower spots is covered with water. Under these conditions it is no wonder they are unable to take a hopeful view of the situation.

The township of Euclid, while also showing many drowned out fields and parts of fields, is somewhat more fortunate, having some fields which show a good growth of straw, and there may be instances where a yield of ten or twelve bushels per acre will be realized.

Buffington and Key West localities also seem to be a little more highly favored and an occasional field presents a fine array of good sized shocks. An examination of the heads discloses the fact that the filling has been incomplete and that the yield will not correspond with the appearance of the crop in the shock.

Around Fisher on the north an average of about eight or ten bushels per acre for the land cut is expected. But to the south and west it is thought from twelve to fifteen bushels will be realized.

THRESHER LOSES A LEG

Bemidji Lumber Jack Who Would Better Have Stayed at Home

An accident occurred to John Pifer's threshing machine at Larimore Monday afternoon by which one of the crew lost his right leg. It is stated he was standing on the machine while it was being operated and that the sheet iron covering broke and let him into the body of the machine. It seems a wonder that the poor fellow escaped with his life under such circumstances. He was conveyed to a physician's office where the leg was amputated above the knee. He came from near Bemidji.

Getting a Move on

The errand of W. W. Pritchard, the Thief River Falls banker, in [illegible] last night was to secure the material and a superintendent for the construction of the new bank building that will be put up, erection to commence at once. The material was secured after a consultation with Manager Vance of the Erskine Brick company, and is of couse some the excellent output of the company's brick yards in this city. Mr. Frank Mngeau was interviewed, and will superintend the work of construction. The work will commence at once, and go forward as rapidly as possible to a completion. The institution expects to occupy the building by the first of September, and the structure, plans for which were made by Architect Strassburger of this city, will be one of the finest in the Upper Falls.

A Case of Smallpox

The affliction of the family of A. O. Daniels, who lives three miles east of the city, is severe indeed. Yesterday a physician was called to attend Mr. Daniels, and it developed that he was suffering from a case of smallpox. The members of the family are quarantined therein, including Mr. Daniels' son Orrin, who was compelled to give up his duties as jailer of Polk county on account of a case of typhoid fever that he had contracted. The younger man is progressing toward a recovery, and it is not likely that Mr. Daniels will have other than the usual light run of the pitted pest, such as prevailed during the winter.

ELEVATORS FOR KING.

American Firm to Place Three in Buckingham Palace.

King Edward VII has ordered three of the most magnificent elevators ever built for Buckingham palace. The order has been given to an American firm, says a London dispatch to the New York Journal, and the "lifts," as they are called in England, are now being built in Yonkers.

The elevators will be run by electricity, and his royal highness can be his own elevator boy, simply pressing a button to start the elevator and another button to stop it. The elevators will be installed by American workmen, who will go to England expressly for the purpose.

Fumigating Pineapples.

California has taken to fumigating pineapples from Hawaii now, and it is feared that the pineapple business here will be seriously injured if the fumigation is not stopped. The fumigation, says the Honolulu Star, is on account of a scale known as the dactylopins, which is found on pineapples here, but which, it is declared, is even more prevalent in California. Commissioner of Agriculture Wray Taylor is trying to have the order for fumigation revoked on the ground that it is useless and works great injury to Hawaii. The scent of fumigation often lingers with the pineapples long after they are treated and spoils their sale.

A GOOD THING.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German Physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in Medicine. It quickly cures Coughs, Colds and all Lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cents. MARE THIRTY YEARS OLD

Of a Breed Now Nearly Extinct, Property of a Euclid Farmer

The passing away of the Morgan breed of horses seems to be quite a loss to those who need animals adapted to all general purposes.

No breed of horses has yet been established or discovered that is possessed of so wide a range of capacity as the Morgan.

Three or four decades ago, the Morgan horses were to be found everywhere, and could always be relied on for the road or the farm. Of only medium size they were heavily muscled, and equal for draft purposes to any other breed which excelled them in weight by two or three hundred pounds, rapid walkers, free drivers on the road, extremely hardy, of great endurance and extreme longevity, it seems a serious pity that a breed of so much value should have become so nearly extinct as it now appears to be. Only an occasional relic of this breed is now to be found and the name is scarcely mentioned.

A. J. Goodwin, whose farm lies about four miles northwest of the village of Euclid, has a mare of this breed which is now in her thirtieth year of usefulness, and has probably rendered her owner more actual service than any other animal of her species in the valley. Her grandsire was of the old original John Morgan stock, and old Doll, as she is now called, has always been ready for any service that was required of her. She is still able to perform a good day's labor, and may continue to be so for some time to come.

Erwin Will Retire

Thos. Erwin, without whose occasional appearance on their streets the Fisherites will certainly be very lonesome, has disposed of his fine farm and will in the near future have a public sale to close out his cattle, horses, machinery and other personal effects, and will hie himself away to a warmer clime to spend the winter. His plans for the future are not yet fully matured, but he expects to make an investment where he will be able to take things a little easier than he has been doing in Polk county wheat farming.

Extend the Season

Grand Forks, Aug. 31.—The board of control of the North Dakota Amateur Baseball association held a meeting in this city last evening and every team in the league with the exception of Hillsboro was represented. It was decided by the board that the season should be extended for ten days in order to give Devils Lake and Milton a chance to play off the tie for first place. The tie will be played off in a series of three games to be played on the 4th, 5th and 6th of September in either Grand Forks or Fargo, the place to be determined by the teams.

Opening New Stations

At this season of the year the railroads always find it necessary to open a number of stations that are closed during the greater part of the year. All the smaller stations have a good deal of wheat to ship, and it is necessary that agents be on hand to give the farmers the prompt service that is essential during the threshing season. Among the stations that are being opened are those at Backoo, Nash, Wylie and Cragness. The heavy movement of wheat will soon start and long freight trains headed for Duluth and Minneapolis will then be the order of the day.

Injunction Dissolved

Judge Watts today heard evidence and arguments in the matter of the restraining order brought against the city of East Grand Forks to prevent the issuance of bonds for the erection of an electric light plant.

The temporary restraining order given by the court commissioner was dissolved and the attorneys for the plaintiff are preparing to appeal the matter to the supreme court.

Another Old Settler Gone

Miles Cox, of the town of Huntsville, died at an early hour yesterday morning. Mr. Cox was 57 years of age and a native of Iowa, from which state he came to the town of Huntsville 22 years ago, and has since resided near Mallory. The cause of his death was heart failure in connection with a severe attack of pneumonia of a little more than a week's duration. He leaves a wife and two grown up children, a son and daughter. The funeral will occur Saturday morning at the Catholic church in Fisher.

SKIM MILK CALVES

The Kansas Experiment Station recently reported the result of an experiment in feeding calves for baby beef that is exceedingly suggestive. Two lots of ten calves each were used in the experiment. The members of one lot had been raised on skim milk, and the others had run with their dams, taking all their milk, of course. At weaning time the latter lot was fed exactly as the skim milk lot, for seven months. The feed was corn and alfalfa hay. The skim milk lot made an average gain per head of 440 pounds; the other lot 435 pounds. The first lot required an average of 475 pounds of corn and 472 pounds of hay to make one hundred pounds of gain; the other required 439 and 436 pounds respectively to make the same gain. The steers of each lot sold in the Kansas City market at precisely the same price, and the same was true of the heifers. The first sold for $5.40, the others for $5.15 a hundred. It will be seen that the skim milk calves made the greater gain, at less cost, and hence made a better profit. And while the skim milk calves did this the cream from the milk of their dams was being made into butter, while the income from the others dams was the growth of their calves only. These figures indicate that scarcely any labor on the farm can be more profitable than milking, separating cream from milk, selling the first and giving the last to calves.

What a lot of guessing is done on some farms! Yet we are glad to note that such are growing less, but still we occasionally find dairymen who feed, water and salt their cows by guess, knock their cows out of condition, diagnose their ailments and dope by guess, says the "Farm." They use a scoop shovel for a measure, a measure for a scale, and when it comes to regularity in feeding they use their inclinations for a timepiece. They feed their stock by fasts and feasts, and then guess that stock farming doesn't pay. They use their fingers for a thermometer and alternately scald and chill the calves and pigs, and guess that skim milk is worthless food. They cut their hay and fodder by guess, and guess that there is no nutriment in it. They don't seem to know nor care to know when or why or how to do, but keep right on sowing, planting, reaping and feeding by guess, and as a consequence are kept guessing to maintain an existence until Father Time closes the chapter by harvesting a professional guesser.

Sir Thomas Lipton, England's merchant prince who spends some of his spare time and cash participating in international yacht races, came to America when a boy and got his start in life working in New York and on a Carolina plantation. He accumulated a little money together and went back and opened up a little provision mart in Glasgow. He now has hundreds scattered throughout the United Kingdom and owns his own fruit gardens in Kent, his own tea plantation in Ceylon, his own biscuit factory, his own tin factory, his own ships, carts, ice houses and store houses in London, with acres of floor space. His receipt for prosperity is: "Work hard, deal honestly, be enterprising, exercise careful judgment, advertise freely, but judiciously."

Under a new law that went into effect July 1st the following people are exempt from jury service: The governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, superintendent of public instruction, attorney general, members of the general assembly during their term of office, all judges of courts, sheriffs, coroners, postmasters, mail carriers, all practicing attorneys, all officers of the United States, officiating ministers of the gospel, school teachers during the term of school, practicing physicians, registered and assistant pharmacists, constant ferrymen, mayors of cities, policemen, active members of fire department, embalmers, undertakers and funeral directors actively engaged in business.

CORN BECOMING POPULAR

A person cannot drive through the country among the farms this year and not be impressed with the fact that corn as a crop is rapidly increasing in popularity. There are but very few farms now that have not more or less acres of corn, while only a very few years ago nine out of ten farmers stoutly asserted that "you can't raise corn in this country," and simply let it go at that. It is true that not all the corn which is producing such an enormous growth of stalk this year was planted with the expectation or for the purpose of maturing the grain, but much of it was planted for fodder only, and consequently stands too thick in the rows to be expected to make a profitable crop of ears. But in every instance that has come under our observation a very creditable showing of ears is made, considering all the conditions surrounding the crop. And in many instances corn which was planted quite thickly in drills, but at the ordinary corn planting season, will furnish a fair crop of matured ears, provided it gets ten days more of favorable weather, as it now seems likely to do. And many farmers who planted in drills in the expectation of securing fodder only, are now regretting they did not plant a few acres in hills and secure the more valuable crop of ears. It is a very hopeful fact that corn as a crop is rapidly winning its way into favor, and when it takes its place as the peer of wheat, oats or barley as a crop in the Red River valley, which it is bound to do in the near future, it will contribute largely toward popularizing diversified farming, and to maintaining the fertility of the soil.

Sam Clark, the talented but somewhat optimistic editor of the Stephen Leader, has been given free vein to his imagination, or else indulging in a pipe drem, the wild vagaries of which have been so real that he accepts them as a certainty. While everyone in the valley would be glad if all he prophecies could be realized, the feeling that he is a boomer from Sooner's Corner naturally prevails. Listen to this:

"While nothing definite can be learned, we feel perfectly secure in informing our readers that ere many moons roll by, the St. Vincent line will be the direct line to Winnipeg—to the coast. Very recently the Great Northern secured control of the Canadian Pacific from Emerson to Winnipeg. They are putting in a fine new watering tank at Stephen, also a new tank and large coal shed at St. Vincent. This entire line of track is being fixed up and the depots are receiving their share of the repairs. What does it all mean? Simply this—that the Great Northern knows a good thing when it sees it and realizing that there is a gain of at least 40 miles between Crookston and Winnipeg by going up this side of the Red river, they are going to make this the through coast line. All the trains that now run on the Dakota side will be transferred to this line and we will have several passenger trains both ways daily. It means that you can get into a tourist, library or sleeping car at Stephen and go direct to the coast without changing trains. It means that you can get into a berth here in the evening and wake up in the morning at Minneapolis or St. Paul. It means that the immense traffic of the Great Northern from St. Paul up will be over this line. It means much for the St. Vincent line. Watch our predictions, and see how near we are to the truth."

Owing to the lack of rain and the excessively hot days, marked by high south winds, the liability of forest fires in northern Minnesota has grown to be a serious matter. Already reports have begun to come in of the carelessness of settlers which has resulted in considerable loss. Should these warm, dry days continue long, it is a certainty that there will be disasters in the way of forests ablaze that will equal those of two years ago, when thousands of acres were burned over in the region east and south of Red Lake.

Congressman Morris Here

A party of prominent Duluthians arrived here Tuesday and proceeded to Thief River Falls where the members will spend a week shooting chickens and ducks. Congressman Page Morris was the leader of the party, and had the others enthused with accounts of former trips made by him to the same locality. The other members were G. G. Hartley and W. F. Bailey, both prominent in the business circles of the Zenith City. Congressman Morris is looking well, and he has recently returned from an extended trip through the southern states.

A Pioneer's Life

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Reed, of Island Lake, came in last Thursday evening. Thirty-five miles is a good long walk to get a tooth pulled, but Mrs. Reed was equal to the mergency. They have two acres cleared, a good garden of vegetables and corn, and will have over one hundred bushels of potatoes that Reed says are worth $2 a bushel. Reed is the man that killed the deer with the butt of his gun because he was in his corn.—Blackduck Times.

DANGER OF FOREST FIRE.

Pine Country Threatened Owing to Excessive Dry Wheater.

Passengers on the train from Duluth last evening over the Great Northern stated that a great forest fire was raging near Deer River, a place beyond Cass Lake. The recent hot weather with high winds has made everything in the woods as dry as tinder, and a fire that has once gained a good start will run till stopped by a heavy rain.

The high wind of yesterday drove the fire at a rapid rate. It has been burning for the past two days and a large strip has already been laid waste. Great apprehension is felt by the scattered settlers in that part of the country, and the residents of the small places which are at the mercy of a great forest fire are fearful that some of the former experiences will be repeated. Any attempt to combat the flames is useless as long as the wind blows such a gale as was experienced yesterday, and a heavy rain is the only thing that will relieve the present situation.

It was reported that one saw mill had been burned and that several more were threatened, including one on the Itasca road. So much of the vegetation in the woods is still green that the smoke caused by the fire is very dense, and great clouds of it rolled up from the country swept by the fire during the past two days. The lowering clouds yesterday gave the people in the burning district new hope that rain would soon fall and save the great destruction to property that would otherwise surely result.

The saw mill men and lumber men are very apprehensive, but feel that if rain falls within 24 hours the damage done will be comparatively light. The fire is said to have been started by careless campers who were passing through the woods.

A FAIR BIDDER

Attended the State Fair and Purchased Some High Priced Stock.

FIVE CHOICEST HEREFORDS

Will be Added to Col. Wilkinson's Herd at "Long View" Stock Farm.

State Fair Grounds, Hamline, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—At the sale of Hereford stock that was held here today, five of the best animals sold will go to the celebrated stock farm owned by Col. Wilkinson at Crookston. The display was the finest ever seen in the United States, the sale was largely attended and the enthusiasm was great.

Five of the finest animals offered for sale were purchased as an addition to the herd of Col. Wilkinson of Crookston, Miss Marye Wilkinson, daughter of the colonel, doing the bidding. Competition was spirited, and the prices paid were high. Two of the five cost $300 each, another $405 and two others $500 each.

The attendance at the fair today was the largest in the history of the association for Thursday, and the weather was the same that has prevailed during the preceding days. Up to date the attendance has exceeded that of former years by twenty-five thousand.

PATENT LAND ROLLER

The Invention of John Gilbert of Town of Roome

A Journal representative recently called upon Mr. John Gilbert, of the town of Roome, and made an inspection of the flexible field roller, of which he is the inventor and patentee. The roller is composed of three sections, to one of which is attached a seat and a pole with facilities for attaching a team. The other two sections are each in a separate frame, and separated by a space of the same width as the front roller. The frames of the rear rollers are coupled together by loose joints, and this compound part is then coupled to the front section by a clevis and ring. These joints give perfect freedom of action and full opportunity for adaptation to uneven surfaces so as to compress all parts of the ground evenly.

The outside surface of the different sections is deeply corrugated lengthwise so as to leave the ground in the same condition and avert drifting by strong winds in a very dry time, as there is always a danger of when the surface is perfectly smooth.

The roller seems to be a very practical device for the purpose for which it was intended, and Mr. Gilbert emphatically claims for it that it is the best field roller in the world. It appears that he made one of these rollers ten years ago and has used it every year since then, never having applied for a patent to cover the invention until a little more than a year ago. Temporary arrangements for the manufacture of the implements have been made with the Minneapolis Threshing Machine company, but it would seem as though Crookston ought in some way to secure the location of this industry. It would certainly be of great advantage to the business interests of the city if this could be accomplished. The more factories of this kind we can secure the better, and if properly handled this would certainly afford its stockholders a profitable return. Some of our citizens have expressed to Mr. Gilbert a desire to take stock in the enterprise and he may decide to organize a company.

The question of the utility of the implement is dependent only upon the question whether the compression of the soil around the freshly sown seed is an advantage or not. This being affirmatively answered, we believe there is no device so well fitted to accomplish the work properly as is this flexible roller.

HE BUYS SHORTHORNS

Col. Wilkinson Adds to His Already Famous Polk County Herd

Col. Wilkinson has an ambition to own as fine a herd of Shorthorns as anybody in Minnesota, and is in a fair way to realize his hope. His stock on the farm near Crookston numbers some of the choicest animals in the state, and at the sale held Tuesday on the Minnesota state fair grounds he was a heavy purchaser. Speaking of the sale the Minneapolis Journal says:

"Bidding was lively at the auction conducted by the American Shorthorn Breeders' association, lasting from 10 o'clock until 1. The entire 52 head in the selling classes were sold. Many of these, in fact the majority, were gathered in by Minnesota bidders. Col. R. A. Wilkinson of Crookston was one of the heaviest buyers. The highest price paid was by Wm. Strong of Grand Rapids, Wis., who bid $700 for Lady Miranda, a fine cow. Wimples' Duchess was bid in by Olaf Gjerseth of Monticello. Other Minnesota buyers were J. O. Mills of Preston, A. C. Wedge of Albert Lea, A. C. Morgan of Windom, W. O. March of Monticello. This was one of the most successful Shorthorn auctions ever held in the state. It will scatter many good cattle of this breed through the state from Polk county to the Iowa line."

A NEW SCHOOL

Button's Business College and Shorthand Institute Now Open

In the brief space of less than one year this school, which began simply as an evening school in bookkeeping and shorthand has grown until it has become necessary to either refuse admittance to many pupils or to expand into a thoroughly equipped business college with a full corps of teachers. The latter course has been chosen and a new building will be erected at once on Broadway next to the Commercial hotel and the entire second floor will be occupied by this school. Until this building is completed the sessions will be held as heretofore in the building at the corner of Broadway and Houston Avenue. A full corps of experienced teachers and practical reporters have been engaged as instructors.

Mr. J. A. Button, teacher of Munson and Pittman phonography, has had several years experience in teaching in eastern colleges, has worked as stenographer in many different kinds of offices, and as general reporter has reported cases in justice courts, probate courts, district courts and United States circuit courts.

Mr. C. M. Lohn has had practical experience in law offices, has been stenographer in the Merchants National bank of this city for several years, and has been official court reporter of the Fourteen Judicial District for the past three years, which office he still holds. He will teach the Pittman and Graham systems of shorthand in the evening sessions of the college.

Mr. O. H. Button, an experienced teacher and noted educator, besides teaching in the English Training and Commercial Departments will teach Pernin and Gregg shorthand. As a speaker and elocutionist Mr. Button has won several gold and silver medals. He will also teach elocution.

Mr. Casey, present county superintendent of schools of this county, who has taught with marked success in the city schools of the larger cities of this county for many years and has been instructor in teachers training schols and teachers institutes for many years, and a noted educator, will have charge of the English Training Department of this school during the evening sessions.

Mr. C. H. Moon, one of the finest penmen in the northwest, will assist in the Commercial Department and will teach penmanship in all the departments of the school.

Harry Won Both Bets

E. W. Hall, Harry Ives of St. Hilaire and E. L. Carpenter of Minneapolis, returned yesterday from a hunt up in Kittson county. They didn't get the largest bag of game, but they had fully as large a time as any of 'em. The first day they made up a jack pot to go to the one getting the fewest birds, and Harry captured the pot. The next day the other fellows wanted to give "a man who could shoot a chance," so they made up a pot to go to the man getting the highest score. That day, out of the 26 birds killed, Harry got 16, and on the rest of the trip he couldn't get the boys to shake for the cigars.

A Ten Pound Pike

While they were telling fish stories at the Palace this morning in walked a party with a ten pound pike which had been caught below the dam, and put all the retailers of the usual line of cheap stories to the blush. The fish told its own story, and was proudly exhibited by the men who had captured it. They were Messrs. Geo. L. Hall of Moorhead, J. R. Mascall of What Cheer, Iowa, and Mr. Childs, the manager of the J. I. C. Machine company at Kansas City. Having a bit of spare time, they decided to fish a few, with the result noted above.

Hand Will Be Saved

Mrs. Thos. Kane, of Argyle, who has many friends in Crookston, went to the hospital at Rochester last Saturday to receive treatment for her hand, which has been blood poisoned for several weeks. Word has been received from her to the effect that after an X-Ray examination, the physicians decided that amputation was unnecessary and that the hand will be saved.

NEW FOOD FOR CATTLE.

Experiments Show Molasses to Be of Great Benefit.

Many agriculturists in Europe have long been convinced that molasses is an admirable food for horses and cattle, and their conviction is now stronger than ever, owing to certain experiments which have been recently tried and which have proved eminently successful, says the New York Herald. Unfortunately, in some countries farmers have practically been debarred from using molasses in this way owing to the fact that there is a duty on all saccharine material; but now, in France at least, steps have been taken to remove this obstacle, and, furthermore, the French government has publicly notified agriculturists that it will do all in its power to aid them in popularizing the new food.

The most notable experiments with molasses have been made by M. Decrombecque, a chemist, and M. Mannechez, a veterinary surgeon at Arras. They assert that chopped hay or grass mixed with molasses is an excellent cure for asthma and furthermore that food of this kind neither loads the stomach nor impedes respiration. They also think it likely that during digestion the sugar in the food produces alcohol, and they say that if so the animal's health is bound to be benefited thereby.

Two other experts, MM. Dickson and Malpeaux, have also made experiments in regard to the effect of molasses on the general health, weight and milk of animals, and they have arrived at the following conclusions:

First, that ordinary food mixed with molasses quickly increases the weight of sheep, pigs and cows; second, that animals which are fed in this way give more and richer milk than they did before; third, that molasses is an excellent food for horses, since they quickly acquire a liking for it and apparently do not lose any of their strength, the only noticeable change being a slight tendency to fatness, and, fourth, that molasses can effectively be used with food of an inferior quality since the animals will then readily eat it, whereas they would not care for it in its natural condition.

M. Albert Vilcoq, a French professor of agriculture, says that the French government is acting very wisely in encouraging farmers to use molasses, but he points out that care should be taken not to give animals too much of it, as owing to its heating qualities it may produce a deleterious effect if given too often or too abundantly. He says that those animals which are required to do much work or which are constantly in motion should receive a much smaller allowance of molasses than those animals which lead a lazy and a sedentary life

Act of a Rascal

Last Sunday morning as Mrs. St. Lawrence of Minnesota Point was passing through what is known as the "hollow," the tenderloin district of East Grand Forks, on her way to church, she was waylaid by a drunken brawler who was all but naked, and was shamefully maltreated till another lady saw her predicament and called for assistance, on the approach of which her assailant ran into a thicket, and though thorough search was made by the police the miscreant has not yet been apprehended. When he is he will be very severely dealt with. The assault occurred at about 9 o'clock in the morning, in broad daylight. Mrs. St Lawrence was not seriously injured, though she was frightened nearly to death.

Spuds are Advancing

W. F. Bugg contemplates with serene satisfaction the constantly increasing price of potatoes. He has six acres of that much sought after vegetable, which should yield 1,200 bushels, and for which he expects to realize a dollar per bushel. He has been offered spot cash in advance for the crop in the ground at the rate of 50 cents per bushel.

Urquardt and Marvin to aid him and supplement his extensive acquaintance, there is no question that Mr. Teigen will do his share of the business, and that the men who purchase through him will get value received for their investments.

GOOD GUN SPORT

Abundance of Chickens and Everyone Has Had a Mess

The chicken hunters had exceptional success during the opening days of the season, and without a doubt the slaughter has been greater than during any previous year in the past ten. It was a poor shot that could not bag a dozen a day with any kind of an effort, and with even an ordinary dog.

Among the more successful parties were Will Lycan, Archie Lyons, Frank C. Brown, Ed. Swygart, of St. Paul, and Geo. A. Raisbeck, of New York city. They spent two days and killed 237 birds, while a party composed of L. Filiatrault, Arthur Dufresne and Judge Bazille of St. Paul succeeded in bagging 183. Many other parties made perhaps equally as good bags of game, while those who went out quietly and sometimes alone were able to secure all they desired.

Many hunters came in off the north line last night, and proceeded to their homes in the east carrying with them large bunches, and as many as five 2-bushel sacks were loaded into the train besides the open bunches. Some of the birds will be unfit for use when they reach their destination, as owing to the hot weather, they will not keep as long as they will in ordinary years.

BANNER PRESENTATION

Compliments of the Palace to the Crookston Band

One of the unexpected incidents that are all the more pleasing because they come as a surprise, was a feature of the departure of the band for Minneapolis Tuesday. It was the presentation of a beautiful and expensive silk banner, mounted and inscribed, "Crookston Band, Crookston, Minnesota," and it was the gift of Landlord McKinnon of the Palace. While awaiting the arrival of the train the band gave a half hour concert, and during a wait between numbers Attorney Martin O'Brien walked into the circle and made a neat presentation speech on behalf of Mr. McKinnon, touching upon the success attained by the band organization and the degree of merit due the members, closing by unfurling the banner and placing the staff in Bandmaster Riggs' hand. The latter expressed his thanks and the appreciation of the band boys for the gift, and it headed the procession as it moved to the depot to take the train.

Crowds are Going

Both the Great Northern and Northern Pacific are carrying large numbers of excursionists to the Twin Cities each night, and the business has been on the record breaking order for the last four nights. The half fare rates are attracting many who combine business with pleasure, and it is safe to assert that the wholesale houses of Minneapolis and St. Paul will do the largest business in their history this week.

Methodist Ministers Examination

On Monday and Tuesday a number of the Methodist ministers in the district presided over by Dr. Dodds have been in Crookston taking their final examinations in the studies required of them. The list contained among others Revs. Floyd A. Lawson of this city, Thos. Dyke of Climax, A. A. Myers of Hallock, J. F. Johnston of Stephen and E. A. Cooke of Fisher.

AN OIL BARON

Halvor Steenerson Gets in on the Ground Floor on Valuable Claims in the Rockies

ONE OF A COMPANY OF EIGHT

District Discovered by Actions of Bears Who Went There to Rid Themselves of Flies

Halvor Steenerson received word from the register of the Flathead district of Montana Monday that his name was down as one of the eight lucky owners of eight consolidated claims in the recently discovered oil fields up there.

The fields are located about 40 miles from Belton and are scattered among the claims now being developed by a syndicate of capitalists, among them being several of the Standard Oil stockholders.

For several years it has been known that oil seeped through the mountain side and flowed over a small valley, but it was so far away from civilization that it never was carefully investigated until this spring.

This year some prospectors found the oil and tried to ignite it with such success that hey had to flee for their lives. The whole valley burned over, but in a short time it was again overflowed, and the bears were again coming from miles around to roll in the oil and thus secure relief from the flies.

Some of the oil was sent to Denver to be tested and it proved to be 38 per cent lubricating oil, the remainder being illuminating oil, making it the most valuable oil yet discovered.

While Mr. Steenerson was out in that country on his fishing trip he was approached by a couple of men who were just returning from the new oil fields who were willing to dispose of an interest in some of their claims which they had located, as they had to have eight people associated with them in order to hold down the consolidated claim, which is 160 acres—as large as eight ordinary claims.

Mr. Steenerson does not intend to do anything toward having them developed, but will hold them as a speculation and in case the company now sinking a shaft strikes oil in large quantities, which seems highly probable, he will undoubtedly be a gainer by a few thousan per cent.

Al. Kaiser, of Fosston, is also interested in the oil lands up there and holds claims adjacent to Mr. Steenerson's.

Labor Day Meeting

The open air speeches delivered at the corner of Robert and Broadway last night in observance of Labor Day were listened to by a large number of people.

The speakers were Judge Montague, Mayor Campbell, Attorneys O'Brien and Holston. The band added to the interest of the occasion, and the remarks of the various speakers were appropriate and fitting to the occasion.

Lack of space forbids a summary of the addresses.

DOWLING ON DECK

Speaker of House is First to File Notice that He Has Congressional Aspirations.

NAME FIRST ON BALLOT

Eddy Doesn't Think It Gives Mike Any Advantage as Ballots Will be Separate.

St. Paul, Aug. 31.—The doubting Thomases who have refused to believe that M. J. Dowling has congressional aspirations should visit the office of the secretary of state.

The speaker of the house has filed his affidavit and paid his fee of $25, which entitles him to go on the primary election ballot in the new Seventh district a year from next September.

The Dowling affidavit is the first to be filed under the new primary law. The reason for the speaker's haste is his theory that the first candidate to file will have his name at the head of the list on all the ballots. He does not believe that the law as it stands provides for any rotation. The name first on the ballot has a decided advantage.

Congressman Eddy, who was in St. Paul yesterday was surprised to learn that Dowling had filed. He does not believe that it will be any advantage, however, as in his opinion the candidates will all stand at the head of the list on an equal number of ballots.

GRADED SCHOOL REPORTS

Inspector Rankin Gives Up Facts of Interest Up This Way

St. Paul, Aug. 29.—A. W. Rankin, state inspector of graded schools, has made his report to the state high school board. He recommends 107 schools for the $400 aid granted to graded schools complying with certain conditions. Of this number, 12 are recommended for aid for the first time: Clarkfield, Clinton, Cottonwood, Grove City, Harmony, Lake Park, Milaca, Minneota, New London, North Branch, St. Hilaire and Watertown.

Schools recommended for high school aid are: Arlington, Atwater, Blooming Prairie, Browns' Valley, Elbow Lake, Fertile, Fulda, Hallock, Hector, Howard Lake, New Richland, Olivia, Sherburn and Wheaton.

These may reasonably expect to become high schools in the near future: Bemidji, Buffalo, East Grand Forks, Fosston, Herman, Hopkins, Lamberton, Pelican Rapids, Perham, Pine City, Staples, Thief River Falls, Two Harbors and Virginia.

River is Very Low

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 30.—The water in the upper Mississippi river has reached so low a state that the Diamond Joe boats have been forced to cease operations and it is feared that all navigation will be seriously hampered if the river does not commence to rise.

The river is unusually low for this time of the year, and its stage here is two feet and rapidly falling.

Park Rapids Fair

Park Rapids, Minn., Aug. 30.—The Shell Prairie Agricultural association will hold its seventh annual fair at Park Rapids, Sept. 17, 18 and 19. It will be the best ever held here. Park Rapids business men offer $1,300 in special attractions. There will be three gala days. The races are attracting much attention. Large Purses and the best track in northern Minnesota are bringing some of the best horses in the state here.

RAPE AS A FERTILIZER

Full Value of this Plant Not Yet Understood

Prof. Henry of the Wisconsin experiment station writes in regard to the introduction of rape in the United States as follows:

"The rape plant was first brought prominently to the attention of farmers of this country by the Wisconsin Station. In 1890 the writer saw a 30-acre field of rape at the Ontario Agricultural College; 800 sheep were being bounteously fed on it. The next season rape was sown on the Station farm of Wisconsin, and has been ever since. Because the seed is cheap many farmers do not appreciate the value of the plant. If they were charged one dollar an ounce for it, and had their attention called to it through flashy seed catalogues and startlingly worded advertisements, many would try this plant who now are indifferent because only its real merits are stated. Many persons will not experiment with new plants unless extravagant claims are made concerning them. Then they are eager to do so. We all like to be humbugged and are impatient with those who merely tell the truth even about good things. The writer sometimes thinks that the rape plant would be more extensively used today if it had been introduced through the medium of some irresponsible, flashy seed house, rather than through the source of experiment station effort, backed up by reliable agricultural journals."

This is a plant which is worthy of far more attention and wider experiment that it has yet received from the farmers of the Red River valley.

Not only is it of great value as a forage plant on account of its highly nutritious qualities, but as a fertilizer it is also credited with great usefulness.

Mr. A. E. Brush of Angus has experimented with it to a limited extent by sowing it with wheat at the rate of two pounds to the acre, and finds that while it is held in restraint by the wheat until the latter is harvested, it becomes well established prior to that time, and then immediately takes a new vigor and grows rapidly, forming a heavy covering upon the ground which makes excellent pasturage for sheep and hogs

His acquaintance with the plant has suggested to him that it must decay readily when plowed under in its prime and constitutes a valuable fertilizer. It is his purpose to make experiments with it along this line in the future, and the Journal would advise others of its readers to do the same. Its low price places the expense of a trial within reasonable limits, and its merits can easily be tested and promptly ascertained by every farmer for himself. And there is certainly good ground upon which to base a strong hope of profitable results from burying a good growth of such succulent vegetation, being shown in succeeding crops.

Their Secret is Out.

All Sadieville, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whittaker, who had for a long time endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. "It's all due to Dr. King's New Discovery," writes her husband. "It completely cured her and also cured our little grand daughter of a severe attack of whooping cough." It positively cures Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, all Throat and Lung Troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at A. G. Anderson's drug store.

ST. LOUIS FAIR ATTRACTION

Huge Globe 700 Feet High Containing Theatres, Roof Garden, Etc.

St. Louis, Aug. 30.—One of the primary attractions of the St. Louis world's fair will be a marvelous aerial globe 70 feet high from stone base to roof. Beside it, if present plans are carried out, the Eifel tower and the Ferris wheel are crude engineering feats. The big globe will be constructed by a company headed by C. E. Blanke, with a capital of $1,500,000. At a height of 110 feet will be a spacious roof garden about 1,000 feet in circumference. This space will contain two restaurants and two theatres.

At an altitude of 290 feet will be located a huge coloseum, with walks around the globe giving a complete view of the grounds. Below will be seen two regular circus rings and a race track. Underneath the seats will be a menagerie, viewed from the circular walk. The music hall will be 420 feet up, with numerous novel musical attractions. At 450 feet will be an aerial palm garden. A complete view of the grounds may be had from there. Six hundred feet up will be the observation tower, where the weather bureau and search light display will be located. Above this will be a wheel house for sixteen huge elevators, capable of carrying sixty persons each, which will carry the crowds through the big sphere.

Sent Absolutely Free on Receipt of Postal.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthamalene received in good condition: I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

We want to send to every sufferer a trial treatment of Asthmalene, similar to the one that cured Mr. Wells. We'll send it by mail POSTPAID, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, to any sufferer who will write for it, even on a postal. Never mind, though you are despairing, however bad your case, Asthmalene will relieve and cure. The worse your case, the more glad we are to send it. Do not delay, Write at once, addressing DR. "I did not sleep a night for seven long weeks."

That prolonged period of sleeplessness is most expressive of the pain and suffering caused by womanly diseases. It is pleasant to contrast the medical inefficiency which said "I could not be cured" with the prompt and permanent cure effected by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This great medicine for women establishes regularity, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's medicines to other suffering women," writes Mrs. Mary Adams, of Grassycreek, Ashe Co., N. C. "I had internal trouble very badly until it resulted in ulcers of the uterus. I was troubled with it so that I did not sleep a night for seven long weeks. The doctors said I could not be cured, but I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Pleasant Pellets.' After taking two bottles I could sleep all night, and after taking six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three vials of 'Pleasant Pellets' my case was cured. I had told my husband that I would have to die, as it seemed I could not live. He told me to put faith in Dr. Pierce's medicines, for it had cured others and would cure me. So I did, and I thank God and your medicine for saving my life."

AN EXTRA SESSION

Of the State Legislators Seems to be Almost a Foregone Conclusion.

TAX COMMISSION REPORT

Will Have to be Enacted Upon—Legislators are All in Favor of the Session.

The Minneapolis Journal, with a view of determining the state of sentiment concerning an extra session of the legislature, sent a circular letter to every member of the house and senate asking an answer to this question: "Do you favor an extra session to receive and act upon the report of the tax commission, assuming that that report will be ready within the specified time, Feb. 2, 1902?"

So far sixty replies have been received, of which fifty-five have been distinctly in favor of an extra session.

Senator Ryder, who has forsaken his constituency in Polk county, and who is now working at the printers' trade in St. Paul, answered in the following terms:

"Yes, I favor the extra session. In the caucus to decide the matter I was one of the very small majority who opposed it. We were beaten so decisively at all points and the large majority were so earnestly in favor of the plan that they should have opportunity to vindicate their judgment. Then, too, as Governor Van Sant pledged himself to call an extra session, provided the regular one was shortened, good faith and good politics both urge consideration of the action on the report of the tax commission, apart from the many entangling measures that usually occupy the time of a regular session.

"A very good friend of the governor has told me with seeming confidence that there will be no extra session; but he may have been only guessing. Still, he has guessed right nearly always, so far."

In answer to the question Representative Oppegaard unburdens his mind in this way:

"I am now in favor of an extra session, and one of my principal reasons for same is my hope of getting another chance to try and rectify present inequitable laws which permit certain cities in the state (among whom is the city of Crookston in my district) to receive the penalty and interest on their delinquent taxes, which privilege towns and municipalities in general throughout the state do not enjoy. If this injustice could be remedied (which it, of course, can if a majority favors it) at the extra session, it would be of far more benefit to my constituency than many times their share of the additional cost of an extra session."

The Journal concludes as a result of its inquiry that an extra session is not wanted by the railroad, street railway and mining corporations, nor by companies holding franchises not now taxable. All realize that an up to date commission will shift the burden of taxes to a great extent from the middle classes to the holders of valuable franchises and "natural monopolies." Such a change is bound to come, but the longer delayed the better.

Influence of various kinds have been at work among members of the legislature, on the governor, and even, it is reported, on members of the tax commission. The influence has been in the nature of arguments against the expediency of an extra session. They have had little weight with the governor and have made poor progress among members of the legislature.

The only contingency that can prevent the extra session is a failure of the tax commission to report by Feb. 2, 1902. This is a duty charged upon them by law, and they have stated that they intend to fulfill it.

FISHED WITH A GUN

Grover and the Boys Encounter a Game Warden

Pittsfield, Mass., Aug. 31.—The arraignment of Cassius Scranton of New Marlboro in the district court on a charge of fishing bass less than eight inches in length brought out the announcement that deputy fish and game keepers had interrupted a fishing party composed of former President Grover Cleveland, Dr. Bryant of New York and Mr. Scranton on Lake Garfield. The deputies found a short bass in the boat and upon being informed by Mr. Scranton that he had taken it, he was summoned into court and fined $2. No complaint was made against Mr. Cleveland.

MR. BEATON TALKS

No Resentment Because of Failure to Land That Appointment

W. L. Beaton was over from Fisher Wednesday greeting acquaintances and discussing the prospects for the fall business. Mr. Beaton was a candidate for the appointment on the state board of grain appeals, and to a Journal representative he expressed himself freely concerning the matter.

"I am not at all disgruntled," said Mr. Beaton, "over my failure to land the appointment. I realize that the place given to northern Minnesota having been filled during the life of the board by a democrat, it was but natural that the governor should feel that it was best to continue a man of that political affiliation in the position. I had the support of the leading republicans for the position, and it was hearty and whole-souled, and I am very grateful to them for their efforts in my behalf. Mr. Gleason is a long-time resident of the upper country, and he will fill the position acceptably to all."

Cost of Hopper Killing

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—E. B. Forbes, acting States entomologist, has turned a bill for $1,613, spent for kerosene oil used in killing grasshoppers this summer in the Red River valley. Most of it was used in Clay, Norman and Polk counties. The account is paid from an appropriation of $20,000 made in 1889, and placed at the disposal of the governor for such emergencies. There is about $5,000 remaining in this fund.

Astounded the Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennetville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50 cents at A. G. Andresen's.

F. W. Walraven, a bridge carpenter at work on the Southern Pacific road, T. Redington, the agent at Conception, and J. Boshy, the night operator, found a large mass of ambergris near Point Conception, Cal., worth $40,000.

It is claimed that Gross Point, Ill., has the largest tree in the United States, except the Redwoods of California. It is a poplar known as Black Hawk. It is 130 feet high, 31 feet in circumference and is hollow at the base and in this cavity Indian councils are said to have been held. This tree is supposed to be 600 years old.

A Frenchman has invented a process for making artificial leather of refuse parts of skins and hides. The material is put in a vat with a strong alkaline solution and after being reduced to a pulp and treated in another machine, it is put through a paper machine and the thin sheets are pressed together in a powerful hydraulic press which makes it into artificial leather.

There is a red oak tree in the wildest section of Arkansas 160 feet high and 12 feet in diameter at its base, and an effort will be made to transport it to St. Louis for the world's fair. It will be dug up by the roots, and none of its branches will be trimmed, so that it will appear at the fair just as it stands in the woods. The plan is to remove it to the river and float it thence up the Mississippi to St. Louis.

Costly Gun Plays

New York, Aug. 29.—Big preparations are being made at the Brooklyn navy yard for the test of the new Gathman gun, to take place at Sandy Hook in September. Two immense targets, costing about $15,000 each, are being constructed. They are made to represent a section of the battleship Iowa. The armor plate is backed by five inches of wood. Then come two ⅝ inch plates, and the iron work of a ships side, with braces and angle iron and inner sides. A plate 2½ inches thick will cover the top to represent a deck. If what the inventor of the gun hopes for is demonstrated, the $30,000 targets will be demolished with two shots.

Bankrupt's Petition for Discharge

In the District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota, Sixth Division.

In the matter of Alvin Newland, Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.

To the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota, Sixth Division.

Alvin Newland of Crookston in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 13th day of June, A. D. 1901, last past, he was duly adjudicated bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore, he prays that he may be decreed by the Court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

ALVIN NEWLAND,
Bankrupt.

Dated this 24th day of July, A. D. 1901.

United States District Court, District of Minnesota, Sixth Division, ss.

On this 16th day of August, A. D. 1901, on reading the foregoing petition, it is Ordered by the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 24th day of Sept., A. D. 1901, before said Court, at Fergus Falls, in said District, at two o'clock in the afternoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Polk County Journal, a newspaper printed in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the Court, that the Clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the said Court, and the seal thereof, at Fergus Falls, in said District, on the 24th day of August, A. D. 1901.

CHARLES L. SPENCER,
Clerk.

A short time ago the boys suspected every stranger from the busy commercial traveler to the professional hobo to be a game warden, but now after the hunting season has arrived they feel relieved and dozens of birds are brought in.

Farmer Girls Who Farm.

Miss Clara Risdon is a Kansas girl who really farms, says a Delphos (Kan.) dispatch to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. With her sister Cloe she put in 50 acres of wheat last fall and will do the same thing this season. They did all the work—plowing, harrowing and seeding. Besides they take care of 10 hogs and milk 6 cows, taking the milk to the creamery. There are no men on the farm, and they did most of the wheat shocking this season. They have paid off the mortgage on the home farm, bought a new buggy and have some money in the bank. The coming fall they will have the house repaired and buy a piano. There are few farmers in the vicinity who have made a better record.

Unearthed a Decorated Skeleton.

A skeleton has been unearthed at the Adena mound which evidently had the flesh stripped from the bones before burial, says a Chillicothe (O.) dispatch to the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The bones were then painted with hematite, or red ocher, presenting a very gruesome appearance.

THE MURDEROUS ASSAULT

Was Incited by Anarchistic Teachings and Literature.

Buffalo. Aug. 6.—(Special.)—While at the Temple of Music on the exposition grounds shortly after 4 p. m., a medium sized man, dressed in black, approached President McKinley. Both the president and Secretary Cortelyou noticed that one hand was swathed in a handkerchief.

The man worked his way to the dais until he was within two feet of the president. The latter smiled, bowed and extended his hand in the spirit of gallantry so well known to the American people who have met him personally.

Suddenly there rang out two sharp reports of a revolver. The noise was heard even at some distance above the shuffling of feet and the myriad of voices. Most of the people realized that a tragedy had been enacted, but of the multitude present, but one mind retained its equilibrium, one hand remained steady. One eye was calm, one voice was firm and unimpassioned. They were the mind, hand, eye and voice of President McKinley.

After the shots the president retired a step, then as the detectives leaped upon his assailant, he turned, walked to a chair, seated himself, removed his hat, and bowed his head in his hands.

In an instant Secretary Cortelyon was at the president's side. He opened the waist coat, the president continuing quiet, exhibiting no alarm.

Secretary Cortelyou exclaimed: "You are wounded; let me examine."

"No, I think not," said the president; I am not hurt, I assure you."

Nevertheless, as soon as the outer garments were loosened the crimson stream that covered the linen proved that the president did not realize his condition, and that the worst fears were confirmed.

A force of exposition guards were at once on the scene and tried to clear the building. The crush was terrific. Spectators crowded down the rostrum despite the efforts of the police.

In an instant almost complete silence reigned. The president stood still a look of almost complete bewilderment on his face. He retreated a step, a palor overspread his features, and the multitude farther away from the rostrum craned their necks toward where the great tragedy was being enacted. Then suddenly, with the leap of tigers, three men threw themselves forward as with one impulse, and sprang toward the assassin. Two were secret service men on lookout and whose duty it is to guard against such a calamity, as had befallen the president and the nation. The third was a colored man who had just shaken hands with the president before the assassin came forward. They seized the assassin, pinned his arms and threw him to the ground.

He was then hustled to the rear by the exposition guards, and as soon as the crowd in the Temple of Music had dispersed sufficiently, the president was placed in an automobile ambulance and removed to the exposition hospital.

The best of medical skill was secured and the president retained his full faculties until placed on the operating table and anaesthetics administered. It was found that one bullet had entered the right breast just below the nipple and made a comparatively harmless wound; the other is in the abdomen, about four inches below the left nipple, and four inches to the left of the navel. The second bullet was probed for, but not located.

The incision was hastily closed and after a consultation it was decided to move the president to the home of President Milburn.

All except the physicians and nurses were excluded from the Milburn home. Dr. Roswell P. Darke began probing for the bullet in the abdomen.

Mrs. McKinley was staying at the Milburn home, but was not told, as it was feared a premature statement might cause serious trouble. No one was permitted to approach the house.

Mrs. McKinley, when told, bore the shock remarkably well, displaying the utmost fortitude.

The president's assailant was taken immediately to the police station, where he was safely landed before anyone knew of his presence. The news meanwhile spread broadcast and a crowd surged around the terrace, eager for a glimpse of the prisoner. A strong cordon of police stood them off. Thousands blocked the streets and some one cried, "Lynch him." Every one re-echoed the cry, "Lynch him, hang him." The crowds pressed close about the doors when suddenly the big gate swung open and a squad of reserves advanced in solid front and drove the mob back across the street. By this time thirty thousand people had gathered. The crowd was so great that it was necessary to rope off the entire street. At a late hour this morning the police were still patrolling the streets in squads.

The district attorney, Supt. of Police Bull, Capt. Reagan and other officers proceeded to pump the prisoner. He proved at first quite communicative, so much so that little dependence could be placed upon what he said. He gave his name as Fred Nieman, home Detroit. He had been in Buffalo a week. It was finally learned his true name is Leon Czolgozz. He stands a self confessed assassin. To the officers he made a confession covering six pages of foolscap.

TOLD BY ASTROLOGER

President Warned by Star Gazer While in San Francisco.

The Crookston Daily Journal published the following telegram last May:

New York, May 25.—Gustav Meyer, the youngest astronomer and astrologer in America, who lives in Hoboken, wired President McKinley in San Francisco as follows: "Your wife will live, but guard yourself against assassins during June."

Meyer foretold the election of Mr. McKinley in the stars when Mr. Bryan's electric light and fireworks made Madison Square Garden a blaze of glory, and received a cordial letter from the president's private secretary thanking him. Said the youthful astrologer:

"Mind you, I don't say outright that the president will be assassinated in June. The stars don't tell that he will actually be killed. but they go a mighty long way toward showing that an attempt will be made upon Mr. McKinley's life, and it is nothing but prudence to notify him of this, which I have done by wire."

Meyer predicts that Mrs. McKinley will live at least until next February, March or April, but that she will have another severe attack of illness.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The statement of Leon Czolgosz made to the police and transcribed and signed by the prisoner is as follows:

"I was born in Detroit nearly 29 years ago. My parents were Russian Poles. They came here 42 years ago. I got my education in the public schools of Detroit and then went to Cleveland, where I got work. In Cleveland I read books on socialism and met a great many socialists. I was pretty well known as a socialist in the west. After being in Cleveland for several years, I went to Chicago, where I remained several months, after which I went to Newburg, on the outskirts of Cleveland, and went to work in the Newburg wire mills.

"During the last five years I had as friends anarchists in Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and other western cities, and I suppose I became more or less bitter. Yes, I know I was bitter. I never had much luck in anything, and this preyed on me. It made me morose and envious.

"But what started the craze to kill was a lecture I heard some little time ago by Emma Goldman. She was in Cleveland and I and other anarchists went to hear her. She set me on fire. The doctrine that all rulers should be exterminated was what set me to thinking so that my head nearly split with pain.

> Miss Goldman's words went right through me and when I left the lecture room I made up my mind that I would have to do something heroic for the cause I loved.

"Eight days ago, while I was in Chicago, I read in a Chicago paper of President McKinley's visit to the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo. That day I bought a check for Buffalo and got hold of the determination to do something, but I did not know just what.

"I thought of shooting the president, but I had not formed the plan. I went to live at 1078 Broadway, which is a saloon and hotel. John Nowak, a Pole, sort of politician, who has led his people here for many years, owns it. I told Nowak that I came to see a face. He knew nothing of what was setting me crazy. I went to the exposition grounds a couple of times a day.

"Not till Tuesday morning did the resolution to shoot the president take hold of me. It was in my heart there was no escape for me. I could not have conquered it had my life been at stake. There was thousands of people in town on Tuesday. I heard it was the president's day. All those people seemed to be bowing to a great ruler. I made up my mind to kill that ruler. I bought a 32-calibre revolver and loaded it. On Tuesday I went to the fair grounds and was near the railroad gate when the presidential party arrived. I tried to get near him, but the police forced me back. They forced everybody back, so that the great ruler could pass. I was close to the president when he got into the grounds, but was afraid to attempt assassination because there were so many men in the body guard that watched him.

> I was not afraid of them or that I should get hurt, but afraid I might be seized and that my chance would be gone forever.

"Well, he went away that time and I went home. On Wednesday I went to the grounds and stood right near the president, right under him near the stand from which he spoke. I thought half a dozen times of shooting while he was speaking, but I could not get close enough. I was afraid I might miss and then the great crowd was always jostling and I was afraid lest my aim should fail. I waited Wednesday and the president got into his carriage again and a lot of men were about him and formed a cordon that I could not get through, and was tossed about by the crowd and my spirits were getting pretty low. I was almost hopeless that night, so I went home.

"Yesterday morning I went again to the exposition grounds.

> Emma Goldman's speech was still burning me up.

"I waited near the central entrance for the president, who was to board his special train from that gate, but the police allowed nobody but the president's party to pass, so I staid at the grounds waiting.

"During yesterday I first thought of hiding my pistol under my handkerchief. I was afraid if I had to draw it from my pocket, it would be seen and seized by the police. I got to the Hall of Music the first one, and waited at the spot where the president was to be; then he came and I got in line and waited until I got right up to him and then I shot twice before I removed my white handkerchief. I would have fired more, but was stunned by a blow in the face, an awful blow that knocked me down and then they jumped on me. I thought I would be killed, and was surprised at the way they treated me."

Czolgosz ended his story in utter exhaustion. When he had about concluded he was asked:

"Did you really mean to kill the president?"

"I did," was the cold blooded answer.

"What was your motive; what good could it do?"

> "I am an anarchist, I am a disciple of Emma Goldman. Her works set me on fire," he replied without the slightest tremor.

"I deny that I have had an accomplice at any time," Czolgosz told District Attorney Penny. "I don't regret my act, because I was doing what I could for the great cause. I will not be connected with the Petterson group, or with those anarchists who sent Bresci to Italy to kill Humbert. I had no confidants, no one to help me—I was alone absolutely."

Buffalo, Sept. 10.— The operation performed on the president at the Emergency hospital left no need for a second operation to follow it almost immediately. The full details of the operation heretofore have not been known. It was performed by Dr. Matthew D. Mann. His first assistant was Dr. Herman Mynter. His second assistant was Dr. John Parementer. His third assistant was Dr. Lee of St. Louis, who happened to be on the exposition grounds at the time of the tragedy and placed his services at the disposal of the president. Dr. Nelson W. Wilson noted the time of the operation and took notes. Dr. Eugene Wasdin, of the Marie hospital, gave the anaesthetic. Dr. Rixey arrived at the latter part of the opration and held the light. Dr. Parke arrived at at the close of the operation. It was Dr. Mann who wielded the knife.

The operation lasted almost an hour. A cut about five inches was made. It was found necessary to turn up the stomach of the president in order to trace the course of the bullet. The bullet's opening into the front wall of the stomach was small and it was carefully closed with sutures, after which a search was made for the hole in the back wall of the stomach. This hole where the bullet went out of the stomach was larger than the hole in the front wall of the stomach, in fact, it was a wound over an inch in diameter, jagged and ragged. It was sewed up in three layers. This wound was larger than the wound where the bullet entered the stomach because the bullet, in its course, forced tissues through ahead of it.

In turning up the stomach, an act that was absolutely necessary, and was performed by Dr. Mann with rare skill, the danger was that some of the contents might go into the abdominal cavity and as a result cause peritonitis. It so happened that there was very little in the president's stomach at the time of the operation. Moreover, subsequent developments tend to show that this feature of the operation was grandly successful and that none of the contents of the stomach entered the abdominal cavity.

If any of the contents had entered the cavity the probability is that before now peritonitis would have set in.

New York, Sept. 11.—Details of a previous plot against the life of President McKinley are given out on authority, it is said, by Senator T. E. Ellsworth, according to a special to the Tribune from Lockport, N. Y. He is credited with the statement that the plot was hatched in Patterson, N. J., about the first of May, and Emma Goldman, Louis Binestein and other prominent anarchists are said to have been concerned in it. A young tailor, Michael Anunzi, it is said, was the one to whose lot it fell to do the deed. At that time the president was on his tour of the west and Anunzi left for San Francisco, where he expected McKinley would be by the time he reached there. But he arrived several days ahead and attended several anarchist meetings where he met a young man to whom he told his purpose. The young man was none other than a secret service detective and Anunzi was promptly arrested, but upon lack of evidence and certain advices from Washington, only the charge of vagrancy was entered against him.

The condition of Mrs. McKinley is said to have had some bearing upon the matter, which was hushed up, the prisoner being sentenced to eight months in the San Francisco workhouse.

THE LATEST NEWS

As to the President's Condition---His Early Recovery Certain.

EMMA GOLDMAN NIPPED

Tried to Make Officers Believe She Was a Swede Woman But Failed.

Milburn House, Buffalo, Sept. 11.—The following bulletin was issued by the president's physicians at 10:30 last evening:

"The condition of the president is unchanged in all particulars. His temperature is 100.6, pulse 114, respiration 28. When the operation was done on Friday it was noted that the bullet had carried with it a short distance beneath the skin a fragment of the president's coat. This foreign matter was, of course, removed, but a slight irritation of the tissues was produced, evidence of which has appeared only tonight. It has been necessary on account of the slight disturbance to remove a few stitches and partially open the skin wound. This incident cannot give rise to other complications, but it is communicated to the public, as the surgeons in attendance wish to make their bulletins entirely frank. In consequence of this separation of the edges of the surface wound, the healing of the same will be somewhat delayed. The president is now well enough to begin to take nourishment by the mouth in the form of pure beef juice."

Great Recuperative Powers

Buffalo, Sept. 11.—The president's physicians have been impressed with his remarkable recuperative powers, and the rapidity of his improvement. Ordinarily an incision for such an operation as was performed upon the chief executive should heal within three weeks, but in the president's case he may be taken direct to Washington as soon as they are able to remove him. Within the sick room many evidences of the president's improvement were apparent. The president himself began to show confidence in his ability to care for himself, and from time to time he would carefully turn himself to get a more restful position.

The most important development of the day was a private determination reached among those in charge of the case that nourishment should be administered to the patient by the mouth. Not since the shooting has a morsel of food been given to the president by natural means. But the drain of his system has not been met by the dissolved foods administered by injection. This is the fourth day of fasting from ordinary means of nourishment and tomorrow will be the fifth day. The importance of this feeding by the mouth is that it will restore the normal action of the stomach. That organ had both its walls pierced by the bullet.

The doctors are satisfied that the time has come now to renew these normal functions, and the five days which have elapsed since the wounds in the stomach were closed gives them assurance that the tissues are sufficiently healed to allow nature to resume her sway.

Probing the Wounds

Buffalo, Sept. 7.—One bullet, which penetrated near the right nipple struck a bone and glanced off, and was easily recovered by probing. The other entered the abdomen a few inches from the median line and its course was followed by the surgeons until it was ascertained it had penetrated the inner wall, but no trace of injury to the intestines could be discovered. The wound was then carefully closed and examination made in the rear of the abdominal cavity, where a slight penetration of the inner wall was discovered, but the location of the bullet could not be ascertained.

CAPTURE OF MISS GOLDMAN

Tried to Make Officers Believe She Was a Swede Woman

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Emma Goldman, the "anarchist queen," under whose red banner Leon Czolgosz claims to stand, whose words he claimed fired his heart and his brain to attempt the assassination of the president, was arrested here shortly before noon yesterday. She disclaimed all but the slightest acquaintance with the president's assailant; she denied absolutely that she or any other anarchist she knew was implicated in the plot to kill the president. She said she believed Czolgosz acted entirely on his own responsibility, and that he never claimed to have been inspired by her, as he is quoted as affirming.

The president, she averred with a yawn, was an insignificant being to her—a mere human atom, whose life or death was a matter of supreme indifference to her, or to any anarchist. Czolgosz's act was foolish, she declared; it probably had its inspiration in the misery which the Pole has seen about him. Violence, she said, was not a tenet in the faith of the anarchist, and she said was not advocated in Cleveland, where Czolgosz had said he heard her, nor elsewhere.

Miss Goldman arrived here Sunday morning from St. Louis. The excitement she was laboring under was suppressed, and only once did she break down completely. That was when Captain Schuettler led her from the office of Chief of Police Neill to the cab which was waiting to convey her to the women's annex to the Harrison street police station. For a moment she became a woman, pure and simple, and cried. In a moment, however, this exhibition of distress was over and when she put her foot on the step to mount into the carriage, she was again Emma Goldman, the high priestess of anarchy, as she had been styled by her followers.

She said her purpose in coming here had been to assist the anarchists who were arrested here several days ago. She had intended to give herself up to the police, but delayed for one reason and another until the police she had dreaded so much had taken the matter into their own hands. She was held on a warrant sworn out by Capt. Colleram, charging her with conspiracy to murder the president.

When Capt. Schuettler and Detective Hertz discovered her at the home of one Norris, at 303 Sheffield avenue, she denied her identity.

"Hello, Miss Goldman," said the captain as he entered the parlor. "Are you glad to see me?"

"I'm not Miss Goldman. I'm a Swedish woman and my name is Lena Larson," answered the anarchist, endeavoring to imitate a Swedish dialect.

"All right. I speak Swedish myself," said the police officer, as he poured out a few questions in the Norse tongue. Miss Goldman did not answer him, affecting to misunderstand. Detective Hertz meanwhile had been investigating and had found a pen with the name Emma Goldman engraved upon it.

"What does this mean?" shouted Captain Schuettler, holding the telltale article before its owner's eyes.

"It means that the game is up," she said. She then admitted her identity fully and accompanied the officers to the office of Chief O'Neill.

WILL DIG DITCHES

Such Was the Decision of the State Drainage Board Yesterday.

TWENTY MILES TO BE LET

Many Thousand Acres of Land to be Drained and Benefitted.

The new state drainage board met in the governor's office Thursday. The board consists of Gov. Van Sant, State Auditor Dunn and Secretary of State Hanson. Geo. E. Ralph of Crookston, engineer for the board, made his report and, acting on it, the board voted to advertise for bids for the construction of four main ditches to be completed for $25,000, the amount now available. The secretary of state and engineer were instructed to secure the right of way.

The Lost river ditch, in Polk and Beltrami counties, will be 3.7 miles in length, 2 feet deep and 20 feet wide; cubic yards to be excavated, 30,274.5; acres benefited, 22,500. The Badger and Skunk creek ditch in Roseau county will be 8¼ miles long, 12 feet wide and from 3½ to 4 feet deep. There will be 89,759 cubic yards to be excavated. The New Solum ditch in Marshall county will be 4 miles long and 10 feet wide, with a total excavation of 55,728.6 cubic feet. It will benefit 1,000 acres of swamp lands. The Goodhope ditch empties into Marsh river in Norman county. It will be five miles long and 12 feet wide, and 72 424 yards will be excavated. It is expected to secure the right of way for all four ditches free of cost.

BOWLING ALLEY SOLD

Place Will be Refitted in First Class Shape

The sale of the bowling alley on execution was billed for today and was called up during the afternoon. The property was put up and bid on by several, being finally knocked down to W. A. Wilson, the price offered being $150.

After the sale closed Mr. Wilson wanted a bill of sale, and was informed that he had bought subject to two mortgages. He hadn't been looking to purchase any mortgages, and so informed Constable Glenn, who had charge of the sale, but that did not seem to have been taken into account by the constable.

After discussing the matter for a time it was decided that owing to the misunderstanding the sale should be reopened at the price offered by the last bid before the one made by Mr. Wilson, which was $100. It was finally knocked down to A. K. Austin for $115, subject to the mortgage held by the Merchants National bank.

The rooms have been leased by M. Mercil who intends to fit up a place that will be first class in every respect and that will make the sport more popular than it has ever been here.

THAT AUCTION SALE

Told by a Reporter Who Was on the Ground

Pioneer Press: Are women successful stock farmers? Miss Mary Augusta Wilkinson of St. Paul and Crookston thinks they are; her father says some of them can't be beat, and a dozen discomfited stockmen who bid against her yesterday readily acknowledge that the attractive Minnesota girl who, at the beginning of the national Hereford sale nonchalantly watched proceedings from a rail in the judge's stand, should lead the North Star clan who believe in pure breeds and blooded animals.

Miss Wilkinson finished the day the possessor of four of the finest animals offered at the sale, and with the record of having twice paid the highest price of the day. Her entry into the field did not come until the bidding on the cow Cornelia was well advanced, but when it come the price went up by leaps and strides. Miss Wilkinson sat on the rail, watching the ring, and occasionally as her black lead pencil flashed in the air the announcement of another advance would surprise her opponents. The final flash of the lead pencil brought the figure to $500 and won the cow.

"Am I bidding for my father's farm?" Miss Wilkinson repeated. "No, it's our farm. I am bidding for myself as much as anyone, and succeeding fairly well," she added with a smile. The ring thought so. Three of the finest animals offered had already been sold to her at top-notch figures.

"Just a minute," Miss Wilkinson remarked to another question. And after she had secured Benefice, another superb cow, for $400, after a scrimmage with opposing bidders, she continued:

"I have bought cows that I have picked out myself in their stalls before the sale. I made up my mind what I wanted, and if you will look at my catalogue you will find the animals indicated by a check mark. I got every one I desired.

"Our farm lies three miles from Crookston and was established three years ago. We have herds of Shorthorns and Herefords. At the first half of the sale yesterday we bought three and papa bought another this morning. He buys cheap animals, though, only $105. Mine all cost us fancy figures.

"This makes the fifth today—all we want. I don't know what papa will think when he sees my list. But they are beautiful animals and I wanted them; therefore I guess it's all right."

Miss Wilkinson figured a moment over her list and then added with a laugh:

"Just think what a lot of new dresses the prices of these cows would have bought! But I don't care. I love fine stock.

The total of her purchases was $1,700.

Col. Wilkinson, however, said nothing that was not commendatory of his daughter's list. Other expert stockmen agreed that she had shown remarkable judgment in her selections. Her four purchases were desired by several stockmen from other states, one of them being especially sought by E. H. Weaver of Wibaux, Mont.

A THURSDAY WEDDING

Miss Ida Hancock to Become a Bride

Friends today authorized the announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Ida Hancock of Euclid to Dr. J. Paul Goode of Philadelphia, Pa. The event will occur at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hancock in this city Thursday, Sept. 12, at 6 o'clock p. m., Rev. H. P. Fisher officiating. A honeymoon trip will follow the wedding supper, the newly wed pair leaving over the Northern Pacific for Minneapolis where they will tarry, as will also be the case at Chicago and Buffalo, proceeding to Philadelphia, their future home.

The bride-elect is well known to all the Journal readers as a young lady of high intellectual attainments, nobility of character and a most amiable and lovable disposition. She has been prominent in educational circles both east and west; and met the man who won her heart while a teacher at the state normal school at Moorhead. The groom is at present occupying a chair in the University of Pennsylvania, where he is highly esteemed as an educator.

The Journal joins all the friends of Miss Hancock in best wishes for the future happiness of the soon-to-be-wed couple.

State Fair Exhibitor

Nils Johnson has returned from the state fair where he took a sample of the new variety of potatoes that he has originated, the White Scotch King, to place on exhibition. He took a premium on them, although he failed to enter the required amount as a sample. The judges decided that the merit of the variety justified their decision. He also exhibited the new patent harrow that he owns, and has the names of several hundred intending purchasers who will use the machine when it is manufactured. Mr. Johnson has opened negotiations with three firms each of which is desirous of manufacturing the harrows, but he has not yet arranged fully with any one to do so.

Back from Norway

Rev. Alex. Sand, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church on Sampson's addition, returned yesterday from a three months' trip to Sweden the home of his childhood. He crossed on the Lucania, and returned on the St. Louis, two of the finest and swiftest boats in the ocean trade and was entirely free from seasickness en route. The trip and visit were very enjoyable, but Mr. Sand is glad to get back to this country and to his charges here and in southern Polk county.

They Hear the Band

Crookston's band is delighting the state fair visitors this week and winning golden opinions from all. Two concerts each day are being given in Horticultural Hall, and crowds attend each and listen attentively.

The aggregation made the rounds of Newspaper Row on the grounds, and each of the city papers gave them credit for excellent work. The trip will be valuable to the city in an advertising way.

Off For the Philippines

Dr. Frank Irwin left Saturday for Minneapolis, and after a brief stay will start for the Philippines, where he has engaged with Uncle Sam to fill a position as an army veterinarian. He will be allowed a salary of $100 per month, and a liberal sum for expenses.

SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Sheire of Fisher do the Celebration Act

Editor and Mrs. Geo. A. Sheire, of Fisher, have been married a long time, and this is the way the Bulletin tells of an event in their wedded life:

"Twenty-five years is a long time to live with the same woman, but such has been our fate, and we have never had cause to regret it, and through the conspiracy of that same woman, we celebrated our silver wedding last Friday night. Twenty-five years ago, Aug. 30, at St. Paul, we, that is ourself, was married to Miss Leni L. Lighthourn, and through the quarter of a century have enjoyed married life as well as kids enjoy honey. Last Friday night, about the time to retire, our door opened, and a stream of people, headed by those old veterans, J. B. Merrill and E. A. Sweet, took possession of the house, and of course we surrendered. The evening was spent playing games and eating, and at the close the company presented Mrs. Sheire with a beautiful silver teapot and a set of teaspoons in memory of the day, after which, to show how youthful a bridal couple of 25 years could be, we were compelled, actually forced, to jump over the proverbial broomstick. We enjoyed the evening, we enjoyed the company of our friends, and it was all through the scheming of women."

THE PRIZE STORY

That Took the Meat All Out of the Chicken Season Yarns

Now that the chicken season is open, Editor Foss thinks something ought to be done to balance off the big stories, and digs up the following:

"I remember," says Uncle Zekiel, "when a boy that Uncle Josie Johnson while out hunting one day, got tired and sat down by a large pine tree in the Big Cove and fell asleep, but was awakened by a noise, and on looking down at his feet saw a large rattlesnake. Putting up his gun, he was about to shoot, when he saw a fine deer about eight feet in front of him. He took aim at the deer, when suddenly he heard a great flutter overhead; and looking up, he saw a large flock of wild turkeys. He no sooner saw them than he heard another noise in the bushes at his right, and looking round he saw a big bear gazing at him. Fearing that he was about to be devoured, he shot at the deer and the gun busted.

"The bullet killed the deer, the lock fell down the rattler's throat and choked him to death, the barrels shot up into the air and killed the wild turkeys, the stock killed the bear by striking him between the eyes, and the concussion threw Uncle Josie backward.

"When he landed on his back in the middle of a brush heap, he found he had killed 40 rabbits. It took a two horse team to cart the game home."

FARM LAND WANTED.

UNREQUITED LOVE

North Dakota Girl Crazed by Infatuation for Inkster Man

It will be remembered that last fall Amanda Enertson was brought to this city from Inkster and examined as to her sanity by the county board of insanity. At that time it was claimed that she was insane, the trouble arising as the result of her devotion to a young man of Inkster, who did not return her affections. It was then decided that if she was sent away she would probably be all right and on the 31st of last December she was sent to Evart, Mich., her old home, and it was thought the matter would end there.

A short time ago, however, she returned and again began making herself obnoxious to the same young man, who is highly respected at Inkster, and who never at any time encouraged her insane passion. She became so persistent at last that the citizens feared a repetition of the Luxton episode of a few years ago, which also occurred at Inkster, and Wednesday evening she was brought to this city and yesterday was examined by the insanity board, and will be taken to the Jamestown asylum this evening by Sheriff Collins.

The case is a very sad one in many respects, as at one time the girl was very bright, but her love, which was unrequitted, became an all absorbing passion, and she brooded over it until her reason fled, with the result above stated.—Grand Forks Herald.

Those Ditch Petitions

The county board has been very busy today trying to reach a decision on the three ditch petitions which have been up for consideration. The petition of Geo. Bossler and others in the town of Roome was rejected and action on the Fisher petition and that of John Sangstad and others in Roome was postponed in order to give the board time to personally view the proposed routes.

Notice to Ditch Contractors

Sealed proposals will be received by the board of audit at the office of the secretary of state for the state of Minnesota, until two o'clock p. m., September 26, 1901, for the construction of drainage ditches as follows:

Badger and Skunk Creek ditch in Roseau county, length 8¼ miles. Excavation, 89,759 yds.

Lost river ditch, in Polk and Beltrami counties, length 3 7-10 miles. Excavation, 30,275 cubic yds.

New Solum ditch, in Marshall county, length 4 miles. Excavation, 55,723 cubic yds.

Goodhope ditch, in Norman county, length 3 miles. Excavation, 72,424 cubic yds.

OATMEAL MILL

Will be Operated If the Owner Can Secure Grain Sufficient to Warrant

HAS 100 BARREL CAPACITY

And Product Could be Sold to Advantage Without Any Extra Effort.

One of the city's visitors Friday was Mr. N. Martin of Chicago, the man who owns the Crookston Oat Meal mills. He is the head of a wholesale tea nd coffee nouse in the Windy City and is touring the northwest on a trip taken to meet the customers of his house, and to enable him to come to Crooketon and arrange with regard to his property.

Mr. Martin will look over the situation while here and determine whether he will open the mill and operate it during the winter. The plant is capable of making the best quality of rolled oats and if sufficient stock could be purchased to keep the mill running throughout the year, or at least ten months' steady run, Mr. Martin would like to keep it in operation, as he says there would not he any difficulty in disposing of all that could be turned out in the way of product. The capacity of the mill is one hundred barrels per day, and to make this requires 1,000 hushels of oats. There is no profit in operating it at intervals, however, and while he is in the city Mr. Martin will canvass the situation and if possible arrange to start the plant on an all-year hasis. While here he will also repair the residence property situated across from the mill and put it in shape for renting.

RAILROAD NOTES

Wants Faster Time

The Northern Pacific is understood to he figuring upon faster time in its passenger schedule between the Twin Cities and the coast. Whether the present running time will be cut to any extent is uncertain, but there is no douht in the minds of officials that this can be done, in view of the present high standard of passenger equipment and the splendid physical condition of the property.

The chief factor being reckoned with just now is one which gives trouble to all transcontinental roads, and that is to make schedule time on a 2,000 mile run with ten or twelve heavy coaches filled with passengers in addition to a big express business. The run of 2,000 miles from the Twin Cities to Portland, Ore., is now covered at an average speed of thirty miles an hour, including stops and mountain grades. With a new train between Spokane and the coast, and the Burlington continued from Billings to Missoula, it is hoped that the work of the overland train will be lightened and hetter time made.

Short of Engines

The coast lines are suffering because of a shortage of freight engines. They are keeping a very close eye on their cars, and are not allowing any to get off their systems, but the need of more engines is a matter not so easily solved. The Northern Pacific is understood to he disappointed over the failure of an eastern firm to fill an order for new equipment. It included a number of new engines, 35 of which were expected some time ago, but hey have not yet arrived.

The same condition applies to the Great Northern. That company has been receiving considerable new equipment and recently a number of new engines were placed in service on the mountain divisions. They are insufficient to handle the business. and traffic is delayed. Both roads are keeping all possible equipment at this end on the Pacific end of their lines to care for local busines.

The Downs Special

Last evening a special train passed through the city bearing the remains of Superintendent Downs and his son who were killed in the wreck last week east of Kalispel. The remains were accompanied by the widowed wife and mother and General Superintendent Ward. The remains are being taken to Washington, D. C. for hurial. The train made a remarkable fast run from Lorimer to Minot, covering 179 miles in182 minutes.

SUICIDE NEAR HERMAN

John Maus Pays His Insurance and Then Takes Strychnine

Herman, Minn., Sept. 9—John Maus, a German farmer about 35 years of age, half a mile north of this place, committed suicide by taking strychnine just before dinner. He was a man easily made despondent. Yesterday, thinking a wind and possible rain might prevent him from getting up some of his hay or grain, stated that he wished he was dead. He then came to town, getting a receipt for his Modern Woodmen dues, which he had paid at a drug store previous to the first of the month, not being able to find the secretary of the lodge at home at that time. After getting his receipt he went home and took the poison. After doing so he made some remark to one of the men on his place as to what he had done. This man started for Herman for a doctor, but before the doctor arrived he was dead, having taken a very large dose of the poison, so that he died in a short time. He leaves a wife and two children and was well to do.

His life was insured in the Woodmen lodge.

SCALDED TO DEATH

A Threshing Machine Accident Results Fatally

Larimore, N. D., Sept. 9.—Yesterday afternoon between nere and Northwood a member of a threshing crew was scalded to death. Particulars of the dreadful accident are very meagre. It is said that while the engine was being moved the man, whose name could not be learned, fell, and in some manner the steam from the engine enveloped him. He was so hadly scalded that death resulted a few hours later. The unfortunate man suffered terribly.

HEAVY LIABILITIES

Hugh Thompson Cleaning Up the Old Milling Deal

Hugh Thompson, one of the well known citizens of East Grand Forks, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court at Fergus Falls Friday, placing his assets at $35,100, of which $50 is exempt, and his liabilities at $340,465. The assets consist of 360 shares of stock in the North Dakota Milling association and a few minor pieces of property, and his liabilities are largely notes which he endorsed for the association, the total amount of these notes being $326,065.

August Transfers

The records of Christianson & Straader's abstract office show that during the month of August just past there were made in Polk county 84 transfers, conveying title to 14,500 acres of land for the total consideration of $176,793, and 47 transfers conveying title to 73 village and city lots for $20,227, total consideration. During the same month last year there were 62 transfers, conveying 10,936 acres, for the total consideration of $90,659, and 30 transfers conveying 42 lots for the total consideration of $25,185.

Case of infanticide

Yesterday afternoon a driver of an ice wagon was horrified to find the remains of what appeared to be a fully developed baby, lying in the weeds a short distance west and north of the Douglas Terrace school in the Fifth ward at Fargo. No one appears to have any idea who the guilty parties are, but it is possible that the inquest will hring certain incidents connected with the case to light.

WU ASTONISHES NEWPORT.

Chinese Minister Shows He's an Old Hand at Dancing.

Minister Wu Ting Fang was the distinguished guest of honor at the dinner dance given by Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish at Crossways, says a Newport (R. I.) dispatch to the New York Journal. The Chinese minister at the feast delighted the others with his ready wit and repartee.

It was thought that when the feast would he over and the dancing begun that Minister Wu would be out of it, hut in this the guests received the surprise of the evening. The Celestial, arrayed in his richest native robes, took his place in the first figure, having Mrs. Fish as his partner, and the manner in which he lightly tripped about the polished hallroom floor led to the conviction that Mr. Wu has not heen wasting time since he became China's minister at Washington.

In the dancing which followed Minister Wu had as partners Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, Mrs. C. C. Pomeroy and several other society women. He needed no coaching, for whether the dance was a waltz or two step the Chinese minister was equally at home.

WHERE BLACK HAWK STOOD.

Discovery on Battle Island Ends the Dispute.

A cannon hall has been dug up on Battle island, in the Mississippi river, says a St. Paul dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean, which locates without doubt the position, heretofore unknown and often disputed, where Chief Black Hawk, during the last days of the famous Black Hawk war, stood with his outposts, attempting to display tha flag of truce to the steamer Warrior, which returned the request for mercy with a fusillade and cannon fire that killed 23 of the reds.

The hall was imbedded in the ground at the point of an island opposite the pavilion of the Battle island assembly and on a prominent hill, where the misguided Indians perched themselves so their flag of truce could be more easily seen.

It was in 1832, Aug. 1, and Black Hawk, after warring for some time, had been chased across Illinois up into Wisconsin to this point, his then small band heing repeatedly refused the right to display the flag, and the United States soldiers hotly pursuing them in overwhelming numhers. When they reached the river, Black Hawk took a white flag and went to the water's edge to surrender to the Warrior, that was coming up the river from Fort Crawford. As soon as the boat's crew discovered his identity they fired upon him, and, although Black Hawk escaped, his outposts, 23 in number, were slain.

It Must be Suppressed

The tragedy just enacted at Buffalo which has resulted in imperilling the life of the chief executive of the nation, should at least accomplish one thing, whether the final result is fatal or otherwise. It should arouse the nation to the necessity of banishing the overstrained, mawkish sentiment which so generally prevails in regard to the toleration of a so-called liberty on the part of the individual in the exercise of which he is permitted to exert to the maximum his personal influence toward tearing down and destroying the principles of which the government stands as an exponent. Emma Goldman and all others of her ilk who are making it their life work to incite prejudice, arouse passion, stimulate a spirit of murder and lawlessness and are encouraging the destruction of our national institutions, under whatever political name or guise they may be operating, should be effectually suppressed.

There can be no sufficient reason for the toleration which has in the past been exercised toward these bloodthirsty disturbers of the public peace. They are criminals in fact as much before their efforts have culminated in turmoil and bloodshed, as afterwards. In the eyes of the law and by its declarations the individual who plans a crime and secures its commission by another person is primarily responsible for the crime, and must meet the penalty provided for such crime. But anarchism is actively engaged in promulgating doctrines and instilling principles that are aimed at the foundation of our government, and is constantly imperilling life and property, and we are sitting quietly by and allowing the murder-breeding work to go on uninterruptedly until some one of its progeny commits the bloody deed which is but the climax of anarchism, and we then deal with the individual criminal only.

It is high time our loyal citizens throughout the nation demand of our law makers the enactment of such laws as shall promptly abolish the present murder breeding conditions and drive anarchism from our land. We cannot, in this instance at least, single out the individual criminal and inflict upon him the punishment for his crime and ignore the rampant force which developed the criminal. Anarchism in New Jersey was prompt in its active endorsement of the bloody deed, and it will do so in other places. And if allowed to continue the work it is pushing so vigorously, the harvest of bloodshed will soon be an overwhelming one.

For Rural Mail Delivery

The free rural mail delivery has passed the period of experiment and has demonstrated itself a most emphatic success. Wherever established it brings patrons in closer daily touch with the outside world, broadens their knowledge of current events, supplying them with the record of daily occurrences in such installments as can be read by every member of the family, and furnishes subjects of interest for discussion among them.

It thus becomes a valuable educator supplementing the work of the schools, whose advantages in many instances are only available to the children for a brief period in the winter. In its ultimate results it elevates the home life, promotes contentment, banishes to a great extent the sensation of isolation which makes farm life monotonous and the boys and girls restless under its limitations, and leads them in so many instances to long for the associations of the city and to resolve to leave the farm as soon as possible. Its value in these results is inestimable, and all agricultural districts throughout the country should be accorded its advantages as soon as the density of their settlement is sufficient to justify it. We believe there are several parts of Polk county which should be so favored at as early a day as possible. Among them, three routes from Crookston should be established, and it is to be hoped that during the coming winter petitions therefor will be secured and forwarded to the proper authorities.

A Monumental Crime

The hand of the assassin has for the third time in history been raised with murderous intent against the president of the United States. As in both the other instances, the man attacked was one whose administration of public affairs had proven him to be among the leading men in the science of government that God has given to nations.

That the bullet fired by the cowardly wretch of an assassin did not reach a vital spot and bring instant death to the head of the nation, is doubtless a matter of regret to the fiend that fired them. His purpose was murder, and the heinousness of his crime is accented in that his victim was the first man in the land.

Approaching apparently to do honor, ostensibly seeking the privilege of standing on a common level with the most honorable and the most highly honored man in the nation, or in the world, offering, as a thousand had done before him within the hour, the right hand of fellowship, the base, black hearted villain—would to God that the mantle of charity for an insane act might cover his offense—fired two shots, both of which took effect in the president's body, and which will likely cause his death.

Reaching out to grasp the hand, as he supposed, of a loyal American, the president met a Judas. Small is the wonder related in the dispatches that the by-standers sought to wreak vengeance upon him. Great is the wonder that the wretch was not seized and torn limb from limb by those who witnessed the cold blooded atrocity.

There is, happily, a possibility, albeit remote, that the intent of the murderer may fail, and that the end he sought to compass, the death of the nation's head, may be thwarted. The correctness of the president's daily walk of life, his abstemiousness and temperate habits have preserved to him a vigor of constitution that may enable him to recover from the attack upon his life. God grant that this may be, and that our president be spared to live out his term of usefulness and to round out to completion the period for which he was chosen chief executive of the nation.

Should Providence order otherwise, and the light of life should be dimmed to a spark that slowly flickers into the darkness of the night of death, the seventy-six millions of loyal Americans will have no fears for the perpetuity of the nation. It is firmly rooted and grounded in the hearts of those who love the land, and who are proud to be called its citizens.

In their wisdom, a law of incumbency has been provided, and in the present emergency, should the worst fears come to pass, the mantle of succession falls upon the worthy shoulders of a true man who will wear it with the spirit of modesty becoming one whose rule is in a measure vicarious, yet whose grasp of the conditions of government is such that he can be depended upon to do the right thing at all times, and whose force of character is a rock upon which the faith of a nation may rest secure.

FORECASTS FOR FARMERS

The postoffice department has decided to add another benefit feature to the rural mail delivery service and the farmers along the routes are to have the benefits of the United States weather bureau forecasts for the weather. All they will have to do will be to watch the carrier's wagon as it goes by. Arrangements are being made by the postoffice department and the weather bureau to have the mail carts equipped with signals which will be displayed on the sides. They will be as conspicuous as possible so that they can be read at a considerable distance from the highway. Mail carriers will receive their weather predictions for the day before they start on their routes in the morning and will put up the proper signals on both sides of their carts.

The signals to be used will be as attractive as a passing show. The system is the same as the flag system used in cities, but instead of flags, large tin signals will be used. These are in color and can be seen a long distance. Colored cards explaining the method of reading the signals will be distributed along the routes. This is the first attempt of this kind in the world.

Some idea of the enormous correspondence of the people of the United States may be gained from the requisition of the postmaster general to the bureaus of engraving and printing for next year's supply of stamps. It certainly shows that we are a letter writing nation. According to the estimate a total of 75,116,236,000 stamps will be required to meet the demands of the writing and shipping public for the twelve months beginning July 1.

Seventy-five thousand dollars is the price which the owner of a Missouri apple orchard of 2,000 acres gets for his apples as they hang on the trees this year, the purchaser taking all risks from now on. But any 2,000 of Minnesota's acres, planted to potatoes, yields a vastly bigger return. Even at the low average of 150 bushels an acre and 90 cents a bushel, 2,000 acres would yield the Minnesota farmer $270,000 this year.—Pioneer Press.

The compilation of census returns of 1900 shows that the average age at death has advanced in the United States from 31.1 years in 1890 to 35.2 years in 1900, or an advance of 4.1 years in the last decade.

BEST EVER HELD

In Any State Was the Recent Minnesota State Fair Says Secretary Randall.

EXCEEDED ALL ESTIMATES

Was Visited by More Than 200,000 People During the Week.

Secretary Randall is quoted as asserting that the state fair just closed was the most successful state fair, in point of number and variety of exhibits and in attendance, ever held in the United States.

The increase in attendance and receipts, compared with last year, is about 25 per cent. The total number of admissions at the turnstiles was 185,583, not including those that passed in with badges, an increase of 48,242 over the record of 1900. A total of more than 200,000 visited the fair. A pleasing feature was that there were 22,100 railroad coupons taken at the gates, 6,999 more than last year, showing an increase of almost 50 per cent in the number of people from outside the Twin Cities attending the fair. As the Milwaukee and Northern Pacific roads did not sell coupons, and many from outside did not secure coupon tickets, the total does not represent all the outside visitors.

Monday	25,513	11,447
Tuesday	29,124	14,367
Wednesday	38,509	33,435
Thursday	43,321	43,284
Friday	38,931	25,487
Saturday	10,185	9,321
Totals	185,583	137,341

The Pioneer Press says Secretary Randall estimates the total receipts of the fair at $125,000, which is $20,000 more than last year, when there was a balance on hand of $18,285.61. The racing purses were paid each night during the fair, and the awards in the live stock and poultry departments have all been paid. The awards in the agricultural and women's departments will be settled as soon as the books can be made up.

The board of fair managers held a meeting Saturday morning and discussed needed improvements at the grounds. The members decided that a machinery hall, a power and light plant, a permanent live stock pavilion, an addition to the grand stand, additional live stock barns and a new fence at the western ends of the grounds are necessary. The necessity for a sheep barn was so evident, part of the exhibitors having to be contented with temporary outside pens, that the secretary was instructed to have a large sheep barn built this fall. Work will be commenced on the building this week.

Practically all the live stock exhibits had been removed before Saturday night. The noisy midway was a quiet waste enlivened only by drays hauling tents or counters from off the grounds. The buildings were all dismantled and only a few pieces of heavy, red farm machinery, that will be moved during the week, remains to tell of the fair.

DIED AT BEMIDJI

Geo. Stone's Father Passes Away ---Cause Heart Failure

The Journal yesterday mentioned the departure of Geo. F. Stone for Bemidji, where he was called by the serious illness of his father, and it now develops that before the son reached his bedside he had passed away.

Deceased was 62 years of age and resided at Nashua, Iowa. Accompanied by his wife he was enroute to Moose Lake to visit another son who is located on a claim. The cause of death was heart failure. The remains will be taken to Iowa for interment.

Cows are Profitable

Mr. C. F. Miller of Square Butte, N. D., gives the Mandan Times these figures in regard to his cows. Since April 20 he has furnished to the Square Butte cheese factory something over 50,000 pounds of milk, besides what his large family uses. For this he receives approximately 63c per hundred pounds, or about $315. He milks 19 cows, of which one is farrow and two are 3-year-olds. For the entire season reasonably good cows will produce $20 in milk and a calf worth $10. Mr. Miller believes that there is more money in milking cows than in trying to raise grain, and these figures indicates that his faith is well founded. This is not a large yield of milk or a large price for it. And it is quite an ordinary cow that will not considerably exceed the results named, when within reach of a well managed co-operative creamery.

SALE OF STATE LANDS

STATE OF MINNESOTA, LAND OFFICE

St. Paul, Sept. 7th, 1901.

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 15th day of October, 1901, at 10 o'clock in the morning, at the office of the County Auditor in Crookston, Minnesota, I will offer for sale the following described unsold state lands, and the following described state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest will also be then and there offered for resale. Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from the date of sale to June 1st, 1902, must be paid at the time of the sale; The balance of the purchase money can be paid at any time, in whole or in part, within forty years of the time of the sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance of the purchase money will be four per cent per annum, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years, but if the principal is paid before the expiration of ten years from the date of the sale, the rate of interest on the unpaid balance will be five per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year.

Holders of certificates on which the interest payments are in default can have their certificates reinstated on payment before the sale of the interest in full to date and the penalties thereon, when the lands covered thereby will be withdrawn from sale.

—R. C. DUNN,
State Land Commissioner.

Routine Business is Done

The commissioners have been conducting business short handed today, Messrs. Bratvold and Fortier being compelled to return home to attend to the threshing. Those remaining were fully equal to the task of doing what was on hand. Among the matters considered were several tax abatements, and action on the usual grist of bills was taken. The letting of a contract for a bridge to be constructed over a ditch in the town of Vineland came up late this afternoon.

Oscar Olson, a former Crookston boy, who now looks after Larsen & Carpeater's interests at Fosston, was in the city Tuesday. With Mrs. Olson he has spent a week's vacation at Red Wing and the fair.

Wiley Tindolph, who holds a hand in the real estate game at Thief River Falls, spent Tuesday in Crookston and telling of the large number of people who are settling in Red Lake county, and how business is booming all along the line.

Dr. Dampier went down to Fargo Monday to see little Margaret Murray, who is suffering from an attack of diphtheria. He found the little patient with a fairly severe case, but says that he has hopes for her recovery, which a day or two will determine.

Don Robertson was a returning pilgrim from the state fair, where he has been looking after some matters of judging. He took time before going to Argyle this morning to say that of six entries of Red River valley products made from the farm of Hugh Parr, west of Warren, all took first premiums.

Rev. P. J. Lindberg is again at home after a visit of a month, the usual time alloted a minister for a vacation. While enjoying it he went to Northern Michigan and Wisconsin, where he found a number of men with whom he spent the years of his college life, and returns much refreshed by the trip.

S. L. Collins returned this morning from Minneapolis, Mrs. Collins having decided to continue to points in southern Minnesota for a few weeks' stay. They were met in the Twin Cities by Mr. Collins' mother, and enjoyed the state fair together.

A fine half section of land in one of the best neighborhoods in the Valley for rent for one or more years to some reliable party, good buildings, flowing well, river runs through barn-yard. Ninety acres pasture, fenced. Buildings are surrounded by a fine grove. Call on or address,

BIT OF GOOD NEWS

For Residents on the St. Hilaire Line and for the Traveling Public as Well.

PASSENGER TRAIN SERVICE

Will be Installed on the Branch Line Commencing Next Monday.

The people living along the line of the St. Hilaire branch, as well as the citizens of that place, Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls, will be holding jollification meetings when this issue of the Journal reaches them with the news that the train service on that line of the Great Northern is to be added to.

For years the business, freight and passenger, up that way has been done by a mixed train, and the lack of accommodations hae been the subject of many vigorous complaints. The company has persistently denied any relief from the conditions, and the feeling has not been of the best.

A passenger from Thief River was compelled to await at St. Hilaire the return of the train from Red Lake Falls, and the delay while the freight was being handled from way cars, or while the train crew was spotting cars at the mills, was most exasperating.

Commencing next Monday the company will put on an exclusive passenger train in addition to the train that now runs, and thereafter no portion of the system will have more satisfactory accommodations.

The time schedule has not yet been given out, but the new train will in all prababbility be started from Crookston after the arrival of the Duluth line train at 9 a. m., and return in time to bring pessengers here to connect with No. 13 west bound that leaves here at 4:49 in the afternoon. The mixed train will likely leave earlier in the day and arrive, returning, at about the time it now does.

This will be a very satisfactory arrangement for both the residents along the line and for the traveling public as well. The management has not as yet given out who will have charge of the trains.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN

Minnesota Conditions Summarized for the Past Week

There were slight rains in the Red River valley on the 5th, and heavy rains in the southern third of the state on the 7th and 8th. The temperatures were about 90 degrees in most parts of the state on the 3rd and 4th, and in southern portions on the 5th, followed by decidedly lower temperatures on the 7th and 8th. The rains will be helpful to pastures, gardens and plowing. Threshing has gone on well in northern portions, except for a slight delay due to the rains on the 5th, and in southern portions till the 7th, Fifteen working days will finish the threshing of all grain that is not to be held longer in stack. In Red Lake county there are still some oats, barley and buckwheat to cut, and the cutting of late flax is not finished in northern portions and in small areas elsewhere. Flax is very poor in the north, but is somewhat better in the south.

Much of the corn is ripe and out of danger of frost, and in southern portions a great deal is in shock. Corn varies in quality from very poor to fair, according to local conditions. Small areas of rye are being seeded where a good seed bed has been secured. The potato crop in northern counties is said to be good. In southeastern counties a very good crop of clover seed is being secured. In some portions cattle are being fed, the pastures being entirely dried up. Plowing has been much delayed by the hardness of the soil, but where the splendid rains have fallen since the morning of the 7th, it will be in excellent condition for working. Wells and creeks have been very low, and in Olmsted county, Rock river has been dry for miles, for the first time in the history of the county.

BODY CUT IN TWO

Three Men Stealing a Ride Ordered Off the Brake Rods at Moorhead.

TRIED TO GET ON AGAIN

And One, Don Benson, Fell Across the Rails and Was Instantly Killed.

Moorhead, Sept. 11.—Don Benson, a young man of about 20 years, was run over and instantly killed in the Moorhead yards of the Great Northern last night by the east bound passenger train, No. 10.

The young man was enroute to Minneapolis by the brake beam route in company with his brother Edward, and a man named Fletcher Wright, the three having boarded the train at Grand Forks and ridden to Moorhead without interruption. When the train came to a standstill at Moorhead the conductor noticed the men on the rods and ordered them off.

Young Wright remained off, but as the train started the two Benson boys determined to catch on again, and Ed succeeded in the attempt, but his brother was not so fortunate.

His foot caught on a false rail in the middle of the track, thus causing him to lose his hold and be left at the mercy of the wheels.

As soon as the brother Ed, who had succeeded in boarding the train, saw the man lose his hold, he swung himself out from the train and made several fruitless endeavors to pull his brother away from the wheels.

Young Wright, who stood near by, was compelled to hold the brother of the unfortunate man to prevent him going under the train to rescue his brother.

The man was thrown across the rails and was run over by the wheels of several cars, which passed over his body about the chest, cutting him completely in two.

The other two men were held for the inquest, which was held this morning. The dead man was about 20 years of age, and his body was at once taken to the police station.

The two brothers had been in the state but two months and had been at Minto where another brother keeps a barber shop. Their father and two other brothers are also at that point, although their home is at Bradford, Penn.

To Install New Pastor

The installation of Rev. Andrew Walker as pastor of the Presbyterian church of Thief River Falls will occur tomorrow. Rev. F. W. Fraser of this city will preside and deliver the charge to the pastor. The charge to the congregation will be delivered by Rev. McKibbin of East Grand Forks, and Rev. E. K. Grout of Stephen will preach the installation sermon.

Lost a Finge

Fred Stevens, of Angus, met with a painful accident yesterday while preparing to start his threshing rig. The machine was being given a try-out, and while his hand was in contact with the driving gear, the engineer started up. The second finger was crushed so that it will likely have to be amputated.

Looking for a Site

St. Paul, Sept. 11.—The sanatorium commission appointed by the governor under an act of 1901, left last night to look for a suitable site for a state sanatorium for consumptives in the northern woods.

The commission consists of Dr. H. L. Taylor of St. Paul, Dr. Wattam of Warren and Dr. J. L. Camp of Brainerd. They will visit Grand Rapids, Cass Lake and Bemidji.

Rev. E. K. Grout, of Stephen, spent yesterday here enroute home from Winnipeg, where he was married on Monday. The bride was from Halifax.

Stood Death Off

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50 cents at A. G. Andersen's drug store.

RINGING WORDS

Which Fell From President McKinley's Lips at the Exposition

IN HIS LAST PUBLIC SPEECH

Before He Was Stricken Down By the Cruel Hand of an Assassin.

> Expositions are the time-keepers of progress.
> They record the world's advancement.
> They stimulate the energy, enterprise and intellect of the people, and quicken human genius.
> They go into the home.
> They broaden and brighten the daily life of the people.
> They open mighty storehouses of information to the student.
> Every exposition, great or small, has helped to some onward step.
> In the furtherance of these objects of national interest and concern you are performing an important part. The exposition would have touched the heart of that American statesman whose mind was ever alert and thought ever constant for a larger commerce and a truer fraternity of the republics of the new world. His broadening spirit is felt and manifested. He needs no identification to an assemblage of Americans anywhere, for the name of Blaine is inseperable from the Pan-American movement which we all hope will be firmly advanced by the Pan-American congress that assembles this autumn in the capital of Mexico. The good work will go on.
> It cannot be stopped. These buildings will disappear; this creation of art and beauty and industry will perish from sight; but their influence will live.
> "Make it live beyond its too short living
> With praises and thanksgiving."
> Who can tell the new thoughts that have been awakened, the ambitions fired, and the high achievments that will be wrought through this exposition? Gentlemen, let us ever remember that our interests are in concord, not conflict, and that our real eminence rests in the victories of peace, not those of war. We hope that all who are represented here may be moved to higher and nobler effort for their own and the world's good, and that out of this city may come, not only greater commerce and trade for us all, but, more essential than this, relation of mutual respect, confidence and friendship which will deepen and endure.
> Our earnest prayer is that God will graciously vouchsafe prosperity, happiness and peace to all our neighbors, and like blessings to all the peoples and powers of the earth.

WAS ATTENDED BY GUARD

Of Detectives Who Were Continually on Watch

Buffalo, Sept. 7.—It is a peculiar fact that more thorough precautions were taken to guard the president against harm during his visit here than have ever before been deemed necessary. A suitable police guard attended him at all times, and detectives were constantly on the watch to guard against just such an assault as was committed yesterday. The arrangements made were decided upon after a consultation with the president himself, who, although he could have no warning of the attack to be made upon him, seemed to take much more than his usual interest in the precautions decided upon for his safety.

HANNA DEEPLY AFFECTED

Says the President Never Feared Assassination.

Cleveland, Sept. 6.—Senator Hanna, when convinced that he Buffalo news was true, said to a reporter: "I can not say anything about it. It is too terrible to contemplate. To think that such a thing could happen to so splendid a man as President McKinley, and at this time and on such an occasion! It is horrible; awful! Mr. McKinley never had any fear of danger from that source. Of course, I never talked to him on that subject, but I know he never dreamed of anything like this happening. I cannot be interviewed on this, it is too awful.

"What is this great country coming to, when such men as Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley fall by the bullets of assassins. I shall hurry to the bedside of the president as rapidly as the train will take me. I hope he is not seriously injured, but I am afraid my hopes are vain."

As the senator boarded the train, tears were streaming down his face.

BRYAN IS SHOCKED

Telegraphs Sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. McKinley.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—W. J. Bryan sent a telegraph message to President McKinley expressing deep concern, and gave out the following statement:

"The attempted assassination of the president is a shock to the entire country. He and his wife will be the recipients of universal sympathy. The dispatches say the shots were fired by an insane man. It is to be hoped that this is true, for while it is a terrible thing for a president to be a victim of the acts of a maniac, it would be even worse for him to be fired upon by a sane person, prompted by malice or revenge. In a republic where people elect their officers and can remove them, there can be no excuse for resorts of violence. If our president were in constant fear of plots and conspiracies, we would soon sink to the level of those nations in which force is the only weapon of the government and the only weapon of the government's enemy."

Special Bulletins

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The would-be assassin is a Pole, 28 years old, 5 feet 9 inches high, weight 160 pounds, dark brown hair, blue eyes, smooth face, has a prominent nose regular features, and speaks good English. It is not know whether he was born in this country or not.

Guard Doubled

London, Sept. 7.—King Edward's body guard has been doubled.

Anarchists Arrested

Chicago, Midnight—Five anarchists have been arrested on information received from Buffalo. It is suspected that they are parties to the attempt upon the president's life.

General Prayers

Baltimore, 11 p. m.—Cardinal Gibbons has ordered general prayers in all Roman Catholic churches throughout the land for the recovery of the president and the suppression of anarchy.

Europe Horrified

London, Sept. 7.—All Europe is horrified. The trans-Atlantic cables are piled with messages of sympathy and hope for the president's recovery.

Cabinet Summoned

Buffalo, Midnight—Senator Hanna has wired every member of the cabinet for a council to be held in the morning.

ENDORSED BY ANARCHISTS

The Patterson Branch Toasts the Assassin.

New York, Sept. 6.—(Special)—As a whole, the anarchist group of Patterson, N. J., express no regret at the shooting of McKinley. On the contrary, there was a great gathering of men in the hall of that city, and Neiman, who shot the president, was toasted in beer time and time again.

One said, "We don't know him, but he is one of us; he did what it was his duty to do, and we honor him. Although personally I think his efforts might better have been employed across the ocean on some crowned head."

All deny any truth in the report that at any time President McKinley was included in the plot to assassinate the heads of nations. They claim that McKinley's life was never declared forfeited by them and that the work of today is that of another branch of the organization.

The Farmers' elevator at McIntosh has suffered a collapse very similar to that of the Fosston farmers' warehouse. The elevator has been closed and it has been found that the liabilities are $7,331, and the assets nominal.

FATE.

It is very convenient to attribute the disasters which overtake us to fate. But for the most part man is the arbiter of his own fortunes. Business men are struck down suddenly as by lightning. The verdict is generally "heart failure." "His heart was weak. It was fate for him to meet this end." But if we went behind the "weak" heart we should find a "weak" stomach, probably, and back of the weak stomach is careless eating at irregular hours.

When the stomach is diseased the organs depending on the stomach for nutrition are starved. Starvation means weakness of the body and its organs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. When these organs are cured, diseases of heart, liver, lungs and kidneys, caused by the diseased stomach, are cured also.

"In the fall of 1897 I was taken with smothering spells, palpitation of the heart, and a distressed feeling in my stomach," writes Mr. H. W. Kinney, of Knight, Doddridge Co., West Va. "I consulted a doctor and he said I had organic heart trouble. He gave me some medicine, but it did me no good. I then tried different kinds of patent medicines, but they only helped me a little. I then sent and got five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Before the first bottle was gone I felt a change. When the five bottles were gone I began to work. I had not worked any for a year before.

"I am well and can eat anything now with the exception of pork and greasy food."

CROP ROTATION

This Important Subject Discussed by Prof. Harry Synder of St. Anthony Park

WHEAT NOT A SOIL EXHAUSTER

When Proper Tillage is Given the Soil and Barnyard Manure Used.

In a pamphlet just issued by Professor Harry Snyder of the experiment station at the state agricultural college at St. Anthony Park, entitled "The Influence of Wheat Farming on Soil Fertility" he says:

"Bumper" wheat crops cannot long prevail if farmers disregard the simple rules for the scientific cultivation of farms in the great wheat areas in Minnesota and the Dakotas. Professor Snyder has made an exhaustive study of the effect of continuous wheat culture and the rotation of crops upon the composition of the soil, extending over a period of several years. His conclusions are that wheat is not an exhaustive crop when it is grown in rotation, but when it is grown continuously the fertility of the soil is impaired. It is not the crop itself that reduces the fertility, he finds, but the lack of systematic methods of farming. By the rotation of crops, the use of farm manures and the cultivation of clover, the heavy losses of the rich chemical properties of the soil, so essential to the healthy growth of crops, is checked, and larger yields and a better quality of wheat secured.

In his report Professor Snyder says:

By many, wheat is considered an exhausting crop, and it is believed that it makes heavy drafts upon the fertility of the soil. The way it is usually cultivated does impair fertility. The experiments that have been made show, however, that it is not the crop itself that is responsible for the lose of nitrogen and the decline in fertility, but the method, or rather, lack of systematic method of cropping that has been followed. When wheat is raised in a rotation it is not a soil-depleting crop, but when raised continuously large amounts of nitrogen are lost, not through the crop, but by the decomposition of the nitrogenous humus. While many wheat farms of the northwest have lost large amounts of nitrogen, the soils are by no means depleted of their nitrogen.

When properly grown in a rotation, wheat is not an exhaustive crop; it takes less plant food from the soil than many farm crops. It is the method, not the crop, which has caused the decline of fertility.

The use of commercial fertilizers as a means of returning the fertility to the soil has been proposed and tried. The experiments that have been made by this station show that commercial fertilizers cannot be used economically in the production of large areas of wheat in the northwest. The only feasible way of making old wheat lands more productive is to rotate the crops, growing some leguminous crop, use farm manures, and practice more thorough cultivation.

Wheat soils "recuperate" easily when given the right culture, and the loss of nitrogen can be checked and even the amount increased by a rotation of crops.

This theory will revive hope in wheat as a paying crop only as the rotation system is observed, but it goes to emphasize the importance of diversified farming which the Journal is laboring so earnestly to impress upon the minds of its farmer readers. It is a part of the agricultural-prosperity-gospel we are preaching to our readers every week and which we purpose continuing to preach till it is embraced by every farmer in the fertile Red River valley.

MACARONI WHEAT

Becoming an Interesting Question for Northwestern Farmers.

YIELDS ONE-THIRD MORE

Than the Best of Other Wheats so Far as Experiments Have Been Made.

The culture of macaroni wheat, which has been experimented on to a considerable extent in North Dakota with a very satisfactory degree of success, is of sufficient importance to engage the attention of the farmers in this part of the Red River valley as well.

It is claimed for it that the experiments already conducted indicate that it will yield on an average one-third more than the best of other wheats. Heretofore one discouragement to its culture has been the absence of a demand for it in the market. It is in a class by itself and is not suitable for flour, and inasmuch as macaroni factories have been scarce, the difficulty in disposing of it has been a deterrent factor in its introduction. But the matter has attracted the attention of the United States department of agriculture, and as a result Mark Alfred Carleton, a professional cerealist, has been sent out to investigate the macaroni wheat question in the northwest. The Fargo Forum publishes an interview which one of its representatives had with Mr. Carleton in regard to the subject a few days since as follows:

"My mission was mainly to investigate conditions and to secure a market for the comparatively large crop of macaroni wheat we knew was being raised in the northwest, and to which the state was contributing its quota to a considerable extent. More is being raised in Ransom county than elsewhere in this section. I visited T. N. Olum of Lisbon and learned from him that there was no market for the product here. I began at once to secure buyers and have been in correspondence with fifty factories in this country using macaroni wheat. I found that there were calls for thousands of bushels, and that enough wheat is raised to supply only a very small proportion of them. Some of the firms I have been in correspondence with were more progressive than others, and reciprocated with me in my endeavors.

"The important fact I desire to be known is that an eastern Ohio firm has contracted to take the year's crop and to the farmers of the northwest it means a great deal. This firm has arranged to take all the macaroni wheat brought to them at a rate of 3 cents below the market price for No. 1 northern. That price this year will average with No. 2 northern, the grade I think will prevail this fall for the bulk of other wheats. In other words, the farmer who has macaroni wheat will get as much, or nearly so, for that as he will for other wheat, unless in the latter. Heretofore the grower has had to accept "rejected" price and very often absolute refusal at the flour mills if he took it there.

"The Van Dusen-Harrington Co. will do the buying in this state for the Ohio firm I have referred to and they are authorized to pay the price I have quoted. This arrangement ought to act as a stimulant to the business, and from observations I have made, I confidently feel that it will. Next year I think you will see a sharp competition among eastern cereal manufacturers. The people of this country are being educated to use more macaroni than they have been doing—it is a nutritious and healthful food. We can make a better article in this country than the imported, so why import it?

"Over 200 varieties of macaroni wheat are being raised at experiment stations, from North Dakota to Texas. Twenty varieties are grown at your agricultural college in Fargo. Some of the varieties introduced here come from eastern and southern Russia. I am familiar with them and have seen them growing in different parts of Russia, and in different parts of Europe. I look for the experiments in this country to show that the wheat will do better, and give greater average yields than in Russia.

"There is a great deal which can be said in nurturing the business of growing macaroni wheat in the northwest. Right along, nearly every year, our statistics show that the yields are greater than other wheats; on an average it yields one third more to the acre than the other wheat. In South Dakota the yield runs about 20 to 25 bushels to the acre, against 15 to 18 bushels to the acre of other wheats. At the Fargo experiment station the yield shows an increase of about 5 bushels to the acre more than the best of other wheats. The highest yields at this station have been a little more than 34 bushels to the acre. The wheat does well in Ransom county and I believe that in such counties as Morton, and Stark, where conditions are not as favorable for the raising of ordinary wheats, macaroni wheat would show a good average every year. I give it as my opinion that macaroni wheat in a few years will rank with the great No. 1 hard. As I have stated, I consider it very important, indeed, that the product this year is going to be bought by the Van Dusen-Harrington company, at a price guaranteed, which is practically the same this year as other wheats, as the bulk of them will be graded No. 2 northern. I can assure you that Mr. Olum and others interested in Ransom county highly appreciate what I have accomplished in the way of securing the market spoken of."

The Journal will follow this subject up and give to its readers further information on the subject in the near future.

COSTLY BLAZE

Gets Action Among Jefferson, Wis., Business Houses

Jefferson, Wis., Sept. 6—A fire yesterday which broke out in the plant o. the Wisconsin Manufacturing Co., manufacturers of chairs and other furniture, and which threatened to destroy the whole town, was subdued with a loss aggregating between $50,000 and $60,000, which is only partially covered by insurance. The Wisconsin Manufacturing company's loss is estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000, insured for $9,500. Other losses are:

St. Mary's Episcopal church, $8,000.
Gottlieb Bros., $500.
William ..ckeroh, $500.
O. J. Kershensteiner, $600.

Frank Weaver, John ..oessler, C. ..chler, ..as. Schweiner and .. L. Reinel suffered smaller losses.

The fire started in the second story of the Wisconsin plant and soon gutted that property. Fire brands, aided by a strong southwest wind, were blown to other parts of the city and started many other smaller blazes. The citizens were panic stricken and help was summoned from Johnson's Creek, Fort Atkinson, Watertown and Janesville. The visiting fire companies soon subdued the small fires and the rest of the afternoon was devoted to protecting other plants. Hundreds of citizens moved their household goods to places of safety.

The Prenzlow Lumber company and Standard Oil property had narrow escapes from destruction.

RAINY RIVER BRIDGE

Is Now Completed---Cost Approximately $400,000

Beaudette, Minn., Sept. 7.—The big six-span bridge of the Canadian Northern railway across the Rainy river at this place and Beaver Mills on the Canadian side was practically completed and opened for traffic this week and trains are now running across it, though there are some parts of the work yet to complete.

The bridge proper is a steel camel-back structure, with a large draw for the accommodation of navigation on the river. It is about 800 feet long and is supported by granolithic piers. The total cost of the big bridge approximates $400,000. The completion of the bridge will greatly facilitate construction operations on the Canadian Northern north of Rainy river. Hitherto steel and all the supplies sent here from Winnipeg had to be ferried across the river to construction trains operating on the other side.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Boat Overturned and Three Young People Drowned

Bottineau, N. D., Sept. 6.—A terrible accident occurred in the Turtle mountains, ten miles northeast of this place.

A pleasure party went for a sail on Fish lake, the resort of this region. In some unknown way a boat was overturned and three persons were drowned. The dead are Harry Sims, Miss Marie Cook and Miss Ruth Sancre, all of Willow City.

Harry Sims was the son of Postmaster Sims of Willow City, and Miss Cook was formerly from Vermont. The bodies were taken to Willow City for interment.

It is learned that a pleasure party of 11 young persons was in the boat and that by strenuous efforts all were saved except three. Miss Cook was 22 years old and was one of the most popular and successful music teachers of Bottineau county.

SHOT IN THE EYE

A Moose Lake Tragedy Results in the Death of John Carlson

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 6.—A fatal accident occurred last night at Moose Lake, about 14 miles from Eveleth, when John Carlson, a carpenter residing at the Tower hotel in this city, shot himself in the left eye with a Winchester rifle. With a companion he was camping out on the shore of the lake and the two were preparing supper after the day's outing. Carlson came up from the boat with a rifle in one hand and a jug of water in the other, and when entering the cabin in some unexplainable manner the butt of the piece was struck and the gun went off, the bullet striking him in the left eye. Death resulted immediately. His companion reached town this morning and Deputy Coroner Pool has gone out after the body. Carlson's relatives have not yet been communicated with.

SHE LOVED ANOTHER

Moorhead Woman Deserts Home for Hired Man

Mrs. Oneseme Montplaisir, French, not fair, and over forty, with six children to brighten her home, tires of home, husband and children and on Monday night, taking up her two year old baby, she flees to parts unknown with a hired man. Montplaisir, pere, is left with the five remaining children and a bleeding heart.

Oneseme Montplaisir came to the city today for the purpose of consulting Chief Murphy. Righteous wrath has come to the relief of Oneseme. The bleeding heart has become seared and he is now out for justice. He will make an effort to place his motherless children in the Sisters' school in this city, and will then devote his life to running down the pair who have ruined his home.

The Montplaisirs live about 8 miles south in the town of Kurtz. There had never been any dissension in the family circle and the action of Mrs. Montplaisir is a severe shock to her friends.—Moorhead News.

TO PROVE HIS THEORY

Will Submit His Body to Experiment With Disease Germs

Dr. M. J. Rodermund, the Appleton physician who claims that there are no such things as disease germs, has agreed to submit himelf to Dr. C. F. Dight of Minneapolis for experimental purposes, and unless the authorities interfere the Wisconsin physician will be loaded up with germs hypodermically. Dr. Dight says that it is quite possible the experiment will not result in any serious illness in the subject to be operated upon, as Dr. Rodermund may be immune to most germs, although the Minneapolis practitioner does not doubt that he can find germs that will at least make him sick.

Dr. Rodermund's submission to this experiment will at least attest his sincerity in his negative germ theory, which has heretofore been seriously doubted by physicians.

FELL 110 FEET

And Still Lives With Fair Probability of Recovery

Matt Snyder, of Superior, yesterdey performed the terrific feat of dropping 110 feet and coming out of it alive. More than that, he had no broken bones, and is expected to live.

He was in one of the windows at the top of the Minkota mill and was leaning out. He lost his balance and out he went. Part way down he struck a corrugated roof with a glancing blow, and that broke his fall.

He was picked up and has since been only partially conscious. He has no broken bones, however, and while there is a possibility that he has sustained some internal injuries, it is not believed they are serious enough to cause death.

Another Trace of Andree

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 6.—Walter W. Cobb and G. W. Shields have returned from a trip through the Hudson Bay region. Indians there told them a story that they believed related to the missing balloonist, Andree, who went in search of the north pole. At Moose Factory, a Hudson Bay trading post at the mouth of Moose river, a party of Indians told of the finding of the bodies of two white men at a point about 900 miles north of Moose Factory. The bodies were found in a broken basket. The description seemed to indicate the basket of a balloon. The bodies were buried by Indians. The Indians brought nothing in support of their story.

It is feared that the tower in connection with the Fosston water works plant is in a dangerous condition owing to the warping and twisting of its supporting timbers.

ASTHMA CURE FREE!

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in All Cases.

Sent Absolutely Free on Receipt of Postal.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

We want to send to every sufferer a trial treatment of Asthmalene, similar to the one that cured Mr. Wells. We'll send it by mail POSTPAID, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, to any sufferer who will write for it, even on a postal. Never mind, though you are despairing, however bad your case, Asthmalene will relieve and cure. The worse your case, the more glad we are to send it. Do not delay. Write at once, addressing DR. Oil for the Children.

Give them oil—cod-liver oil. It's curious to see the result.

Give it to the peevish, fretful child, and he laughs. Give it to the pale, anæmic child, and his face becomes rosy and full of health. Take a flat-chested child, or a child that has stopped growing, give him the oil, and he will grow big and strong like the rest.

This is not a new scheme. It has been done for years. Of course you must use the right oil. Scott's Emulsion is the one.

Scott's Emulsion neither looks nor tastes like oil because we are so careful in making it pleasant to take.

The city council has decided to do nothing this fall either with sewers or water works. The reason for this is that it is late in the season and that a new council will be elected this fall before the work could be finished.

A report has come up the river that Halvor Steenerson has been engaged by some Indians, who claim ownership to that part of the reservation which Mr. Meehan bought of Moose Dung a while ago, to eject the settlers. Most of their tract is now sold and handsome residences have been erected all over. The case will be an interesting one, if the report is true.

Politics is dead. All join in the lamentation and great bereavement which has befallen the nation in the attempted assassination of our president. The humorous side will come to view even when grim death stands face to face, and so in this case. A little girl whom we met Friday evening asked very earnestly if it was Mr. Bryan who killed Mr. McKinley.

THE CLOSING SCENE

Last Sad Moments Described by Those in Attendance at the Bedside.

END WAITED PATIENTLY

Goodby, God's Will Be Done, Were the President's Last Words.

Milburn House, Buffalo, Sept. 14.—President McKinley died at 2:15 o. m. He had been unconscious since 7:50 p. m. His last conscious hour on earth was spent with his wife, to whom he devoted a lifetime of care. He died unattended by a minister of the gospel, but his last words were an humble submission to the will of God, in whom he believed. He was reconciled to the cruel fate to which an assassin's bullet had condemned him and faced death in the same spirit of calmness and peace which has marked his long and honorable career.

His relatives and members of his official family were at Milburn house, except Secretary Wilson, who did not avail himself of the opportunity. Some others of his personal and political friends also took leave of him. This painful ceremony was simple. His friends came to the door of the sick room, took a longing glance at him and turned tearfully away. He was practically unconscious during this time, but powerful heart stimulants, including oxygen, were employed to restore him to consciousness for his final parting with his wife. He asked for her and she sat at his side and held his hand. He consoled her and bade her good bye. She went through the heart trying scene with the same bravery and fortitude with which she hos borne the grief of the tragedy which ended his life.

Death Predicted

The president was in his last hour of consciousness which ended about 7:40, and chanted the words of the hymn "Nearer My God to Thee," his last audible conscious words as taken down by Dr. Mann at his bedside, being: "Good bye all, good bye. It is God's way. His will be done."

Then his mind began to wander and he completely lost consciousness. His life was prolonged for hours by the administration of oxygen and the president finally expressed a desire to be allowed to die. About 8:30 administration of oxygen ceased and his pulse grew fainter and fainter.

: He was sinking gradually, :
: like a child, into eternal slumber. :

By 10 o'clock his pulse could no longer be felt in his extremities and they grew cold.

But the president lingered on, his pulse growing fainter and fainter. There was no need for official bulletins after this. Those who came from the house at intervals told the same story, that the president was dying and that the end might come any moment. His tremendous vitality was the only remaining factor in the result and this gave hope only of a brief postponement of the end. Dr. Mynter thought he might last until 2 a. m. Dr. Mann said at 11 o'clock that the president was still alive and probably would live an hour.

Shortly after midnight the president's breathing was barely perceptible. His pulse had practically ceased and his extremities were cold. It was recognized that nothing remained but the last struggle, and some of the friends of the family who had remained through the day began to leave the house, not caring to be present at the final scene.

NEW PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS

Formal Announcement of the Death of Wm. McKinley

Milburn House, Buffalo, Sept. 16.—President Roosevelt on Saturday issued the following proclamation:

"By the President of the United States, a Proclamation.

"A terrible bereavement has befallen our people; the president of the United States hos been struck down; a crime committed not only against the chief magistrate, but against every law abiding and liberty loving citizen: President McKinley crowned a life of largest love for his fellow men, of most earnest endeavor for their welfare.

"By a death of Christian fortitude, and both the way in which he lived his life, and the way in which, in the supreme hour of trial, he met his death, will remain forever a precious heritage of our people. It is meet that we as a nation express our abiding love and reverence for his life, and our deep sorrow for his untimely death. Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States of America, do appoint Thursday next, Sept. 19, the day on which the body of the dead president will be laid to its last earthly resting place, a day of mourning and prayer throughout the United States.

"I earnestly recommend all people to assemble on that day in their respective places of divine worship, there to bow down in submission to the will of Almighty God, and to pray out of full hearts their homage and love and reverence to the great and good president whose departure has moved the nation with a great grief.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this 14th day of September, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and one, and of the independence of the United States one hundred and twenty-six.

"By the President, (Seal.) —Theodore Roosevelt."
—John Hay,
Secretary of State."

WOUNDS GANGRENOUS

There Was at no Time a Possibility of Saving President's Life

Milburn House, Buffalo, Sept. 16.—The following is the report of the autopsy on the remains of President McKinley:

The bullet which struck over the breast bone did not pass through the skin and did little harm. The other bullet passed through both walls of the stomach near the lower border. Both holes were found closed by the stitches, but the tissue around each hole had become gangrenous. After passing through the stomach the bullet passed into the back walls of the abdomen, hitting and tearing the upper end of the kidney. This portion of the bullet's track was also gangrenous, the gangrene involving the pancreas.

The bullet had not yet been found. There was no sign of peritonitis or disease of the other organs. The heart walls were very thin. There was no evidence of any attempt at repair on the part of nature and death resulted from the gangrene which affected the stomach around the bullet wounds as well as the tissue around the further course of the bullet.

Death was unavoidable by any surgical or medical treatment and was the direct result of the bullet wound. This was signed by fourteen physicians. Official announcement of the physicians as a result of the autopsy on the president's body that death resulted from gangrene of the wounds led to much discussion of the causes leading up to this gangrene. It developed that Dr. Wasdin, one of the consulting physicians and an expert of high standing in the marine hospital, strongly supported the view that the murderous bullet had been poisoned and that this was one of the moving causes of the gangrenous condition. The area of this dead and gangrened find was one of much surprise to the surgeons, reaching a circumference about the size of a silver dollar about the internal wound.

Not a Large Fortune.

Buffalo, Sept. 17.—President McKinley has left a will. The instrument was issued some time before the shooting and at no time during his final suffering was there any wish or occasion to reverse it, or to frame a codicil. It leaves the bulk of his estate to Mrs. McKinley. How much the estate is worth cannot be stated with exactness by those most familiar with the late president's business affairs, but it is believed to be a goodly sum, although not amounting to a large fortune.

FUNERAL TRAIN

Consisted of Seven Pullmans and an Observation Car.

MRS. MCKINLEY IS BRAVE

Walked Unassisted to Carriage But was Overcome by Sings of Mourning

Buffalo, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The day opened dark and cheerless as though the elements were in sympathy with the sombre ceremony attending the removal of the remains of the dead president to Washington, where they will lie in state tomorrow and Wednesday.

A strong wind that was almost a gale blew offt he lake and the wind was so fierce as to tear down the draperies and symbols of mourning in many places about the city.

The funeral train left the New York Central station at 8:40. It consisted of seven Pullman cars, one being on observation car in which the casket was placed so as to afford 6 people along the route the mournful satisfaction of seeing at least the case containing all that was mortal of the beloved president.

The train was drawn by two engines, and a pilot engine preceded the special ten minutes in advance.

Mrs. McKinley was called at 7 o'clock this morning. Her first question was, "When can I see the major." She has surprised her physicians and friends by the manner in which she is bearing up, and they believe that she will endure bravely the fatigue and trial incident to a state funeral. She walked briskly from the Milburn home to the carriage, and was unsupported by anyone. She was accompanied by Abner McKinley, Dr. Rixey and her niece, Miss Barber.

Mrs. McKinley was much affected by the signs of mourning displayed everywhere, and on arriving at the train was so overcome that she would have fallen but for the timely aid of Dr. Rixey, who was at her side.

During the march to the depot the Sixty-first regiment band played "Nearer My God to Thee," and Chopin's Funeral March, and as the casket was raised on the shoulders of the marines to be placed in the car, the band repeated the hymn that was so dear to the heart of the dead president.

As the cortege stopped on arrival at the depot the drums beat the "long roll" in honor of the Grand Army members present.

President Roosevelt, who has remained as a guest of Ansley Wilcox, proceeded to the train accompanied by Senator Hawley and Gen. Brooke and staff, and Senator Hanna and son. As the remains of thed eceased president were borne into the car, President Roosevelt stood on the curb with uncovered head.

ROOSEVELT SWORN IN

Impressive Scene Connected With His Taking Oath of Office

Buffalo, Sept. 16.—Theodore Roosevelt, who was tragically elected as chief magistrate of the American republic by the death of President McKinley, entered this city of mourning Saturday afternoon after a remarkable and perilous journey in the heart of the North Woods. He has been president under the constitution and law of the land since the minute the martyred president ceased to live. All duties and powers of the office had devolved upon him, but he was as powerless as the humblest citizen to exercise one of them until he had complied with the constitutional provision compelling him to take the prescribed oath to support and defend the constitution and laws of the United States.

He took the oath at 3:30 Saturday afternoon in the library of the residence of Ansley Wilcox, a personal friend, with whom he stopped earlier in the week when the physicians thought President McKinley would recover from the wound inflicted by the assassin.

There were present when he swore to the oath Secretaries Root, Hitchcock, Long, Wilson, and Postmaster General Smith, Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York, Judge of the Court of Appeals Haight, John N. Scatherd, Mr. and Mrs. Ansley Wilcox, Miss Wilcox, Geo. P. Sawyer, Drs. Mann, Park, Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Milburn, Secretary to the President Wm. Loeb, Jr., Secretary to the deceased President, Geo. B. Cortelyou, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carr, R. C. Scatherd, J. D. Sawyer and Wm. Jeffers, official telegrapher, in addition to Judge R. Hazel of the United States district court, who administered the oath.

The scene was a most affecting one. The new president had just come from the Milburn house, where his predecessor lay cold in death. Overcome by the deep physical sorrow he felt, in his characteristically impulsive way, he had gone first to the house of mourning to offer his condolence and sympathy to the broken hearted widow.

Secreary Root who, 20 years ago, had been present at a similar scene when Arthur took the oath after the death of another president, who fell a victim to an assassin's bullet, almost broke down when he requested Mr. Roosevelt on behalf of the members of the cabinet of the late president to take the prescribed oath. There was not a dry eye in the room. The new president was visibly shaken. But he controlled himself, and when lifted his hand to swear, it was as steady as though carved in marble. With the deep solemnity of the occasion full upon him, he announced to those present that his aim would be to be McKinley's successor in deed as well as in name. Deliberately he proclaimed it in these words:

"In this hour of deep and terrible national bereavement, I wish to state that it shall be my aim to continue absolutely without variance the policy of President McKinley for the peace, prosperity and honor of our beloved country."

The great for reaching significance of this pledge to continue the policy of the dead president, announced at the very threshold of the new governmental regime profoundly impressed his hearers and President Roosevelt's first act after taking the oath was in line with its redemption.

His first act was to ask the members of the cabinet to retain their portfolios in order to aid him to conduct the government on the lines laid down by the president whose policy he declared he would uphold.

Such a plan was not to be resisted, and every member of the cabinet, including Secretary of State Hay, Secretary of the Treasury Gage, who were communicated with in Washington, and agreed, for the present at least, to retain their several portfolios. The president has made no plans as yet. He said he was so shocked by this national calamity that had thrust his new responsibilities upon him that he had no time yet to think of his future career at Washington.

CZOLGOSZ INDICTED

Found Guilty of Murder in First Degree.

Buffalo, Sept. 17.—Leon F. Czolgosz, alias Fred Nieman, was indicted by the county court grand jury for the crime of murder in the firt degree for fatally shooting President McKinley at the Temple of Music in the Pan-American exposition grounds at 4 o'clock on Sept. 6.

When arraigned before Judge Edward K. Emery in the county court the prisoner stubbornly refused to answer questions repeatedly asked of him by District Attorney Penney as to whether he had counsel or wanted counsel.

The district attorney then suggested that inasmuch as the defendant refused to answer, counsel should be assigned. Judge Emery assigned Hon. Loran L. Lewis and Hon. Robert C. Titus, former supreme court justice of this city, whose names had been suggested by the Erie County Bar association. Czolgosz will possibly be arraigned again this afternoon to plead to the indictment.

District Attorney Penney presented the evidence in the murder case to the grand jury. Aside from the surgeons and physicians in the case no witnesses were sworn other than those who were in the Temple of Music and witnessed the shooting.

PRES. ROOSEVELT

Held His First Cabinet Meeting at 3 O'clock Monday Afternoon.

M'KINLEY'S ADVISORS REMAIN

McKinley's Last Speech at the Expo Outlines the Future Policy He Will Pursue.

Washington, Sept. 18.—President Roosevelt at 3 o'clock yesterday convened his first cabinet meeting in Washington. At this meeting the president asked the members of the McKinley cabinet to retain their relative portfolios throughout his term, and announced that his administration would follow the policy outlined by President McKinley, as in his Buffalo speech. After the obsequies of the late president, the cabinet, at President Roosevelt's request, assembled at the residence of Commander Cowles, where the president is staying until after the funeral, principally for the purpose of informing their new chief of the state of affairs in their respective opinions.

The president desired to learn if there was anything requiring his attention before his departure for Canton. He was assured that there was nothing of pressing importance. The president addressed his advisers collectively, as he had previously done individually, requesting them all to retain their respective positions in his cabinet. Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope and expectation that every member would serve throughout his term for, he said, he tendered the appointments as if he had just been elected to the presidency, and was forming an original cabinet. The president said, however, there was difference between the present tender and that of an original offer, namely, under the present circumstances they were not at liberty to decline.

Upon being asked by a member if resignations should be formally presented in the usual manner, the president answered that his action at this meeting had precluded the necessity of presenting resignations. The discussion turned upon the policy of the administration, and Mr. Roosevelt announced that he regarded the speech of the late president at the Pan-American exposition the day previous to the tragic shooting as outlining the policies to be followed by the administration.

It could not be learned at this time whether or not all the members would be willing to serve the full term.

FUNERAL ARRANGED

Plans Carried Out Similiar to those of Garfield's Funeral

Buffalo, Sept. 16.—The cabinet, after conferring with the family of the late president, decided upon a state funeral at Washington. It was at first intended to have a brief service of prayer at the Milburn residence and start for the national capital with the body on Monday morning at 7 o'clock, but the people of Buffalo expressed such a strong wish to be allowed to pay their tribute of respect here that it was subsequently decided to hold services at 11 o'clock in the morning and allow the body to lie in state in the city hall here this afternoon.

Today a special train bearing the president and cabinet, Mrs. McKinley, and the family and distinguished persons associated with the McKinley administration, conveyed the body to Washington. The body will be taken to the White House for the time being and Tuesday it will be formally conveyed to the rotunda of the capitol building, where state ceremonies will occur. On Wednesday the body will be conveyed to Canton, where it will be interred in the family lot.

Cablegrams and messages of sympathy and condolence from all over the world are arriving by thousands. Mrs. McKinley, feeble and broken hearted as she is, bears up under her great sorrow with remarkable fortitude, and Dr. Rixey says he believes she will be able to go through the trying ordeal of a state funeral.

The death mask will be made by a Washington artist named Garret. All the president's relatives and friends agreed that it was desirable the face of the martyred president should be preserved for the sake of history.

Buffalo, Aug. 16.—No coroner's inquest was held on the body of the president. Pursuing the precedent laid down in the case of Garfield, the coroner simply viewed the body and later gave a certificate in accordance with the result of the autopsy, which declared that death was unavoidable by any surgical of medical treatment and a direct result of the bullet wound.

The wretch who plunged the world into sorrow will pay the penalty of his crime by death in the electrocution chair. Murder in the first degree will be the charge. The report of the autopsy has again given rise to the theory hinted at a day or two after the president was shot that Czolgosz, in order to secure the accomplishment of his purpose, poisoned the bullets which he fired.

The gangrene found in the path of the bullet is thought to be strong evidence in support of this view by Dr. Wasdin, one of the consulting physicians. Dr. Wasdin is an expert of high standing in the marine hospital service.

MRS. McKINLEY'S CONDITION

Collapse Feared by Her Friends When Reaction Comes

Washington, Sept. 18.—The friends of Mrs. McKinley are seriously alarmed about her. They speak with grave apprehension of the days that are to come when she will be borne up no longer by her sense of duty and the sustaining force of her desire to perform her full part in the ceremonies that the national character and tragic end of her distinguished husband made appropriate. They dread the approaching days of the quiet in her home at Canton when her "beloved major" will not be near to comfort her in the reaction that will follow inevitably after the past shock. It is believed she will be able to go through the services at Canton without great difficulty, but subsequently a collapse is greatly feared.

At present her condition justifies the hope that there will be no breakdown, at least until the final offices have been paid to the dead. Mrs. McKinley is considerably weaker than when at Buffalo, but continues to bear up with great fortitude. She gave vent to her grief more freely than at any time since the tragedy. She sobbed and cried for a long time, and those paroxysms of grief sapped her strength to quite a degree. Still, as stated, there is no present sign of collapse. Dr. Rixey was with his patient several times during the day and spent quite a little while with her late in the afternoon, remaining until nearly 6 o'clock. After his last call he said he was fairly confident of Mrs. McKinley's ability to take part in the services at Canton. She has had a long and severe shock, however, and in order that she may be accustomed to the change wrought in her life by the sad death of the president, it is possible that Secretary Cortelyou and Dr. Rixey will remain at Canton for some time to aid and comfort the widow from the agony and terror that must come when in her old home, and until she gradually realizes in its full degrees that her main support and comfort in life has been taken away.

Bail Fixed at Twenty Thousand

Chicago, Sept. 18.—(Special)—The high priestess of anarchy was summoned before the court today and arraigned upon the chare of being a conspirator with others unnamed to compass the assassination of President McKinley.

When she appeared in court Miss Goldman assumed a defiant air and pleaded not guilty. She was represented by counsel, and attempted to make an address to the court, but was shut off. Bail was fixed at $20,000. In default of the amount Miss Goldman was remanded to jail.

Death Mask Taken.

Buffalo, Sept. 17.—A death mask of the president's face was made at 7:20 o'clock Sunday morning. The mask was taken by Eduard L. A. Pausch, of Hartford, Conn. Pausch has modeled the features of many of the distinguished men who have died in this country in recent years. The mask is a faithful reproduction of the late President McKinley's features.

ANOTHER WRECK

Freight Train Going Down Cascades Refuses to Yield to Brakes.

JUMPED TRACK—FOUR KILLED

Thirty-one Loaded Cars Piled Up and Destroyed by Fire.

Spokane, Sept. 13.—A disastrous freight wreck occurred on the Great Northern railway near the Cascade tunnel in Washington yesterday. The engineer of freight train No. 15, west bound, while making the western decline to the tunnel lost control of the air brakes and the train attained such a high rate of speed that when a slight curve was reached the cars jumped the track and piled up in a confused heap.

Fire ensued and 31 cars loaded with merchandise were totally destroyed, the engineer and fireman being unable to escape from the engine and were killed.

The list of the dead and injured is as follows:

Killed:

FRANK DAHLGREN, engineer.

JOHN CAMPBELL, fireman.

SECTION FOREMAN, name unknown.

UNKNOWN TRAMP.

Injured: Conductor Nordquist, seriously.

A NEW POSITION

Roadmaster Daggett Resigns to Go to the Seaboard Air Line

Chas. Daggett, who has served the Great Northern in the capacity of roadmaster during the years past, has been called to a new field of action and usefulness. He has resigned his work in charge of the roadbed on the St. Vincent line and has accepted a position as roadmaster on the Seaboard Air Line, one of the leading railway systems of the Southern Atlantic coast states.

His resignation was filed with Supt. Jenke last week, and he expects to leave Crookston about the 20th of this month. His appointment came as a surprise to Mr. Daggett, and was the outcome of a recommendation given him by a friend who is on the Cotton Belt line in the southwest. He had no application in for the position, and did not seek the place.

Mr. Daggett has been successful as an employe of the Great Northern and his knowledge of the duties of his position is such that he is able to command a situation on any road east or west. He has many friends on this division and in Crookston who will regret to see him leave, although glad that his merit has enabled him to secure a better position.

A NEW MANAGER

Change in the Westero Union Telegraph Office

The Western Union telegraph office has passed under new management this week. The present manager, Mr. W. R. Howell, asked to be transferred to St. Paul, where, it is understood, he has been given a position that he sought before being assigned to Crookston. He was succeeded here by Mr. W. R. Powell, who comes from Mankato, and who is thoroughly competent to conduct the office to the satisfaction of the patrons in this city..

Mr. Howell has given the best service the patrons here ever had, and there will be general regret at his departure. There is no doubt, however, that the new manager will, as soon as he has time to meet the people and "learn the office," satisfy in every particular.

PROMINENT ST. PAUL PEOPLE

Looking for Pleasure and Visiting Dr. Boeckmann's Stock Farm

Dr. Edward Boeckmann came up from St. Paul Saturday accompanied by Dr. Charles A. Wheaton and O. B. Yale, claim agent of the Great Northern railway. They met Dr. Quinn here, he having preceded them to the valley where he has been shooting chickens during the past week. Together they went to Dr. Boeckmann's stock farm five miles out of McIntosh, where they remained a few days as the latter's guests.

The three medical men named are among the leading lights in their profession in the state, and their reputation is by no means confined to the limits of Minnesota. Dr. Boeckmann takes justifiable pride in showing his guests over his stock farm, which he opened two years ago, and on which he really has some of the purest bred animals of various kinds in the west. It is under the management of Christian Gill, a very competent foreman, who considers each animal his especial pet, and whose experience in general farming and stock raising makes him a valuable man as superindendent.

Among the recent dditions to Dr. Boeckmann's stock is a pure blood Hereford bull purchased at the state fair from Lyman Baird, a prominent breeder of Austin, Minn., and a shipment of Duroc Jersey hogs, mentioned in the Journal of Wednesday. The doctor is a poultry fancier, also, and is breeding fowels, the leading strains being the Cornish Indian Games and light Brahmas.

Dr. Boeckmann has made a staft in stock raising that will bring profitable results to him and be the means of stimulating others to follow in the same line.

AN ELEGANT DISPLAY

D. J. Campbell has the Finest Collection Farm Products in City

Among those who have made an effort to secure a variety of the crop products of the valley that will prove to intending home purchasers the fact that even in an off year Polk county soil will bring forth almost any sort of crop, none have been more successful than D. J. Campbell, the Second street land man.

A visit to his offices show them decorated with every sort of grain, grass and fodder product that will grow in any country. The arangement is tasty and the display is an excellent advertisement of the productiveness of the soil. It is convincing to any one who sees it that we are the people when the productiveness of the soil is being considered. In all there are 40 specimens of grains, grasses, etc., and no two alike. The display is well worth the attention of any one interested in the country. Go and see it and become a boomer.

MAYBURY--LALLY

A Home Wedding Planned to Unite Prominent Young People

The marriage of Miss Josephine Lally to Mr. James H. Maybury will be looked forward to as an evant of interest to occur on Monday next at the home of the bride in Gentilly. After the ceremony a trip will be taken to the Twin Cities, and a visit made at the former home of the groom at St. Cloud, where his parents reside. Mr. Maybury and the prospective bride are among the popular young people of the city, and all their friends will wish them a long and happy married life.

Unexpected Death

Friday morning Ethel McGregor died at the home of her uncle, R. E. White, two miles from Mallory. She had been suffering from quinsy for a week, but her condition had not been considered serious at any time. Friday morning, however, she was taken with a sudden fainting spell, and died within a few minutes. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the residence of her uncle, Rev. C. McKimmin officiating, and the remains were shipped to her old home at Perth, Ont., over the Northern Pacific. Deceased was 25 years of age and while residing with her uncle had made many friends who were greatly shocked at her death.

Gain of Subscribers

The Erie Telephone system, of which this company is a part, reports a net gain of 1,246 subscribers in August, and a gain of 11,448 since Jan. 1, making a total number of 153,047 subscribers on Aug. 31.

Prospects are Bright

The prospects for a successful year at the Crookston College are very bright. President Sathre reports the largest attendance in the history of the institution, and a demand for the catalogue and other literature far exceeding that of any previous year. General work is being done in all lines, and the sessions are held five days in the week.

"OLD BUG" LIGHTFOOTS

Indians at Bena Holding a Dance All Good Natured

Cass Lake, Sept. 14.—Indians to the number of 200 are enjoying a dance at Bena, ten miles east of here. Among them is "Old Bug," who arrived yesterday from his home on Bear Island. The Indians have appointed a force of police and so far no liquor has been found in the crowd. They are very peaceable and have assembled simply for the purpose of having a good time.

This is the first that "Old Bug" has appeared at any of the dances hereabouts. He has formed a great attachment for Captain Beaulieu, and says his people are more friendly than ever before. "Old Bug" goes on record as favoring the resolutions adopted by the Cass Lake Commercial club relative to the opening of the reservation.

Collected County Claims

Sheriff Sullivan succeeded Monday in making collections of amounts from four outside counties aggregating $1,056, being the sundry claims on account of boarding prisoners during the past seven years. Attempt has been made heretofore to collect these claims, but they have been hung up under one pretext or another until now. Sheriff Sullivan is to be congratulated on the success of his efforts to close the business up. There are still further claims pending to the amount of 380, which it is expected will be paid in soon.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold at A. G. Andersen's drug store.

Notice to Ditch Contractors

Sealed proposals will be received by the board of audit at the office of the secretary of state for the state of Minnesota, until two o'clock p. m., September 26, 1901, for the construction of drainage ditches as follows:

Badger and Skunk Creek ditch in Roseau county, length 8¼ miles. Excavation, 89,759 yds.

Lost river ditch, in Polk and Beltrami counties, length 3 7-10 miles. Excavation, 30,275 cubic yds.

New Solum ditch, in Marshall county, length 4 miles. Excavation, 55,723 cubic yds.

Goodhope ditch, in Norman county, length 3 miles. Excavation, 72,424 cubic yds.

Plans and specifications of which may be seen at the office of the secretary of state, or at the office of Geo. A. Ralph, engineer for the drainage commission, Crookston, Minn.

Bids will be considered only from responsible parties, who have had experience in ditch work.

The successful bidder will be required to enter into contract without delay, and to furnish a satisfactory bond as a guarantee that the contract will be faithfully executed. The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Dated at St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5, 1901. —P. E. Hanson,

RURAL DELIVERY

The First of the Country Mail Routes Mapped Out to the Department.

PETITION SENT TO F. M. EDDY

Covers Travel Route of Twenty-five Miles in Andover, Hammond and Fairfax.

Postmaster Eiken informs the Journal that he has prepared and forwarded to Congressman Eddy for his endorsement, papers asking that a free delivery route for the carrying of mail be established with this city as headquarters. The territory to be covered lies in the townships of Lowell, Andover and Hammond, and as required, covers a travel route not to exceed 25 miles.

The petition forwarded is signed by 98 heads of families that would be served by the carrier. The law requires a hundred families on the route, and the list includes more than that number, all of whom were not seen by the party circulating the petition.

The route traveled will be south of the Red Lake river to the Burnham's Creek country, thence southerly through the territory mentioned, and back through the corner of Fairfax township.

The petition must have the endorsement of Congressman Eddy, and will then go to the postoffice department for action. The routine necessitates the examination and report of a special agent, and when he arrives there will be no difficulty in making it apparent that the route is feasible, and that the service should be established. Owing to the amount of red tape that must always be unwound before action is taken on the proposition, it is not likely that the service will be inaugurated before the early months of next year.

The proposed action will be appreciated by those who live along the route, and will place them in close touch with the daily markets and news of the world, without effort on their part.

Other portions of the county will in the near future be platted for routes, but owing to the sparsely settled conditions, there will be some delay in securing the desired action.

EQUALIZING BOARD

It Raises County Assessment of Polk Fifteen Per Cent

St. Paul, Sept. 12.—The state board of equalization in session in this city, finished the live stock schedules this morning. Cows were fixed at from $12 to $14, and in about one third of the counties the assessment was raised. Sheep ranged a little above $1.50, and hogs from $2 to $2.50.

About half of the counties in Minnesota failed to assess dogs this year. Last winter the legislature passed a special act, levying a tax of $1 on each dog in the rural counties, to create a special fund for reimbursing owners of sheep killed by dogs. The state auditor's office holds that this does not invalidate the old law, and that dogs must be assessed as before for state and local taxation. County auditors, however, have in many cases made no return on dogs, or merely reported the number of dogs without any value. As a result the total valuation of dogs this year is only $277,742, against $514,235 in 1900.

The state board of equalization yesterday fixed the valuation of horses, 3 years old and over. Outside of Ramsey and Hennepin counties, the average assessment ranges from $25 to $35.

The following county assessments were changed:

Increase—Five per cent: Lac qui Parle, Olmsted, Pine, Red Lake, Rock, Scott, Swift, Todd; 10 per cent: Benton, Big Stone, Clay, Dakota, Fillmore, Grant, Kanabec, Lincoln, Meeker, Murray, Renville, Stearns; 15 per cent: Cook, Kandiyohi, Polk, Stevens; 20 per cent: Freeborn, Jackson, Martin, Otter Tall, Pipestone, Waseca.

Decrease—Five per cent: Pope; 10 per cent: Itasca, Rosean; 15 per cent: Goodhue, Washington.

The valuation of yearling cattle was fixed at from $5 to $7, and 2 year olds from $8 to $10.

ST. CLOUD'S LIGHT PLANT

Purchased by Easterners Who Will Enlarge and Improve It

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 12.—The St. Cloud Gas and Electric company's plant and franchise were sold this afternoon by H. S. Abbott, special master in chancery of the federal court under a decree of that court, to A. F. Howard and others of Portsmouth, N. H. The sale figure was $84,864.04, and to this must be added $38,500 in receiver's certificates, $1,300 interest and about $5,000 expenses of sale.

Mr. Abbott represented the first mortgage bondholders of the property and as soon as the sale is confirmed by Judge Lochren, the company will be reorganized and the capacity of its plant enlarged and the business strengthened at all points.

A GOOD MAN GONE

Bishop Whipple Minnesotas Great Belate Passes on

Faribault, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Bishop H. B. Whipple, the father of the Episcopal church in Minnesota, died at his home in this city at 6 a. m. today. Bishop Whipple was taken ill a week ago, the complaint being angina pectoris. Careful nursing had stayed the disease, and it was believed that he was convalescing. Late yesterday heart failure set in and caused death. There were present at the time of death his wife, Drs. Rose and Stone, his son-in-law, his two daughters, a sister-in-law and several grandchildren.

The arrangements for the funeral have not yet been announced.

MINNESOTA HAS NO LAW

Providing for the Punishment o Anarchists

"The proper treatment of anarchy and of the teaching of anarchistic doctrine is too broad a subject to be entered into without thorough investigation," said Attorney General Douglas yesterday. "There are upon the statute books of the state, so far as I have present knowledge, no laws by which those that make anarchistic or incendiary speeches can be punished, nor is there any law directly relating to an assault upon the governor or other state officials as such."

That the legislature of the state, if it so willed, has power to place a limitation upon the inflammatory speeches of anarchists or other political malcontents advocating the overthrow of the government, there is no doubt, the attorney general says.

The freedom of speech guaranteed by the constitution is not permitted to lapse into license, for there are laws on the statute books which make unlawful language calculated to cause a breach of the peace, and the right to make such a limitation has been upheld by the courts.

Following this precedent, said the attorney general, the legislature might enact laws making it an offense to advocate such principles in a way calculated to inflame men's minds against the government or its officials.

As to the method of punishment, the attorney general believed that there was a grave question whether a state might deport anarchists or punish them, except where the offense of inflammatory speech making was very plain.

If a state wished to protect its officers or its citizens against the attacks of anarchists, it must provide its own laws, as it was a question whether the federal government could do.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Will Reach Bridgie Soon

N. D. Miller, formerly chief engineer of the Great Northern, was registered at the National on his way to Bridgie, looking over the country and proposed railroad work. It is rumored that the contractors will fix up a tote road between here and Bridgie to take in supplies.

In connection with the above it may be stated that i tis currently talked a prominent official of the M. & I. company has stated that the road would be completed to Bridgie, in Itasca this fall. The impossibility to secure help has proven the chief drawback, but this official, it is said, has declared that the objective point will be reached even "if they have to make men." —Blackduck Times.

BUFFALO EXCITED

The First Impulse of the Crowd Was to Find the Assassin.

MOVEMENT WAS RESTRAINED

And Czolgosz Will be Permitted to be Legally Executed.

Buffalo, Sept. 14.—This city, not only in those parts near the Milburn house, but all over, and even out in the exposition grounds, went into a state of ferment when news of the sudden collapse of the president was announced. The ill news of the early day had been somewhat softened by the later afternoon announcement that there was a slight improvement, and the sudden announcement of approaching dissolution came as a great surprise.

At the Pan-American grounds it was announced that he was dead and a majority of the immense crowd turned toward the city. In the city itself the papers refrained from any anticipation, but made it understood that there was no hope. It seemed but an instant when the crowds formed at every corner, swarmed toward the newspaper bulletins, and when they found that the rumors were confirmed, somebody shouted:

"Let's find the assassin!"

With one impulse the crowds started for the station house where Czolgosz is confined. Telephones were utilized and the police notified, and when the crowd arrived they found the police out in force.

Supt. Bull, anticipating trouble, called out the entire force, and in addition asked the fourth brigade headquarters to be in readiness to assist. Col. Welch, in charge, answered by ordering two companies each from the 56th and 74th regiments to their armories to await an immediate call. Around the station house at 8 o'clock it was estimated that at least six thousand people were gathered. They were not particularly ugly and when the police proceeded to drive them back there was little resistance. At 9 o'clock they had been sent back two blocks on each side of the police station and before 10 o'clock, weary with waiting for definite news, they had dispersed or gone to newspaper bulletins.

Up about the corner near the Milburn house was a picturesque but rather gruesome scene, when it is remembered that the crowds gathered there were awaiting the president's death. Half a dozen tents and two election booths made it look like the midway of a fair, but ropes stretched from corner to corner, the solemn looking police guard, pacing soldiers, and above all quietness of the assembled multitude, bore witness to the solemnity of the occasion. At intervals a carriage would drive up and then the newspaper men would move toward it.

The Milburn house was hardly discernable among the trees, the lights in the house having been dimmed, but at momentary intervals some one who had information would step out of the house and then the eager crowd would surround him. But from the time that Secretary Cortelyou told that the president was very weak, there was nothing to encourage the belief that he could recover.

Shortly after midnight the great crowds on the street became excited over a rumor that the president was dead.

A rush was made toward the police station where Czolgosz is confined.

It was promptly met by police reserves mounted and on foot, and driven back after a weak resistance. In fact twenty policemen handled the mob on one street without trouble, indicating that the mob was not very much in earnest in their intent to get into police headquarters.

A World Wide Calamity

President McKinley is dead. One week ago last night the whole civilized world was horrified by the report of the assassination of the president of the United States.

The horrible details of the crime and its results, were awaited by the nation with bated breath until sufficient detail was known to apparently justify a hope of averting a fatal result.

And for a full week the most eager interest in every particle of information bearing upon the case has been universally manifested. The reports of the president's condition were continuously more and more hope inspiring and the public had settled down to a jubilant faith in his final recovery, which was, however, to receive a cruel shock.

The confidence disquieting reports which were flashed over the wires at intervals during the day yesterday, in a measure prepared the public for the distressing information which was given out this morning, that the president died at 2:15 A. M. The calamity which has thus fallen upon our nation in the death of one of the most able executives who ever occupied the presidential chair is not exclusively national, it is world wide, and will be so recognized by other nations.

That such a calamity should be brought to pass through such an agency as accomplished this one, is perhaps not the least distressing feature of it.

The man who stands next in the order of succession to the presidential office is one who has inspired the confidence of the country in his wisdom, immaculate honesty, sincerity of purpose, energy of action and familiarity with the well established policies of the administration, and he will undoubtedly avail himself of the support and assistance of the same cabinet which so effectively aided President McKinley and contributed toward making his administration such an unqualified success.

The governmental machinery will move on with its accustomed smoothness, and the pending questions will be wisely solved, and no apprehension of serious consequences to either our internal or international relations need exist.

But the fact stands out that bloody anarchism has acquired such an associated strength in this land of boasted freedom, that it dares to strike down the chief executive of the nation, and its adherents in different parts of the country meet and jubilate over the assassin's deed. Not at William McKinley as a man was the death dealing weapon aimed, but at President McKinley as the representative of government.

And it is not at all improbable that except for the increased vigilance with which they will be guarded, other men would soon be stricken down by the same death dealing power. 'Tis well that the country is awake to the seriousness of its peril and will insist on promptness of action in dealing with this murder-breeding organization.

The fact that the most beneficent government on earth, and the one which stands for the elevation of mankind and the highest possible development of humanity should find that it has charitably sheltered within its borders a viper that has now acquired such strength and activity as to attempt the destruction of its protector is one which must and will result in prompt action to secure the extinction of the poisonous, bloodthirsty serpent of anarchism.

Justice Should be Speedy

The common impulse of the American people when the news of the assassination of President McKinley was first given out, was a desire to administer swift and sudden retribution upon the criminal Czolgosz. And in that first impulsive desire for vengeance there was included instinctively and unconsciously the thought that no retribution could possibly be sufficiently severe to properly atone for the crime. But an act of murder by an individual, no matter how aggravated it may be, does not justify an act of murder in retaliation.

Retaliatory murder is anarchism in its essential and controlling principle and is never justifiable under any circumstances. Well is it for our credit as a nation, that the first revengeful impulse which thrilled the American heart and caused a spasmodic contraction of the muscles, accompanied by an instinctive desire to lay hands on the bloody handed murderer was restrained, and the assassin given into the hands of the law.

But the case is one which should be dealt with promptly. It is a case where the identity of the criminal is not in the slightest degree of doubt, the fact of premeditation of purpose is unquestionable, and the degree of punishment to be inflicted is unequivocally fixed by law.

And while a proper trial by jury is his prerogative and should be accorded him, the red-handed anarchist Czolgosz should be speedily arraigned, a jury promptly organized, sufficient evidence presented to cover the ground and establish the guilt, sentence pronounced, and at the earliest possible moment under the law, the penalty should be inflicted, and so far as he is concerned, the case will then be closed.

No other method of handling the case will or should be satisfactory to the American people. No anarchistically inclined attorney should be allowed to quible over insignificant technicalities and delay the speedy execution of justice. No ray of hope of escape, no matter how diminutive, should be allowed to illuminate for one instant the mind of Czolgosz or his anarchistic supporters.

Not revenge upon the assassin, but consideration for the feelings of an outraged and bereaved nation whose very liberties have become imperilled by the insidious development of treachery until it has culminated in a murderous deed which is but the expression of a vindictive hatred of the foundation principles of our government, suggests such summary exercise of justice.

Canadian Sympathy

The Montreal Star is said to have the widest circulation of any Canadian newspaper, and its editorial utterances may safely be accepted as expressing the feeling that is current among our Canadian neighbors in regard to the calamity which has befallen our nation. The following, taken from the last week's issue of that ably edited paper, is in itself suggestive (to use its own language) of how imaginary after all is the dividing line; how much in every deed we are one people in sympathy, aspirations, language and laws:

"The world waits with bated breath to know the latest news from that silent room in Buffalo where a beloved ruler and noble man hovers on the brink of the grave, stricken down by the hand of an assassin. It was a cruel, treacherous and senseless blow at the nation, through the sinless life of its chief magistrate. It was not William McKinley, the amiable, pure and loveable man, at whom the assassin's pistol was aimed; it was the president of the United States he sought to lay low.

"The news of the awful deed sent a thrill of horror throughout the civilized world, but in Great Britain and Canada the blow was as shocking and the indignation as deep as it was in Washington. It is when the hand of a great calamity is laid upon either of the great English speaking nations that we feel how imaginary after all is the dividing line; how much in every deed we are one people in sympathy, aspirations, language laws; how irresistibly our destinies are interlocked, though politically we remain as separate as the poles. Their joys are our joys; their bereavemente our bereavements; and wherever there is a heart to admire pure, consecrated Christian manhood, there was an admirer of him whom the people of the United States last chose to rule over them. We extend that hand of neighborhood, the brotherly grasp of friendship to the citizens of the United States today, and assure them, were it necessary, how deeply we sympathize in their hour of harrassing anxiety, their time of sorrow.

"President McKinley is a representative of the best type of public men the republic has produced. In the hour of his country's peril he placed his life at her disposal and fought in the northern army. In the nation's councils his voice was ever that of wisdom, his advice on the side of moderation. As president his guiding hand steered the ship of state in one of the most crucial periods in his country's history. His recent visit to the various parts of the vast domain he was chosen the ruler of was a veritable triumphal tour. When illness struck down his devoted wife, the nation, without regard to creed, sect or party, shared in his anxiety, and joined in heartfelt gratitude when the danger was past.

"In most of the churches, probably all, in this country on Sunday the voice of the people of Canada united with that of the good people in the republic in a petition to the Throne of Grace for the speedy recovery of the honored and honorable ruler.

It is especially gratifying to the American people at this time to remember that President Roosevelt is an ideal American affairs, devoted to American-American, thoroughly conversant with can ideals, and a man whose strength of character has been thoroughly tested and found not wanting. The wisdom of selecting a strong man for vice president is emphasized by the recent tragedy in our history.

DEAD AT HIS POST

Was Engineer Saxe and Fatal Collision Was the Consequence.

TWO ENGINES BITCHED

The Fireman Was Killed and Two Men Were Seriously Injured.

Red Wing, Minn., Sept. 17.—Running 40 miles an hour, Sunday, with a dead engineer at the throttle, freight train No. 69, west bound, on the Milwaukee road, crashed into the third section of east bound train No. 66 at Eggleston, twelve miles from here.

Engineer Saxe of Minneapolis and Fireman Koethe of La Crosse, both on No. 69, were killed outright.

On train No. 66, Engineer W. A. Percy of Minneapolis had a shoulder dislocated, Brakeman Colby of Minneapolis was thrown a long distance into Vermillion slough and so seriously injured that he may die and Brakeman H. C. Arne was hurt. He will recover.

At the coroner's inquest yesterday, Conductor J. D. Trusome of Minneapolis, who was in charge of No. 69, said he received orders at Red Wing to meet No. 66 at Eggleston and No. 70 at East Hastings. He showed these orders to Engineer Saxe, who read them aloud and said he understood them.

When nearing Eggleston the conductor noticed that the train was running faster than it should, and he and his head brakeman applied the brakes.

A moment later the crash came. Both engines were demolished and 13 cars ditched. The third car on No. 69 was an empty box car. It jumped clear over the cars ahead of it and the two engines and rolled into the ditch 20 feet below.

Engineer Saxe and his fireman were found under the wreck. The engineer was cut into fragments.

Koethe, the fireman, lived in La Crosse, and this was his first trip over this division. He was 20 years old and had been employed on construction work on another part of the road.

Engineer Percy, of train No. 66, east bound, waited on the main track according to orders. He saw No. 69 come tearing down upon him and, hoping to avert an accident, backed his train. But he was too late, for the west bound train crashed into him.

How he escaped he does not know, for he did not regain consciousness until physicians had worked over him for three hours. His right shoulder is dislocated and he is otherwise injured. Brakeman Colby was thrown into Vermillion slough and may be fatally hurt.

The general opinion is that Engineer Saxe died from heart failure after leaving Red Wing. He did not blow the whistle nor shut off the steam when approaching Eggleston and railroad men are confident that he was dead before the collision. His fireman, having never been over the line, could not be expected to notice the engineer's failure to whistle or shut off steam when approaching the station.

Traffic was blockaded for hours and several trains were sent over the Burlington tracks.

SALE OF STATE LANDS

STATE OF MINNESOTA, LAND OFFICE

St. Paul, Sept. 7th, 1901.

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 15th day of October, 1901, at 10 o'clock in the morning, at the office of the County Auditor in Crookston, Minnesota, I will offer for sale the following described unsold state lands, and the following described state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest will also be then and there offered for resale. Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from the date of sale to June 1st, 1902, must be paid at the time of the sale; The balance of the purchase money can be paid at any time, in whole or in part, within forty years of the time of the sale, the rate of interest on the unpaid balance of the purchase money will be four per cent per annum, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years, but if the principal is paid before the expiration of ten years from the date of the sale, the rate of interest on the unpaid balance will be five per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year.

Holders of certificates on which the interest payments are in default can have their certificates reinstated on payment before the sale of the interest in full to date and the penalties thereon, when the lands covered thereby will be withdrawn from sale.

—R. C. DUNN,
State Land Commissioner.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE

Of Six Cass Lakeites With An Inquisitive Bruin.

A Cass Lake correspondent of the Minneapolis Journal gives the following account of an experience through which six prominent Cass Lakeites recently passed:

Mayor James Cardle, J. E. Johnson, J. T. Gardner, Dr. Hanlay, Charles Tedford and George Stein have returned from a hunting trip that they will long remember. As an earnest of the truth of their tale they brought with them the skin and carcass of the largest black bear even seen in this part of the state. The bear was captured after an exciting experience, during which the members of the party were in danger of losing their lives. They had tied up for the night, and were all sleeping peacefully, when the cook heard a rattling of the dishes in the kitchen, and he went "aft" to investigate. A few moments later there was a mighty yell and a splash was heard, indicating that the chef had jumped overboard. The members of the party tumbled out of their bunks and grabbed their weapons. looking over the side of the house-boat they saw the cook swimming to the shore, with long strokes, yelling "There's a bear in the kitchen." All hands rushed toward the kicben, just as Bruin took it into his head to investigate other portions of the boat. Two of the party fired their guns wildly and then jumped overboard and followed in the wake of the cook, who was standing shivering on the shore. J. E. Johnson, who is a veteran of the civil war, was the only one of the crowd who had the presence of mind to take his gun with him when they made their hasty exit from the boat. Upon reaching the shore, Mr. Johnson took aim with his Winchester and shot the bear in the right side of the head. The hunters then made their way to the boat. They had been clad in nothing but their night clothes. When the party arrived at Cass Lake they took an inventory of their capture and found that they had a black bear six feet two and one half inches in length, tipping the scales at 518 pounds.

FIRE AT BEMIDJI

Yesterday Destroyed $30,000 Worth of Railroad Property.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 17.—Early yesterday morning fire destroyed the Minnesota & International roundhouse, water tank, two locomotives, one boiler and two cars of coal, causing a loss of $30,000, covered by blanket insurance. The fire was caused by a spark from an engine. The south bound passenger train was delayed two hours waiting for a locomotive to arrive from Walker. The company will rebuild.

Bemidji Will Not Bond.

A special school election was held Saturday night at Bemidji to vote upon the proposition to bond the village for $12,000 in order to take up outstanding indebtedness and to raise funds to keep the school running. The opposition to the bonds issue was led by Mrs. Smith. One hundred and sixty votes were cast, 104 for bonds, 63 against. As a two-thirds vote is needed to carry such a measure, the bonds advocated were defeated.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER.

When a cough or cold is long neglected consumption almost invariably follows. Remember Mexican Syrup only costs 25 cents a bottle, and yet has proven in many thousand cases an absolute safe cure for coughs, colds and consumption. Taken in time it cures quickly. Children like it because it tastes so good. Insist on your druggist keeping it for sale. Read the seemingly miraculous cures it has effected, printed on the wrapper around the bottle.

A PITIABLE SIGHT.

What is more pitiable than to see a puny, delicate little child absolutely dying from neglect. There are many little ones, whose cheeks would grow rosy, whose eyes would grow bright, whose flesh would be plump and pretty if only the worms that are gnawing at their vitals were removed, which is easily effected with Mother's Worm Syrup, so nice to take that children ask for it. Also a cure for tape worm in grown people. Try a 25 cent bottle.

THE SECRET OF GOOD HEALTH.

The secret of beuty and good health is cleanliness. Uncleanliness breeds disease. Internal cleanliness is even of greater importance than external. Keep your liver active and your bowels thoroughly clean by taking a Mexican Root Pill occasionally. Their use does the nerves, kidneys, etc., good also. Only 25 cents a box.

GOOCH'S QUICK RELIEF.

When your joints and bones ache and your flesh feels tender and sore, a 25 cent bottle of Gooch's Quick Relief will give you quick relief. Best cure for colic.

HEALTHY BLOOD
MAKES HEALTHY FLESH.

To have good flesh and good feeling, to look well and feel well take some Gooch's Sarsaparilla. Nothing else so good for pale and sickly women.

PILE-INE CURES PILES.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Brakeman at Barnesville Run Down by a Switch Engine.

BODY CAUGHT ON TRUCKS

And Was Carried Back and Forth Over the Rails During the Night.

Barnesville, Sept. 18.—A horrible accident occurred in the Great Northern yards here Monday night. Gale Gilberts, a brakeman whose run was formerly over that division of the road, but who has lately been employed further north, was struck by a switch engine some time during the night and his mangled body catching underneath the engine, was carried about for some time. The position of the body showed that the engine had been backing up at the time it struck him, and as the night was dark and he uttered no cry, the accident was not discovered until traces of blood were seen on the tracks in the morning. One reports is that he had apparently been climbing down from the rear of the tender and had fallen under the wheels.

DROWNED IN A SWAMP

Particulars of a Sad Occurance Near Shevlin

Shevlin Advocate: Last Sunday Dr. Greene of this place was summoned to the residence of Andrew S. Ruskjer, four miles southeast of Solway, to view and make an examination of the corpse of Mr. Ruskjer's 5 year old daughter that was found the day previous, drowned in a swamp. As a message sent failed to bring the county coroner, Dr. Greene was sent for.

The facts of the sad occurrence as near as they can ever be known are as follows:

On Thursday of last week the little girl was sent out into the woods to bring home their cows, but as she failed to return, a large party turned out and searched the woods all day Friday and Saturday, until her lifeless body was discovered in one of the swamps of that locality.

Some small animals, probably muskrats, had gnawed the face and throat somewhat, and those marks and disfigurments gave rise to talk that her death was the result of violence instead of drowning, which was not the case.

OUTLINES HIS POLICY

Roosevelt Recites to Friends His Intention in Public Affairs

Buffalo, Sept. 17.—President Roosevelt has outlined in some detail the policy he will follow during his incumbency of office. It will be remembered that when he took the oath of office he stated with much definiteness:

"It shall be my aim to continue absolutely unbroken the policy of President McKinley for the peace (and he emphasized the word), prosperity and honor of our country."

Sunday the president gathered together some personal friends in Buffalo and those cabinet members as were here and gave them such ideas as he has already formulated for the conduct of public affairs and his own policy. In no sense are they divergent from what has been the policy of Mr. McKinley. His policy as outlined to his friends at the conference will be:

For a more liberal and extensive reciprocity in the purchase and sale of commodities, so that the overproduction of this country can be satisfactorily disposed of by fair and equitable arrangements with foreign countries.

The abolition entirely of commercial war with other countries and the adoption of reciprocity treaties.

The abolition of such tariffs on foreign goods as are no longer needed, for revenue, if such abolition can be had without harm to our industries and labor.

Direct commercial lines should be established between the eastern coast of the United States and the ports in South America and the Pacific coast ports of Mexico, Central America and South America.

The encouragement of the merchant marine and the building of ships which shall carry the American flag and be owned and controlled by Americans and American capital.

The building and completion as soon as possible of the isthmian canal so as to give direct water communication with the coasts of South America, Central America and Mexico.

The construction of a cable, owned by the government, connecting our main land with our foreign possessions; notably Hawaii and the Philippines.

The use of conciliatory methods of arbitration in all disputes with foreign nations, so as to avoid armed strife.

The protections of the savings of the people in banks and in other forms of investments by the preservation of the commercial prosperity of the country and the placing in positions of trust men of only the highest integrity.

REGULARLY ORDAINED

Miss Darling will Hereafter Preach at Detroit

Miss May Darling, who has many friends in Crookston, has been fully received into the ministry of the Congregational church, and has been settled as pastor of the church at Detroit, Minn.

Miss Darling's examination was conducted by eight ministers, and the verdict of her ability was unanimous in favor of giving her a license to preach. The lady is possessed of very great ability, a deep thinker, a logical reasoner and a fine speaker. At the present time there are but few women regularly ordained to the ministry.

FORT SNELLING IN APPLES

Reproduced at State Fair and at Buffalo Exposition

One very novel and extremely interesting feature of the recent Minnesota state fair was a reproduction of the original Fort Snelling in apples, by J. M. Underwood, proprietor of the Jewell nursery at Lake City, Minn. The design was the work of John Nordine, who has been connected with the nursery for many years, and establishes beyond question his right to be termed a horticultural-architectural genius.

The entire display required 90 bushels of apples for one setting. The face of the fort was largely covered with Wealthy apples, a variety for which Minnesota has become justly famous, and over 50 varieties were displayed in the entire exhibit.

The fort was built around an erect pivotal piece of timber upon which it rested by braces, the whole face of the fort being covered with apples. The circumference of the fort was 29 feet and 3 inches, the diameter 9 feet and 8 inches, and the height from the floor 18 feet. There were four portholes 22 by 26 inches from which protruded cannon 5 feet long made of crabapples, two bushels of apples being used for each gun. A happy conceit was a white dove, typical of peace, perched at the mouth of each cannon. Between the respective portholes were three loopholes for musketry, trimmed with mountain ash berries.

This exhibit has been shipped to Buffalo and is now being placed in position there and will, when finished, be a most novel and attractive addition to the Horticultural building and will increase the fame and laurels Minnesota already has won at the Pan-American exposition. It is a triumph of which the state may well feel proud.

It is emphatic testimony to the enterprise of Mr. Underwood and will be a revelation to thousands of visitors at the great Pan-American exposition (as indeed it was here in our own state) as to the horticultural possibilities Minnesota.

Train Had Changed Time.

Grand Forks Plaindealer: It is not often that the genial traveling man gets the worst of a deal, but this morning upwards of fifteen of them stood at the Great Northern depot and saw their train draw out without making an effort to get aboard. The joke was on them and they acknowledged it. The fact of the matter is the time of the west bound train was changed from 8:15 to 8:10, and none of them were aware of the fact. They were on hand and saw the train start but imagined it was only switching around. Capt. Jenks took in the situation and had the train held a few minutes at the junction. He then hustled up a switch engine and an extra coach and informed the knights of the grip that he was so pleased to get them out of the city that he would hold a train any time for them. The boys scrambled aboard and caught the regular at the junction with many a thank for the captain.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

In Colorado Mine Kills Six Miners

Glenwood Springs, Col., Sept. 18.—A terrific explosion of gas in the Spring Gulch mine of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, located 18 miles from this place, caused the death of six miners and the serious injury of three others, besides much damage to the tunnel in which the explosion occurred.

As soon as the explosion occurred a messenger was sent to the Pocahontas mine 7 miles away, to telephone for assistance. He stated that at the time of the accident the entire force of 100 miners was in the mine, and it was thought that all had perished.

A later messenger brought the information that less than half an hour previous to the time of the explosion, all but a few of the employes had gone off duty, thus preventing a more serious calamity.

The explosion was caused by gas becoming ignited by the blasts.

HANNA FOR NEXT VICTIM

Said to be the One Spotted as the Candidate for Next Bullet

Cincinnati, Sept. 18.—If information that is in the hands of the proper authorities is true, Senator Hanna is a marked man. His life is in danger. This is the information that comes from a prominent official and a warm personal friend of the senator who has been in Cleveland and Buffalo during the past week. Extraordinary precautions have been taken to prevent an attempt on the life of the noted Ohioan.

The information in the hands of the right officials came to them through the mail, though there have been personal warnings that the senator was the next man chosen to die at the hands of an assassin. Senator takes the matter lightly, but his friends are apprehensive and have seen to it that he goes nowhere unless an officer, or maybe two, accompany him and are close at his side all the time.

A HOT BED IDEA

In Use by Superintendent Hoverstad on the Experiment Farm.

EVERY PROGRESSIVE FARMER

Will Find Its Adoption a Source of Delight and Profit.

Supt. Hoverstad of the experiment farm has constructed and uses a hotbed, the advantages of which are so apparent and so great, with so slight an expenditure, that every progressive farmer should avail himself of the idea. And in the hope that many of the readers of the Journal will act upon the suggestion before the final freeze-up this fall prevents, and thus be ready to enjoy its benefits in the spring, we give herewith a description of its construction.

The hotbed, or perhaps it might be more appropriately called spring hot house, in question is 12x24 feet in size, its length ranging north and south. In its construction the ground was first staked out, and the space excavated to the depth of two feet. Through the center of this space from north to south a further excavation was made, two and one half feet in width and two feet in depth, forming a passageway. The sides of this passageway were then boarded up to the height of four feet. The outside line of the excavation was then walled up with boards to the height of four feet, on the top of which a plate 2x4 was placed. The ridge support consists of a stick 4x4, placed four feet above the line of the sides. Eight glazed sash on either side form the roof of the structure, these sash being fitted tightly together, but left so as to be easily removable. The small gable at the south end is filled with glass, and the north end is supplied with steps and a door to provide for entrance. Fresh horse manure is then packed solidly in the boxes so formed on each side of the passageway, to the depth of about 18 inches, and 6 inches of good soil placed on top of this. The surface soil should be sifted to furnish a finely pulverized bed for the seeds. A hotbed thus arranged in the fall, all but the final work of filling, can be filled up in February or the first part of March, and if properly managed will furnish early vegetables and whatever plants may be desired, and will be a delight to the whole family. The principal part of the cost of such a hot house is in the glass, which just at the present time is much higher in price than ordinarily. All the work can be done by any person of ordinary ability to handle a shovel, saw and hammer, and any old boards can be utilized for the sides. The dirt thrown out in excavating should be banked up against the sides for additional frost protection.

At the close of the season, and before freezing, the earth in the beds should be shoveled into the passageway in the center and allowed to remain until the beds are to be filled in February or March. Then the horse manure is placed in the beds and it will generate sufficient heat so that in a few days the earth in the passageway is thawed out and can be replaced covering the manure

The sash can be made very cheaply of strips 1½x1½ inches, each sash containing a single row of lights of 10x12 glass, lapped one inch to exclude the water. Purchased by the box on an ordinary market, the glass would not be very expensive.

The house should be 12 feet one way as that will furnish the largest available space at the lowest cost, but its length can be governed by a person's needs and inclinations. A covering of boards can be placed over the glass during the winter for its protection, and indeed it would also be an excellent plan to tack wire screen on the upper side of the sash to protect the glass in the summer.

It is quite probable that if the bed were placed ranging east and west, the north half of the roof could be of boards and shingles if white-washed inside, without sacrificing to any great extent the advantage of the glass, and this would reduce the expense somewhat.

Such a hotbed would also be a very satisfactory investment for a great many people living in the city who enjoy early garden stuff and flowers.

A Two Headed Baby

A baby was born several days ago in this city with two heads which stand on one neck. The birth of the deformed child has been kept very quiet and but a few people have been advised of it. Today it was announced that the child was getting along nicely and there is every reason to believe that it will live, although it was considered very doubtful for several days after its birth.—St. Cloud Times.

RAILS AND TIMBER

Contractors Fear Scarcity of Help Will Make Work Expensive

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 12.—The large amount of railroad and logging work to be done in this country this fall and coming winter will demand so many laborers that the contractors are becoming alarmed over the situation, which has been a harassing one all summer. The Minnesota & International has several times had to practically cease construction work, and has not had an average of one hundred men at work since the advent of harvest time in Dakota.

T B. Walker is about to commence the construction of a standard gauge railroad for logging purposes, from a point half way between Solway and Shevlin to a point fourteen miles south, in the neighborhood of Lake Ithasca, where he has about 200,000,000 feet of pine to get out, and which he will haul to Bemidji and Akeley for sawing. His contractors are now getting in their work camps on the line, and will be crying for laborers within the next ten days.

The Great Northern railway is interested in this line, as it will form a link in the future connection for them with their Pelican Rapids and Park Rapids lines, and a possible connecting extension with the Canadian Northern at Warroad. Over 400,000,000 feet of pine timber will be logged the coming winter within fifty miles of this place, calling for upwards of 7,000 men and teams. Bemidji has now become the hiring place for all this army of men, and it is anticipated that the rush here will be a big one within the next thirty days.

BISHOP WHIPPLE ILL

The Venerable Prelate Has Attack of Heart Rheumatism

St. Paul, Sept. 13.—Rt. Rev. Henry B. Whipple, the venerable Episcopalian bishop of Minnesota, who has been suffering from a severe attack of angina pectoris at his home in Faribault, is reported to be some better.

Bishop Whipple was attacked on Monday last and Saturday, and grave fears were entertained for a time as to the immediate outcome of his illness. Dr. A. J. Stone, of this city, was summoned in consultation with Dr. Rose, who was attending the patient, and their combined efforts succeeded in warding off a fatal attack. Owing to the bishop's advanced age it is feared that a recurrence of the attack may not be withstood.

Roosevelt Statistics

The following statistics of the vice president are of interest at this time:

Height—Five feet 8 inches.
Weight—185 pounds.
Chest Measuremnt—42 inches.
Collar—No. 16½.
Gloves—No. 8.
Hat—No. 7¼.
Shoes—No. 9½.

Has not been sick in the last ten years.

Has no life insurance.

He is 42 years of age.

His father died at 47; his grandfather at 77.

He prefers simple food, but is a great eater. His appetite is voracious and he indulges it. He does not smoke.

He takes all sorts of physical exercise—rides horse back, uses dumbbells, spars, punches the bag, wrestles and walks miles at a time. Besides the form mentioned, his exercise ranges from hunting big game to romping with his children.

Has never had a physician; says he has no use for one.

He sleeps eight hours a night; goes to sleep the minute he gets into bed and does not wake up until morning.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Made the Carpet Her Bank

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 13.—Some time ago Mrs. Davis Ferris of this city placed $700 under a carpet in her house for safe keeping. Yesterday when she looked for it she discovered that it was gone. She has not reported the matter to the police, but claims that she will get it back. She does not appear to be alarmed over the disappearance of the money.

Attacked by Vicious Deer

Baraboo, Wis., Sept. 13.—Arthur Hall, son of Supt. J. S. Hall of the county farm, had a narrow escape from being gored to death the other day. The young man entered the enclosure where several deer are kept, as has been his custom every day, and unexpectedly the buck charged upon him. Prompt assistance saved the boy's life.

SERIOUSLY ILL

James Younger One of the Famous Ex-convicts May Die

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—James Younger, the paroled bandit, has left the state's prison probably to die in the St. Paul city hospital, whither he was taken yesterday morning. Dr. Angus Macdonald says that "Jim's" serious condition is traceable to a slight accident three weeks ago, and the rough character of his employment. An operation will have to be performed to prevent general paralysis.

It is not generally known that Jim has lived most of his life with six bullets in his body. One is lodged under the spine in the middle of the back and another is at the terminus of the spinal column.

Two bullets that struck him on either shoulder from the rear, found a resting place some where in his chest, and the fifth is in the right groin.

His right hand contains part of the contents of a shell from a shot gun. During all his prison life he suffered no serious inconveniences from these wounds. Three weeks ago while riding near North Branch, as announced at the time, his buggy became tangled in weeds and Mr. Younger got out to free the vehicle.

While thus engaged his horse started, and he was caught between the wheels and the box of the wagon. Before he could stop the horse he was painfully bruised in the back, near where one of the bullets is lodged. He thought nothing of the incident at the time, but the constant riding over rough roads in a light cart, has irritated the injury, and he was obliged to go to bed a week ago.

The injury has assumed serious proportions and paralysis of the limbs has manifested itself.

He has had constant medical attendance. Dr. Macdonald says he will use an X-ray machine to locate the bullet and will endeavor to remove it.

EQUINE DENTISTRY

Horse in New York Had Eleven Teeth Filled

New York, Sept. 13.—The operation of filling eleven teeth of a horse with gold and silver has been finished by Dr. Theodore M. Henderson, of the New York Veterinary hospital. The subject was Banfier Jefferson Seligman's sorrel mare Anna, the favorite saddle horse of Mrs. Seligman. That the operation, which was performed in the stable at Long Branch, was wholly successful is shown by the fact that the horse, which has had little food for three weeks, because of bad teeth, ate with great relish after leaving the dentist's hands.

The mare was not given ether or other anaesthetic to cause her to be entirely overcome, but instead Dr. Henderson said he administered cocaine. To do this, he said, obviated any roping of the mare other than a halter. Her legs were not tied, and she stood during the entire operation.

"She seemed more to enjoy it than dislike it," said Dr. Henderson. He put in enough gold in two cavities to fill ten teeth of a man. He also put in a proportionate quantity of silver in the other nine teeth.

Jessie Out on Bonds

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 13.—A $4,000 bond has been approved for the release of Jessie Morrison from the penitentiary pending the decision of the state supreme court on her appeal from the decision of the Butler county district court, which sentenced her to five years' imprisonment for killing Mrs. Castle. Miss Morrison will be released today.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution issued out of and under the Seal of the District Court in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, upon a judgment rendered and docketed in the said court, on the 24th day of August, A. TO THE PEOPLE:

Some time ago the "Jack-of-All-Trades" began to tell the people what he could do. He made great claims; promised to do more than ever had been done before, and more than most people believed possible. You all know the success he has attained, and as he became more familiar with the country he was traveling in, he could see the possibilities of greater work, and to accomplish this he has introduced to you a traveling companion. Behold his features in the shape of a 2½ H. P. Geared Base Vertical Gasoline Engine. His specialties are pumping water and general farm use. He is very versatile, and when his time is not wanted for pumping water, by a movement of one of his arms, he can disconnect the gears and his power can be directed for other purposes. He is beginning to travel all over the country from the Canadian Provinces to the Equator, and from the Eastern Coast to the Philipines. He is taking up all sorts of work for all kinds of people, and it is surprising to note the results of his work for the first year. Send for information and catalogue.

ASTHMA CURE FREE!

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in All Cases.

Sent Absolutely Free on Receipt of Postal.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

We want to send to every sufferer a trial treatment of Asthmalene, similar to the one that cured Mr. Wells. We'll send it by mail POSTPAID, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, to any sufferer who will write for it, even on a postal. Never mind, though you are despairing, however bad your case, Asthmalene will relieve and cure. The worse your case, the more glad we are to send it. Do not delay, Write at once, addressing DR. TAFT BROS.' MEDICINE CO., 79 East 130th St., N. Y. City. Sold by all Druggists.

THE STRIKE ENDED

Saturday's Conference in New York Closed Negotiations Favorably.

WORK WAS RESUMED MONDAY

Amalgamated Association Yielded All Points--Shaffer Conducted Negotiations

New York, Sept. 16.--The steel strike was settled after a conference of six hours between representatives of the Amalgamated association and the Steel corporation on Saturday. The men returned to work today

The agreement was not made public but it was signed by the officials of the Amalgamated association and the subsidiary companies of the United States Steel corporation. The corporations signing are the American Tin Plate company and the American Sheet Steel company.

No concessions were made by the United States Steel corporation.

It was also learned that the Amalgamated association gave up its right to control in the following mills: The Crescent, Irondale, Chester, Star, Monongahela, Demmler and Monessen mills of the American Tin Plate company: the Canal, Dover, Hyde Park, Old Meadow, Saltburgh, Dewees, Wood and Wellsville mills of the American Sheet Steel company; the Painter, McCutcheon and Clark mills of the American Steel Hoop company; the Joliet and Milwaukee mills of the Federal Steel company, and all of the mills of the American Tube company.

BOY SAVES THREE LIVES

Mother and Two Daughters Saved From Watery Grave

Janesville, Wis., Sept. 13.--John Airis, the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Airis, is being praised as a hero because of the rescue of three persons who were drowning in Rock river. He saved the lives of Mrs. Frank Peters, her daughter, Pearl Peters, aged 13, and Fanny Litts, aged 11 years.

The girls, in company with some friends, were in wading. Mrs. Peters was watching them from a window of her house when suddenly she saw both step into a deep hole and sink out of sight. Mrs. Peters ran to the river, plunged into the water with all her clothing on, and she, too, went down.

Young Airis then came to the rescue. He jumped in and, with great effort, succeeded in bringing all three to shore. Mrs. Peters was so excited that she fought Airis like a maniac and scratched his breast, but he clung to her and finally got her ashore, although almost exhausted with the struggle. Airis returned for the two girls and pulled them out by the hair.

TWO NARROW ESCAPES

The Shamrock Nearly Runs Down a Boat and Tackles a Squall

New York, Sept. 13.--The Shamrock II had two perilous experiences while trying her sails in the vicinity of Sandy Hook yesterday. She was accompanied on the excursion by the steam yachts Erin and Giraldo, the press boat Unity and the tender J. A. Lawrence. The wind was fresh from the start. The Shamrock had sailed at a 12 not clip out through Gedney channel on the starboard tack, putting her lee rail under at times during the squalls. She had gone about and eased shets to starboard for the reach home.

The Giralda's captain, evidently not realizing the Shamrock's great speed attempted to cross her bow. Capt. Sycamore of the Shamrock was unable to keep the yacht off because of the press boat Unity under her lee, and to clear her almost had to gybe the yacht. The men jumped off the port preventer backstays of the main boom and were already swinging over when the Giralda, under full speed, fairly crossed the Shamrock's bow and the danger was over. Not more than 50 feet separated them and if the Shamrock hit her she would undoubtedly have sunk her.

When off the hook returning to the bay a squall struck the Shamrock and for 15 minutes the wind blew at a 40 knot gait and the yacht headed over to an alarming extent. The stays were quickly lowered and the yacht eased to outside the gale in safety. When the squall struck the Shamrock it struck her abaft and put her "in iron" for a few minutes, and then taking the full force of it, she laid down until her deck was half under water to leeward. Before she fairly recovered the wind caught her on the other side and heeled her down harder than ever. The big mast never buckled, but stood the immense strain wonderfully well.

BOLT FROM TELEPHONE

Blinds Spokane Woman and Results In Suit for $10,000

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 13.--As a result of a remarkable accident by which Mrs. E. M. Roberts was made blind from a lightning bolt while talking over a telephone, she has brought suit for $10,000 damages against the Pacific States Telephone company. Mrs. Roberts is now totally blind at her home, 617 Third avenue, this city.

Mrs. Roberts is a music teacher. She claims that the telephone company was at fault for the accident in not supplying an instrument that would give protection from such bolts. The accident happened last May, but the total blindness has just set in.

"I was standing at the telephone, talking, when the accident occurred," said Mrs. Roberts. "There was an electric storm at the time. Suddenly a bolt of lightning came through the telephone and I received the full force of the shock. The blow was so intense that I was knocked nearly across the room, and ten teeth were loosened. I remained unconscious for nearly 20 minutes. Friends came to my assistance and helped me to consciousness. When I recovered I could neither remember how it happened, nor could I recall where I was at the time the accident took place.

"The first sensations when I came to consciousness were anything but painful. In fact, they were the reverse. Bright colored lights seemed to shoot through my head. That was after I recovered some degree of consciousness. The blow itself when the bolt struck me was so sudden that I never felt it. It seems to me that death by electricity would be absolutely painless.

"At first, after gaining my senses, I tried to make myself believe that I was not seriously hurt, for I wanted to keep at work. The effort was a useless one, as I felt dazed and numb all over my body. My eyes were dull and I saw double. That kept up for three days, and I continued to suffer more until I was seized with pains in the front of the head, and now the power of sight has completely left me."

Van Sant's Gallantry

The New York Times has a story about Gov. Van Sant in which it is stated that he came to the relief of a couple of ladies on an incoming train in St. Paul, who found themselves encumbered with more baggage than they could well handle. The governor had heard the ladies make some disparaging remarks about the men of the west being rude and lacking in gallantry, and had his eye on them. Noting their need of assistance he promptly offered his services, and taking two large grips in each hand worked his way through the crowd to the waiting room in the depot with them. After depositing the luggage in one of the seats the governor was about to bow himself away, when one of the ladies asked to whom it was they were indebted for such a kind service.

"Samuel R. Van Sant, the governor of this great state, madam," replied the portly man. "I am pleased to be given the opportunity to redeem the western man in your estimation. You see, out here our men are so busy earning their living that in the general hustle they occasionally step onto their neighbor's toes."

The governor was almost out of the building before the ladies had recovered breath. Then the older one said:

"Gracious! Mary, but we would be a long time in New York before we would have our luggage carried by the governor of the state."

J. J. Hill's Representative

The report is current in St. Paul that within ten days Louis W. Hill, is to be named as his father's representative at the Great Northern general offices. The absence of President J. J. Hill in New York much of the time makes it necessary to have some one at St. Paul to act in his place. Louis Hill is president of the Eastern Railway of Minnesota, which has been very successful under his administration.

A Night of Terror

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die before morning from Pneumonia," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her.' This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at A. G. Andersen's drug store.

LEOPARD GOT LOOSE

Chewed a Couple of Men Quite Seriously

Chicago, Sept. 14.--Walter Tuller, formerly city marshal of Evansville, Wis., arrived in the city last night in company with Dr. F. F. Colony of he same place. Mr. Tuller was wounded by a leopard that escaped from its cage while being taken to the railway depot to be removed to Milwaukee.

The animal escaped into the woods near Evansville a week ago and the peopleo f that vicinity have been people of tha vicinity have been it was located in the woods on John Hess' farm, five miles from town, and a posse of 25 citizens went after the animal. Tuller went out with the posse and shot at the leopard at close range. The animal sprang upon him, clawed him in the face and bit him in the shoulder. Then it escaped into the woods. Later the animal was surrounded. Mr. Hess tried to kill it this time. He was bitten in the left arm. Then the animal received a volley from several shot guns and died. Tuller came to Chicago to be treated by Dr. Lagorio at the Pasteur Institute to prevent possible hydrophobia.

Theodore Roosevelt

Born in New York city, October 27, 1858.

Graduated from Harvard in 1880.

Elected as a republican member of the assembly in 1881. Served for three consecutive terms.

In 1886 ran for governor of New York on the republican ticket in the three cornered fight with Abram S. Hewitt and Henry George; defeated, but polled the largest republican vote cast up to that time.

Appointed national civil service commissioner in 1889; proved a stanch friend of civil service reform.

1895--Appointed police commissioner by Mayor Strong; made an energetic, aggressive appointee.

1897--Appointed by President McKinley assistant secretary of the navy and resigned to join the Rough Riders, whom he led up San Juan Hill.

1898--Elected governor of New York

1900--Elected vice president of the United States.

1901--Sept. 14, succeeded to the office of president of the United States.

Roosevelt's Eulogy

Vice President Roosevelt in a speech at Canton, Ohio, on Oct. 18, 1900, delivered the following eulogy of President McKinley:

"When we come to look at President McKinley he seems to have the kink of keeping in the right of things. Not only has he faced greater problems more successfully than any man since Lincoln, but any man before Lincoln excepting Washington.

"There have been other presidents, as at the time of the war of 1812 and at the time of the Mexican war, who have had to face foreign problems, but President McKinley stands not only for the honor of the flag abroad, not only for financial and economic prosperity at home, but as the special representative and embodiment of the cause of liberty and the unity of American life."

New Cure for Drink Habit

An exchange has discovered a new cure for the whiskey habit, and publishes it to the world as follows: Let any victim of the whiskey habit eat tomatoes sprinkled with salt, consuming as much as possible. Let the eating of tomatoes and salt to excess be continued for several days and the tomato eater will find liquor offensive, undrinkable, or if drank ungrateful to the stomach, so much that it will be thrown up. This is the cheapest gold cure yet heard of and is said to be effectual.

Stood Death Off

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50 cents at A. G. Andersen's drug store.

MAY RELEASE EMMA

No Evidence Yet Secured Sufficient to Hold Her

Buffalo, Sept. 14.--District Attorney Hare announced publicly that he had no evidence against Emma Goldman, and that unless some turned up no requisition upon the state of Illinois would be made for her. This does not mean that the woman will not be held on the conspiracy charge there. It simply means that no evidence has yet been secured to connect her with the crime. If she is released she will be kept under the closest surveillance and it will be easy for the authorities to place their hands upon her if she is wanted later. There is hope here, however, that some way will be found to hold her at least until the investigations now in progress by the secret service people in all cities where anarchist organizations exist are completed.

She was arrested wholly upon the responsibility of the chief of police under the general order sent out by Supt. Bull to apprehend all persons who might have knowledge of the attempted assassination. While no evidence has been found against the Goldman woman, the government is satisfied that Czolgosz crossed her path. Secret service detectives will trace Czolgosz's whereabouts step by step. One of the things which it is desired to complete is the report of the nature of the address which the assassin said inspired him to commit the deed.

JOHN MOST. THE ANARCHIST,

And an Editor Arrested for Distributing Anarchist Literature

New York, Sept. 13.--John Most, leader of the anarchists here, and Editor Freiheit, of the anarchistic organ, were arrested for distributing incendiary literature. When taken to headquarters a mob of anarchists stoned the police, who retaliated by opening the heads of several anarchists with night sticks, finally dispersing them.

Simple Inscription.

Buffalo, Sept. 16.--Wm. McKinley; born Jan. 29th, 1843; died Sept. 14th, 1901. The foregoing is the inscription on the casket that will contain the remains of the president. It is of red cedar, handsomely carved and covered with the finest black broadcloth. The interior is first lined with copper, over which is a full tufted satin covering. A French bevel plate glass runs the length of the top of the casket.

The outside case is made of red cedar, finely finished. The corners are capped with polished copper and the handles are of the same material. On the top of the case is a plate bearing a similar inscription to the one on the casket.

McKinley's Insurance

Cleveland, Sept. 10.--Well informed life insurance men of this city say that President McKinley carried from $100,000 to $200,000 on his life. One big New York company is said to have a single policy for $50,000. Mrs. McKinley is understood to be the only beneficiary named in all the policies.

ON FIRE.

An exploding lamp; the clothing in a blaze; a paragraph in the paper telling of horrible suffering from burns. Tragedy in this form moves a man to tears. But for women who are daily being consumed by the smouldering fire of disease there is little sympathy.

Inflammation, with its fierce burning; ulceration, eating into the tissues; the nervous system almost shattered by suffering; these are only part of the daily agonies borne by many a woman.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription puts out the fire of inflammation, heals ulceration, and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, restores the appetite, and gives refreshing sleep. "Favorite Prescription" is the most reliable put-up medicine offered as a cure for diseases peculiar to women. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"When I first commenced using Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. George A. Strong, of Gansevoort, Saratoga Co., N. Y., "I was suffering from female weakness, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains, weak and tired feeling all the time. I dragged around in that way for two years, and I began taking your medicine. After taking first bottle I began to feel better. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of the 'Pleasant Pellets,' also used one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Now I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your kind advice and the good your medicine has done me."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper bound, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Bird-Shot For Tiger.

No use to hunt tigers with bird-shot. It doesn't hurt the tiger any and it's awfully risky for you.

Consumption is a tiger among diseases. It is stealthy—but once started it rapidly eats up the flesh and destroys the life. No use to go hunting it with ordinary food and medicine. That's only bird-shot. It still advances. Good heavy charges of Scott's Emulsion will stop the advance. The disease feels that.

Scott's Emulsion makes the body strong to resist. It soothes and toughens the lungs and sustains the strength until the disease wears itself out.

The reports from the threshing machiaes are varions. Wheat is reported as yielding from 8 to 24 hushels to the acre, the most common being 16 to 20. All seem to agree that oats is a good crop.

P. O. Berg was out on a hunting expedition last week and hy chaace met Mr. Otto Rollis, of the township of the same name, who has for years heen running a country store np north, and it is reported that Mr. Berg purchased the store and good will of Mr. Rollis. We wish Mr. Berg tho hest of success, bnt are sorry to lose so good a citizen.

The city council will soon he confronted with a qnestion somewhat difficnlt to solve. The electric light plant is now running nearly 800 lights inelnding street lights, which is nearly the capacity of both the dynamo and water power. With the growth of the city, which is now qnite rapid, there will soon be an emphatic demand for more light. This means another dynamo, another water wheel and more power. The net profit of the plant is now nearly $100 a month, hut the question is if this is enongh to pay interest and meet the necessary bonds and pay for the new machinery that will be needed.

THE SCHLEY COURT

Recovenes With Rear Admiral Ramsey in Howison's Vacated Seat.

TAKING OF TESTIMONY BEGUN

And the Tale of the Memorable Battle Was Told by Admiral Higginson.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The Schley court of iaquiry yesterday began the exemination of witnesses, Admiral Higginson, commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic squadron, beiag the first one called.

Promptly at II o'clock Admiral Dewey called the court to order, Rear-Admiral Ramsey occupyiag the seat vaceted hy Rear-Admiral Howison. There was nothing of the spectaculer in the ceremony. No guns boomed, nor were marines drawn up.

The members of the court arrived in civilian dress, which they chaaged for the service uniform in the retiriag room. Mrs. Dewey accompanied her husband. She remaiaed, however, but a short time. When Admiral Schley, who was accompanid by his counsel, entered the room there was a clappiag of hands amoag the spectators.

The admiral stopped the applause, however, by a wave of the hand.

The aumber of spectators wes small.

Immediately upon the re-assembling of the court Judge Advocate Lemly asked Admiral Schley if he had objection to urge to aay member of the court. The latter promptly replied that he had not. The court retired for a short consultation and then the actual business for which it has heea called was taken up.

The court was called to order by a simple word from Admiral Dewey. The first order of business was the readiag by Judge Advocate Lemly of the order of the navy department appointing Rear-Admiral Ramsay to a place on the court in place of Rear-Admiral Howison, and when this wes accomplished, Capt. Lemly turned to Admiral Schley and asked him, as he did when Admiral Howison was chellenged, whether he had objectiions to urge against any member of the court The admiral arose as this question was askad and replied: I have not.

The judge advocate thea swore the members of the court colleetively and was in turn sworu in as judge advocate.

Admiral Higginson, commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic squadron, was the first witness called. He gave his full name as Francis J. Higgiason, rank as that of rear admiral; said he now was in command of the North Atlantic squadron; that he had, as captain, commanded the battleship Massachusetts during the Spanish war and that for a part of the time the Massachusette had been a part of the "flying squadron" of which Admiral Schley had been in command.

He told of joining the fleet at Newport News: of going to Key West and then on the 22d of May, of going to Cienfuegos. Key West had been left on May 19, 1898, and Cienfuegos reached on the 22d. His testimony occupied the attention of the court the greater part of the day.

WHITE HOUSE TOO SMALL

Insufficient for the Needs of the New President

Washington, Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt intends to move into the executive mansion on Wednesday next. Orders have besn given to put it in readiness for his occupancy, and a large force of men and women is now engaged in laying carpets and setting up furniture.

The problem which will give the president almnst as much concern as the enforcement of the Mnnroe doctrine, as soon as he enters the White House, is how he is to be able to find room for the members of his personal household.

President Roosevelt has six children, the eldest of whom is a yuung lady in her sighteenth year, and the youngest a baby who has not yet seen two winters. With Mrs. Roosevelt the family numbers sight. The other members of the household will be a nurse, perhaps a governess, and at least oae maid and a bousekeeper. This makes twelve in all.

Presideat Roosevelt hes a larger famlly nf children than aay president who hes ever entered the White House, and he is, therefore, confronted wlth a problem which none of his predecessors, except Presideat Clevelaad, had to face.

In the personal resideace there are only five sleepiag apartmeats. Three of those are of goodly dimensions, the two others nnt very large. While the White House is a large structure, more than half the interior space is devotcd to public offices and reception rooms and the other presideats with small famllies never had room to spare.

ANTI-ANARCHISTS

Have Formed a National Organization at Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Sept. 23.—A natioael organization for the purpose of the wlping out of the country of anarchists has been organized in this city. The organization is to be called, "The American Patriotic League." A constitution was adopted in which is set forth before that the attempt of laws to prevent the promuigation of anarchist doctrines are practically ineffectual, but that these doctrines can he extirpated hy appealing through educatioual means to public sentiment and hy making these doctrines so unpopnlar and contemptuous that no one would have the hardihood to promulgate them. Officers were elected as follows:

President—Jos. F. Scheuer.
Secretary—H. M. Sheets.
Treasurer—O. A. Hoffman.

It is the purpose of the promoters of the organization to hegin active organization throughout the city and state and later throughont the country. A button will be adopted aad every person opposed to anarchy will be requested to wear it. Several prominent citizens were among those who attended the initial meeting.

TAKING UP THE BURDEN

The Business of the Government is Resumed at Washington

Washington, Sept. 20.—(Special.)—The presidential train reached this city on its return from Canton at 9:20 this morning. It brought the president, members of the cabinet, the diplomatic corps and all persons connected with the affairs of government.

Presidence Roosevelt was driven at once to the residence of Commander Cowles, where he will make his home until Mrs. McKinley vacates the White House.

A cabiuet meeting was held at 11 o'clock this moruing at the executive mansion, and matters of a general nature were discussed. It was given out that no action of special significance was taken, but that the affairs were of a routine nature.

The Schley court of inquiry was convened at the navy yard at 11 a. m. All members of the court were present including Admirals Dewey and Schley, Rear Admirals Ramsey and Benham. A notable feature of the occasion was the presence of Admiral Dewey's wife, and several other ladies.

ANARCHISTS RELEASED

Not Sufficient Evidence to Justify Holding the Nine Suspects

Chicago, Sept. 24.—The nine anarchists who have been under arrest here since the assassination of President McKinley were yesterday given their freedom, Jndge Ohetlain so ordering after the prosecution admitted that there was no legal evidence against them.

Emma Goldman was not a party to the proceedings. Her case is set for today before Msgistrate Prendiville, where ehe, as well as the nine men released yesterday, is charged with conspiracy to murder President McKinley. The case in the lnwer court against the men are of course nullified by the action of Judge Ghetlain. Miss Goldman will also be set at liberty, as Justice Prendiville has agreed to take ench action in her case as the upper court took in the case of the men.

RAIL TRAGEDY

Further Particulars of the Finding of a Man Near Barnesville.

NAME WAS JAMES VICTORY

Worked on Grandin Farm and Was Doubtless Shot by Hoboes.

The Jonrnal on Saturday reported the shooting of a harvest hand while enroute east and his discovery on the Great Northern tracks near Barnesville. Later particnlars are at hand, which show that while the man has three hullet wounds in his head, he is still alive, bnt cannot recover, neither can he communicate with anyone. It appears his name is James Victory, and that he has been working on the Grandin farm. He was found covered with blood, lying beside the Great Northern track two and a half miles south of Barnesville by the section crew. The anthorities were notified, and as the man was in Wilkin county when found, they communicated with the officers of that county and they ordered him hronght to Barnesville. Dr. Alexander went ont and brought the wounded man tn that city. The hrain substance was oozing from a hullet wound in his forehead and there were two other hullet holes in his head. The doctors say he cannot possibly recover. When found his coat, vest, hat and shoes were missing, bnt the shoes were fonnd in the railroad ditch. The theory is that Victory was on the freight train and was robbed hy hoboes, who shot him and threw his body from the train. There was nothing on his person to show who he was, and every cent of his money was missing.

LIGHT PLANT WRECKED

And the City of Willmar Has to Resort to Kerosene

Willmar, Minn., Sept. 24.—The explosion of a 40-horse power boller completely wrecked the city electric light and water works plant Sunday morning, and will entail a loss of $25,000. The explosion occurred at 2:10 a. m., and the report was heard in the remotest part of the city, while the concussion shook the earth for blocks around, and pieces of the flying debris were carried a distance nf 2,000 feet from the scene of the disaster.

Nels Bredeson, the engineer, is unable to account for the explosion, and that he is alive and uninjured is nothing short of miraculons.

The night crew of the plant consists of two engineers, who change watches at midnight. Bredeson came on last witch, and the plant was turned over to him by Engineer Williams at 12 o'clock, with everything in good ruuuing order. Shortly after 2 o'clock Bredeson tried the water glasses on all the hoilers, and each gave the usual normal response. Only the usnal head of steam was heing carried, and everything seemed to be all right.

The wrecked power house was a substantial one story structure, 50x50, divided into three rooms—a boller room, a dynamo room and pumping room. The equipment of the plant consister of three boilers, one 125-horse power and two 40-horse power, two dynamos, with a capacity of 2,200 incandescent lights and two Ball high speed engines, besides two large force pumps with a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons every 24 hours. There were also a switch board and other electrical instruments necessary to a thoroughly equipped lighting plant and water station. The destruction of the plant could not have been more complete.

City Electrician Johnson says it will be at least a month before the city will be able to furnish light. In the meantime there is a run on kerosene lamps, gasoline lamps and all manner of lights.

Schley Investigation Interrupted

Washington, Sept. 24.—(Special.)—Official circles in this city were again shocked today by the sudden and unexpected announcement of the death of Hon. Jeremiah Wilson, senior counsel for Admiral Schley in the court of inquiry now sitting.

Mr. Wilson's death occurred at the Hotel Shnreham at 18 minutes past 11 this mnrning. He had heen slightly indisposed during the past ten days, but nothing serions was anticipated. The court immediately adjourned for the day.

The shock of the news was a severe one to the members of the court in general and to Admiral Schley in particular. The latter said in speaking nf the sudden death:

"The news is so endden and shocking, that I am unable to express myself concerning the untimely death of Jndge Wilson. I cannot properly express my estimate nf him either as a man or an able counsellor. I can only say he was a clear-headed, large-hearted, brainy man, and a dear and mnch loved friend."

HERR MOST IN LIMBO

Arrested While Haranguing a Crowd in New York

New York, Sept. 24.—Herr Most was gathered in last night while haranguing a crowd of 500 people. There was a scramble when the officers appeared. Most descended from the platform where he had been speaking, and for a few minntes wae lost in the crowd. Capt. Hardy kept his eye on the gronp of men into which Most had heen seen to step. Backed np by his men, he began working his wey through the crowd. When the police were close npon Most the gronp abont the leader attempted active resistance, and in an instant the police had their sticks. One of those about Most went down with the blood flowing from scalp wounds, and others gave way so that Capt. Hardy got a hold on Most.

All resistance then ceased, and most of the other prisoners were led to the police station. District attorney Morrill was snmmoned, and qnestioned the prisonere in secret. He declined to say what, if anything, he had learned from them.

The police seized a lot of papers and a red flag which was displayed in the room.

Johann Most was also arrested later in the evening.

TOOK BUT EIGHT HOURS

For the Trial and Conviction of the Assassin Czolgosz

Buffalo, Sept. 25.—(Special.) — The testimouy in the Czolgosz trial ended so far as the prosecution was concerued with the evideuce of Superintendeut of Police Bull.

Counsel for the defense arose and stated that he had no testimony to present. Judge Lewis theu addressed the jury on behalf of Czolgosz. Beyond a plea for the benefit of a reasonable doubt, the argument contained nothing defeusive, and District Attorney Penney summed up the case for the prosecution in a masterly manner.

The court charged the jury and the body retired to deliberate at 3:51. At 4:30 that hody returned to the coart room with a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

Before adjournment Jndge White announced that he would pronounce sentence upon the defendant on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. This was at the suggestion of the district attorney.

Czolgosz was immediately taken to his cell and to all appearances had not heen affected hy the resnlt of the trial.

ANARCHISTIC BELIEFS

Will Bar Aliens from Citizenship in Judge Tallman's Court

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 25.—"Any foreigner of alien applying to my court for citizenship papers, who in any way acknowledges that he favors anarchism, is friendly to anarchists or has any leaning toward anarchistic beliefs, will be denied citizenship by me."

Judge Buyd J. Tallman, of the King county superior court, made the above statement explanatory of the new attitude he has assumed toward foreigners applying for citizenship papers through his court. Three foreigners were being examined on application for citizenship. Judge Tillman rigidly examined them as to their attitude toward anarchists.

WRECKED A SCHOOL

Lightning Played Sad Havoc With a St. Cloud School House Yesterday.

SEVERAL SCHOLARS INJURED

Severely But Not Fatally—Fortunately No Fire Ensued.

St. Cloud, Sept. 25.—The school house in district No. 47 of the town of St. Clond was struck hy lightning at 9:30 yesterday morning. The bolt entered the chimney and fairly wrecked the huilding.

The teacher, Chas. Welber, and 36 pnpils were in the building when the flash came. All were shocked or stunned, and several were eeverely hurned. It is believed none will die. Those who are injured the most are:

Clara Streltz, hnrned abont the legs; aged 12.

Amanda Borwig, partly paralyzed; aged 11.

Panline Laner, hurned on the arms, hreast and ahdomen; aged 5.

The teacher was knocked senseless and the scholars were thrown into a panic and started to run from the huilding into the storm. Fortunately, Welber soon recovered and hronght the children inside and restored something like order. St. Clond was notified and several snrgeons and citizens hastened to th escene. The injured were relieved as speedily as possible and are doing well.

The interior of the huilding is a sight. The plaster was knocked down, windnws broken and seats npset and scattered abont. No fire followed the flash and the pnpils geuerally remained in the hnilding until the storm suosided.

FOR A McKINLEY MONUMENT

Movement on Foot to Erect a Suitable Monument at Canton

Cleveland, O., Sept. 25.—Initial steps have heen taken here toward the erection at Canton through popnlar snbscription of what is hoped will he a fitting and magnificent monnment to the memory of the late President McKinley.

At a conference attended by Senator Mark Hanna, Jndge William R. Day, of Canton, and Col. Myron T. Herrick Monday afternoon, it was decided to at once organize a commission that will he national in its scope to take charge of the work.

It is proposed to have as members of this body representative citizens from all of the varions states of the union. The organization will he chartered under the laws of Ohio, and probahly will he known as "The McKinley Memorial association." It is proposed to locate the headqnarters of the commission in this city, and it is also proposed to have the organization perfected within a week or ten days and fully prepared to take up the work. Those interested in the matter express the helief that congress will, at its coming session, make a liberal appropriation toward the erection of the monnment, and this together with the very large sum that it is believed will be snbscribed hy the people of the country, will he sufficient to build a eplendid memorial in honor of the martyred president.

ROOSEVELT HONORED

By a War Dance Given by the Kiowa Indians

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 25.—The Kiowa Indians are holding an extra war dance in honor of President Roosevelt. It seems that the newe of his ascendancy has just reached them in their country near Lawton. There is nothing dangerous abont the dance, and no white settlers are in danger. It is merely peaceful and withal an enthusiastic demonstration of the braves and squaws.

Engines Were in Working Order

Washington, Sept. 24.—(Special.)—The Schley court of inquiry convened at the usual hour this morning, Admiral Dewey announcing that Hon. Isadore Rayner, who has been assistant counsel, had been advanced to first place and that he would be assisted hy Captain James Porter, of New Jersey.

A trihute of respect was paid tn Jndge Wilson, and the conrt proceeded with the investigation. A large chart of the plan of hattle wae hnng on the walls and the witnesses referred to it in giving their testimony.

This made matters mnch clearer. Commander Bates and Commander Schroeder were recalled to listen to the reading of the official report of their testimony as given yesterday, and First-Class Machinist A. B. Claxton, of this city, who had charge of the port engine of the Texas nn the day of the battle off Santiago, gave his testimony.

It had been expected hy the government that Mr. Claxtnn would confirm the statement of Engineer Bates concerning the reversal of the engines of the Texas. Daring the short time he was on the stand Commander Bates was asked a few qnestions. One of these was hy Capt. Parker, and was in regard to the steam log of the Texas. n reply to the first inquiry, Commander Bates said the log had been written up the day after the battle.

The other qnestions were hy the court, and related, first, to the coal snpply of the Texas on May 26, 1898, and, second, to the condition of the machinery on the 31st of that month. Eagineer Bates denied that the engines were out of order the day of the hattle, which has been claimed to he the reason the celehrated "loop" was made in the course of Admiral Schley's vesel.

CZOLGOSZ'S RELATIVES

Went to Buffalo to Visit the Convicted Criminal

Buffalo, Sept. 25.—Czolgosz' father, Waldeck Czolgosz, his brother, and Victoria Czolgosz, sister of the president's assessin, arrived here from Cleveland yesterday afternoon. They came over the Lake Shore railroad and in the Uaion station the father and sister became separated from the brother. The father aad sister did aot appear before Attorney Penny of the city hall until shortly after 4:30 o'clock. Supt. Bull and Assistant Supt. Cusack took charge of them and sent them to police heedquerters with Detectives Solomon and Geary. As they were leaving the city hall they met Waldeck Czolgosz and Inspector Martin. The brother had gone to police headquarters looking for his relatives and the inspector sent the three members of the Czolgosz family heck to police headquarters.

The father was taken up stairs to quarters reserved for witnesses and Assistant Supt. Cusack announced that he would examine them. Jacob Mintz, private detective, who accompanied them to Buffalo, did not call upon the police or District Attorney Penny.

Mr. Penney said that he did not send for the prisoner's family and he knew no reason why they should come except to see the assassin.

Supt. Bull said the same thing, and stated that if they wanted to see Czolgosz permission would probably he granted them to see him in jail before the seateace of death is proaounced. The police officials distrust the story that they came to Buffalo to make the murderer reveal the plot to kill the president, as they hold to the story that the prisoner did the deed without the aid of accomplices.

EDGERTON HAS A FIRE

Gasolene Explosion Results in a $150,000 Fire

Pipestone, Minn., Sept. 25.—Fire at Edgerton Tuesday night caused a loss of $150,000. It started from a gasoline lamp explosion, and 225 feet on the west side of the business street was hurned.

The lamp exploded in the etore of Howard & Haaman and burning oil was scattered all over the premises. Nothing could he done to etop the flames here, and they soon epread to adjoining properties on either side.

Hotel Edgerton, owned by Howard & Koolman, was in the path of the fire and was destroyed; also Mrs. Gorman's millinery store, Wm. Scott's harness ehop, Miller's jewelry atore and a livery barn.

Ed. Scott's barber shop was pulled down to check the fire and the loss would have been heavier but for this procedure. A high wind scattered fire brands, and it appeared at times as though the entire town was doomed.

The loss is partly covered by insurance. No time will be lost by the sufferers in getting into winter quarters and continuing business.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

CAUGHT A FORGER

Chief Creamer Reads a Description of a Man Wanted in Michigan.

SPOTS HIM IN CROOKSTON

On Being Arrested the Man Bluffs Two Hours and Then Confesses.

Chief Creamer has scored a remarkable success by a clever bit of detective work, and as a result a man who has been known to his friends in Crookston as Ed. L. Huntley whose real name is Fred E. Hamilton, is now in jail in this city awaiting the arrival of officers who will take him back to Michigan, where he will be tried upon a charge of forgery.

A month ago Chief Creamer received a copy of a paper published in the interest of the detective service, which contained a description of a forger who was wanted at Durand, Mich. He called the attention of his officers to the matter.

There was nothing to indicate that the man was in Crookston or in this part of the country, but by some means attention was directed to the man known as Ed. Huntley, who has been working as switchman in the Carman yards since early in January.

It was known that he was given to playing poker, and this was said to be one of the characteristics of the man who was wanted. The man was closely watched and yesterday the chief decided to act.

Huntley was taken to the city hall and informed confidentially that the chief believed considerable gambling was being done and that possibly he (Huntley) knew something about it, and could give the chief some pointers. Huntley admitted that he had played poker a few times here and the "sweating" process was then applied in good shape.

It took two hours' steady work to trap Huntley, but at the end of that time Chief Cheamer had a full confession from the man. He acknowledged that his name was Hamilton and that he had forged the name of a friend for $260 in order to clear himself from a difficulty back east, and had come west counting on securing work that would enable him to take up the note before it came due. This was in December last, and nothing was heard of the case until the issue of the paper in July.

Hamilton consented to return to Michigan without making any trouble and word was telegraphed to that effect to Sheriff Daniel W. Gerow of Corunna, Mich., who has wired that he will come at once and take the prisoner back.

Chief Creamer and his officers deserve great credit for the shrewd detective work which enabled them to land their man.

Hamilton has been a faithful employe of the road here and has made many friends. He is about 38 years of age, and has a wife and one child who live in Michigan.

Hamilton was seen by a Journal representative this afternoon and talked about the situation with seemingly the utmost frankness and candor. He says the crime consisted in the forgery of an endorsement on his own notes, one for $260 and one for $100, which he got cashed in a local bank in Durand, Mich., in the vicinity of which place he has lived all his life. He was driven to this by an urgent need of money and resorted to this method of getting it in the expectation that he would realize a sufficient amount from another source to enable him to take the notes up when mature.

Being disappointed in this, he came to Crookston last December and for a time worked in the Bisazza store, assisting in closing out the stock, and during the time boarded at the Commercial hotel.

In March he went to work in the railroad yards at Carman as switchman, and has worked there nights, boarding meanwhile at the Grand Central hotel.

He said he heard that Chief Creamer was looking for him, and at once made up his mind to give himself up and face the music.

He came near going back to his home some time ago, but decided to remain and earn the money to finish paying the notes, which he said he could have done in a few months more, as the smaller one is already paid, and a part of the money accumulated for the other one.

He says this is the first piece of crooked work he has ever been engaged in, and it will be the last.

Will Retire From Farming

Lorenzo Davis, one of the pioneer farmers in Roome, was in the city this morning, earlier than usual in the week. By 10 o'clock he had made a sale of the farm that he has lived upon during the past 20 years, and will take life easier during the years that most men call the decline of life. The purchaser of the excellent quarter section that Mr. Davis has owned is B. A. Larson of Ledyard, Ia., an experienced farmer, and one with sufficient means to carry out the line that Mr. Davis has made successful. He will arrive in the spring and take possession, when Mr. Davis will remove here where he intends to build a home. The price paid on the transfer was $4,100.

Macaroni Wheat

Richard Callahan, living in the town of Roome, has a field of macaroni wheat that has been harvested, and that promises to yield at least 20 bushels to the acre. This is far better than any crop of hard wheat that has been reported in his vicinity this fall. The elevator companies are arranging to handle this wheat to the market, and the price that now rules is equal to or greater than that paid for the best grade of hard wheat now being marketed.

Death Was a Relief

Mrs. Stephen Knudson, who was brought to the city for examination as to her sanity last week, and who was taken to the hospital here, died Sunday night and her remains were taken to her home in the town of Winger this morning for burial. Deceased was far gone with consumption and a typhoid complication had set in which caused her death.

Looking for a Site

Dr. Wattam, of Warren, who has been spending a few days out in the pine country in company with the other members of the committee that was appointed to look up a location for a state sanitarium, as mentioned by the Journal recently returned on Thursday and went home Friday. The committee visited Bemidji, Grand Rapids, Cass Lake and Park Rapids, and one or two very favorable locations were found. They will meet again in the near future and other locations which have been suggested in the vicinity of Walker and Brainerd will be examined. It is desired to find a location that is high and dry, preferably with a hilly surrounding and among the pines, but so situated as to afford good fresh air at all times. Only $1,000 was appropriated by the legislature toward this object, and this, it was expected, would cover all necessary expenses of looking up a suitable location, and a full report of same to the next legislature, at which time the appropriation for the establishment of the sanitarium will be made.

Morrison-Purvis

The marriage of Miss Alice Purvis to Judge Samuel Morrison took place at 3 o'clock Saturday at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Purvis, on South Ash street. The ceremony was witnessed by but few persons, only intimate friends of the bride's family and of the groom being present. The parlors of the Purvis home were beautifully decorated and the bride and groom faced the Rev. H. M. Greene, who officiated, standing in a bay window that was beautifully banked with flowers. After congratulations a wedding dinner was served.

As previously stated in the Journal, the newly wedded pair left at night for the Twin Cities and other points to spend the honeymoon. Their many friends will unite in wishing them all of life's blessings.

Ditch Matters

The board of county commissioners met Saturday for the purpose of acting upon ditch matters. The report of Engineer Bein, in charge of the Northville, Sandsville and Higdem ditches was received and viewers will be named. Action was also taken on the Rome-Fisher and Rome-Vineland ditch, Geo. Ralph being appointed engineer on the first named, and Geo. Hamery being named for a similar position on the Roome-Vineland ditch.

Wm. Brown, of Fisher; A. O. Stortroen of Neby, and Fred F. Syverson of Lindsay were appointed viewers of the Higdem and Sandsville ditch No. 18, to meet at the auditor's office and organize Stpt. 30.

Sacking in the Rear

Mr. Sullivan, the best natured riverman that ever wore spiked shoes, arrived from East Grand Forks this morning and proceeded with a force of men to take the rear of the drive of two million feet of logs that was sluiced through the dam here yesterday. The logs are already running into the boom at East Grand Forks, and the mill there will have material sufficient to keep the saws buzzing until the season closes.

BOERS AND BRITONS

The Former Renew Activity and the Latter are Blamed

London, Sept. 23.—While Mr. Kruger and Dr. Leeds are drawing up petitions to President Roosevelt and the czar asking them to intervene, the fighting Boers in South Africa are behaving themselves by celebrating the expiration of the period in which Lord Kitchener proclaimed they must surrender by four notable successes, killing 40 officers and men, wounding 63, and capturing five guns and 300 men. The situation is singularly like the opening of the war two years ago, the names of the same places are reported in the dispatches, Utrich, where Major Gough was entrapped was the scene of a similar ambuscade a month ago; Acton Horse, where the Boers yesterday reappeared, is but a few miles southwest of Lady Smith, prominent in the early hostilities, and the Natal colonials are mustering for the defense of the Tugela, as when Gen. Joubert invaded that nation in 1899. In Cape Colony fighting is again going on south of Stromberg, in the territory traversed by raiders and their pursuers half a dozen times.

The government publication of these reverses causes an outburst of exasperation against the conduct of the war, not in South Africa, but by the ministry. The great ministerial journals accuse the government of trying to run the war "on the cheap," by not providing Lord Kitchener with sufficient resources.

There has been considerable talk in East Grand Forks of late in connection with the office of municipal judge and the candidates that would come up at the election this fall. It will go for naught, however, as Judge Sullivan holds over until 1903, and there will be no election in connection with that office either at the coming election nor till the election to be held in the fall of that year.

A NEW BUSINESS

Eldred Mercantile Company Opens Under Favorable Conditions.

JOHN SAUGSTAD MANAGER

Stock Company With Ample Capital and Confidence of the Community.

A new business venture has been undertaken by parties living in the vicinity of Eldred, with that village as the point of vantage. It will be called the Eldred Mercantile company and among the stockholders are some of the well fixed farmers and business men of that part of the country.

The active management of the business will be vested in Mr. John Saugstad, who is well known throughout that portion of the county, as well as in this city.

Mr. Saugstad will bring to the business rare ability and good sound principles that he has made win in other lines, and these, combined with a wide acquaintance among those who will be customers, among all of whom he is personally popular, makes him a valuable man for the company.

The business will succeed that of Elby & Co., which the new company will purchase, the work of inventorying the stock to commence tomorrow. As soon as this is done additions will be made thereto that will bring it up to all the requirements of the business and the new company will at all times carry a large and varied assortment of general merchandise that will supply the needs of the community.

The room now occupied as a store room will be enlarged by the removal of a partition that will give a depth of 50 feet, for a store room, and this will be amply large for the use of the new firm.

RED LAKE FALLS FIRE

Joe Fortier's Stock of Merchandise is Ruined

Fire at Red Lake Falls last week called the department to the store of J. R. Fortier in the new brick row. The discovery was not made until the plate front burst out, and it was impossible to remove any of the goods.

After an hour's hard fight the flames were extinguished. The fire burned through the partition into Schreiter's drug store in several places, but the only damage he sustained was some $400 by smoke, water and breakage.

The Fortier stock was insured for $1 000, and the stock and fixtures inventoried at $4,400 when Mr. Fortier went in with Lemieux Bros. The building has not been materially damaged. The fire is believed to have originated from a stove that had been set up the previous day.

NEW PASSENGER TRAIN

The First Over the Thief River Line Well Patronized

The first train in the new passenger service on the Thief River line went out Monday and carried a large number of people who were much pleased with the excellent accommodations.

The train was in charge of Conductor Lockman, with Engineer Nelson and Fireman Frank Hunt in the cab, and Howard Young to assist the passengers to alight.

The regular mixed train will continue to run, leaving the city at 7:15, and traveling men can now make all kinds of time by taking advantage of both the trains. Conductor Remahardt is in charge of the latter train.

Gets a Legacy

Jonathan Graham, who worked in Grand Forks, several years and who left there in the fall of 1898 after traveling considerably, went to Ireland where he died. He had saved and deposited $3,175.50 in the Grand Forks National bank before it collapsed; which he willed to his niece in Ireland. The attorney in connection with the case had lost the certificate until a few days ago, when he found it in a drawer with some old papers. The niece will at once receive what is due her on the certificate.

New Train Pleases 'Em

Postmaster Richardson and County Commissioner Hansen of Thief River Falls came down Saturday night to meet the party of senators and representatives that were expected here to accompany Indian Agent Jones to Red Lake Agency. The failure of the party to arrive was disappointing, but the up-river gentlemen had the pleasure of a ride home on the new passenger train, and consoled themselves with the enjoyment. The new service meets the hearty approval of the Thief River people.

THE SANITARIUM QUESTION

State Commissioners Doing Thorough Work Investigating It

The Sunday issue of the Pioneer Press published the following in relation to the work of the state commission for locating the proposed sanitarium:

Dr. H. Longstreet Taylor of this city, one of the commissioners appointed by Gov. Van Sant to examine sites for the proposed state sanitarium for consumptives, returned yesterday from Northern Minnesota. He started several weeks ago to examine the sites offered. He was accompanied by the other members of the commission, Dr. J. L. Camp of Brainerd and Dr. G. S. Wattan of Warren.

They went to Cass Lake, Walker, Bemidji, Park Rapids and Brainerd. For almost a week they have been visiting places about Brainerd. Most of the sites appear suitable. But the commission must learn the relative elevations of the sites before making recommendations.

Next spring the commissioners will inspect sanitariums already established in the east. The Adirondac cottage sanitarium at Saranac Lake, N. Y., will be visited, the state sanitarium in the same vicinity, the institution at Liberty, N. Y., the state sanitarium at Rutland, Mass., and sanitarium at Graversworth, Ont. The practical experience of these institution will afford useful lessons.

The commission cannot present its report until the regular session of the legislature in 1903. Hence the inspection of sites and of allied sanitariums will proceed leisurely. It is possible of course that the erection of a Minnesota sanitarium will not be favored, but that is improbable.

A NEW CHEAP FUEL

Invented by a Delaware Chemist Impervious to Weather

Dr. Henry Morrow, a chemist at Wilmington, Del., has invented an artificial fuel which he claims can be manufactured 50 per cent cheaper than the production of coal, and recent tests show it to have all the desired properties for heating.

The artificial fuel is composed of about 80 per cent of common earth. Any kind can be used. For domestic purposes, Dr. Morrow thinks ordinary dirt, such as is found in back yards, is preferable, while for high draught fires, such as locomotives, steamships and establishments require, fuel made of clay is preferable, as it hardens better. To the earth is added about 3 per cent of coal tar as a protection from the weather. With the coal tar in the fuel it can be exposed to rain for any length of time without being damaged. Dr. Morrow has pieces of his fuel that have lain in water from two to three days without being impaired. A trifle of saw dust is added although it is not necessary. It is merely added to the fuel for domestic use, so that it will burn out and make the fuel porous.

To these parts is added the secret compound, which Dr. Morrow says, "I have back of my ears and I will keep it there until somebody pays me for it."

The fuel with which a demonstration was made was manufactured in a hand mold in Dr. Morrow's laboratory. It was in the shape of small bricks. Each weighed three ounces.

When placed on a fire they burn with an intense heat.

Another point in favor of the fuel is that it throws off no smoke, gas or vapor. When first placed on a fire it takes about 90 seconds for the coal tar in the bricks to be consumed, and after that there is not the slightest odor, but the fire burns intensely with a small blue flame.

As to the cost of manufacture, Dr. Morrow has made what he considers a liberal estimate. Earth costs almost nothing; coal tar is very cheap, for a barrel in which it is carried costs more than the tar itself. The secret ingredients are staple articles that are inexpensive.

MURDER MYSTERY

Dead Man Found in a Box Car East Bound

Saturday afternoon after the regular Great Northern freight train had pulled out of Barnesville east bound, one of the brakemen found the dead body of a man in one of the box cars. The cause of death was at once discovered, as the dead man had been shot three times through the head, one bullet entering the jaw, one under the eye, and a third in the center of the forehead.

Papers on the man's clothes went to show that he had been working in the vicinity of Hatton, N. D., but there was nothing by which the body could be identified otherwise. It is supposed that he was killed for what money he had on his person, as there was not a cent found in his pockets. The murder will be sifted to the bottom by the authorities.

Tried to Bag a Bear

An exciting bear hunt was indulged in by Will Ralston and John Kirkman out north of the city on Friday last, and the result was such that neither of the parties are saying much about the case.

They were hunting and saw at a distance a huge black animal, and it had evidently seen them first, as it was making across the prairie in evident haste to get away. They loaded in some heavier shells and proceeded to go after Bruin. He led them a merry chase for four miles, and several times they lost him in the tall grass. They finally came upon him suddenly, and discovered that they had for two hours been chasing a big black Newfoundland dog belonging to a neighbor named Casey. Then the boys said a few words that are not down in any work on big game shooting, and drove their exhausted team home.

A Misguided Scheme

The Minneapolis Tribune publishes the following:

"From the active brain of Rev. G. L. Morrill, pastor of the Chicago avenue Baptist church, has emanated a novel idea in regard to the putting to death of the assassin of President McKinley.

"It is a plan which he believes the entire country would willingly participate in.

"In fact, he doesn't believe the rush could be accommodated.

"His idea is to arrange an electric circuit from the state prison on the day of the electrocution of Czolgosz, extending to every hamlet in the land. Then he would have arrangements made whereby everyone who desired, and who could contribute $1, could touch the button at the moment of the electrocution, thereby enabling millions of the countrymen of the martyred president to assist in sending to his doom the dastard who killed him.

"You would give a dollar for such a privilege, wouldn't you?" he asked of a friend.

"Willingly," was the reply.

"So would every one who had the dollar to spare," added the dominie.

"With the money so contributed Dr. Morrill would rear to the president such a monument as does not grace the world today.

"It would be a quick way of raising the fund," he said as he rode away on his wheel."

The above strikes us as being strangely inconsistent with the spirit manifested by the martyr whose death it purposes to give every one throughout the nation a chance to avenge.

Strangely inconsistent with the spirit of Him whose life and example it is the reverend gentleman's mission to proclaim to the world.

Strangely in conflict with the spirit which should be encouraged in connection with this tragedy in the nation's experience.

The disposition of the youth of our land needs no encouragement to development in the line of avenging injuries. The effect of such a scheme as the reverend gentleman advocates is to exalt the satisfaction of the consciousness of having participated in avenging President McKinley's death, into a panacea for the affliction that has fallen upon our nation.

Its tendency would be to overshadow the important lessons the tragedy brings to the youth of the land, by intensifying and stimulating the revengeful spirit which is one of the strongest elements in anarchism.

President McKinley would want no monument reared to his memory with such a fund.

The thought of such a plan is unworthy any teacher of moral or spiritual truth. Rather let the execution of the infatuated criminal be speedily and quietly accomplished without any parade of its ghastly details beyond the bare mention of the fact that it has been accomplished.

The Power that Elevates

"Righteousness exalteth a nation." This divinely inspired declaration, uttered many centuries ago, has never been more conspicuously demonstrated than by the character of the expressions of sympathy which have been uttered by other nations in the hour of America's bereavement, as well as by the dominant thought in the minds of our own people, and the emphasis with which the press throughout the land has referred to this element in the character of our martyred president.

As the stroke of the assassin fell, its fall was diverted from the point at which it was aimed, and instead of falling upon the government and imperilling its life, it fell upon William McKinley, and his life went out, but the ship of state glided quietly on without a tremor. Attention was attracted conspicuously to the one who had fallen, and the prominent characteristics of his life have been brought out with a prominence which was greatly magnified by his tragic end.

And what is the element in William McKinley's character that has been most landed throughout other nations as well as our own?

It is his righteousness, or rightness. It is this quality of rightness that is most commented on and extolled in the character of both Abraham Lincoln and James A. Garfield.

Not their greatness as statesmen, but their unquestioned and unwavering rightness of purpose and loyalty to their convictions of duty in the responsible positions they occupied, tempered so conspicuously with love, that attribute which constitutes the essence of Christianity was the power that has elevated these men, as well as the nation, to the exalted position they occupy throughout the world. And it is this truth of all others, that should be emphasized, as these lives are held up before the rising generation as incentives to a high and noble ambition.

After Its Swamp Lands

Within the next three months Minnesota may receive patents to 100,000 acres of swamp lands in St. Louis, Cook and Lake counties says the Pioneer Press. A special agent of the land office is on his way to Minnesota from Marquette, Mich., to investigate and report.

"There are about 100,000 acres of land in St. Louis, Lake and Cook counties, appearing on the government surveys as swamp lands, that have never been patented to the state" said State Auditor Dunn. "We have had a special agent Timothy E. Burns, working on the matter, and the department at Washington has promised to give the subject immediate attention.

"We want to know whether these lands designated as swamp are going to be presented to the state. If they are, we want patents and if the state is not going to get them all we want to know it and find out just how we stand. There is considerable trouble arising all the time with squatters and settlers on land to which the state has not yet received a patent.

"A decision should be made within the next three months, and then we shall know just how much of this land belongs to Minnesota. Some of the surveys, on which the lands are designated as swamp lands, were made from six to nine years ago, and it is time the matter was settled."

President Roosevelt

The Commercial West very appropriately says:

The man who comes to the presidency of the United States through the long, severe training of his presidential campaign, supplemented by months, of quiet preparation between election and inauguration should begin his work a well seasoned man with a well digested program. He may be justly criticised if his first work shows evidence of raw experiment.

But the vice president who takes up the burdens of the chief executive at the crack of the pistol, can have had no such long, sure, direct preparation. If he has carried in his imagination the duties of president, his plans have been on the purely hypothetical and highly improbable basis of the president's death. That a practical man should have laid out well seasoned plans on such a remote contingency is neither to be expected nor desired.

But the man now in the presidential chair is not unseasoned nor unknown. It is doubtful if this nation could have found another such man for such an emergency—a man whose first thoughts are direct and practical, whose nature is to act, quickly and steadily in emergencies and whose training as an executive has been severe and of the highest order.

The trust this country feels in its new executive is proof that Providence and not politics alone chose the young governor of New York to fill the gap made by the death of President McKinley.

Tax Sale Instructions

Pioneer Press:—State Auditor Dunn issued a circular letter to county auditors on the sale of property bid in for the state. The letter gives instructions on the sale of real property sold for delinquent taxes under the general laws of 1901, which has been bid in the state.

If the applicant offers to pay the full amount of the taxes for which the tract was forfeited, together with the subsequent delinquent taxes, costs and penalties, the approval of the county auditor is sufficient. If the applicant offers less than the stated amount the application must be approved by a majority of the board of county commissioners.

The current taxes should not be included in the application. Redemption can be made by the owner before the time of redemption expires only upon payment of taxes, penalties, interest and costs. The interest is to be computed at 1 per cent a month. When redemption is made for tracts sold for less than the full amount of the taxes and costs the purchaser is entitled to a refundment of the actual amount paid in by him, with interest at 1 per cent a month.

Some Counties Short on Dogs

The state board of equilization has discovered that the total assessment of dogs in the state has shrunk during the past year by $236,493. Fourteen counties reported no dog whatever and twenty-four returned a large number with no values attached.

The last legislature passed a law levying a tax of $1 on male dogs and $2 on female dogs, to create a fund for indemnifying owners of sheep whose flocks were attacked by dogs. Some of the county assessors construed this as a repeal of the laws that tax dogs as personal property, and did not list them. They did, however, report the number so that the board has a very fair census of the dog population without any way of reaching them for taxation.

In the counties that made the returns as usual there were some startling increases. The assessment in Benton county was increased 400 per cent, in Goodhue 400, in Grand 300 and in Rice 150. Other counties were raised in smaller proportions.

The loss over $200,000 in the taxable property of the state is considered a large question and some effort will be made to correct the error.

Minnesota high school students will no longer be obliged to take midyear examinations. The state high school board met at the university and decided to abolish that feature of the school work. The spring examinations, however, will be retained, and will be made to cover the work of the entire year instead of that of the previous term only.

Congressman Eddy says that the most troubled man in Washington is the old darkey steward at the White House. President Roosevelt has got six children and each has a dog and a gun and a pony, and as there are only five sleeping rooms in the White House, the old darkey is having trouble how to place them all.

WORK OF THE GRANGE

Petition for Rural Delivery Circulated by Farmers

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 26.

Editor:—After perusing the article in last week's Journal headed "Rural Delivery," one would be led to believe that Postmaster Elken had been out and canvassed three townships to secure the necessary signers to the petition for rural delivery. Now while Mr. Elken is a good and efficient postmaster, we believe that the credit for this work should go to those who did it. The subject was brought at a meeting of the Prairie Grange and a committee of three, Messrs. Olle Christianson of Lowell, Thyge Thygerson of Andover and Ernest Hanna of Hammond was appointed by the worthy master to have the matter in charge, who secured the petition from Postmaster Elken and circulated it in the respective towns after making plats and selecting the route to be followed. This was no small job, as at that time the roads were bad and people not always at home. Some were under quarantine for smallpox. After the petition received the seal of the Grange, it was turned over to Mr. Elken to forward to Congressman Eddy.

The rural delivery was the outcome of the earnest labors of the congressional committee and the worthy master of the National Grange, Aaron Jones, who when here last June told us that if we got up a petetion he would endorse it, and as the National Grange had the support and endorsement of both President McKinley and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, it would not be difficult to get a route. But as our Grange had decided to act through local agencies when possible, it was thought best to act through Mr. Elken and Congressman Eddy.

The Gentilly Grange also had out a petition for a route, the status of which I am not posted on. In this connection I would like to call the attention of the farmers to the coming revision of the tax laws of the state and ask who will look after the farmers' interests down at St. Paul this winter? That the railroad, lumber, bankers, mine owners, merchants, millers and elevator men will look after their own interests goes without saying. The only farmers' organization in the state is the Grange. Will you not serve your interests by joining with us and strengthen the hands of our legislative committee to get an even distribution of the burdens of taxation, and help us to make our farm-life more sociable, entertaining and educated than at present? We also wish to help Brother Hoverstad in his work of making the Crookston sub-station the best in the northwest, and in other ways advance the interests of agriculture.

After a vacation during the busy season the members of the Prairie Grange will meet at G. A. R. hall on Saturday, Sept. 28, at 2:30 p. m., and on the second and fourth Saturdays thereafter. —Granger.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER.

When a cough or cold is long neglected consumption almost invariably follows. Remember Mexican Syrup only costs 25 cents a bottle, and yet has proven in many thousand cases an absolute safe cure for coughs, colds and consumption. Taken in time it cures quickly. Children like it because it tastes so good. Insist on your druggist keeping it for sale. Read the seemingly miraculous cures it has effected, printed on the wrapper around the bottle.

A PITIABLE SIGHT.

What is more pitiable than to see a puny, delicate little child absolutely dying from neglect. There are many little ones, whose cheeks would grow rosy, whose eyes would grow bright, whose flesh would be plump and pretty if only the worms that are gnawing at their vitals were removed, which is easily effected with Mother's Worm Syrup, so nice to take that children ask for it. Also a cure for tape worm in grown people. Try a 25 cent bottle.

THE SECRET OF GOOD HEALTH.

The secret of beauty and good health is cleanliness. Uncleanliness breeds disease. Internal cleanliness is even of greater importance than external. Keep your liver active and your bowels thoroughly clean by taking a Mexican Root Pill occasionally. Their use does the nerves, kidneys, etc., good also. Only 25 cents a box.

GOOCH'S QUICK RELIEF.

When your joints and bones ache and your flesh feels tender and sore, a 25 cent bottle of Gooch's Quick Relief will give you quick relief. Best cure for colic.

SALE OF STATE LANDS

STATE OF MINNESOTA, LAND OFFICE
St. Paul, Sept. 7th, 1901.

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 15th day of October, 1901, at 10 o'clock in the morning, at the office of the County Auditor in Crookston, Minnesota, I will offer for sale the following described unsold state lands, and the following described state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest will also be then and there offered for resale. Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from the date of sale to June 1st, 1902, must be paid at the time of the sale; The balance of the purchase money can be paid at any time, in whole or in part, within forty years of the time of the sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance of the purchase money will be four per cent per annum, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years, but if the principal is paid before the expiration of ten years from the date of the sale, the rate of interest on the unpaid balance will be five per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year.

Holders of certificates on which the interest payments are in default can have their certificates reinstated on payment before the sale of the interest in full to date and the penalties thereon, when the lands covered thereby will be withdrawn from sale.

—R. C. DUNN,
State Land Commissioner.

CITY AND VICINITY

Adam Zeh, auditor of Red Lake county, spent a portion of Saturday in Crookston.

Mrs. S. C. Knouf, of Fosston, was a visitor Monday night and registered at the Palace.

L. H. Bayrell the Argyle attorney was one of those who went to Fergus Falls Monday night.

Osmund K. Sorenson, of Bygland, was up this week doing business in the land line.

Mrs. Julius Pleth was in Crookston this morning returning to St. Hilaire from a visit to Ada.

Beautiful, artistic and exclusive are the patterns on display Thursday, Friday and Saturday at L. M. Bassett's.

Fred Tiedt the Argyle merchant is one of the witnesses in the Su[illegible] case and went below with the bush last Monday.

Among the Euclid people who were here Monday were H. Williers and wife, Mike Tracy, Mike Kelly and Dave Geddes.

W. H. Bohannan, who is getting out a newsy sheet at Felton, was an over Sunday visitor with Crookston friends.

Fine photographs in all styles from $1 to $20 per dozen at Skrivseth's art studio, near Commercial hotel, Broadway, Crookston.

Arthur Buckingham was home from Ortonville to spend Sunday, and entertained his brother, Postmaster Buckingham of Argyle.

Conductor Jess Cooper, one of the best fellows that ever punched a ticket, is over from Grand Forks today calling on friends.

Marv. Losey was an over night visitor here from Rugby, N. D., where he is at present located in the work of the Deering company.

J. M. Palmer, once an attache of the Journal, now the editor and proprietor of a paper at Blue Earth city, is up for a brief visit with friends.

Engineer Engels, of Barnesville, has decided to start an apiary, and on Saturday purchased a half dozen stands of bees of Mrs. Munch as a beginning.

W. A. McIntyre, the Red Lake Falls attorney, drove down today on a matter of business and was accompanied by Miss Bnse, a prominent young lady of the up-river city.

A crew of 16 Western Union linemen were here today completing the connections that are being made of the new line that has been stretched from here to Cass Lake.

Sheriff Bailey passed through the city Monday enroute home from Stillwater whither he escorted Dan Davis, who was convicted of burglary at Bemidji, and sentenced to spend two years in the pen.

Robert Ray left for Grand Forks this morning accompanying Misses Esther, Elizabeth and Emily Ray, daughters of Mr. David Ray of Fosston, whom he will see comfortably located as students in the Grand Forks university.

Rev. Elie Theillon, of Gentilly, was here Monday making some purchases and telling his friends of the progress that is being made in all lines out in his portion of the country. The cheese factory is running at full blast and the new parochial residence is nearing completion.

Dan Patterson, without whom the village of St. Hilaire would slip an eccentric, came down to Crookston Monday to tell his friends that everything was prosperous in Red Lake county, but that the crops might have been better without any of the farmers feeling huffy about it.

Tom Newby, the Bemidji horse fancier, passed through here Monday taking home a fast nag that he had purchased out in Dakota. He left word that if the Crookston sports got up any interest in ice racing this winter, he would bring the animal down and show them how to go along a few.

Messrs. George and Robert LeGear, Rolette, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Carlisle Monday. The gentlemen named have been among the leading farmers of that vicinity and have recently disposed of their real estate holdings. They are preparing to sell off their stock and implements, and will likely winter in California.

Robert Ray left Tuesday for a trip to the Canadian northwest. He will visit the mining and stock country, and if the proper sort of a satisfactory opportunity presents itself he will invest in some of those lines. Mr. Ray is a man who has always been actively engaged in business, and can not endure the thought of being idle.

Rev. C. B. Latimer passed through Crookston Tuesday bound for Euclid and Angus, where he will visit during the week. Mr. Latimer is a popular minister at Wheaton, and the important part of the business he is on at this time is that of attending the wedding of Miss Agnes Henry to Mr. A. T. Campion of Angus, that took place at the home of the bride in Grand Forks yesterday.

The friends of Fred Anderson have noticed a sort of a preoccupied, contented happy look on his countenance for a few days past and had begun to have suspicions of him which received confirmation this morning by his confiding to a Journal representative that on next Sunday he is to be married to Miss Annie Thygsson, a most estimable young lady and a resident of the town of Andover. Their host of friends will unite in wishing them much joy.

PATENTS ARE NOW READY

For Quite a Number of Homestead Claimants

Uncle Sam has sent to the U. S. land office here a list of patents for farms that have been claimed and proven up on by home seekers. There are 18 in the last batch, and they await the action of the parties whose names they bear and who will be glad to learn that the documents have arrived. Here is the list of the favored ones:

Cas. P. Black, John E. Holm, Naty Olson, Joseph Znbale, Andrew Anderson, Nicholas A. Samnels, Jos. Kachena, Nels Sundberg, Thomas E. Gansla, Walter Sheppard, Belle Heftorson, Joseph Malleck, Ole Swanson, Rien Kilgord, Gulborg Pederson, Solomon Nakinen, Fred Champagne, Anthony Streimikes.

Maybury-Lally

At 3 p. m. Tuesday at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lally, occurred the marriage of Miss Josephine Lally to Mr. J. H. Maybury.

Rev. Fr. Theillon of Gentilly performed the marriage ceremony in the presence of a few of the intimate friends of the contracting parties, after the close of which a very delightsome hour was spent in doing justice to a delicious wedding feast.

The happy couple will leave for a short bridal tour to St. Cloud and the twin cities in the evening after which they will return and settle down to the joys of married life in this city.

Both parties are well and favorably known here and have hosts of friends who will see to it that they are not socially neglected after their return to us as Mr. and Mrs. Maybury.

Will Attend Conference

Rev. Dr. Dodds left Wednesday for Bemidji, Blackduck and other points in the pine country where he will look after the churches over which his jurisdiction extends as presiding elder. He will proceed through that part of the field arriving at Verndale on Monday, where he will attend a meeting of the Grand Army men, at which he will deliver an address. Later in the week he will go to Brainerd to attend the annual meeting of the Northern Minnesota conference of Methodist ministers.

Fertile is Proud

H. P. Knappen, who manipulates the faber and scissors on the Fertile Journal, and who also enjoys the emolument of journalism at that lively berg, spent the day in Crookston, scattering good words about people and the progressiveness of the best town between Crookston and the line of railway from Fargo to Duluth. The prominent source of pride down on the Sand Hill river is the elegant new high school building that has been completed there and that was occupied yesterday for the first time. It is up to date in every particular, and the chemical laboratory connected therewith is one of the most complete in the state.

THE CITY IS SUED

Jointly With Fontaine & Anglim by a Man Named Brown.

FELL THROUGH AN OPENING

Alleged to Have Been Carelessly Allowed in Walk on Main Street.

Mayor Campbell as the representative of the city of Crookston, has been served with a notice that a suit alleging damages in the sum of $1,000 had been brought against the city, and against the firm of Fontaine & Anglim, the plaintiff being one Harry Brown.

The plaintiff has retained the services of Attorney A. C. Wilkinson to prosecute the case, and the allegation is that Brown was injured by falling through the sidewalk in front of Fontaine & Anglim's place of business three weeks ago.

The fall is alleged to be due to the breaking of a light of glass that formed a portion of the walk mentioned, and as a result of such fall the plaintiff alleges that he sustained serious and severe bodily injuries. The matter was referred by the mayor to City Attorney Holston, who will take care of the city's interests in the case.

BULLET IN HIS KNEE

Nelson LaDue of Fertile the Victim of a Cartridge Explosion

A serious accident occurred at Fertile Saturday by which Nelson LaDue, a nephew of J. S. LaDue, was seriously injured. He is the janitor in charge of the school house and was engaged in cleaning up the room, which service included in disposing of the rubbish which had accumulated in the waste baskets.

As the event proved, a loaded cartridge had been thrown in the basket ad got upon the fire among the papers unnoticed by the lad. An explosion soon followed and the bullet in the cartridge struck the boy on the knee, and was forced into the joint under the knee cap, and imbedded there too deep for easy removal.

Dr. Holte was called to attend the case, but was unable to extract the ball without destroying the joint, and it has thus far been allowed to remain.

Chas. Clausen, the seventh advent man, was out east last week to the meetings being held there.

Igvall Peterson, the active and obliging clerk at Taft's, thinks this country up here is rather cold for him.

Magnus Olson paid up and discharged four of his men who were working with his machine because they would not obey orders.

L. Davis, our school teacher, visited Hallock over Sunday, returning Monday morning to resume his duties with the children.

M. Lund and A. Arverson shipped a car load of cattle last week. Mr. Lund accompanied the critters to St. Paul, where he disposed of them.

M. Vesey and J. J. Lind went out east Monday after sand, as Charley Thoraldson, the plasterer, has made his appearance and they will both have their houses remodeled on the inside.

E. A. Kindler, T. W. Dargan, P. Lund and A. Blomesness visited Stephen last Saturday and were hunting up the local whist players at said place. But they lacked C. A. Aafledt, who is counted as one of the best in whist.

A TRIBUTE TO McKINLEY

By a Shelly Correspondent--His Death Levels Social Distinction

Editor: Great men are jewels of the republic. In peace we boast of their characters and their achievements. In the hour of danger we are aroused to activity by their names and heroic deeds. It is therefore the duty of those living in a republic to pass down to posterity with truthful and fitting testimonials the name of every really capable, honest, courageous, public man.

The grim reaper, with his unseen but mighty power, has again reaped a rich harvest among our American statesmen. Seldom in the history of our country has the nation been so moved by the passing of one of its number with such profound sorrow and grief, as that which manifested itself in the hearts of all by the demise of Mr. McKinley, late president of our grand republic. Men of all shades of political opinion have gathered together from the highest to the lowest walk of life. The gray-haired statesmen of wide national reputation sits beside the humblest department employe, all drawn together by common sorrow, grieving over the loss of a loved friend, who was also the chief of our American republic. None can tell who is republican or who democrat, but everyone can see that all are sincere mourners.

By the death of William McKinley there was lost to us a most distinguished character, a trained and experienced public servant, and a man of unimpeachable integrity. Mr. McKinley was endowed with faculties which needed but the open air of opportunity and the solar energy of a majestic cause to burry them on to bloom and fruitage. He always had great respect for his political opponents; he respected the personality of all his political foes, which is proven by the gain shown at the last election.

His life was a noble example to American youth and its emulation cannot fail to bring satisfaction and success. In him the nation had a ship which had proven to be safe in all stormy waters. When he took the oath of office in 1897 he found the country filled with clamor. Into that noisy controversy came that calm and immovable man, and from that very hour the national credit of America, without limit and without terms, has been as gold in all the markets of the earth. It is well for a country to have its heroes to spur us on to virtue and duty. Fortunate is the nation that has great names to conjure with; fortunate is the land that has produced such men as Washington, Lincoln and McKinley. McKinley laid an irresistible charm upon those about him, his superb genius resting upon a solid character, and united with a warm heart and peronal fidelity to friends, made him beloved by his associates as few men ever have been. He had adopted Lincoln's saying, "Let us have faith that right makes might; and in that faith, let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it, and that I have not willingly planted a thorn in any man's bosom." McKinley had those masterful and determined qualities needed by a statesman. His most determined political enemies have recognized it. His private life was a shining example to his countrymen. His last words to his people were, "Good-bye all, good-bye—it is God's way—his will be done." Our president has gone and his spirit has crossed the river of death. But his noble example and deeds of patriotism are with us, and will ever remain. His work and deeds will be quoted within the walls of congress, his followers will have his life and doings as a guide for the coming generation. Let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wound. Our union depends largely upon the youth. Let us study the history of those who have devoted their whole lives to our country's service. We shall then be able to uphold the good example and the many good deeds shown by such men as Washington, Lincoln and McKinley.

Very respectfully,
—J. J. Aarestad.

Extending the Hello Line

Electrician Fant, of Thief River Falls, who has installed a telephone exchange at the up-river city, spent Monday night here conferring with the authorities on the subject of applied electricity as it touches his work. Mr. Fant informs the Journal that he has arranged to extend the line from Thief River Falls into eastern Marshall county, and that the people residing there have given right of way and furnished poles for the work, as an earnest of their desire to secure telephone communication with the outside world. The extension will reach five stations including Germantown, Rollis and Ringbo, and the work of construction will commence at once.

SUBSTITUTES FOR POTATOES

Timely Suggestions in View of the Shortage of the Crop

The shortage in the potato crop over a large portion of the country, and the extremely high price of this commodity consequent thereupon, together with the fact that the crop is strongly threatened by rot, which has even now become very prevalent, suggests the question, is there not some substitute which can be made to satisfactorily take the place of this vegetable? The Farm Field and Stockman publishes an article apropos of this subject which makes some valuable suggestions.

The recent high prices for potatoes, which prevailed throughout the entire country, and which proved an exceptional hardship to the poor of the large cities, to whom potatoes have always been a staple article of diet, has been the means of drawing attention to other food products that for some unexplainable reason have heretofore been neglected. The Illinois state pure food commission has declared that if the poor would only put aside their false ideas of the necessity of potatoes and vegetables they could have variety and all the good effects of the same with rich, corn and hominy. These, it was asserted, are cheaper and more nutritious than potatoes.

State Analyst E. N. Eaton of Illinois asserts that all that prevents such famines from being a thing of the past is prejudice. He says boiled rice and boiled potatoes are similar in their ingredients, and present the following comparative analysis:

Potatoes have 75½ per cent of water and rice 72½ per cent; potatoes have 2.22 per cent of albuminous matter and rice 2.8 per cent; potatoes have 20 per cent of starch and rice 24.10 per cent; potatoes have .01 per cent of mineral matter and rice 3-10 of 1 per cent.

This, it is claimed, makes the two similar in health giving power, but with rice at 10 cents a pound, as it is now, it is over 25 per cent cheaper. The figures of corn and potatoes show even a more marked advantage for corn, as it is but 65 cents a bushel sack.

"Muscle and brain are built up better by corn and rice than by potatoes," said Dr. Eaton. "They contain more phosphates and protein and both are necessary. They can be prepared suitable to the palate in a thousand ways, and there is no need of a cry for potatoes."

U. S. WEATHER STATION

To be Established at State Farm Between the Twin Cities

Through the efforts of the representatives from the Twin Cities, Minnesota is to have a general weather station of the department of agriculture. Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather service, according to a Washington special to the Pioneer Press, yesterday promised Representative Stevens of St. Paul that he would recommend the construction of a large building on the state farm between St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Representative Stevens and Fletcher have been working on this matter for some time, and they have already been assured by Chairman Wadsworth of the agricultural committee, that he will aid them in pressing the matter through the house.

It is estimated that a building, such as is needed for the purpose, will require about $50,000. An additional amount will be necessary for general equipment.

It is the intention to make the Minnesota station one of the largest in the northwest, and to conduct it in connection with the state experimental station. Large charts for indicating the weather and general climatic conditions in various parts of the country will be installed in the Minnesota station.

CZOLGOSZ SANITY

The Object of an Examination by a Specialist

Buffalo, Sept. 23.—Leon Czolgosz, whose trial for the assassination of President McKinley began today, was examined as to his sanity or insanity for one hour Saturday afternoon by Dr. Carlos F. McDonald of New York, the eminent specialist, who was for years chairman of the state board of lunacy commissioners. The prisoner's counsel, Former Justice Lorain L. Lewis, and Robert C. Titus, were present at different times during the examination.

At its close Mr. McDonald declined to state anything about the case and the attorneys would not express their opinions as to the assassin's mental condition, although the inference from their answers was that they believed Czolgosz to be sane. Dr. McDonald was brought to Buffalo through the efforts of President Adelbert Moot, and other members of the Erie County Bar association for the purpose of passing on the murderer's sanity, as the association has promised to assist Judges Lewis and Titus, who were appointed as counsel for the defense by the trustee of the bar association.

McKINLEY MONUMENT

All the People to Have an Opportunity to Contribute

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The committee recently appointed to determine the advisability of inaugurating a movement for the collection of funds to erect a memorial in Washington in honor of President McKinley met at the Union League club and decided to hold the matter in abeyance for the present. This action was due to the statement of the chairman of the committee, Alexander H. Revell, who had conferred with a number of the close friends of the late president, including Judge Day, Senator Hanna, Abner McKinley, Myron T. Herrick and Controller Dawes. These gentlemen, Mr. Revell said, intended to take steps national in scope for the erection of a monument at Canton. As soon as their plans are formulated, the people of the United States generally will have an opportunity to contribute to the proposed memorial. It was the judgment of the committee that no steps should be taken which might in any way conflict with the plans.

Cresceus Won Again

Readville, Mass., Sept. 23.—The great stallion Cresceus obtained a firmer grasp on his crown as king of trotters by defeating his only rival, The Abbott, on the Radville track Saturday in three out of five heats.

The two fastest trotters in the world raced for a $20,000 purse offered by Thomas W. Lawson, and the money which the 12,000 people paid to see the event all went to a local charity institution.

The weather was perfect, but the track was very heavy from the recent rains, although it looked fast, so that no records were broken or even approached—in fact the fastest time, that in the last heat, was only 2:07¾.

MIDWINTER EXAMS

May be Abolished by the State High School Board

The state high school board are considering the question of abolishing the mid-winter examinations now held in all the state high schools. The advocates of the proposition advance three reasons for the change. The first is that it would be advantageous to make the course of study continuous throughout the year; second, that the expense of the mid-winter examination would be saved; and third, that it is extremely difficult to secure the services of expert readers in examining the papers while school work is in progress.

The board may also consider applications for positions in the list of state high schools, which receive state aid to the amount of $850 per year. It is expected that the number of state high schools will be increased from 115 to 120, which will bring the amount of money necessary to pay the state aid up to $102,000.

BUTTER SCORED HIGH

Minnesota's 39 Tubs Averaged 94.6 at the Pan-Am. Expo.

Buffalo, Sept. 21.—The scoring of Minnesota butter at the Pan-American exposition for September is very high. There was no scoring in August, so this is the first since the July scoring. In all 39 tubs from the state were in competition, 37 being from creameries and two from dairies. The average scoring for Minnesota butter for September was 94.6, and the highest scored tub of creamery butter was from A. T. Radke of Viola, Olmsted county, scoring 97 flat, or a quarter of 1 per cent higher than was scored by any Minnesota tub in the July scoring. Second was from C. J. Bang of Frost, Faribault county, scoring 96.75, and third was from W. P. Mortenson of Stockholm, Wright county, scoring 96.5. The highest scoring tub of dairy butter was from Mrs. J. H. McRostie of Owatonna, Steele county, which scored 94.5.

A Night of Terror

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die before morning from Pneumonia," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her. This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at A. G. Andersen's drug store.

Farm for Rent

THE RACE

Does not depend on the start but on the finish. It's staying power which carries many a runner to victory. It's like that in business. Many a man starts off in the race for business success with a burst of speed which seems to assure victory. Presently he begins to falter and at last he falls and fails. The cause? Generally "stomach trouble." No man is stronger than his stomach. Business haste leads to careless and irregular eating. The stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition become diseased. The body is inadequately nourished and so grows weak.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It strengthens the stomach and so strengthens the whole body which depends on the stomach for the nourishment from which strength is made.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." There is no medicine "just as good" for diseases of the stomach and allied organs.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has performed a wonderful cure," writes Mr. M. H. House, of Charleston, Franklin Co., Ark. "I had the worst case of dyspepsia, the doctors say, that they ever saw. After trying seven doctors and everything I could hear of, with no benefit, I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and now I am cured."

BLUE AND GRAY UNITED

Union and Confederate Veterans Shoulder to Shoulder

Chicago, Sept. 21.—An especially significant feature of the memorial parade in Chicago, and which excited much favorable comment, was the assignment of ten confederate and ten union veterans to escort the empty carriage in which President McKinley had ridden two years ago in a Chicago parade. The guard of no [illegible], walking slowly with bent heads in single files to the right and left of the carriage, formed a touching tribute to the work of the departed leader in bringing about a final unification in spirit of the north and south during his administration of the national government.

Botha Threatens a Raid

London, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—The foreign office was thrown into a state of tense feeling today by dispatches from South Africa. Very little has been given out to the public, but it is learned that the gravest apprehension is felt as to the conditions.

The anxiety is intensified by the report that the Boers under General Botha are preparing to raid Natal. This is only part of the country that has felt the influence of the South African war, that has recovered sufficiently from the blight to offer a tempting prey to raiders.

Should they overrun Natal, the result would be disastrous and greatly prolong the war.

A dispatch from Kitchener reports the loss of two guns in an engagement yesterday.

ASTHMA CURE FREE!

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in All Cases.

Sent Absolutely Free on Receipt of Postal.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

We want to send to every sufferer a trial treatment of Asthmalene, similar to the one that cured Mr. Wells. We'll send it by mail POSTPAID, ABSOLUTELY EREE OF CHARGE, to any sufferer who will write for it, even on a postal. Never mind, though you are despairing, however bad your case, Asthmalene will relieve and cure. The worse your case, the more glad we are to send it. Do not delay, Write at once, addressing DR. TAFT BROS.' MEDICINE CO., 79 East 130th St., N. Y. City. Sold by all Druggists.

GAS EXPLOSION

In a Department Store in Chicago Causes Costly Fire.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $250000

Caused by Live Wire Coming in Contact With Leaking Pipe.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—The entire down town district was startled by a terrific explosion Thursday night which was followed by a panic among the throngs which crowded the streets.

An alarm of fire, followed by a general calling out of the department and a hurry call to all police stations for ambulances and patrol wagons, added to the general confusion.

When the crowds which followed the fire arrived at Van Buren and State streets, the big department store of A. A. Rothschild & Co. was enveloped in dense clouds of smoke, which poured out of the shattered windows on the State street side, while bright flashes of flame lit up the interior of the building, bringing into view a scene of chaos.

From the ground floor to the roof was a gaping hole 100 by 50 feet in dimensions, filled to the height of the second story with broken beams, masses of brick and plaster, twisted iron girders and pipes, intermingled with the contents of different floors.

The street and sidewalks were covered with broken plate glass, costly furs, silks, clothing forms, hats millinery and a hundred other articles kept in a department store. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

There were many narrow escapes from death, and several persons were injured.

The hole from the roof to the pile of debris in the basement was so clean cut that the impression gained ground that a water tank on the roof had broken from its fastenings, and plunged through the six floors of the building, carrying them with it. This theory was denied by Manager Dann.

Someone turned in an alarm of fire, and the engines were soon on the scene. By the time the firemen had arrived the south end of the big building was blazing in half a dozen places. The first alarm was followed by a second.

When Chief Musham arrived in response to the second alarm, and took a hasty glance at the wreckage, he led his men into the building and soon had several streams directed at the seat of the fire, which appeared to be on the second floor.

Meantime the police sent in calls for ambulances and patrol wagons, which responded from almost every police station in the city.

The firemens' efforts were attended with great difficulty, owing to the dense smoke and clouds of dust, and the danger of collapse of weakened walls and floors.

The crowd watched in terror while the firemen forced heir way into the building, fearing that the floors might give way and precipitate them to the bottom of the excavation caused by the fall of the tank.

The explosion is thought to have been caused by a live electric wire coming in contact with a leaking gas pipe.

Workmen have been busy for a week cutting an arch passageway through the walls which separate two portions of the building at about opposite 260 State street.

Between the walls was a dead air space in which were numerous electric wires and gas pipes.

It is the theory of the superintendent of the store, Mr. Dunn, that in some manner a live wire caused the explosion by coming in contact with a leaking gas pipe.

It was rumored that eight men who were working on the floor at the time were carried down by the falling of the walls and tank and buried under the debris, but this was found to be untrue.

All the men were accounted for by the foreman in charge of the work.

The workmen owe their escape to the fact that none of them were in close proximity to the heat of the explosion at the time and promptly fled at the flash.

There were two men that work on the archway on the second floor at the time of the explosion. A crew of ten carpenters was at work on the sixth floor at the north end at the time.

MANY VACANCIES TO FILL

President Roosevelt Has Large Patronage at His Disposal

Washington, Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt has a tremendous patronage at his immediate disposal. Since the 4th of March last very few federal appointments have been made and thousands of officials are holding over. When congress adjourned last March after a session where more hard work was crowded into a short space of time than ever before, the president and senators and senators and cabinet officers were anxious for a rest, and it was agreed at several White House conferences that the matter of appointments would not be taken up until after summer was over.

The situation in Minnesota where not a federal position has been filled by reappointment exists in other states, with the difference that while the four year term in Minnesota is not yet expired, in many other states the period is passed by some months. Within the next month, therefore, President Roosevelt will come in daily contact with senators and national committeemen when the question of appointments will be taken up.

UNIQUE SWINDLING SCHEME

Successfully Worked on Catholic Clergy in Moorhead and Fargo

Duluth, Sept. 20.—One of the cleverest and most unique swindles in which Catholic clergymen of the north west appear to be the victims, has just come to light. Duluth, Fargo and Moorhead are the only towns in which the game has been tried so far as known, but there are doubtless others.

A few weeks ago a man about 30 years of age, with a hectic flush on his face and distressing cough, appeard at the residence of Bishop McGolrick in this city and told the following story: "I have just been released from the Stillwater penitentiary, where I was given a long term for grand larceny, the specific crime being the theft of a large sum of money in St. Paul. I did not steal the money, but was the accomplice of the man who did, and it went hard with me. My pal died in prison soon after incarceration. We had buried the money before we were arrested, and living up to the promise I made my pal, I have never disclosed its whereabouts to the authorities. The priests who occasionally visited the prison learned all the facts from me and told me to return the money to its rightful owner. Not until I was released did I learn that the owner was dead and had left no heirs. Now what shall I do with the money? the amount is between $5,000 and $6,000."

The priest who heard him advised its donation to some charitable institution. The fellow was painfully penitent and cleverly hinted that he was without means or clothing, but could not think of touching the hidden plunder. A few days ago Bishop McGolrick was in Fargo and learned that the trick had been successfully worked there and in Moorhead.

OLE BULL'S VIOLIN

Nearly Four Hundred Years Old—Donated to Bergen Museum

Cambridge, Wis., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Ole Bull, who lives in Cambridge, has given the violin used by her husband to the museum at Bergen, and it will also become one of the sought for of all the valuable relics guarded there.

This violin is said to have been made in 1532 by Casparo Di Sali, and the ornaments are said to be the work of Benvenulo Collini. It was bought by Cardinal Aldebrandini, who gave it to the museum at Innisbruck from which it was carried off as loot by one of Napoleon's soldiers.

DEMAND FOR BLACK COTTON

For Mourning Purposes Exceeds the Supply on Hand

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 20.—It s estimated that 48,000,000 yards of black cotton cloth will not supply the demand during the designated period of mourning for the late president. This call upon the print works will serve to relieve, temporarily at least, the cloth situation here and already has caused a complete reversal of the situation existing during the past weeks. The market is now said to be sold ahead to at least January.

ANOTHER BANK ROBBED

Cracksmen Making It Their Harvest Time

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 20.—The bank at Shellsburg was broken into yesterday morning, the safe blown open with dynamite and about $2,700 in cash secured. The burglars left on a hand car in the direction of this city. Four men are suspected. Posses are now scouring the country in pursuit.

A DUMPING GROUND

Is What We are Being Made by the English Government.

FIVE HUNDRED PAUPERS

Being Brought to This Country Every Week Under a Contract With Steamships.

Montreal, Sept. 21—By a contract recently entered into between the English government and an Atlantic steamship line 500 paupers from the slums of the Whitechapel district in London are being brought to America each week and landed at Canadian ports. The government is cleaning out this district of iniquity in London and erecting business blocks, and as the task of caring for these people, steeped in crime and ignorance, is too great a one for serious consideration, this country is made a dumping ground. An authority says that these people are landed in Canada with the full knowledge of the government, and find their way into the United States almost as soon as they arrive. In addition to this class, of which anarchists are made, a large porportion of the foreign immigration now comprises Italians, Assyrians, Poles and Hungarians.

Desirable foreign immagration is falling off this fall, and steamship men do not anticipate a very large movement.

FILLED WITH REMORSE

But is Powerless to Give Back to Her Lover His Eyesight

New York, Sept. 21.—Remorseful, but powerless to undo the wrong she had committed under excitement, Mary Collins, of No. 9 State street, Brooklyn, was again arraigned in the Jefferson Market police court charged with having thrown a pitcher of sulphuric acid into the face of her former sweetheart, Patrick Hawkins, of No. 327 Henry street.

When Hawkins, whose sight was totally destroyed, was led in, the prisoner shrieked.

Magistrate Poole held the girl in $2,500 bail for further examination and in default of bail she was locked up.

Hawkins and Miss Collins had been engaged. but his attentions ceased, and when she upbraided him the young man laughed in her face.

The girl procured a pitcher of sulphuric acid, lay in wait for her victim at the elevated railway station at Fourteenth street and Ninth avenue, and emptied the contents of the pitcher on her recreant sweetheart's head.

Since June 10, the date of the assault, Hawkins has been in the hospital and yesterday was his first appearance in court.

Killed or Injured

Parkersburg, W. Va., Sept. 21.—(Special.)—One of the most horrible disasters ever recorded in this part of the United States occurred on the Kanawha river at the crossing of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

A loaded passenger train had been run onto a ferry boat and was being ferried from Elizabeth to Palestine. The boat was operated by gasoline power and while in mid stream an explosion occurred that practically destroyed the boat and killed or injured nearly every passenger on the train.

The loss of life is appalling hat can not be stated, as the force of the explosion hurled many of the passengers into the river where they drowned before aid could reach them.

The injured are being brought here for medical aid.

Hanna Refuses to Talk

Cleveland, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Senator Hanna is a man sorely broken in spirit by the loss of so close a personal friend as was William McKinley. His face bears the impress of deepest grief and his general attitude and bearing have changed to a remarkable extent since the bullet of the assassin Czolgosz sped on its cruel mission. He has aged ten years in the two short weeks since that fateful day and grave fears are expressed that he will never again be able to take his place as a member of the senate.

Seator Hanna was asked today for a statement of his opinion of the policy of President Roosevelt's administration. Turning sharply upon his questioner, he said:

"Im am done with being interviewed for all time."

"Will you not again publicly express an opinion," said the reporter.

"Never again," said the senator.

The incident is looked upon as confirming the reports that there will be an open enmity between Senator Hanna and the prsident, as they have never been in any degree friendly.

IN THE SCHLEY COURT

Saturday's Testimony Relative to Cruise of the Flying Squadron

Washington, Sept. 23.—Only one witness was introduced Saturday in the naval court which is investigating the conduct of Admiral Schley during the Spanish-American war. The witness was Commander Seaton Schroeder, who was executive officer of the Island of Guam. His testimony dealt with the cruise of the "flying squadron" from Cienfugoes to Santiago and the bombardment of the Spanish ship Cristobal Colon as she lay in the mouth of the harbor at Santiago on May 31. The commander said that the cruise was not as expeditious as it should have been. He also said that in the bombardment of the Colon the fleet had not acted as deliberately as the commander in chief had announced it to be his intention to have it act.

While Commander Schroeder was giving his testimony Judge Wilson, counsed for Admiral Schley, sought to have him make a comparison of the distance of the fleet from the shore under Admiral Sampson after the latter officer arrived and took command, but the judge advocate objected and Mr. Wilson withdrew the question, saying, however, that he did so only temporarily and that he would raise the point at a later stage of the investigation.

The forenoon sitting was devoted mainly to the cross examination of Commander Harbor and Admiral Higginson, the latter having been recalled. Admiral Higginson corrected his statement previously made relative to the distance from shore maintained by the fleet during the blockade of Santiago. He said that in the blockade his fleet was five or six miles out to sea, moving up closer later.

Grand Forks observed that Day of Atonement today. They neither ate, drank nor washed themselves until after sunset.

Emigrants from Halstad to Bagley took a cat along. Tabby got disgusted with a dog on the new premises and walked back a hundred miles.

Edward Erickson, a laborer in the Peavey elevators at Duluth, fell 80 feet and was instantly killed. He was formerly a resident of Fosston.

RECORD BREAKING RUN

Milwaukee Train Runs 103 Miles in 118 Minutes

A special train over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, carrying Dr. Archibald MacLaren of St. Paul to the bedside of Mrs. M. G. Norton of Winona made the remarkable run of 103 miles in 118 minutes Saturday, on 30 minutes' notice.

Dr. MacLaren at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning received a telegram announcing the serious illness of Mrs. Norton. Simultaneous messages were sent to the chief train dispatcher of the Milwaukee road and to St. Paul officials, asking that not a minute be spared in making up a special and sending it out. Thirty minutes after receiving the word, Dr. MacLaren left the Union depot in the private car, attached to a heavy passenger engine.

Right of way was given over everything on the line and the run over the river division was made with no stops except at crossings within yard limits and for water. The running time including stops was nearly 52 miles an hour, and exclusive of stops was nearly 60 miles an hour.

A number of our farmers who have hay land out east and north on the prairie find it impossible to cut the hay on account of water, and will have to buy hay or feed straw.

Brain Food Nonsense

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at F. H. Hilliard & Son's.

Hot Rolls,

hot muffins, hot cakes, made with Royal Baking Powder may be freely eaten without fear of indigestion.

DEED OF A MANIAC

John Knutson, a N. D. Man, Deliberately Shot and Killed Anton Bye.

MURDERER WAS CAPTURED

Held Officers at Bay Till Sunday Morning and Then Surrendered.

One of the most cold blooded murders in the annals of the state was committed Friday afternoon in Traill county, two miles across the Grand Forks county line, when John Knutson, without cause or provocation, drew a revolver and shot Anton Bye through the stomach, the wounded man dying Saturday evening at 6 o'clock.

Bye was working on a threshing machine on the Cooper farm two miles across the line in Traill county. The man Knutson appeared on the scene and was walking apparently aimlessly about, when he suddenly drew his revolver when within a few feet of Bye and shot him through the stomach. The murderer then cooly mounted a bicycle and rode to his home in Bentru township, Grand Forks county, not a man of the threshing crew daring to make an attempt to follow him, as he had a revolver in each pocket. Bye was taken at once to the Cooper residence and Dr. Grassick, who was immediately summoned, at once did all that could be done to save his life, but all was in vain. Dr. Engstad, of this city, was called yesterday but arrived just after Bye died at 6 o'clock. An operation was performed Friday evening by Dr. Grassick and the bullet located, but nothing could be done. the wound inflicted being very much like the one which killed the late president.

As soon as the members of the threshing crew recovered from the shock of the dreadful deed, pitchforks were dropped and the men hurried in all directions for their guns, and met later to give chase. The sheriff of Traill county was notified and messages sent in all directions to the police to be on the lookout.

Sunday morning when Judge McLoughlin came to his office, Knutson was there waiting for him, and when the judge appeared stated that he wanted Bye put under bonds to keep the peace. Knutson stated that Bye and others had chloroformed him a few days ago and the operation had made him very sick. Judge McLoughlin told Knutson that in order to commence the action contemplated, he must produce $20. Knutson then left the office and did not return till about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when he told the judge he would return to his home and get the necessary money. It was noticed at this time that Knutson acted rather queerly, and the judge remarked that he was crazy and should be arrested.

Knutson went at once to Salisbury's barn in Grand Forks and took his horse out, which he had left there the night before at a late hour, and evidently started for home, and there he rode straight as a dye, as he appeared near his home Sunday and was greeted by a posse of 20 men who had organized the evening before and had been looking for him all day.

When Knutson saw the posse be opened fire and fled to a thicket near his home, where he held the 20 men at ha yfor several hours.

During the evening Knutson conversed with his would-be captors and finally informed that if left alone until 5 o'clock in the evening be would surrender. While this was not exactly agreed to, it was tacitly understood. The members of the party, however, remained on watch all night.

Just after daylight Sunday morning Knutson left his hiding place and went to his home where be was arrested without any resistance.

He was immediately taken to Reynolds where he was closely guarded until Monday morning when he was removed to Hillsboro, the county seat of Traill county. He was quiet and undemonstrative after his capture. He talked but little, and admitted shooting Bye, but gave no reason for his desperate act.

It is not known when his examination will be held, but it is expected that be will be arraigned in court some time soon.

Bye, the man shot to death, is a single man and has resided in Bentru for a number of years, working for a number of farmers. He is well connected. Knutson had been the terror of the township of Bentru for the past year. He has been considered a little off for some time past, and was known to be greatly interested in ten cent novels. For the past year he has been practicing revolver shooting and was the best shot in the town. He bad said that he was going to be a cowboy and was waiting for a chance to make a record.

During the past summer he ran to the house of a neighbor one night, and awakening the occupant said that the man Bye was after him and was trying to kill him. This was the first sign of pronounced insanity be had shown, and since that incident has never shown very decided signs of insanity, of which there is a strain in his family.

Knutson has been residing with his widowed mother for the past few years in Bentru township. He is a young man, 21 years of age, weighing 200 pounds.

One of the peculiar features of the case is that the murderer was greatly interested in the killing of the president, and read every word regarding the deed of the assassin Czolgosz, that appeared in the daily papers. It is thought that this worked on his mind and was the direct cause of the awful crime that he committed.

LINCOLN'S REMAINS

Exposed to View to Satisfy a Morbid Curiosity

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 28.—In spite of the protest of his only child, the body of Abraham Lincoln was exposed to the light Thursday. In the presence of a small assemblage of men and women, the metallic casket, which for more than thirty-six years has contained the remains of the president, was forced open.

Each of the party present gazed upon the features made familiar by plate print. Then the casket was resealed and placed in what is intended to be its final resting place—a bed of iron masonry, fifteen feet below the base of the shaft of the national Lincoln monument.

Just who was responsible for the opening of the casket in spite of the avowed opposition of Robert Lincoln is difficult to ascertain. It is generally admitted by those present, however, that the proposition to expose the body met with vigorous protest, and that it was only after considerable discussion that this course was resolved upon. Then everyone in the assemblage was pledged to secrecy regarding the proceedings.

But those among the party who saw in the desire to open the casket only a morbid curiosity of their neighbors were so shocked by the exposure that they are now openly denouncing the act. The heavy leaden covering of the casket was chiseled open with the plumber's tools.

Five of the sixteen persons in the assemblage were present when the coffin was opened fourteen years ago. After a brief exposure, the casket was sealed again.

PERMANENT TAX COMMISSION

Proposed as a Substitute for the Present Equalization Board

W. J. Hahn and H. W. Childs, of the state tax commission, met Thursday with the state board of equalization and discussed some proposed changes in the system.

The tax commission proposes the abolition of the board of equalization, substituting for it a permanent tax commission of only three members appointed by the governor. Each county would have a supervising assessor to work in conjunction with the state authorities, seeing that returns were made from assessment districts in accordance with the rules. As a further safeguard, they would create a board of appeals, consisting of the governor, auditor and attorney general.

The board of equalization approved the idea. It is an acknowledged fact that the present body is too unwieldy for effective work, and has powers too limited in their scope.

The board raised the assessment of the North American Telegraph company from $70,000 to $100,000. The St. Paul Gas company will be left at its present figure. State Auditor Dunn favors an increase in the assessment of the Minneapolis Gas company, which is $70,000 less than the St. Paul corporation.

PRES. ROOSEVELT

Is Preparing His First Message to be Presented to Congress in December.

SUPPRESSION OF ANARCHISM

Will Constitute an Important Feature---Also the Restriction of Immigration.

Washington, Sept. 27—Members of the cabinet are preparing elaborate summaries of the work in their departments, which are intended to be embodied at least in substance in President Roosevelt's first annual message, to be submitted to congress next December. Having come in the office of chief executive late in the year as the result of calamity which of course could not be foreseen, the president is entirely unfamiliar with the details of the public work. Only a little over two months remain before the meeting of congress and President Roosevelt requested the members of his cabinet to supplement their various annual reports with comprehensive summaries, to be used in the message, either verbatim or with such condensation as may be necessary.

President Roosevelt is a ready and forcible writer and the preparation of a message has no terrors for him as far as mere literary workmanship goes. He feels, however, according to members of the cabinet, a natural diffidence about making a report upon the work done by another and much beloved president.

The president has already begun sketching out the message and he will have the summaries from the different departments within a short time.

By far the most important part of President Roosevelt's message will be that defining his own policy. Following out the pledge he made when he took the oath of office, the president will, in so many words, adopt as his own the domestic and foreign policy of Mr. McKinley. So far as the matter has been discussed in the cabinet the president is understood to have arranged in his own mind to take the Buffalo speech as the keynote and to elaborate this line in the message to congress.

The Roosevelt administration will be pledged in the president's message to continue and extend the present colonial policy in Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands. The development of American trade in the orient and the maintenance of the open door in China will receive in the message the heartiest approval of the new president.

So far as the strictly new material in the message is concerned, it is expected to be confined to two points; first, a graphic but simple and dignified recital of the tragedy at Buffalo; and secondly, a suggestion on the part of Roosevelt himself looking to the repression of anarchy, or, rather, of the teachers of anarchy. President Roosevelt is expected to suggest a radical overhauling of the federal immigration laws in such a way as to render it immediately possible to bar out professed anarchists exactly as paupers and criminals are now forbidden to enter.

The president will make a strong presentation of his belief that steps should be taken by the federal government to protect itself from such assaults as that at Buffalo, and to do this not so much by increasing the punishment for crime as by preventing the spread of morbid conditions of mind which induce men to commit such crimes. In his talks to his cabinet the president has laid particular stress on this point and has indicated his belief that the crime of assassination cannot be prevented by police or by soldiers, but can be avoided by putting a stop to the teaching of incendiary doctrines and by preventing the importation into this country of all such teachings of anarchism and similar dangerous dogmas.

Predictions are made by some members of the cabinet that President Roosevelt's declaration on this subject will be a striking one, and will be a plea for the restriction of immigration to a degree to which no president hitherto has dared to commit himself.

Taken altogether, judging by the reports of his trusted advisers, the first message of President Roosevelt will be a brilliant, tender and generous apotheosis of William McKinley, for its one keynote will be graceful yielding of credit in every instance to the profoundly wise policy of his predecessor and a public official pledge of the new president to carry that policy to its full fruition.

Lengby Man's Remains Found

Coroner Chesterman received a telegram from Lengby Saturday which read:—"Come at once. Man found dead. Mysterious." In response to this summons, Mr. Chesterman took the 9 o'clock east bound train for Lengby. Arriving there he learned the dead man had been identified as Charles Johnson of whose disappearance in connection with the burning of his house and setting of grain stacks an account was given in Wednesday's issue of the Journal, and whose whereabouts at that time was a matter of great anxiety to his friends.

The remains were discovered this morning in a flax field, and beside them lay the gun with which it was evident the man had ended his own life. Mr. Johnson is said to have been a widower about 60 years of age, and had no family, but lived by himself alone. He was highly respected by his neighbors, and was a steady hardworking man of a rather reticent disposition.

As was stated in our account of the disappearance of Mr. Johnson, the last time he was seen alive was on the 19th inst. when he visited a neighbor, and while there remarked that he was feeling quite sick.

Fuller details regarding the matter are wanting up to the time we go to press.

A THIRTY YEAR SENTENCE

Pronounced Upon Anderson for Killing John McGrath

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 28.—Judge Searle yesterday sentenced Walter Anderson to the state penitentiary for 30 years.

Anderson was one of the three men who robbed a paty of harvesters on a Northern Pacific freight train near Little Falls last August, and killed one of the harvesters, John McGrath, of Rush City. After a week's pursuit Anderson was captured near Pillager, and confessed that he was one of the robbers, but denied having done the shooting. His companions escaped from the officers. He was indicted by the grand jury last week for murder in the first degree. The prosecution was doubtful of its ability to convict, as there was little direct evidence against Anderson outside of his confession. He was allowed to plead guilty to murder in the third degree. The penalty for this may be imprisonment for from seven to thirty years, and he was given the maximum.

Anderson has always denied knowing the names or residences of his companions, but it is believed by the officers that he knows more about them than he admits, and it is hoped he may change his mind about giving the authorities further information.

A young woman from Minneapolis, giving her name as Clark, came to Little Falls the first of the week to visit Anderson, and seemed greatly interested in his case. She claimed to have known him for three or four years. He had stated he had not been in Minnesota until this fall. The officers are of the opinion that Anderson may be known by the Minneapolis police.

The pursuit of the robbers was one of the most extensive man hunts ever witnessed in this part of the state and was continued energetically for over two weeks. At times there were over 50 men tracing the outlaws.

BALLOON WAS ON FIRE

Aeronaut Had Narrow Escape From Death

Madison, Wis., Sept. 28.—Harry Lagrange, an aeronaut who is making daily balloon ascensions at the Dane county fair, had a narrow escape from death Thursday afternoon. A strong wind was blowing and as the balloon started to rise it swayed to one side and caught fire from the furnace which supplied the hot air. Lagrange went up about 50 feet before be cut his parachute, and it opened sufficiently to break his fall. He escaped unharmed.

RAIDED THE GAMES

Polk County Officers Go to East Grand Forks to Serve Warrants.

SOME ONE TIPPED IT OFF

And the Knights of the Green Cloth Had Sequestered Their Tools.

One of those periodical raids that are made on the gambling fraternity got loose in East Grand Forks yesterday. Like so many such efforts to purge that city of the various devices thatc oax the dollars from those who love to woo the fickle goddess over the green cloth, this was a failure so far as securing the outfits is concerned.

The information that the raid was to be made had been secured by some one who was unprincipled enough to "tip it off" to the intended victims. In telling the story from the other end of the line the Grand Forks Plaindealer says:

Every gambling house in East Grand Forks is closed.

There was a great exodus of the fraternity this morning when it was learned that warrants had been issued for all the gamblers.

All last night drays were busily engaged in removing the paraphernalia to this side of the river so as to be out of reach of the Minnesota authorities.

Yesterday Sheriff Sullivan of Polk county, and Deputy Gouyea arriven from Crookston and this morning commenced serving warrants. Those for whom warrants were issued are as follows:

Dan Sullivan, W. T. Franklin, Brown & Larson, Con Thompson, Ole Ganstad, Russel & Doll, Lystad & Hanstad, A. E. Lizzard, Lynch & Gallagher, Joe Guinan.

It is understood that the warrants were sworn out at the instance of William Gobell.

Some time ago a petition was sent to the attorney general of Minnesota signed by a number of business men and also 13 saloon keepers, the latter, it is not necessary to state, having no gambling establishments in connection with their business.

All the men arrested had their cases continued 30 days, and last evening three of the men said to be connected with getting the warrants were themselves arrested for keeping open on Sundays.

YELLOW JOURNALISM

Getting Some Hard Knocks in San Francisco

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—The commercial bodies and social clubs of San Francisco are practically unanimous in their condemnation of yellow journalism as represented by Hearst's Examiner. The heaviest blow dealt to this paper was given Thursday at a joint meeting of all the large commercial organizations of San Francisco, at which stinging resolutions were adopted rebuking the Examiner for its course in inciting class hatred and stimulating that anarchistic sentiment which led to the assassination of the president. The resolutions also provide for the exclusion of the Examiner from all newspaper files within the control of the organization and the barring out of its reporters from all newspaper privileges.

STRANGE DISCOVERY

Profile of Martyred President on Floor Near Where He Was Shot

Buffalo, Sept. 30.—A strange discovery was made Sunday in the floor of the Temple of Music, at the spot where President McKinley was shot. It was a distinct line in the grain of wood, closely resembling the profile of the martyred president.

The discovery was made by Jerome Z. Bayliss, of Massillon, Stark county, O., who during the president's lifetime was personally acquainted with him.

Mr. Bayliss was standing gazing into the small enclosure marking the spot where Mr. McKinley was shot, while Weber's band was playing "America," when suddenly, about two feet west of the nail which marks the exact spot where the president stood, he noticed a striking likeness of McKinley in the grain of the wood.

Hardly able to believe his eyes, he called the attention of the soldier on guard at the place to the phenomena. The latter quickly recognized the likeness and was no less amazed than had been Bayliss.

The grain of the floor, which is a hardwood one, shows the profile of a man with a high forehead, an almost Napoleonic nose and a strong chin, but most remarkable are the heavy overhanging eyebrows and deep set eyes. The whole is about the size of a cabinet photograph.

CANNOT BE BARRED

Non-Vaccinated Children Cannot be Shut Out of Schools

Children cannot be shut out of the schools for failure to be vaccinated except in case of an epidemic.

Such was the ruling of the attorney general furnished Saturday to J. W. Olson, state superintendent of public schools.

This is in direct opposition to the position of the state and municipal health authorities. Mr. Olson directed this policy in Sherburne county, and drew on himself the wrath of Dr. Bracken of the state board of health. The attorney general's opinion sustains the superintendent, and children not vaccinated may not be deprived of school privileges unless an epidemic actually exicts.

AN UTTER COLLAPSE

Wretch Who Killed the President Had to be Carried into Prison

Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 27.—(Special)—The cowardly nature of the assassin Czolgosz was manifested today on his arrival at the state prison in this city, and proved to the authorities that all that has sustained him during the trial was pure bravado.

He was brought from Buffalo today arriving here at 3:15. The prison is but fifty yards from the depot, and two hundred people had gathered with the hope of seeing the assassin as he was taken from the cars to the warden's office. Although Czolgosz was guarded by a detachment of sixteen officers under Sheriff Caldwell, the sight of the crowd completely unnerved the wretch, and as he approached the portals of the prison his legs refused to perform their office and he sank to the ground.

The officers lifted him bodily and carried him through the crowd, which was entirely undemonstrative, and into the building. Upon reaching the interior of the place Czolgosz collapsed completely and was placed on a bench. While removing the handcuffs the assassin fell to the floor, and had to be assisted to arise. He was almost in a state of helplessness and moaned and groaned continually while being arrayed in a suit of prison clothing.

After this was accomplished Czolgosz was conducted down the corridor to his cell where be will await in solitude the coming of the morning of Oct. 28, when be will be led to the electric chair. While on this trip the slayer of the president yelled in a frenzy of fear and terror of his surroundings.

When placed in his cell he quieted down somewhat and became more communicative than be has been at any time since the crime was committed. For apparently the first time, the full force of the crime and the fact that he was facing the horrible consequences, came upon him, and he expressed the deepest regret for his act. He said:

> "I am especially sorry for the suffering I have caused Mrs. McKinley."

He asked Sheriff Caldwell to see his father and tell him that he was sorry he had brought such disgrace upon him and upon the family name.

Tot Causes Night Alarm

"One night my brother's baby was taken with Croup," writes Mrs. J. C. Snider of Crittenden, Ky., "it seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor, so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it. We always keep it in the house to protect our children from Croup and Whooping Cough. It cured me of a chronic bronchial trouble that no other remedy would relieve." FATAL COLLISION

Double Headed Freight Train Running 40 Miles an Hour Dashed Into Standing Train

THREE MEN WERE KILLED

Engineer Conne of Crookston One of the Unfortunate Victims.

Devils Lake, N. D., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—A collision occurred at Penn, a siding four miles west of this city, at 3 o'clock this morning in which three Great Northern trainmen lost their lives and another was seriously injured.

A freight train west-bound had stopped on the main track to take water, and another freight train drawn by two engines crashed into it. Both engines were badly wrecked and several cars were piled up, their contents being scattered over the right of way. Engineer Conne, of Crookston, and Firemen Gill and Clayton Saunders were killed and buried in the wreckage.

Brakeman L. Bissell had a leg broken.

A wrecking crew in charge of Assistant Supt. W. H. Hill has gone to the scene of the disaster.

The night was foggy and it was impossible to see the track but a few feet in advance of the moving train.

Supplemental details of the disastrous collision which occurred Saturday morning and an account of which appeared in the Crookston Daily Journal of that date, are now at hand and confirm the accuracy of the Journal's account.

Two freight trains were going east from the coast and were running at a fast rate. The rear train overtook the first train, which had stopped at Pean, and in the wreck George Conne, engineer, William Gill, fireman, and Clayton Saunders, round house men, of Devils Lake, were instantly killed, and L. Bissell, a fireman, had his leg broken. It seems that the train that collided at Pean was losing time and Friday night an extra engine, No. 558, was sent from Devils Lake to help No. 203 pull the large oriental freight. At Knox the fresh engine was attached and a high rate of speed worked up. Knox is 50 miles west of Devils Lake. Owing to a heavy fog, the second train did not notice the other one taking water at Penu, and the collision occurred when the big train was going at the rate of 40 miles an hour. Engine 558 was the second of the double header and the three men killed were on this engine. On No. 203 the engineer escaped uninjured, but Bissell, the fireman, had his leg broken and is injured about the head and may die. Those on the second engine never saw the train ahead of them which caused their awful death.

The bodies of Gill and Saunders were recovered without difficulty, but Conne's body was not recovered till 5 o'clock in the evening, though a large crew worked all day. For a time it was thought that his body had been cremated in the fire that broke out immediately after the collision. It was finally found under the wreckage, however, after a long search, but was badly mangled. Conne resided in Grand Forks with his family on Dyke avenue until early last spring, when he removed to this city and his family is at the present time residing in the Fifth ward. He leaves a wife and five children, the oldest 10 years of age, and the youngest born Saturday morning.

Mr. Conne's remains were brought to this city Sunday, but returned to Grand Forks for burial Monday, after a brief funeral service conducted by Rev. H. M. Green at the family residence. The remains were accompanied to Grand Forks by Rev. Green and a delegation of railroad men.

The bereaved widow is bearing up bravely and displays great fortitude under the peculiarly trying conditions in which she is placed.

Mr. Conne was highly respected by all his acquaintances and the family have the sympathy of the entire community in the hour of their distressing affliction.

A BEAUTIFUL WORK OF ART

Manufactured by a Crookston Artisan for St. Ann's Church

Good progress is being made on the new St. Ann's church on Ash street, and as the work advances it becomes apparent that it is destined to be the most elegant church structure in the city. Among the most noteworthy of its interior decorations will be the elegant altar which is being constructed by Pierre Roy, who is an expert in this kind of work. Mr. Roy has heretofore demonstrated his skill by other work in this line, notably the altar for the Gentilly church, which is a beautiful work of art. But this altar will easily excel all his previous efforts.

It is 18 feet in width, 4 feet deep, and the top of the cross on the center tower is to be 18½ feet in height.

In the center tower is an alcove in which is to be placed a golden cross. Above this in another story of the tower is to be placed a statute of the Savior, and this is surmounted by a dome shaped top in which there are openings filled with red, blue and white glass, which are to be illuminated by an electric light placed in the interior.

On either side is a dome shaped tower of smaller dimensions with two tiers of arched window openings filled with red, blue and white glass, illuminated from the interior by electric lights.

The whole altar is elaborately trimmed with scroll and carved work of various designs, and is to be finished in white and gold. The entire work from the design to its painting and adornment has been done by Mr. Roy himself, and he is justly proud of the results he has accomplished.

SWIPED THE SILK

Railroad Men Arrested at Larimore by Grand Forks Officials

A very important arrest was made Friday by Sheriff Collins and Deputy Sheriff Walsh of Grand Forks at Larimore. It will be remembered that in January of 1900 a box car was broken into at Breckenridge and about $600 worth of silks taken out. Since that time there has been a fruitless search for the thieves, and it was not till a couple of days ago that the guilt was fastend on two great Northern conductors and two brakemen on the same road. The four men were discharged Wednesday by the Great Northern and on Thursday Sheriff Collins and Deputy Walsh received a description of the four men, and went to Larimore together and succeeded in apprehending all four. They brought them to Grand Forks the same evening and the men are now in jail there and were given a hearing before Judge Brown today.

All are well known railroad men, and as they all have families their names will be withheld for a few days at least. They all live not many miles from Grand Forks, though two of them reside in Minnesota. They have admitted their guilt, and at the present time it looks as though they would be compelled to pay the penalty of their crime.

The men are all well known in railroad circles and heretofore have borne good reputations. The arrests have created a good deal of excitement in various quarters.

STUDENTS MAY ENTER

State Agr'l. School on Examinations Taken at Crookston College

President Sathre, of the Crookston college, today received a letter from Frederick D. Tucker, principal of the state school of agriculture, complimenting the work that is being done in the Crookston college, and informing President Sathre that the state authorities had extended the privilege to the students of the Crookston institution of entering the state agricultural school on their examination taken here. The letter spoke in high terms of the students who went from the Crookston college to that school last year, and commended the thoroughness of the course here, and the high class of pupils that have gone out from the Crookston institution.

Women and Jewels

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of women's preferences. Jewels from a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable medicines at F. H. Hilliard & Son's.

STEENERSON TALKS

Crookston Attorney Tells Elmer Adams Some Politics

Fergus Falls Journal:—Halvor Steenerson, the popular attorney of Crookston, is in the city as one of the counsel in the celebrated tie case brought by the McKenzie-Mann company. It has been decided to argue this case in Minneapolis, and the testimony is all to be brought in in the shape of depositions. Mr. Steenerson was also counsel for Bisazza, but states that no action relative to his case will be taken this term. Bisazza's term of imprisonment expires in December, and the motion of his creditors to keep him in jail until he turns over the missing $10,000 will be heard at that time. In reply to questions as to the political situation, Mr. Steenerson states in positive terms that he is not a candidate for United States district attorney, but admits that he may enter the field for congress next year, provided there appears to be a pronounced sentiment in the district in his favor. He is confident that the man who secures the republican nomination at the primaries next summer will be elected in November without any great difficulty.

DRAINAGE WORK

John R. McKinnon Secures Contract for Roseau Ditch

George A. Ralph, engineer in charge of the state drainage work returned from St. Paul Saturday accompanied by John R. McKinnon. These gentlemen have been attending the meeting of the drainage board at which the contracts were let.

Mr. McKinnon was the successful bidder for the largest contract for work to be done this year, having secured that portion to be done in Roseau county. The ditch is known on the records as the Badger and Skunk Creek canal, and the work is 8¼ miles long. The ditch is to be 12 feet wide at the surface, 3 feet at the bottom and from 3½ to 4 feet deep, and will require the removal of nearly 90,000 cubic yards of earth. The contract was taken at the rate of 14.75 cents per yard, and the work will amount to $13,000.

Mr. McKinnon secured the necessary bonds and will at once proceed with the work of construction. He will secure all the men and teams possible, and push the work to a rapid completion. The distance from the railway is about 40 miles, and this fact will increase the cost of construction very materially.

The Lost river ditch was let to Halvor N. Engeland of Gully, Polk county, at 12 cents per cubic yard, a total of $8,600.

The New Solum ditch work will be done by Gunerius Satness of Thief River Falls for 10.2 cents per cubic yard, a total of $5,600.

These three ditches will nearly exhaust this year's appropriation of $25,000, and no more work will be attempted.

Leonard Peterson Again Ill

Manager Peterson, of the city's water works plant, went to Thief River Falls Saturday on wire information informing him that his brother, Leonard Peterson, has suffered a relapse, and is again quite ill. The latter named gentleman is managing the electric light plant in Thief River, and recently underwent an operation for appendicitis here. His condition was critical at the time, but he made a good recovery, and has been back during the past six weeks filling his position. The present attack is believed to be a manifestation of tuberculosis of the bowels, and grave fears are entertained of the case.

A Distressing Accident

Leon Bourque, a Thief River Falls boy 16 years of age, lost the thumb and part of the two fingers of his left hand at the saw mill a few days since. He was working at a machine in the lathe mill when, as he says, his sleeve caught in the machinery and part of his hand mangled before he could be extricated from his perilous position. Dr. Grundy dressed the wound, being compelled to amputate the entire thumb, the index finger at the second joint and the second finger between the second and third joints.

A New Departure

The Great Northern railway is about to issue "A Business Chance Bulletin" for the benefit of those wishing openings for investment, and has requested its agents to send in information in regard to their respective stations. The population, number of business houses, those wishing to sell or trade, new openings for trade or manufacture, bonus offered, etc., are requested as information for the public.

SUGAR BEETS.

A Test Shows That the Material Raised Here is Way Up.

CITIZENS SHOULD MOVE

In an Effort to Secure the Establishing of a Plant in Crookston.

The article in Wednesday's issue of the Journal has attracted wide attention and is everywhere spoken of favorably. A number of the leading business men and farmers have commented upon the conditions that exist here and in every instance they are considered to be just such as should warrant the Great Northern company in selecting if it really has such a project under consideration. The point is such that it should attract capital of a private nature to invest in a beet sugar plant here.

Speaking to this point today Supt. Hoverstad of the state experiment station said: "I am glad to see that the Journal has taken up this matter and it is a line along which the Commercial Union might move with profit. A committee should interview the Great Northern president and ascertain what it will do in the matter, and set forth the advantages of Crookston as a place where the institution might with profit be placed.

"Crookston's shipping facilities are of the best, and an enormous supply of material could be brought here at a low rate of transportation, in addition to what would be raised here and brought in from the immediate vicinity.

"Three or four years ago the department of agriculture sent out a large supply of sugar beet seed, and between 600 and 700 reports were received from the samples that were tested for percentage of saccharine matter contained in them. The field covered every state in the Union and out of the entire list out sixteen showed a higher percentage than the sample that was raised on the state farm here. Such a factory as the Journal urges would be a grand thing for the farmers of this part of the valley"

HELD UP FOR SHELLS

Ex Editor Soll of St. Hilaire Asked to Stand and Deliver

There is one young man who lives a few miles east of St. Hilaire who had his ideas and the place he sits on badly jarred last Sunday.

Jack Soll and Chas. Fellman went out for a hunting trip and when hunting near a grove a few miles east they met two young fellows who seemed to be also hunting. One had an old bored out musket—one of the kind with a trap door in the breach for putting in a cartridge—and the other had a double barreled shot gun. The boy behind the trap door affair brought his gun to bear on Mr. Soll and demanded a supply of cartridges and also threatened to shoot the dogs if he didn't get them. Mr. Soll said he would give him some and got close enough to get hold of the musket. Then something happened. The pesky old shooter was loaded and cocked and it really might have gone off. When Soll got through with it he returned it to its owner and sent him home with a little good advice and a whole lot of sore places. Its an even bet that during the next few weeks, at least, every time that young fellow thinks of a gun his hands will wander to the bosom of his pants and his countenance will twitch a few at the same time. The next time he wants shells he will either ask for them decently or buy them.—Spectator.

INDIAN MATTERS

Conclusions to U. S. Officials Visit to Northern Minn. Reservations

Captain W. A. Mercer, in charge of the Leech Lake Indian agency, is at the West. Captain Mercer has just concluded a trip with Senator Quarles of Wisconsin, Commissioner of Indian Affairs W. A. Jones, and Col. Pratt, head of the Carlisle Indian school, through the reservations of northern Minnesota. Senator Quarles is chairman of the senate sub-committee on Indian education and Col. Pratt is a pioneer and an authority in the work. Capt. Mercer says:

"Senator Quarls' party made a thorough inspection of the general condition of the Indians and matters on the reservation. I believe that the report made by them at Washington will have much influence in shaping legislation that is expected of the next session of congress. Among other sections of the state we visited the Red Lake country and the party took a look at the 250,000 acre tract on the Red Lake river which congressmen want thrown open to settlement. Several additions have been made to the number of Indian schools in this state recently and in these improvements the party were deeply interested."

Captain Mercer says that it is about as good as settled that no reservation timber of any kind will be cut or land sold until the department secures needed legislation on the subject. The whole matter including both lands and timber can be settled by one act. He believes that the visit of Commissioner Jones and Senator Quarles will result in expediting the legislation. The Indians are waiting patiently for congress to act. Captain Mercer favors selling the timber by bank scale and is confident that the great majority of the Indians desire that plan.

The announcement is made by the captain that the last of the old full-blood Indians have taken their payment from the government as provided in the last treaty. For a long time many of these held out, among them being "Old Bug," of Pillager uprising fame. "Bug" drew his past payments a few months ago.

Senator Quarles, ommissioner Jones and Col. Pratt are now investigating the condition of the Indian schools of North Dakota.—Minneapolis Journal.

GAS MOTOR CYCLE

Power Propelled Machine Will be Used by Mr. Jack of this City

Will Olds has received a motor cycle, the first ever seen in the city. It was purchased for W. R. Jack, of the Crookston Marble works, and will be used by that gentleman in canvassing for the sale of monuments. The machine cost $200 and is equipped with a gasoline motor that will furnish power to run the machine 75 miles with one filling of the tank. On a trial test the machine was speeded at a rate of 45 miles per hour.

Mr. Olds had the machine out for a spin on Saturday evening and it certainly is one of the finest ever. It showed a remarkable clip, and but for the frequent obstructions to smooth travel in the way of crossings, a speed of 30 miles an hour would have been easily developed. The machine was made to the order of Mr. Jack at Racine, Wis.

THE LAST BATCH

Of Land Patents That Will Bear McKinley's Name

Another batch of land patents, probably the last that will ever be received by the U. S. land office signed with President McKinley's name, were received by Register Peterson Monday. LACK OF TEACHERS

Minnesota and the Dakotas Have Not Enough Educators to Man Their Schools.

SHORTAGE ABOUT 2,000

Teachers are Being Imported from Iowa, Wisconsin and Other States.

A serious problem is confronting the county superintendents of schools in rural districts. They cannot get teachers enough to supply their schools. The first of this month the shortage was estimated at 3,000. It has since been reduced somewhat by importations from other states. Most of the country schools open the first week in October but in many of them the opening will be delayed this year, simply because the district boards have been unable to secure school-ma'ams.

Teachers' agencies both in this city and in St. Paul are doing all in their power to supply the demand. One of them, with offices in the Boston Block, has imported a large number of teachers from Iowa and Wisconsin. This same agency, however, has many more orders on hand than it can fill and, as an indication that the same state of affairs exists in the Dakotas, the manager received a letter this morning from the county superintendent of McIntosh county, N. D., in which a request was made that at least twenty teachers be supplied at once, with probably ten more later.

The shortage is principally in what are known as "First Grade" teachers, young women who have been graduated from the state university, including its pedagogical course. Two years ago the state legislature passed a law providing for special state aid to all schools employing first-grade teachers. This has had the effect of increasing the demand for that grade of teachers.

Moreover, an unusually large proportion of prospective teachers who took the state examination last August failed to pass. The examination is said to have been no more difficult than those of previous years, but for some reason there were many unsuccessful applicants. At that time the present shortage was predicted

In some degree the shortage will be obviated by county superintendents granting special permits to such of these unsuccessful candidates as they may consider worthy. These permits will license the holder to teach in state schools until next February, when they may again take the state examination. They will rank as "Fifth Grade" teachers, and must pass the second examination if they are to continue in charge of their schools.

A few weeks ago there were a number of country schools in Hennepin county still unsupplied with teachers, but these vacancies have now been filled. However, the shortage throughout the state is not far from 2,000 at the present time.

Teachers in these schools are paid from $40 to $50 a month, and are required to teach the common branches. No language other than English is required.

THE LENGBY SUICIDE

Was a Native of Sweden and Left No Relatives

Further details in regard to the unfortunate Lengby suicide are as follows:

The man had evidently lain down before committing the fatal deed, and then placed the muzzle of the rifle against his breast and pushed the trigger with a forked stick.

The man, whose name was Charles Johnson, was a native of Sweden and came to the Thirteen Towns in 1883, where he took a homestead, and after proving up on it in 1891, sold it and bought a piece of school land, upon which he lived until his death.

Six years ago he married Miss I. M. Molstad, who died two years later, and since that time he has lived alone. He left some stock and other personal property of the value of a few hundred dollars, and so far as is known has no living relative in this country or in his native land.

The neighbors had noticed that he had been acting strangely for a few days before his disappearance, but had not attached any special importance to the matter.

Probably Inaccurate

A sensational report has been going the rounds of the press to the effect that an nttmpt was made Sundag night to steal the remains of the late President McKinley. The details of the affair as given out, suggest serious doubts of the reliability of the account, and it is extremely probable that the nervousness of the guard is mainly responsible for the coloring given the incident. Captain Riddla was at first couvinced of the truth oi the story as related, but after investigation entertained doubts, not as to the sincerity of the soldier but as t the correctness of his conclusions, and authorized this statement:

> "I think the sentinel deceived himself on the occurrence. I do not think an actual attack as related hy him occurred. When daylight came there was no evidence found of a struggle."

The guard has however heen increased and additianal precautions will be observed.

How Platt Got Rid of Him

The Milwaukee Free Press explains the situation this way:

Senator T. C. Platt did not like the kind of governor that Theodore Roosevelt made. As governor of New York, Roosevelt would himself be governor, and he was such a splendid governor that the people wanted him for another term, hut Platt had enongh influence to force him into a position where he had to accept a proffered nomination for the vice presidency, or refuse it. Roosevelt reluctantly accepted. Platt wanted to "get rid of" Roosevelt, and to elect Odell, who had heen one of Platt's lieutenants, and whom he conld control, as he thought, hut whom he cannot control, as resnlts have proven. Now Odell is even more the governor of New York than Roosevelt was, and Roosevelt is president of the United States. And Platt is "rid of" him. It is some consolation that Roosevelt is also rid of Platt.

Not a Bad Suggestion

The Minneapolis Journal suggests to the tax commission, now engaged in constructing a new system of tax laws for the state of Minnesota, that it might prodnce mnch hetter results if they would provide for the publication of the returns of personal taxes. The fact that there is no pnblicity encourages some people to make returns which are ridiculously small and which they would not dare to have made public. It is understood that this plan is in vogue in aome places and that it has prodnced most excellent results. The sngestion is offered for the consideration of the members of the commissioners who are, no donht, up against a difficult question in trying to find aome way in which to secure as fair and complete returns of personal valuations as possible.

The Schley Trial

It seems evident from the facts thus far disclosed by the testimony which has heen taken in the Schley trial, that Admiral Sampson's accusations and insinuations against Admiral Schley will prove a boomerang to him. This will be no very great disappointment to the majority of those who have carefully followed the records of the two men. Tha opinion which had become somewhat general in regard to the relative merits of the two sides of the case, to the effect that Admiral Schley has been jealously maligned by Admiral Sampson is quite clearly justified hy the facts which have been brought out in the testimony.

SALE OF STATE LANDS

STATE OF MINNESOTA, LAND OFFICE
St. Paul, Sept. 7th, 1901.

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 15th day of October, 1901, at 10 o'clock in the morning, at the office of the County Auditor in Crookston, Minnesota, I will offer for sale the following described unsold state lands, and the following described state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest will also be then and there offered for resale. Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from the date of sale to June 1st, 1902, must be paid at the time of the sale; The balance of the purchase money can be paid at any time, in whole or in part, within forty years of the time of the sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance of the purchase money will be four per cent per annum, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years, but if the principal is paid before the expiration of ten years from the date of the sale, the rate of interest on the unpaid balance will be five per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year.

Holders of certificates on which the interest payments are in default can have their certificates reinstated on payment before the sale of the interest in full to date and the penalties thereon, when the lands covered thereby will be withdrawn from sale.

—R. C. DUNN,
State Land Commissioner.

CITY AND VICINITY

L. Johannessonn, the Beltrami merchant, spent Sunday in the city.

Mrs. S. L. Collins and daughters were guests of Miss Rose Himmelsbach of Marin Sunday.

Among the Euclid people here Friday were Mrs. E. C. Murney and son, Casper Tiedeman and Mike Tracey.

Dr. Ramsey, of Grand Forks, joined Mrs. Ramsey here for an over Sunday visit with Dr. and Mrs. Robertson.

A. J. Herberg, a leading farmer of Marin, was in the city Monday and made the Journal an appreciated call.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Henry are the parents of a baby boy who made his appearance at their home this morning.

Fine photographs in all styles from $1 to $20 per dozen at Skrivseth's art studio, near Commercial hotel, Broadway, Crookston.

Chas. Kittredge, a young man who has been a student of Carleton college, died at Glyndon Saturday and was buried Tuesday.

W. B. Hancock, formerly a land man located here, but now doing business at Pembina, was an over Sunday guest of friends in the city.

Dr. Holte was called to Neby Saturday night to attend a case of appendicitis, the patient being P. H. Thoreson, a prominent citizen of that place.

Miss Brevic, who supplemented a visit here by a trip to Minneapolis, returned Sunday and proceeded to her home at Thief River Falls Monday.

Mrs. Andrew Eiken left Friday on a health seeking trip. She will likely go to the mountain country in Colorado, and possibly to the Pacific coast.

Deputy Marshal Frank Tufts came up from Fergus Falls Sunday having Wm. Smith in charge, who will serve a 90 day sentence for selling whisky to Indians.

The rush of business on the Crookston Duluth line of the Great Northern has made it necessary to put on an additional chair car, and three porters are now on the run.

Mr. George Lillo, of Lenghy, who has spent the past two months in the harvest fields in North Daota, returned home Friday after spending yesterday visiting friends here.

Dr. Holte assisted by Dr. Risjord of Fertile recently performed an operation for appendicitis on Lloyd, the 11 year old son of Norman Hanson of Fertile, from which the lad is recovering nicely.

W. A. Case, of St. Hilaire, was in town Saturday and will do a few more weeks' work in the Woodman field in Minnesota before leaving for New York state where he will labor this winter.

The freight business on the Duluth line has necessitated the use of larger engines and a number of the 700 and 800 class have been placed in service, beside them those heretofore in use look small.

Orvis Hinds has been called to Ada to reset some of the stakes on the famous Hegne-Hendrum ditch that have been lost sight of during the time that the litigation on the case has been in progress.

Elmer Ellington is spending the week in Grand Forks taking treatment for a slight attack of facial paralysis. He is progressing nicely, the relief being sought through the line of osteopathy.

Mrs. A. Baker came down from Humboldt on Saturday and today accompanied by Mrs. J. R. Hare, left for her claim out in the pine country. The ladies will enjoy the outing very much at this season.

R. E. White was here on Saturday distributing his usual amount of good nature among his friends. His crop on the big Marais farm is secured, and he is preparing for a winter's work in the lumber woods.

Stepten Wonderlich who has spen the past month here visiting the family of Peter Nocsen of Russia left Monday morning returning to his home at Lincoln, Neb. Mr. Wooderlich is a brother of Mrs. Noesen.

At the election of officers which occurred yesterday at the state W. C. T. U. convention in Minneapolis, Mrs. Bessie Laythe Scovill was re-elected president and Miss Louise Hollister was elected vice president.

Deputy Sheriff Barnes of Fosston came in Thursday bringing along a man named John Murphey whom the Fosston justice had held to await the action of the grand jury, his offence being that of stealing a coat and a pair of shoes from Sam Sutor.

A change has been made in the force under Agent Handy at the Northern Pacific depot, D. R. Meisch who has been night operator having been transferred to the dispatchers office in East Grand Forks, and his place filled by the appointment of W. F. Dwyer of Minneapolis.

Residents of St. Hilaire are indignant over the action of one of the school authorities who did not favor closing the schools to observe the memorial services the day of the McKinley obsequies. A majority of the board decided to do so, however, at the last moment and the dissenter was turned down.

Will Lycan returned on Saturday night from a week spent at Devils Lake near where he hunted ducks and chickens with a party of the royal goodfellows from Grand Forks. They killed all kinds of game and enjoyed a week of camp life as only sportsmen can.

A potato is on exhibition at the Scandia bank that weighed nearly two pounds when taken from the ground. It shows what nature will do when pushed for room. The tuber has grown from the body proper, 13 offshoots, and it would not require more than 20 of the size of this sample to fill a bushel basket.

A drive through a considerable portion of the southwestern part of the county Sunday disclosed the fact that the farmers in many instances were not affected by the recent move made in Crookston for Sunday closing. Threshing machines were going in many fields, and shock threshing was being done in two fields. The return late in the evening was lighted by the stacks of straw that were being burned along the way.

HIS LEG CRUSHED

Brakeman at East Grand Forks Falls Between Cars

A serious accident happened in the yards of the Northern Pacific railroad in East Grand Forks Sunday afternoon, by which P. Nickleson, a brakeman in the employ of the road may be crippled for life. During the afternoon Nickleson was crossing the yards and a long freight stood on the track. He was crossing between two of the cars, not knowing that the engine was attached to the cars. The engineer suddenly started up, and the jar knocked Nickelson from his position. He fell between two cars, and realizing his perilous position scrambled as fast as possible from between the rails.

The unfortunate man succeeded in getting his body out of danger but the wheels of the car caught his right leg and passed over the limb between the knee and ankle. Assistance was rendered immediately and the wounded man was made as comfortable as possible. Last evening he was taken to the company's hospital at Brainerd. The surgeons are greatly in hopes of being able to save the limb, although it is badly crushed.

Nickleson has been in the employ of the Northern Pacific at East Grand Forks for the past three months. He had no regular run but was employed on the work train, subject to call at any time or place on this division. His home is at Negaunee, Mich., where his parents reside.

BOX CAR ARTISTS

Held to the Grand Jury for Stealing Silks Last February

Grand Forks, Oct. 1.—The preliminary examination of the four employes of the Great Northern, Engineer McCann and Conductors Welsh, Mosher and Bakke was concluded yesterday afternoon before Judge McLaughlin. Mosher and McCann were held to the district court for grand larceny, the bonds of the latter being fixed in the sum of $350 and those of the former at $400.

The complaints against Welsh and Bakke for grand larceny were dismissed, but they were both held to the district court for receiving stolen property, and their bonds were fixed at $350 each. The men are being prosecuted for the theft of goods from a Great Northern box car in January, 1900. Mosher made a confession in which all the others were implicated, and several more who have not as yet been apprehended.

A Fiendish Attack

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures back ache and kidney troubles, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at A. G. Andersen's drug store.

LITERARY NOTES

The October Atlantic opens with Professor W. A. Dunning's The Undoing of Reconstruction, prefaced by a brilliant editorial upon the series which this paper concludes; R. R. Bowker shows how The Piracy of a Franchise Corporation may be consummated in New York; a Pennsylvanian treats of The Ills of Pennsylvania and the moral decadence of the whole state: Professor Bernadotte Perrin discourses upon Yale's Fourth Jubilee; Henry A. Clapp's Reminiscences treat of the stage period of Booth, Fechter, Sothern, etc; Jessie P. Frothingham writes appreciatively of Etienne Senancour. The Author of Obermann, and Vernon Lee sends some delightful English Writer's Notes on England, Entertaining stories and sketches are furnished by Louise L. Sibley, W. A. Beers and others; Miss Johnston's Audrey increases in interest; Clinton Scollard, F. S. Palmer and others, furnish Poems, and the Contributors' Club is bright and entertaining as ever.

Is Life Worth Living?

Then don't neglect a cough or cold, especially when only 25 cents will buy a bottle of Mexican Syrup. It is so soothing and so many consumptives have been made well by its use. Read some of the testimonials on the wrapper around each bottle that prove this remedy more sure for deep seated colds, habitual coughing and even consumption, than any other remedy known to physicians, many of whom recommend and prescribe it where less effacacious remedies fail.

Pale, Puny Children

If a child has a bad smelling breath, if it habitually picks its nose, if it is cross and nervous, if it does not sleep soundly, if it is hollow eyed, if it has a pale, bloodless complexion, thin and lifeless, give it Mother's Worm Syrup and you will remove the cause of the distress quickly. Then will its little cheeks get red and rosy, its appetite and digestion improve, and its health be better. Price only 25 cents. No other worm killer so effective.

Be Not Deceived

Don't think you can neglect your health and reach old age. The way to longevity is to be kind to nature and then nature will be kind to you. Constipation, inactive liver, etc., are foes to nature. Mexican Root Pills help nature. Try them. They cure by cleansing and strengthening.

Pain Can be Cured

Why suffer pain? Pain is trying to kill you. Why not kill pain? Nothing kills pain, either internal or external pain, so quickly and so effectively as Gooch's Quick Relief. Cures cramp and colic.

A Complete Cure

When you take Gooch's Sarsaparilla you find it a complete cure for bad blood.

Pile-ine Cures Piles

TO AVERT DROUTH

Some Valuable Suggestions Offered by Former Secretary of Agriculture Morton.

SYSTEMATIC ARBORICULTURE

Will be of Great Advantage in Mitigating Heat and Increasing Humidity.

The Hon. J. Sterling Morton, Secretary of Agriculture, during the Cleveland administration, was in Chicago last week, where he was called to deliver a lecture before the Merchants Association on "Laws that ought to be repealed," and in an interview with a correspondent of The Commercial West gave utterance to some opinions in regard to the shortage of the corn crop in Nebraska which are well worth consideration. He said:

"The corn crop was shortened in Nebraska, not because of lack of moisture in the soil, not from drouth, because we had a precipitation from January 1, to corn planting time, of more than five inches and the soil was in very good condition as to humidity, but the earlier planted corn came into tassel and silk during a period of unparalleled sun heat. Indian corn is fertilized by pollen from the tassel precipitated to the silk, but the sun heat was so direct and intense when the pollen was ready for dissemination onto the silk, that it was absolutely parched, withered destroyed—made ungerminative. The stalks were not "fired" during the entire summer, except in fields where the tillage had been ill-attended to the verdure of the corn fields remained deep, dark and unimpaired, and this color was a guarantee that the roots of the stalks were amply supplied with moisture. The manner in which the corn was killed by the intense heat of the vertical rays of the sun suggests that those people who expect by irrigation to grow Indian corn on the desert lands which are treeless and shadeless, just as soon as water can be poured out over those stretches, may be woefully disappointed.

"The experience of corn growers in Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa during the summer of 1901, suggests that at the critical moment for fertilization there must be moisture in the form of dew or rain coming from above, and that without such precipitation there can be no fecundity. Of course everyone understands, who has studied the character of corn growing, that the pollen falling upon the silk at the proper time and with favorable environments, puts the kernels on the cob, and that there is a single silk leading to the germ point of each kernel, which is to that vegetable development as the umbilical corn is to the growth of an animal fetus or embryo. When this little thread for the conveyance of life from the air and its moisture is withered and dried out, the kernels cease to grow."

He also suggested a method of preventing sun heat killing corn as in the past summer, which the farmers of the Red River Valley could adopt with absolute assurance of deriving a substantial benefit by so doing.

"Speaking for Kansas and Nebraska I believe, first: In planting trees on all section lines running east and west in the two states. Such planting would make rows of trees one mile apart all the way from the southern line of Kansas to the northern line of Nebraska and extending to the western line of each state; the influence of this systematized arboriculture as an air cooler and mitigator of heat in the two states would in ten years, I am sure, make it impossible for the hot winds to damage crops as they have when sweeping uninterruptedly over treeless plains.

"In addition to these specific lines of trees I would, secondly, plant a grove on each section of land in each state, averaging at least forty acres.

"The next and third effort to avoid intense vegetable-killing sun heat and drouth, would be storage of the rainfall wherever practicable, in both states. Near all rolling lands, gorges, gulches and gullies may be found which can be dammed up at the mouth at very little expense. These depressions invariably connect with a water shed, and generally the area may be measured by the acre. Precipitation upon these rain sheds by snow in winter and by the spring rains has always been carried off into creeks, which run into large rivers, tributary to the Missouri and Mississippi; but by converting these depressions in our lands into reservoirs for the storage of snow and spring rains, the general humidity of the atmosphere in the two states can be greatly increased. In fact I believe that this storage system would provide, by evaporation, for a far greater number of local showers than we have heretofore been accustomed to.

BREVET BRIG. GENERAL

Is the Rank Bestowed Upon President Roosevelt

Washington, Sept. 30.—The board of brevets recently appointed met at the war department today and devoted its attention solely to the cases of officers and enlisted men who especially distinguished themselves in the campaign in China and in the Philippines. It will have nothing to do with respect to the case of officers who rendered special service in the West Indian campaign.

The latter class of cases was disposed of by a similar board which concluded its sessions over a year ago.

While the fact that a brevet had been recommended to congress for Col. Roosevelt, was published at the time, the nominations were sent to the senate, it appears that the fact that there were two separate recommendations and the exact basis for the board's action were not made public. Therefore the adjutant general has furnished these transcripts from the proceedings of the board:

"Lieut. Col. Theo. Roosevelt, first U. S. volunteer cavalry, to be breveted colonel U. S. volunteers for gallantry in battle.

"For gallantry in battle at Santiago July 1, 1898, Lieut. Col. Theo. Roosevelt, to be brevetted brigadier general."

MORE BLOODY WORK

By the Insurgents---Kill Whole Company of Soldiers

Manila, Sept. 30.—(Special.) — Gen. Hughes has sent a report to Washington of an attack that was made on a force of United States soldiers on Friday. The scene of the conflict was at Balangiga where a force of troops was surprised and surrounded early in the morning by 250 insurgents.

Earlier dispatches stated that the officers escaped, but this was proven untrue by the arrival here today of Sergeant Markley and one private from the scene of the action. They believe that they are the only survivors of the party of forty.

The attack was made in the early morning, and most of the men were sleeping in their tents and were butchered before they could reach their guns or make any move to defend themselves.

Gen. Hughes has gone to the scene of the trouble and will personally assume command of the party that will be sent against the insurgents.

An Afflicted Family

Thos. Hansen went to Wylie from Stephen the first of August to take the position of Great Northern section boss. Shortly after arriving he was stricken with typhoid fever. His wife acted as nurse, but shortly succumbed to the malady herself, and died after an illness of several weeks. In the meantime two children were also taken sick. Mr. Hansen's mother arrived from Stephen after his wife's death to nurse the family, and she has now contracted the disease and is very ill. Mr. Hansen is convalescent, but unable to wait on the others, and they are depending upon charity. The people of Wylie have risen to the emergency and are looking after the stricken family.

Dr. Stuhr Locates

Dr. H. C. Stuhr, a new candidate for professional honors, arrived here last Saturday and has opened an office in Reese's drug store. Though a young man, Dr. Stuhr is not lacking in practice, the last year and a half of which has been spent in the St. Paul city hospital.—McIntosh Times.

No Licenses to Boys

Sam Fullerton, executive agent of the game and fish commission, has instructed county auditors to issue no licenses this year to minors for shooting deer, moose or caribou. This is done to minimize accidents, which are more likely to happen from the careless handling of firearms by boys.

Stood Death Off

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50 cents at A. G. Andersen's drug store.

McKINLEY'S WILL

Has Been Offered for Probate and Made Public---Leaves all to His Wife.

ESTATE IS WORTH $250,000

Mrs. McKinley Declines to Act as Administratrix of the Estate.

Canton, Sept. 27.—Secretary Cortelyou came here today to assist Mrs. McKinley in disposing of matters connected with the president's estate. After meeting Mrs. McKinley, the question of filing the will was taken up. The trying task of reading it to her was undertaken by Mr. Cortelyou. Mrs. McKinley made a heroic effort to bear up and succeeded in doing so, and tonight she is resting well. All legal formalities necessary for her to attend to were disposed of.

Judge Day and Secretary Cortelyou went to the office of the probate judge and offered the will of President McKinley for probate. They carried with them the following:

"I, Ida S. McKinley, widow of Wm. McKinley, deceased, hereby decline the administration of the estate and recommend William R. Day and George B. Cortelyou as administrators of the will annexed."

This statement bears date of Sept. 27th, 191.

Following are the contents of President McKinley's will:

"Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—The following is the latest will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills:

"To my beloved wife, Ida S. McKinley, I bequeath all my real estate, wherever situated, and the income of any personal property that I may possess at death, during her natural life. I make the following charge upon all my property, both real estate and personal: To pay my mother during her life $1,000 a year, and at her death said sum to be paid to my sister, Helen McKinley. If the income from the property be insufficient to keep my wife in great comfort and pay the annuity above provided, then I direct that such of the property be sold so as to make such adjustment for both. Whatever property remains at the death of my wife, I give to my brother and sister, share and share alike. My care is that my wife from my estate shall have all she requires for her comfort and pleasure, and that my mother should be provided with whatever money she requires to make her old age comfortable and happy.

"Witness my hand and seal this 22nd day of October, 1897, to my last will and testament made at the city of Washington, D. C. (Signed)

(Seal.) —Wm. McKinley."

The foregoing will was witnessed by us this 22nd day of October, 1897, at the request of the testator, and his name signed hereto in our presence and our signatures placed hereto in his presence.

—G. B. Cortelyou,
—Chas. Leoffler.

It is given out that the president's property aggregates from $225,000 to $250,000, including life insurance of $67,000. Aside from the $67,000, the mentioned estates consist of real estate contiguous to Canton, and of deposits in Washington banks.

Monday morning at 9 o'clock has been fixed by the probate court for the hearing prior to probating the will.

Then it is that Secretary Cortelyou and Judge Day will be finally appointed administrators for the estate and the will annexed and will give bonds. Secretary Cortelyou made the affidavit today as to the genuineness of the signature of the president and of his own. Mr. Leoffler will reach here tomorrow and make affidavit as to his signature and to having seen the president attach his name to the document. The will is in the president's own handwriting and is on the executive mansion letter paper.

Sent Absolutely Free on Receipt of Postal.

CHAINED FOR TEN YEARS

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

We want to send to every sufferer a trial treatment of Asthmalene, similar to the one that cured Mr. Wells. We'll send it by mail POSTPAID, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, to any sufferer who will write for it, even on a postal. Never mind, though you are despairing, however bad your case, Asthmalene will relieve and cure. The worse your case, the more glad we are to send it. Do not delay. Write at once, addressing DR. TO THE PEOPLE:

Some time ago the "Jack-of-All-Trades" began to tell the people what he could do. He made great claims; promised to do more than ever had been done before, and more than most people believed possible. You all know the success he has attained, and as he has become more familiar with the country he was traveling in, he could see the possibilities of greater work, and to accomplish this he has introduced to you a traveling companion. Behold his features in the shape of a 2½ H. P. Geared Base Vertical Gasoline Engine. His specialties are pumping water and general farm use. He is very versatile, and when his time is not wanted for pumping water, by a movement of one of his arms, he can disconnect the gears and his power can be directed for other purposes. He is beginning to travel all over the country from the Canadian Provinces to the Equator, and from the Eastern Coast to the Philippines. He is taking up all sorts of work for all kinds of people, and it is surprising to note the results of his work for the first year. Send for information and catalogue.

WAS A GREAT RACE

Shamrock Led at Start but Was Outsailed by Columbia at the Finish.

CUP DEFENDER WON

But the Race Was the Closest One Yet Sailed--Good Work on Both Sides.

New York, Sept. 28.—(Special.)—It was an ideal day for the yacht race. The weather was fine and the wind blew a 12-knot breeze during the early part of the day that had moderated slightly by the time the race was called.

The warning gun was fired at 10:45 and the starting signal sounded at exactly 11 o'clock. This was that the full benefit might be taken of the breeze which it was feared might die away later on.

The big yachts were just behind the line and both skippers were jockying for position. When the gun sounded both vessels were heading for the line, and so close were they that but 20 seconds elapsed before the Columbia crossed the line, and she was followed ten seconds later by the Shamrock. It was a beautiful start and a great cheer went up from every vessel in sight.

The Shamrock was to the windward and before the boats had gone a quarter of a mile had passed the Columbia. It was great sport and for a time the cup defender seemed to be clearly outsailed.

The entire beat to windward was sailed in better form by the Shamrock, and at one time was a quarter of a mile in advance of the Yankee boat. Shamrock led at the stake boat by one minute. Soon after turning for the run home the Columbia passed the challenger, and after this it was anybody's race all the way in.

At two miles from the finish a seven knot wind was blowing and both boats were sailing beautifully with a cloud of canvas set and all sails drawing finely. It was a sight to stir the hearts of anyone who loves genuine sport.

The finish was the most exciting ever known on a similar occasion. Both boats seemed endowed with life and to know that great things were expected of them. On they came and no one could tell up to a quarter of a mile of the finish which would win. At this juncture the Columbia seemed to put on an extra burst of speed and as they neared the finish she drew ahead of the Shamrock, crossing the line by but a narrow margin of space.

The immense fleet of yachts that had followed over the course opened their whistles and pandemonium reigned. Never was there a scene to equal the excitement that reigned.

The penant that flew from the masthead of the challenger in today's race was the gift of Designer Watson's mother.

Before the race began as high as 4 to 1 odds was offered on Columbia, but there was no Shamrock money in sight.

BEATEN BY THE BADGERS

Wisconsinites Scored 60 and Minnesotans 11 in Artillery Contest

Lake City, Minn., Sept. 27.—The artillery contest between Minnesota and Wisconsin came to a close Thursday afternoon and the competition resulted so greatly in favor of the contestants from the neighboring state that the badgers feel they have achieved a glorious victory.

The Wisconsin gunners made a total of 60 points against 21 made by the Minnesota batteries. Out of the 30 record shots fired by both teams, Wisconsin established the excellent record of 31 points, while Minnesota was credited with only 11.

The shooting both sides was rugged, but the Minnesota men seemed to be laboring under the influence of a particular unhappy star. In the general distribution of shots, which in actual service would determine the relative efficiency of the teams, Minnesota had far the best of it.

LINCOLN'S REMAINS

To be Removed for the Twelfth and Last Time

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 26.—Arrangements have been quietly going on for the removal, for the twelfth time, of the remains of Abraham Lincoln. Excavating has been completed under the vault in the east side of the monument, where the casket rested in full view since the last removal.

The casket is to be placed in a concrete base eight feet by eight feet by thirteen feet. It will be imbedded solidly and will be surrounded, in about the center of the concrete, with an iron cage. The work was begun only ten days ago.

Temporarily the remains are lying in the crypt, next to those of Mrs. Lincoln. They will not be removed until the monument commission is ready to make the change. As far as can be learned there will be no elaborate service.

The decision to imbed the casket in solid concrete was reached after a conference with Robert T. Lincoln. Mr. Lincoln recently expressed the wish that his father's remains might be given permanent burial where they would be safe from any attempted interference.

MANITOBA WHEAT SPOILING

Too Much Wet Weather Is Proving Disastrous to Crop

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 27.—In view of the wet weather an enormous quantity of wheat is still in shock, and the limited facilities for treating the same by drying, the elevator companies have decided to stop buying for a time in the hope that farmers will abstain from threshing till the grain has had an opportunity to dry in the shock, which it will do more quickly than in any other way, and will secure better prices to the producer and less risk to the dealer. The elevator companies, however, are prepared "to receive and ship for farmers at their risk of grade and condition." The above statement which emanated from the Winnipeg Produce Exchange, shows that there are grave fears for wheat. Continued rain has already hurt the grade of a great deal of the crop, which is not already threshed, and several prominent grain men stated yesterday that unless the rain stopped the crop would be ruined.

CONSCIENCE MONEY

U. S. Treasury Enriched to the Amount of $6,150 by It

Washington, Sept. 27.—Secretary Gage received in an envelope postmarked New York, Sept. 25, 1901, $6,150 in bills of denominations ranging from $50 to $500. This large sum of money was accompanied by the following statement:

"After much thought, I have been convinced that duties were not fully paid as desired, difference estimated at about 2 per cent. The wish now is to rectify what was done during some years ago and amount is being sent which it is felt must be paid to the United States treasury to discharge those duties and do the right. Above has been great grief."

No name was signed to this communication.

In the Hands of the Jury

Fergus Falls, Sept. 27.—(Special.)—The jury in the case of Whetstone vs. Sutton is still out. The arguments were made at the conclusion of the testimony, which closed at 11 o'clock this forenoon.

The case was ably presented by the attorneys, the leading argument being made by Frank Larrabee of Minneapolis for the plaintiff and J. M. Mason of this city for Sutton.

The testimony was so strong on both sides that it is thought the jury will disagree. The case has occasioned considerable interest here by reason of the conflict of testimony. Upwards of thirty witnesses were examined, most of them being residents of Argyle, where the principals in the case reside.

Snow at Bottineau

Bottineau, N. D., Sept. 27.—Over 2 inches of snow fell here yesterday. Four inches of rain fell during the last three days and much grain will rot in the fields unless the weather changes at once. Not one third of the grain has been threshed.

Regaining Her Health

Canton, O., Sept. 27.—Favorable reports continue to come from Mrs. McKinley. She has not experienced any real change, but for the last week has had no symptoms of relapse, and gives every indication of steadily regaining her normal condition.

A Night of Terror

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die before morning from Pneumonia," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her. This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at A. G. Andersen's drug store.

HELD FOR RANSOM

Miss Ellen M. Stone, an American Missionary, Held for Heavy Ransom.

BRIGANDS WANT $150,000

And Threaten Unless Demand is Complied Marriage Will be Compelled.

Paris, Sept. 30.—A correspondent of the Figaro says that he has just returned from a visit to Miss Ellen M. Stone of the American board of foreign missions, who is held by brigands in a mountainous region of Turkey. The correspondent wires that he succeeded in locating Miss Stone in an almost inaccessible mountain defile where the chief of the outlaws permitted the correspondent to see and talk with her. Miss Stone told her visitor that she had been treated with exceeding courtesy ever since her capture. Two brigands were detailed to act as her personal servants, providing her with good food and showing her every attention. The Brigands had instructions to obey her merest whim, and to show with what degree of consideration she was treated she told the newspaper man, that, having exhausted all the films, for her kodak she had said that she wished she had more. The desire was repeated to the chief of the brigands who at once posted a courier off to Constantinople to secure a supply for her. This meant a week of steady travelling by mule over dangerous and rocky mountain paths.

The leader of the brigands told the correspondent that unless a ransom of $150,000 was forthcoming within thirty days Miss Stone would either be put to death or compelled to marry one of the bandits. It is believed that the bandit will keep his word.

The situation recalls the capture by these same brigands, in same region, six years ago of Mme. Gerard de Trinciville, a beautiful French heiress, who is now a Carmelite nun. Through the dishonesty of a Turkish official by whom the ransom was negotiated, the money failed to reach the bandits. The lovely French girl was therefore forced to become the wife of a member of the outlaw gang. She was rescued several months later in a battle in which her father killed her bandit husband.

Boston, Sept. 30.—The American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions will resist the demand of $110,000 ransom for the release of Miss Helen M. Stone, of Chelsea, Mass., the American missionary now held by Bulgarian brigands.

When shown a statement by Dr. Cregan, New York secretary of the American board that the ransom would be a dangerous precedent, the Rev. Dr. Judson Smith, secretary of the American board expressed his hearty approbation. He said:

The board would never consider such a proposition. The rescue of Miss Stone is in the hands of the government. We have had missionaries in Turkey for two generations, but never a case like this. Should he offer a ransom, missionaries never would be safe from capture.

IN THEIR NEW HOME

Mrs. Roosevelt and Children Duly Installed in the White House

Washington, Sept. 26.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, wife of the president, took up her residence in Washington last night, when as mistress of the White House she occupied apartments there for the first time. She reached the city about 9:30 o'clock bringing with her two of the Roosevelt children, the governess and housekeeper. Colbingham, superintendent of house building, and a guard met them at the station at the request of the president and escorted them to the White House.

President Roosevelt met Mrs. Roosevelt and children at the portecochec of the White House.

Apartments in the southwestern part of the building have been speedily fitted up for the new president's family. New carpets and furniture have been bought and some painting and varnishing done.

President Roosevelt entertained a party of gentlemen at dinner last night before Mrs. Roosevelt arrived.

Lumberjacks Working East

The harvest days are over and the threshing jobs are not so [illegible] the resident of the pine country who has been over west during the fall rush. The coming of the frosty nights is a warning to the men who "follow the woods" in the winter that the logging season is approaching and they are hurrying back where they came from to secure their old jobs and get a piece of the good wages that are going. Each train east bound carries at least a carload, and those who had rendezvoused here today necessitated the placing of an extra coach on the train to accommodate the travel.

CZOLGOSZ DOESN'T TALK

Eats His Meals But Only Answers Necessary Questions

Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Warden Meade today gave out the following:

"Czolgosz has eaten his meals regularly, and has had no conversation with any other of the condemned men. He answers questions in regard to his meals, such as inquiry if he would have salt, etc., which were put to him by the officers, but aside from that he has said nothing. Part of the time yesterday he lay in his bed, and the rest of the time he spent walking up and down his cell."

Prison Physician Gerin visited Czolgosz yesterday and again this morning, but found no need for his services.

In addition to hundreds of requests from all over the country for invitations to witness the execution, Warden Meade today received numerous requests for the autograph of Czolgosz, and also some from medical men for pieces of his brain after he shall have paid the death penalty.

Has a Mohth to Live

Buffalo, Sept. 26. (Special)—Five weeks from next Monday, on Oct. 28, before sunrise, Leon Czolgosz will be shocked to death in the electric chair at Auburn prison. This is the sentence pronounced upon the president's assassin by Justice White at eleven o'clock this morning.

Czolgosz, when asked, before sentence was pronounced, if he had aught to say concerning the case, arose and in a voice that betrayed no special emotion stated that his parents knew nothing of his intent to kill the president and that no one else was implicated with him in a plot. He never told anyone his intention until a couple of days before the deed was done. He will spend the time before his execution in solitary confinement.

Under a Guard of Sixteen Men

Buffalo, Sept. 27.—After pronouncing sentence upon Czolgosz yesterday Judge Titus came over to the prisoner and bade him good bye. Czolgosz replied very faintly, letting his eyes rest upon the man who had been his counsel. "Good bye," he said weakly.

Czolgosz was hurried down stairs and through the tunnel of sobs where he remained until taken out by the sheriff for transfer to Auburn.

Sheriff Caldwell and 16 men left at 10:08 in the evening with Czolgosz in a special car attached to the rear of the second section of the 9:30 train on the New York Central.

Sampson Represented

Washington, Sept. 27. — Admiral Sampson's name has been so often mentioned by the counsel for Admiral Schley before the court of inquiry that his friends have decided to take part in the investigation. Counsel representing Sampson will probably appear in court in a day or two.

Young Girls

Are often engaged in doing the work of a home under the most trying conditions. Nature cries out against the stooping and lifting, the running up and down stairs at times when labor should be as light as possible. It is owing to overstrain or self-neglect under these conditions that the foundation is laid for serious womanly disease. Irregularity is the first step to impaired womanly health.

Perfect regularity may be established by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will heal inflammation and ulceration and cure female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"It gives me much pleasure," writes Miss Ella Sapp, of Jamestown, Guilford County, N. C., "to thank Dr. Pierce for the great good received from the use of his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I had suffered for three years or more at monthly periods. It seemed as though I would die with pains in my back and stomach. I could not stand at all without fainting. Had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better. Now I have taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I am entirely cured, and in two months' time when all other medicines had failed."

You can't make him eat either. You can stuff food into a thin man's stomach but that doesn't make him use it.

Scott's Emulsion can make him use it. How? By making him hungry, of course. Scott's Emulsion makes a thin body hungry all over. Thought a thin body was naturally hungry didn't you? Well it isn't. A thin body is asleep—not working—gone on a strike. It doesn't try to use it's food.

Scott's Emulsion wakes it up—puts it to work again making new flesh. That's the way to get fat.

A Moment's Attention Please

They say the shoe business has been dull with the shoe stores this year, but we have not found it so. Far from it: we are only exclusive shoe sellers. We're not trying to cripple other mens' business. We like to see all live, and make a living, so we only push shoes, and such shoes as we can recommend. On Monday we will commence and sell all kinds of footwear at a lower price than ever before sold in the Queen City of Crookston. Remember, Monday, Sept. 16. Every shoe will go. Ask for one of our air ships for your boys and girls free. —John Klewel's Shoe Store.

FOR A RANSOM FUND

To Secure the Release of Miss Stone by Her Brigand Captors.

CONTRIBUTIONS COMING IN

The Department of State is Now at Work on the Case.

Constantinople, Oct. 7.—There is no late news of Miss Stone. The brigands have moved and their location is now uncertain. The case is causing embarrassment in United States diplomatic affairs. Missionaries expect the government to rescue her, but object to paying anything for fear of creating a precedent. Should injury happen to Miss Stone, the ministers and consuls will be blamed. Ordinary efforts to rescue her having failed, and it not being a case for governments to interfere, it looks as if either ransom will have to be paid, or trust to luck.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The machinery of the department of state is now at work to save from death or prolonged captivity Miss Helen Stone, the missionary who was kidnapped in Turkey.

The president himself has become actively interested in the matter.

Yesterday Dr. Samuel H. Capen, president of the American board of missions, and Dr. Judson Smith, the foreign secretary of that board, arrived in Washington from Boston and went directly to the state department.

After an hour's conference with Acting Secretary Adee and Solicitor Penfield they were escorted to the White House.

President Roosevelt gave close attention to their statement. Although the department of state had taken up the mater, President Roosevelt laid fresh injunctions upon Mr. Adee to spare no effort to acomplish the purpose he had in view of releasing Miss Stone.

The clergymen were highly gratified at the earnestness exhibited by the president and the state department officials and left for their homes in Boston satisfied that the United States government is doing everything possible in Miss Stone's behalf.

Owing to the peculiar conditions of this case, none of the parties to today's conference were at liberty to make a statement for publication respecting the measures to be adopted.

It is gathered that whatever may be done in the future in a punitive way, Miss Stone must be ramsoned to begin with.

Probably the ransom money must come from the mission board, or from private contributions, for the state department has no funds which may be used to pay the ransom.

Boston, Oct. 7.—The first mail Saturday brought $3,000 toward the rescue of Miss Stone, the missionary captured by bandits in response to the appeal issued by he American board Friday.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 7.—A semi-official denial was issued Saturday of the statement that the kidnapers of the American missionary, Miss Helen M. Stone, and her companion, Mme. Tsilka, are in Bulgaria. The note issued by tha authorities declares that troops and police who have actively searched the frontier for ten days have not found any trace of the brigands, who demand that Miss Stone's ransom must be paid in Turkey.

Up to noon Saturday the trustees of the Stone ransom fund had received $15,585.

A HUMAN MONSTER

Dayton Woman Suspected of Committing Fourteen Murders

Dayton, O., Oct. 7.—If the suspicions of the authorities are correct, this city contains one of the most cold blooded murderesses that has ever been listed in the annals of crime.

A week ago Miss Anna Pugh died under circumstances that were suspicious. Mrs. Pugh, mother of the young lady, insisted that he daughter had been poisoned, and demanded that the coroner investigate tha case thoroughly.

A chemical analysis of the contents of Miss Pugh's stomach shows the presence of arsenic and sulphate of iron, leaving no doubt that the woman was poisoned.

As a result of the investigation suspicion pointed to the sister of Miss Pugh, Mrs. A. J. Witner, as the guilty party, and she was arrested. It is now believed that Mrs. Witner haa committed fourteen murders. She is a widow, and has buried four husbands, all of whom, it is recalled, died under similar conditions to those that attended Miss Pugh's death.

In addition to these five children and four sisters in families where Mrs. Witner has been employed as housekeeper have all died suddenly and under exactly the same circumstances.

Mrs. Witner has two sons in the Philippines and a sister in a New York asylum. No motive can be ascribed for the murders.

CANCER OF THE THROAT

Said to be the Disease With Which the King is Suffering

London, Oct. 4.—(Special.)—King Edward is indisposed. He has been out but little of late, and this fact has caused a revival of the stories that he is afflicted with a cancerous growth.

Copenhagen papers, from which city the king recently returned, are telling of occurrences in court circles that strengthen the belief in the cancer theory, and that cause considerable consternation.

The non-appearance of the king at several functions where he was expected to appear adds uneasiness to the general feeling.

A story is circulating in the clubs purporting to come from a member of the royal household that gives color to the theory that the king is suffering from a morbid growth. According to the club stories, court circles are discussing the possibility that there will be no coronation next June. There certainly seems to be some foundation for the mass of rumors and stories that are current.

New York, Oct. 7.—Concerning the report that the sickness of King Edward is caused by cancer of tha throat the London correspondent of the World cables:

The report from Copenhagen follows close upon the visit to King Edward at the Danish royal palace at Fredensborg of Sir Felix Semon, the noted throat specialist, who was summoned from London, and who has recently added to the staff of royal physicians, with the title of physician extraordinary. It was noticed that the mysterious throat trouble had affected the king's voice, making it husky, and it was said that he had been forbidden to make any more public speeches.

LEPER WAITS FOR DEATH

And a St. Louis Doctor is Quarantined With Him

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 7.—Dong Gong, the Chinese leper, was installed in the isolated home especially built for him and his nurse, Dr. Louis Knapp, and they have entered upon their wait for death. Dr. Knapp was one of the three volunteers who wished to nurse the Chinaman, that he might study tha disease with which he is afflicted in the hope of advancing science by the discovery of some remedy which would relieve the sufferers all over the world.

Since the doctor took charge of the Chinaman two months ago the twain have been confined in the third story of the city hall, and neither have been allowed to leave the place. When he first assumed his duties the doctor hoped that he might be allowed to occasionally visit his family, but the health department has ruled against this, and he is as completely isolated aa the Chinaman.

The new leprosy ward is removed from the smallpox quarantine, and a midway shelter has been built where food will be placed daily for the nurse and his ward. The Chinaman may live a few years or for 15.

Schley on Retired List

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Rear Admiral Schley was today placed on tha retired list of naval officers, he having attained the age of 62 years, when by the operation of the law all army and navy officers may retire on half pay.

His retirement will have no effect on the progress of the court of inquiry.

Uncle Jo's Column

These wireless telegraphs and telephones are the funniest things I aver saw. I can't really understand 'em at all. There's just one thing about it I know, and that is, my phone works awful clear and straight sometimes, and I'll have to tell the Journal readers about something that happened. I guess it wss about two weeks ago, when my phone called me up and I listened to it. And I heard somebody sayin': "Say, Hitchcock, we can get even with Gordon now; we've got the chance of a lifetime."

And then somebody else spoke up and said, "How's that?"

And the first voice said (of course I couldn't swear whose voice it was, but it sounded so much like McKenzie's voice that if I was bound to hunt it up, I'd look down in the Times office for it) "Why, don't you see it as plain as day; it's the chance of a lifetime, I tell you. Yes, sir, Will, I tell you we can give Gordon enough now to square us both up. Why, don't you know, he's been on the board of equalization, and its all through now, and of course they've made some changes in the assessments, and that'll give us a chance to work on the farmers' prejudices, and we'll make 'em think that Mr. Gordon is responsible for every dollar their valuation is raised. We'll fix him plenty now; you just wait and see. I've got it all studied out. You see, just as soon as the state auditor gets the report of the changes, we'll find out how much they raised every item, and then we'll fix up a piece about it with a great big scare head and we'll tell about how Mr. Gordon led the board load the farmers up with taxes. And then the next night we'll give him the benefit of an editorial and tell how Gov. Van Sant missed it appointing him, and all that kind of song, you know. And then when we meet the farmers we must be careful and not forget how much we love 'em and how it distresses us to have 'em oppressed by such an incompetent man as Mr. Gordon.

"I tell you what 'tis Will, I've just been aching for such a chance ever since Mr. Gordon came here and compelled me to send the Tribune away over there to East Grand Forks. I'll never forgive him for that, and then when I got it over there Burt Seymour knocked me out of the county printing I was going to get for it, too." Well, about that time. Will, whoever he was, got the scheme into his head and they must have had a great time chuckling over it from what I could hear of it.

Well, I didn't think much more about after that, until I read the Times Tuesday night, and then it all came to me real quick. And then I thought I'd watch for that editorial tha next night, and sure enough it came out just as Mack planned it.

—o—

Of course, every farmer who thinks carefully understands how this equalization is done. There's an assessor for every town and each one fixes values according to his judgment, and then when these are all put together they have to be figured over and changes made to get 'em uniform and fair. Now, when they fixed the basis of values of different kinds of property, in a case where an assessor had put the vaue too low, of course it had to be raised up to make it even with the rest of the taxpayers. I've looked the figures over and I see that there isn't a county in the state that the valuation of the farmers' property is left lower than it is in Polk county, and in some of the counties it is a good deal higher.

—o—

I was lookin' over the way the different counties were served, and I tell you the farmers of Polk county ain't got any kick comin', or Red Lake county either. The horses and cows and other stock in some counties are of a better quality than they are in others, and of course ought to be assessed higher, and they were, too. But Polk and Red Lake counties are down as low as any of 'em.

—o—

Now last year when this part of the state had a populist representative on the board of equalization they raised horses 20 per cent, cattle one year old 20 per cent, cattle two years old 15 per cent, cows 20 per cent, oxen 20 per cent, sheep 50 per cent, hogs 50 per cent, and agricultural implements 10 per cent. And who heard Mack say anything about that?

—Uncle Joe.

ALIENATION OF AFFECTIONS

Prominent Norman County People Mixed Up in a Scandal

Papers were served Tuesday in an important case that will interest the people down in Norman county to more than the usual degree, as it deals with the family affairs of prominent people.

It is an action for damages in the sum of $10,000, and is brought against K. J. Bragstad, one of the prominent citizens, and leading politicians of that county, the defendant having been clerk of courts there up to the last election.

The action is brought by N. K. Natwick of Gary, and the charge is alienation of his wife's affections. The matter has been pending for several months, and the fact that the suit has been begun will, it is said, not bring a look of surprise to Mr. Bragstad's face.

Messrs. Montague & Morrison of this city have been retained to prosecute the case and it will be on the calendar of the next session of court that sits in Norman county.

PURITY LEAGUE

Going After All Kinds of Sinfulness

Chicago, Oct. 8.—The National Purity convention opened its first session at the First Methodist church in this city today. It is the evident intention of the delegates, as shown by the program, to make sweeping moves in all matters that may be considered.

Decided action is to be taken against the game of football as it is now conducted, and it is among the first things to be tabooed. Hunting and fishing are to be declared cruel and unchristianlike; all theatre going will be denounced as not only un-Godly, but positively sinful and degrading. Anarchy will be proceeded against with great vigor, cigarette smoking is placed under the ban, and the matter of divorces will come in for the largest possible measure of censure.

ANOTHER SUGAR MOVE

American Refining Company is After the Beet Product

New York, Oct. 8.—The war that has been declared by Havemeyer against the beet sugar interests is being carried on vigorously.

Today an order was issued by the American Sugar Refining company following that of last Friday of 1 2-5 cents to Missouri river points, declaring a reduction of 30 cents per hundred on sugar to twenty of the leading cane sugar points in Colorado and California.

In order to further discriminate the company announces that in future it will not fill orders for the granulated product calling for over 50 per cent of the beet sugar product.

This action has created great excitement in the produce market here and at other leading commercial points.

Worst Boer Battle of Year

Dundee, Oct. 4.—(Special.)—The Boer attack on Fort Italia proves to have been the most disastrous of the year in the number of casualties, and four hundred were killed.

British prisoners helped bury sixty dead English soldiers. It is now believed to be the intention of the Boers to combine for the invasion of Natal, by throwing their forces in from both east and west.

In view of these conditions the London dispatches of yesterday which predicted the early collapse of the Boers, and spoke of the attack on Forks Italia and Meadville as but slight engagements in which but small loss was suffered, have aroused great indignation against the war office.

New Utopia Planned

New York, Oct. 7.—The Freeland Central is the name of the new co-operative business enterprise that has just been organized here.

Alexander Horr is at the head of the plan and scheme, the idea being a business enterprise in which labor shall receive the total product of its effort, to which it is justly entitled.

When half a million dollars has been subscribed a township of Rhode Island and property will be purchased, upon which an economic utopia will be started.

CIVIL GOVERNMENT

Given to Part of Our Newly Acquired Philippine Possessions.

FILIPINOS WERE JUBILANT

Over the Event as Described by the Journal's Special Correspondent.

Ilocos Norte and Ilocos Sur, Luzon, P. I., get civil government.

All day tha 15th, and for several days, the semi-ruined and battle-scarred city of Vigan, Ilocos Sur, took on a "fiesta" appearance. Grand arches of bamboo, trimmed with red, white and blue streamers, grew up on the streets in a twinkle; natives from all parts of the province came with palm and plantin leaves; they were woven in the arches with pretty designs and emblems, flags of the U. S. pattern waved from every house, and on the "Escolta" an arch was erected "Por los Chinos" (by the Chinese) that was very gaudy with a pagoda design.

The populace grew excited in their attempt to make a good appearance before that body of men who were to judge as to their being in condition to have civil government. Presidentes from the principal towns and barrios were seen with their bands that had everything from a violin to a bamboo flute, parading the streets giving out erratic music, as it is not considered that a band of Filipinos have to stay close together to play; sometimes in bunches, sometimes in Indian file, and again in a circle like "los Americanos"—anything to make a noise. Every family head gave a "Biale," festal streamers hung from every window, song—weird but not unmusical—came wafting from the houses of the rich mesteszos; folk songs—songs that when sung show that the people are at peace and are contented, for they were thinking of the morrow when the great civil commission, that body of men who represented so much to them, for they were going to give them a civil governor—their first glimpse of liberty in all Philippine history.

The war was over; no more would they be awakened in the dead hours of the night by the gallop of American cavalry enroute from or to the front, or the muffled knock of their friends as they came to give them news of the outside strife, or to give contributions at the point of a bolo to the people that were fighting against such odds. No, the war was over and Ilocos Sur would have a civil governor, not a Spanish one nor an Americano, but an Ilocano.

Early on the morning of the 16th, the government launch "Bangar" landed with the commission, some 20 members, and with Gov. Taft at their head led in carriages and quilez and through a drizzling rain to Vigan, bare-foot bands marched and played the tunes that they had practiced so many, many times for the occasion. The reporter in his press message said: "It was an enthusiastic welcome." He was right. At the municipal building speeches of welcome were made in the eloquent Spanish tongue. Return speeches were made by Gov. Taft and others of the commission, who told the large gathering that their future depended largely on themselves and their civil officers they chose to look after their interests and that of their government. And without a hitch Don, Mena Crisologo, was appointed governor—not a pretty name, and, hard to pronounce, but nevertheless he is governor of Ilocos Sur, and takes office the first of September, 1901. All day rain fell in an endless drizzle, with mud knee deep as a special feature, but it did not daunt the owners of the brown water proof skins as they eagerly listened to the words that made them part and parcel of their local self government.

On the 17th the commission went to Abra province and gave them a similar dose of government. Their transportation was bamboo rafts up the Abra river, and as the rafts are poled, it is a slow journey in the dry season, and this time of the year it is not by any means an enviable trip. They go from Abra to Laoag, Ilocos Norte, and to Aparri, the most northern part of the archipelago, which concludes their journey.

Commercial business began on the signal corps lines on tha sixth of August and seems to be greatly appreciated by the natives, and from all appearances a boom is on in that line.

ABDUCTORS LOCATED

Are in Mountain Fastness Surrounded by Troops

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 9.—(Special)—According to trustworthy reports the government has located the abductors of Miss Stone on the summit of a mountain on the Bulgarian frontier. The party of brigands number 18 and preparations are being mada for their capture.

The plan is for the Turkish and Bulgarian troops to surround the mountain and compel their surrender by strategy or else starve them out. The Bulgarian government has promised to act vigorously in the matter and the belief is that Miss Stone will be returned to her friends within three days at the latest.

REFINED CRUELTY

Practiced Upon Massacred Soldiers Smith Will Avenge Slaughter

MANILA, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—General Smith sailed today to the relief of Samar with three companies of troops.

He will assume the command of the forces at Safar, leaving General Hughes free to devote himself to tha subjugation of Cebu where strong measures are necessary.

General Smith will, with a command of a battalion of the Seventh infantry, proceed to avenge the slaughter of the members of Company C.

The nature of the indignities perpetrated upon the bodies of the soldiers of Company C., who were slaughtered so mercilessly, are reported to be of the most outrageous and bloodcurdling nature. Nothing that the minds of fiends incarnate could suggest was left undone to add to the misery of the wounded men, who were in many instances murdered by inches and in the cruelest manner.

KAISER WILLIAM

Wants a Chance to Try Conclusions With the Columbia

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The World's Berlin correspondent says that much interest is taken in the avowed ambition of the German emperor to get into the yachting game.

He has stated that he will positively challenge the New York Yacht club to a race and will build a boat for that purpose. It is said that he has been dissuaded from building tha yacht until the German builders have ample time to study the question involved.

Tha English builders of racing machines have also been sounded, with a view to getting their ideas and incorporating them into the boat that it is hoped will be able to wrest tha cup from America.

Was Given Knockout Drops

Fargo Oct. 8.—Shortly after 8 o'clock last evening a fearful screech was heard from the N. P. yards and search revealed the fact that a man was pinned down to the track by the wheel of a car which had run onto him and stopped in that position. A switch engine was hurried to the scene and the car moved so the man could be released. The wheel had passed over the forearm just at the elbow mangling it in horrible shape. He was removed to the station and from there to the city, police department where he remained until removed to the county hospital where the arm was amputated during tha night.

He gives his name as W. W. Scott and he says that he has been at work in the harvest fields near Hope. He reached Fargo with $122 that he had saved and drifted into the Moorhead gin mills. He soon found a man who was willing to be his "pard," and who administered knockout drops. He lost consciousness and the pain of the accident was what brought him to life.

FOR A RANSOM FUND

To Secure the Release of Miss Stone by Her Brigand Captors.

CONTRIBUTIONS COMING IN

The Department of State is Now at Work on the Case.

Constantinople, Oct. 7.—There is no late news of Miss Stone. The brigands have moved and their location is now uncertain. The case is causing embarrassment in United States diplomatic affairs. Missionaries expect the government to rescue her, but object to paying anything for fear of creating a precedent. Should injury happen to Miss Stone, the ministers and consuls will be blamed. Ordinary efforts to rescue her having failed, and it not being a case for governments to interfere, it looks as if either ransom will have to be paid, or trust to luck.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The machinery of the department of state is now at work to save from death or prolonged captivity Miss Helen Stone, the missionary who was kidnapped in Turkey.

The president himself has become actively interested in the matter.

Yesterday Dr. Samuel H. Capen, president of the American board of missions, and Dr. Judson Smith, the foreign secretary of that board, arrived in Washington from Boston and went directly to the state department. After an hour's conference with Acting Secretary Adee and Solicitor Penfield they were escorted to the White House.

President Roosevelt gave close attention to their statement. Although the department of state had taken up the mater, President Roosevelt laid fresh injunctions upon Mr. Adee to spare no effort to acomplish the purpose he had in view of releasing Miss Stone.

The clergymen were highly gratified ot the earnestness exhibited by the president and the state department officials and left for their homes in Boston satisfied that the United States government is doing everything possible in Miss Stone's behalf.

Owing to the peculiar conditions of this case, none of the parties to today's conference were at liberty to make a statement for publication respecting the measures to be adopted.

It is gathered that whatever may be done in the future in a punitive way, Miss Stone must be ramsoned to begin with.

Probably the ransom money must come from the mission board, or from private contributions, for the state department has no funds which may be used to pay the ransom.

Boston, Oct. 7.—The first mail Saturday brought $3,000 toward the rescue of Miss Stone, the missionary captured by bandits in response to the appeal issued by he American board Friday.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 7.—A semi-official denial was issued Saturday of the statement that the kidnapers of the American missionary, Miss Helen M. Stone, and her companion, Mme. Tsilka, are in Bulgaria. The note [illegible] by the authorities declares that troops and police who have actively searched the frontier for ten days have not found any trace of the brigands, who demand that Miss Stone's ransom must be paid in Turkey.

Up to noon Saturday the trustees of the Stone ransom fund had received $15,585.

A HUMAN MONSTER

Dayton Woman Suspected of Committing Fourteen Murders

Dayton, O., Oct. 7.—If the suspicions of the authorities are correct, this city contains one of the most cold blooded murderesses that has ever been [illegible] ed in the annals of crime.

A week ago Miss Anna Pugh [illegible] under circumstances [illegible] young lady [illegible] had been poisoned [illegible] that the coroner investigate thoroughly.

A chemical analysis of the contents of Miss Pugh's stomach showed the presence of [illegible] iron, [illegible] that the woman was poisoned.

As a result of the investigation suspicion pointed to the sister of Miss Pugh, Mrs. A. J. Witner, as the guilty party and she was arrested. It is now believed that Mrs. Witner has committed fourteen murders. She is a widow, and has buried four husbands, all of whom, it is recalled, died under similar conditions to those that attended Miss Pugh's death.

In addition to these, five children and four sisters in families where Mrs. Witner has been employed as housekeeper have all died suddenly and under exactly the same circumstances.

Mrs. Witner has two sons in the Phillippines and a sister in a New York asylum. No motive can be ascribed for the murders.

CANCER OF THE THROAT

Said to be the Disease With Which the King is Suffering

London, Oct. 4.—(Special.)—King Edward is indisposed. He has been out but little of late, and this fact has caused a revival of the stories that he is afflicted with a cancerous growth.

Copenhagen papers, from which city the king recently returned, are telling of occurrences in court circles that strengthen the belief in the cancer theory, and that cause considerable consternation.

The non-appearance of the king at several functions where he was expected to appear adds uneasiness to the general feeling.

A story is circulating in the clubs purporting to come from a member of the royal household that gives color to the theory that the king is suffering from a morbid growth. According to the club stories, court circles are discussing the possibility that there will be no coronation next June. There certainly seems to be some foundation for the mass of rumors and stories that are current.

New York, Oct. 7.—Concerning the report that the sickness of King Edward is caused by cancer of the throat the London correspondent of the World cables:

The report from Copenhagen follows close upon the visit to King Edward at the Danish royal palace at Fredensborg of Sir Felix Semon, the noted throat specialist, who was summoned from London, and who has recently added to the staff of royal physicians, with the title of physician extraordinary. It was noticed that the mysterious throat trouble had affected the king's voice, making it husky, and it was said that he had been forbidden to make any more public speeches.

LEPER WAITS FOR DEATH

And a St. Louis Doctor is Quarantined With Him

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 7.—Dong Gong, the Chinese leper, was installed in the isolated home especially built for him and his nurse, Dr. Louis Knapp, and they have entered upon their wait for death. Dr. Knapp was one of the three volunteers who wished to nurse the Chinaman, that he might study the disease with which he is afflicted in the hope of advancing science by the discovery of some remedy which would relieve the sufferers all over the world.

Since the doctor took charge of the Chinaman two months ago the two have been confined in the third story of the city hall, and neither have been allowed to leave the place. When he first assumed his duties the doctor hoped that he might be allowed to occasionally visit his family, but the health department has ruled against this, and he is as completely isolated as the Chinaman.

The new leprosy ward is removed from the smallpox quarantine, and a midway shelter has been built where food will be placed daily for the nurse and his ward. The Chinaman may live a few years or for 15 [illegible]

Uncle Jo's Column

These wireless telegraphs and telephones are the funniest things I ever saw. I can't really understand 'em at all. There's just one thing about it I know, and that is, my phone works awful clear and straight sometimes, and I'll have to tell the Journal readers about something that happened. I guess it was about two weeks ago, when my phone called me up and I listened to it. And I heard somebody sayin': "Say, Hitchcock we can get even with Gordon now; we've got the chance of a lifetime."

And then somebody else spoke up and said, "How's that?"

And the first voice said (of course I couldn't swear whose voice it was, but it sounded so much like McKenzie's voice that if I was bound to hunt it up, I'd look down in the Times office for it) "Why, don't you see it as plain as day: it's the chance of a lifetime I tell you. Yes, sir. Will, I tell you we can give Gordon enough now to square us both up. Why, don't you know he's been on the board of equalization, and its all through now, and of course they've made some changes in the assessments, and that'll give us a chance to work on the farmers' prejudices, and we'll make 'em [illegible] Mr. Gordon is responsible for every dollar their valuation is raised. We'll fix him plenty now: [illegible] and [illegible]. I've got it all studied out. You see, just as soon as the state auditor gets the report of the changes, we'll find out how much they raised every item, and then we'll fix up a piece about it with a great big scare head and we'll tell about how Mr. Gordon led the board load the farmers up with taxes. And then the next night we'll give him the benefit of an editorial and tell how Gov. Van Sant missed it appointing him, and all that kind of song, you know. And then when we meet the farmers we must be careful and not forget how much we love 'em and how it distresses us to have 'em oppressed by such an incompetent man as Mr. Gordon.

Of course, every farmer who thinks carefully understands how this equalization is done. There's an assessor for every town and each one fixes values according to his judgment, and then when these are all put together they have to be figured over and changes made to get 'em uniform and fair. Now, when they fixed the basis of values of different kinds of property, in a case where an assessor had put the vaue too low, of course it had to be raised up to make it even with the rest of the taxpayers. I've looked the figures over and I see that there isn't a county in the state that the valuation of the farmers' property is left lower than it is in Polk county, and in some of the counties it is a good deal higher.

I was lookin' over the way the different counties were served, and I tell you the farmers of Polk county ain't got any kick comin', or Red Lake county either. The horses and cows and other stock in some counties are of a better quality than they are in others, and of course ought to he assessed higher, and they were, too. But Polk and Red Lake counties are down as low as any of 'em.

—0—

Now last year when this part of the state had a populist representative on the board of equalization they raised horses 20 per cent, cattle one year old 20 per cent, cattle two years old 15 per cent, cows 20 per cent, oxen 20 per cent, sheep 50 per cent, hogs 50 per cent, and agricultural implements 10 per cent. And who heard Mack say anything about that?

ALIENATION OF AFFECTIONS

Prominent Norman County People Mixed Up in a Scandal

Papers were served Tuesday in an important case that will interest the people down in Norman county to more than the usual degree, as it deals with the family affairs of prominent people.

It is an action for damages in the sum of $10,000, and is brought against K. J. Bragstad, one of the prominent citizens, and leading politicians of that county, the defendant having been clerk of courts there up to the last election.

The action is brought by N. K. Natwick of Gary, and the charge is alienation of his wife's affections. The matter has been pending for several months, and the fact that the suit has been begun will, it is said, not bring a look of surprise to Mr. Bragstad's face.

Messrs. Montague & Morrison of this city have been retained to prosecute the case and it will be on the calendar of the next session of court that sits in Norman county.

PURITY LEAGUE

[illegible] After All Kinds of Sinfulness

[illegible], Oct. 8.—The National Purity League opened its first session in the [illegible] Methodist church in this city. It is the evident intention of the delegates, as shown by the program, to make sweeping moves in all matters that may be considered.

Decided action is to be taken against the game of football as it is now conducted, and it is among the first things to be tabooed. Hunting and fishing are to be declared cruel and [illegible]; all theatre going will be denounced as not only un-Godly, but positively sinful and degrading. Anarchy will be proceeded against with great vigor, cigarette smoking is placed under the ban, and the matter of divorces will come in for the largest possible measure of censure.

ANOTHER SUGAR MOVE

American Refining Company is After the Beet Product

New York, Oct. 8.—The war that has been declared by Havemeyer against the beet sugar interests is being carried on vigorously.

Today an order was issued by the American Sugar Refining company following that of last Friday of 1 2-3 cents to Missouri river points, declaring a reduction of 30 cents per hundred on sugar to twenty of the leading cane sugar points in Colorado and California.

In order to further discriminate the company announces that in future it will not fill orders for the granulated product calling for over 50 per cent of the beet sugar product.

This action has created great excitement in the produce market here and at other leading commercial points.

Worst Boer Battle of Year

Dundee, Oct. 4.—(Special.)—The Boer attack on Fort Italla proves to have been the most disastrous of the year in the number of casualties, and four hundred were killed.

British prisoners helped bury sixty dead English soldiers. It is now believed to be the intention of the Boers to combine for the invasion of Natal, by throwing their forces in from both east and west.

In view of these conditions the London dispatches of yesterday which predicted the early collapse of the Boers, and spoke of the attack on Forks Italla and Meadville as but slight engagements in which but small loss was suffered, have aroused great indignation against the war office.

New Utopia Planned

New York, Oct. 7.—The Freeland Central is the name of the new co-operative business enterprise that has just been organized here.

Alexander Horr is at the head of the plan and scheme, the idea being a business enterprise in which labor shall receive the total product of its effort, to which it is justly entitled.

When half a million dollars has been subscribed a township of Rhode Island property will be purchased, upon which an economic utopia will be started.

CIVIL GOVERNMENT

Given to Part of Our Newly Acquired Philippine Possessions.

FILIPINOS WERE JUBILANT

Over the Event as Described by the Journal's Special Correspondent.

Ilocos Norte and Ilocos Sur, Luzon, P. I., get civil government.

All day the 15th, and for several days, the semi-ruined and battle-scarred city of Vigan, Ilocos Sur, took on a "fiesta" appearance. Grand arches of bamboo, trimmed with red, white and blue streamers, grew up on the streets in a twinkle; natives from all parts of the province came with palm and plantin leaves, that were woven in the arches with pretty designs and emblems, flags of the U. S. pattern waved from every house, and on the "Escolta" an arch was erected "Por los Chinos" (by the Chinese) that was very gaudy with a pagoda design

The populace grew excited in their attempt to make a good appearance before that body of men who were to judge as to their being in condition to have civil government. Presidentes from the principal towns and barrios were seen with their bands, that had everything from a violin to a bamboo flute, parading the streets giving out erratic music, as it is not considered that a band of Filipinos have to stay close together to play; sometimes in bunches, sometimes in Indian file, and again in a circle like "los Americanos"—anything to make a noise. Every family head gave a "Biale," festal streamers hung from every window, song—wierd but not unmusical—came wafting from the houses of the rich mestezos: folk songs—songs that when sung show that the people are at peace and are contented, for they were thinking of the morrow when the great civil commission, that body of men who represented so much to them, for they were going to give them a civil governor—their first glimpse of liberty in all Philippine history.

The war was over; no more would they be awakened in the dead hours of the night by the gallop of American cavalry enroute from or to the front, or the muffled knock of their friends as they came to give them news of the outside strife, or to give contributions at the point of a bolo to the people that were fighting against such odds. No, the war was over and Ilocos Sur would have a civil governor, not a Spanish one nor an Americano, but an Ilocano.

Early on the morning of the 16th, the government launch "Bangar" landed with the commission, some 20 members, and with Gov. Taft at their head led in carriages and quilez and through a drizzling rain to Vigan, bare-foot bands marched and played the tunes that they had practiced so many, many times for the occasion. The reporter in his press message said: "It was an enthusiastic welcome." He was right. At the municipal building speeches of welcome were made in the eloquent Spanish tongue. Return speeches were made by Gov. Taft and others of the commission, who told the large gathering that their future depended largely on themselves and their civil officers they chose to look after their interests and that of their government. And without a hitch Don, Mena Crisologo, was appointed governor—not a pretty name, and hard to pronounce, but nevertheless he is governor of Ilocos Sur, and takes office the first of September, 1901. All day rain fell in an endless drizzle, with mud knee deep as a special feature, but it did not daunt the owners of the brown water proof skins as they eagerly listened to the words that made them part and parcel of their local self government.

On the 17th the commission went to Abra province and gave them a similar dose of government. Their transportation was bamboo rafts up the Abra river, and as the rafts are poled, it is a slow journey in the dry season, and this time of the year it is not by any means an enviable trip. They go from Abra to Laoag, Ilocos Norte, and to Aparri, the most northern part of the archipelago, which concludes their journey.

Commercial business began on the signal corps lines on the sixth of August and seems to be greatly appreciated by the natives, and from all appearances a boom is on in that line.

ABDUCTORS LOCATED

Are in Mountain Fastness Surrounded by Troops

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 9.—(Special)—According to trustworthy reports the government has located the abductors of Miss Stone on the summit of a mountain on the Bulgarian frontier. The party of brigands number 18 and preparations are being made for their capture.

The plan is for the Turkish and Bulgarian troops to surround the mountain and compel their surrender by strategy or else starve them out. The Bulgarian government has promised to act vigorously in the matter and the belief is that Miss Stone will be returned to her friends within three days at the latest.

REFINED CRUELTY

Practiced Upon Massacred Soldiers Smith Will Avenge Slaughter

MANILA, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—General Smith sailed today to the relief of Samar with three companies of troops.

He will assume the command of the forces at Safar, leaving General Hughes free to devote himself to the subjugation of Cebu where strong measures are necessary.

General Smith will, with a command of a battalion of the Seventh infantry, proceed to avenge the slaughter of the members of Company C.

The nature of the indignities perpetrated upon the bodies of the soldiers of Company C., who were slaughtered so mercilessly, are reported to be of the most outrageous and bloodcurdling nature. Nothing that the minds of fiends incarnate could suggest was left undone to add to the misery of the wounded men, who were in many instances murdered by inches and in the cruelest manner.

KAISER WILLIAM

Wants a Chance to Try Conclusions With the Columbia

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The World's Berlin correspondent says that much interest is taken in the avowed ambition of the German emperor to get into the yachting game.

He has stated that he will positively challenge the New York Yacht club to a race and will build a boat for that purpose. It is said that he has been dissuaded from building the yacht until the German builders have ample time to study the question involved.

The English builders of racing machines have also been sounded, with a view to getting their ideas and incorporating them into the boat that it is hoped will be able to wrest the cup from America.

Was Given Knockout Drops

Fargo Oct. 8.—Shortly after 8 o'clock last evening a fearful screech was heard from the N. P. yards and search revealed the fact that a man was pinned down to the track by the wheel of a car which had run onto him and stopped in that position. A switch engine was hurried to the scene and the car moved so the man could be released. The wheel had passed over the forearm just at the elbow mangling it in horrible shape. He was removed to the station and from there to the city police department where he remained until removed to the county hospital where the arm was amputated during the night.

He gives his name as W. W. Scott and he says that he has been at work in the harvest fields near Hope. He reached Fargo with $122 that he had saved and drifted into the Moorhead gin mills. He soon found a man who was willing to be his "pard," and who administered knockout drops. He lost consciousness and the pain of the accident was what brought him to life.

LOST HIS LIFE

James Strader Slips From the Top of a Moving Threshing Engine.

FOOT CAUGHT IN GEARING

And Leg Ground to Bits--- Brought to the City But Died in Four Hours.

James Strader, a well known resident of Crookston, died at his home on Polk St. Thursday night as the result of an accident.

Mr. Strader during the fall had been engaged in running a threshing engine for N. B. Soper, nud has operated in the towns of Andover and Hammond. Yesterday while moving the machine from one of Mr. J. E. O'Brien's farms to another, six miles south of the city, he met with the casualty that cost him his life.

Mr. Strader had heen managing the steering gear, and called Neil McDougall to relieve him, his object heing to ascertain the amonnt of water in the emergency tank, that is placed in the forward part of the engine.

McDougall took the wheel and Strader climhed np onto the machine for the purpose of proceeding to the forward end. It was somewhat risky, hut the man hsd no thought of the possibility of slipping, and the machine was not stopped.

As Strader was passing the driving gear he made a misstep, or his foot slipped, and struck squarely among the cog wheels. In an instant his entire leg had heen drawn into the machinery, and as the large thigh bone was heing gronnd to pieces it furnished sufficient resistance to stop the machine.

McDougall was horror stricken at what had happened, hut the progress of events had been so rapid that he could not have stopped the machine earlier nor done anything to prevent the accident.

Strader was perhaps the first person about the machine to speak. "Boys," he said, "I am killed; reverse the engine and get me out of this." This was immediately done, and he was at once placed in n huggy and driven to the city hy his son Alex, who was a memher of the crew at work with the machine.

Drs. Just and Smith were called and attended the injured man bnt the shock was so great that he never rallied fully, and death resulted at 8:30 last evening.

Deceased was 55 years of age and leaves a widow and elsven children, the yonngest being six years old, several being fnlly grown .The family has resided in Crookston a number of years and during a portion of the time the father has heen in the employ of the lumber company. He was a member of the Odd Fellows and Maccabees and his family will receive the proceeds of a policy of $2,000 insurance in the latter order.

The funeral was held from the Episcopal church at 3 p. m. Sunday, Rev. H. M. Green officiating.

MILACA'S WILD MAN

Has Been Again Seen by a Gentleman of Veracity

Milaca's celebrated wild man has been sighted again, this time hy W. H. Oakes, a hrick manufacturer of Princeton. He stated that while driving to Milaca from Princeton he got a good view of the celebrated wild man. While passing a field abont a mile south of town he observed a naked man coming across it dragging some hlack object in each hand. The fellow was about 25 rods from the road when he noticed Mr. Oakes and diverted his course into the hrush. The man appeared to be entirely nude and the black objects he was carrying in each hand looked like some kind of animals. Mr. Oakes said the objects look more like two black sheep than anything else. Mr. Oakes is a quiet, unassuming gentleman of unquestionable veracity, and those who are inclined to doubt the existence of the wild man need doubt no longer.—Fargo Morning Call.

A WEEK OF FATALITIES

Red Lake Falls Furnishes Unusual List Last Week

Last Friday the Journal recorded the fatal accident at Red Lake Falls by which the little six year old son of Mrs. C. W. Mead lost his life and the burning of the separator hy which he was run over, the following day.

Further fatalities at that place are reported as having occurred last Friday. Mamie Fevers, aged 10, dropped dead in school in the afternoon, and the two months' old babe of Frank Brouillet and wife was found dead in bed by the parents when they awoke.

E. H. Gerlash was crushed between a separator and nn engine, bnt it is expected he will recover.

HOPES FOR DRAINAGE

Appropriations to Benefit the Red River Valley

Washington, Oct. 3.—Propositions for devising plans to aid in the prevention of floods in the Red River valley are again being considered by the war department. Senator Hansbrongh of North Dagota spent the greater part of the afternoon in conference with General Gillespie and Major Atwood on the subject.

During the past 15 years floods have caused the loss of millions of dollars in the valley, and there is a general feeling among those who have suffered by these losses that the government should lend some aid for their protection.

At the meeting of the interstate drainage commission held at Fargo this question was gone over thoronghly, resulting in reports heing made to the war department. These reports advised the impounding of the waters in Red Stone and Traverse lakes. The war department would he perfectly willing to adopt the plan if it was thonght to he feasible.

This point was discussed by the officials and the Dakota senator yesterday afternoon and althongh they will not admit that the idea of this plan is to he ahandoned, they intimate that its results would not he profitable.

At the meeting of the interstate commerce commission to be held in Wahpeton the middle of this month, a committee will he appointed whose duties it will be to investigate this matter thoronghly and make reports to the war department and the members of congress from Minnesota and the Dakotas.

Senator Hanshrough is confident that if it is decided that there is any way in which these disastrous floods can be prevented, congress will make the necessary appropriations, and the department will be quick to act.

There is talk of damage suits heing instituted hy Mr. Sylvester against the parties prominent in the move that resulted in his arrest. The citizens of Beltrami who undersand the true inwardness of the matter are almost unanimously behind Mr. Sylvester.

Smallpox Outlook

A prominent physician of Fargo informs the Call that in his opinion there is every indication that the section of country infected with smallpox last season is in a fair way to sist that they got the worst of it on fall nnd winter—in fact, he says there are a large number of mild cases already in the vicinity of Fargo and Moorhead.

Big Auction Sale

J. D. McPhee came np from Lockhart this morning accompanied by H. C. Suttle, the owner of the Lockhart farm and they have spent the day advertising the sale of farm machinery and stock that will be held there on the 17th. The farm will be divided into small tracts, and a considerable portion of it has already been sold. The outfit of teams and machinery is the largest in the valley and the sale will attract wide attention.

MEN AND TEAMS

Can Find Any Amount of Work at High Wages

Among the promiuent lumhermen here yesterday, Fletcher Walker was noted enroute to Minneapolis from the scene of the T. B. Walker interests out east. Mr. Walker has heen looking over the situation in the vicinity of Bemidji and along the proposed new logging road that is being hullt hy Walker & Akeley. He informed the Journal that the company with which he is connected will do a large amount of logging this winter, and that the extent of the operations will be limited only hy the nnmber of teams and men that can he secured. The company is now anxious for the contractors who are at work of constructing the logging road to hustle the work, and in this work the lack of force is noted. Good wages are being offered, hnt the men and teams are difficult to secure.

TUBERS TOO HIGH

Big Slump Catches Potato Dealers for Thousands

St. Cloud, Oct. 3.—It is estimated that thousands of dollars have been lost in the last ten days to country merchants and potato buyers in the potato growing section of Minnesota through the great slnmp in the price of the vegetables in the Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis markets. Every merchant in the smaller towns and scores of buyer have been engaged in the keenest of competition in the purchae of the crop, and fancy prices, under the stimulus of the competition and of the apparent prospects for a future rise, have been paid.

In Princeton, Royalton, Little Falls, Rice, Elk River, Big Lake, Anoka, Albany, Melrose, Freeport and Sauk Center, in this immediate vicinity, the accumulations of the buyers were largely in their own hands when the big slum came, and in many instances ten carloads were held by a single bnyer when the drop occurred. As high as $3,000 to $4,000 has been reported as an individual loss in several instances, and the effect will doubtless be to inspire a feeling of caution in future operations in the speculative potato market.

FAVORED BY JONES

The Indian Commissioner Recommends Opening to Settlement.

LANDS ON THE RESERVATION

Suitable for Agriculture to be Disposed of Under the Nelson Act.

Washington, Oct. 7.—As a preliminary to the settlement of the vexed Indian problem in Minnesota, Commissioner of Indian Affairs Jones says he is in favor of the allotment of lands of unceded reservations and the disposal of the remainder under the general land laws. He so expressed himself in discussing the proposition made some time ago by Congressman Eddy to have an inspector negotiate a treaty for the opening of a few townships in the Red Lake reservation. While in the northwest he went over these townships and says there is some fine land there that can be cultivated by the whites, but which will probably be non-productive as long as it remains in the hands of the Indians.

Commissioner Jones has recommended the opening of the remainder of the agricultural lands in the ceded Chippewa reservations under the Nelson act. There has been no scandal in connection with the disposal of these lands. Surveys have been completed, thus making them subject to disposal. So far as timber lands are concerned, neither the Indian office nor the department will take any action until congress shall have had an opportunity to amend the Nelson law and provide for their disposal under the revised regulations providing for the cutting of timber and its sale, according to bank scale. Commissioner Jones will take up the question of the settlement of the dead and down controversy with Secretary Hitchcock next week. He expects it will take some time for the secretary to arrive at a conclusion and says that no facts in connection with the investigation of the rescale will be made public for a week or more.

NEW DAIRY PRODUCT

One Ounce Equal to Three and a Quarter Pounds of Beef

Many new industries have been developed in the British Isle at the close of the last century. One of the most novel had its birth in the vicinity of Buckingham—namely that of the manufacture from the milk of creameries, after the butter has been extracted, of a substance known by the highly clasical name of plasmon. This substance takes its name from the Greek, meaning "that which gives form."

The fresh milk as it comes from the cow is put into a separator, all the cream being removed by this method. The separated milk is afterward treated so as to coagulate all the proteids of the milk, and this coagulated mass is then kneaded and dried at a temperature of 70 degrees centigrade under an atmosphere of carbonic acid gas. When perfectly free from moisture the plasmon is ground into a granular powder which is completely soluble in hot water.

As to the economic value of plasmon there can be no doubt when it is known that the German government supplies it in very large quantities to the army and navy. As a portable, consentrated nutrient, according to the German government department for the investigation of foodstuffs for the troops, it has been found that one ounce of this powder is equal in nourishing and sustaining properties to three and a quarter pounds of the finest beefsteak, or to about ten or twelve pints of milk.

Sad Accident at Red Lake Falls

Red Lake Falls, Oct. 4.—(Special.)—A most distressing accident occurred here at 6 o'clock last evening. A threshing engine and outfit that was passing through the village stopped for a short time in the street and while at rest quite a number of children gathered around it. One of them, a small boy named Earl Mead, whose parents reside in this city, attempted to climb on the engine just as it was about to start, and fell under the wheels unnoticed by the engineer, and the wheels passed directly over his head, completely crushing it. The remains were taken to Euclid this afternoon for burial.

Machine that Killed Mead Burned

Red Lake Falls, Oct. 4.—(Special.)—Sparks from a threshing engine operating south of this city this afternoon were driven by the high wind into the straw stack and fanned into flames. Before the crew could get a line on the separator it also caught fire, and was entirely destroyed.

By a peculiar coincidence the separator burned proves to be the same machine that was drawn through this city late yesterday and that caused the death of the child Earl Mead.

TO SETTLE DISPUTED TITLE

Minnesota's Claim to Swamp Lands Disputed by the Gov't.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 1.—Frank M. Goodwin, special agent of the interior department, is organizing a party to go into the northern wilderness for several months to investigate swamp lands.

He will examine and report on a large tract of land now in dispute between the United States and the state as to the ownership of which the government makes question. The tract covers several tiers of townships bordering on Canada and running from Rainy Lake to Lake Superior, about 20 miles. There is supposed to be much mineral in the tracts, which occasions the attempt to straighten out the title at this time.

These lands were selected by the state under the swamp lands acts and have been in its possession a long time. The general government, however, now claims they were not legally swamp and should never have been allowed for state selection. To be legally swamp land a government subdivision must be bounded by lines that are at least one-half in a swamp or swamps. This, the government claims, is not the fact.

Agent Goodwin will investigate the whole region. He will personally go over all the surveys, run new surveys and make a thorough report. Upon this the government will base its future action as to these lands.

RATTLERS PLENTY IN WIS

Crawford County Yields Over 22,000 of the Reptiles

LaCrosse, Wis., Oct. 7.—At no time in the past 20 years have so many rattlesnakes been killed in one season in Vernon county; 1,237 snakes have been killed, and the county has paid bounties to the amount of $613.50. In Crawford county 22,257 of the reptiles have been destroyed, for which the county paid $1,127.50. In LaCrosse county the slaughter of snakes has not been quite o extensive, but it is thought that 1,000 would not touch the number killed.

DIFFICULT WORK

Cross County Telephone Building is no Snap

President Kerlin, of the Iron Range Telephone company, came in from Bemidji Wednesday to see how the work of installing the new plant at this point is progressing. He says that he has two camps pushing the completion of the line across country from Bemidji eastward, and that all possible is being done to forward the matter. The setting of poles in the swamp country is a difficult matter, as it is necessary for the men to work in water, and after the poles are worked down into the soft earth a cross-bar has to be affixed at the surface of the ground upon which are placed sand bags to hold the pole in position.

Notwithstanding all these difficulties the work is progressing at a rapid rate and will be completed inside of a month.

Sending Men In

A carload of men arrived on the G. N. Friday sent by an employment agency that is forwarding hands to the scene of the railroad work near Bagley. The contractors are hiring all they can hereabout, but find it necessary to ship in men from the larger cities in order to complete the work in time for the winter's logging.

Brain Food Nonsense

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at F. H. Hilliard & Son's.

Thief River Falls firemen indulged in a practice run Wednesday evening. The engine ran five blocks and was ready to throw water in seven minutes. Good work that.

WORLDS OF FLAX

North Dakotans are Reaping a Rich Reward

J. M. DeLance returned this morning from points in North Dakota where his business in connection with elevators has demanded his attention during the past two weeks.

Central North Dakota has during that time been visited by considerable rain, and the result is that threshing is seriously delayed. Near Langdon, 28 threshing machines have been unloaded and gone into the fields during the past three weeks, but the help is so scarce that they cannot be run to a profit. Men and teams are very scarce, and as high as $5 per day is being paid for teams and half as much for men's wages.

The country all along the line of railway in certain portions of the state is one flax field, and the farmers cannot get it threshed. It is bringing $1.32 per bushel, and yesterday at Mapes three loads were brought in by a farmer for which he was paid nearly $2. He said that his yield averaged 20 bushels per acre. This crop alone would far more than pay the cost of his land.

ABOUT MRS. ROOSEVELT

Facts Which are of Interest to the Reading Public

Mrs. Roosevelt is of special interest just now for various reasons, but chiefly for the extreme womanliness she brings to her new position as the mistress of the White House.

Her clever children are the very soul of her life. She does not instruct them herself, but she superintends their education. She visits their school once a week and stays through the entire day, just to know what the children are studying. And they are children in every sense of the word, and so healthful and noisy that the grounds of the White House promise to be much more lively than they have been for a generation.

Mrs. Roosevelt before her marriage was Edith Carow, and as a child she was the playmate of Roosevelt, when he was a boy, and of his sisters. Even then many predicted that these sweethearts of childhood would one day become lovers in all truth, and so they have, for the president devotes every moment he can spare from public life in affectionate attention to his wife, and she heartily reciprocates. Like her husband, Mrs. Roosevelt is an enthusiastic novel reader, but also keeps up well on the topics of the day. In the library of her home she finds her favorite recreation, where there are 5,000 books that are enchanting to genuine book lovers. Mrs. Roosevelt is a pretty, slight woman of medium height, and has dark brown hair and eyes. She is not what is termed a "society" woman, though she has hosts of friends whom she entertains frequently in an informal way. Teddy, Jr., is said to be her favorite child, if a mother can be partial in her love. He is so striking a counterpart in miniature of his father that his identity is clear to persons meeting him for the first time. He declares his father is the greatest man in the world, and his own ambition is to grow to be as good as his parental ancestor.

Ignorant or Reckless?

In an editorial in the Crookston Times of Wednesday, the object of which was to besmirch the editor of the Journal, by an effort to create a prejudice in the minds of the farmers of Polk and Red Lake counties, the following statement is made: "As it is, the farmers of this county have the taxes increased on their property from 20 to 75 per cent, making a total of many thousands of dollars in order that the wholesale houses, street railways and other large corporations of the big cities may have their burdens lightened to an equal extent. Gov. Van Sant is responsible for this injustice and will be held to account for it if he is a candidate for re-election."

What kind of an idea can McKenzie have of the intelligence of the people who read his paper? And what kind of an estimate does he place upon the value of his own reputation among intelligent men when he will make a statement like that editorially?

There was a total raise of $7,600,000 made in the assessed valuation of the state. Of this increase the iron companies get over $1,250,000, the street car companies of the Twin Cities $150,000, the gas company of Minneapolis $50,000, the stocks of goods and merchandise in St. Paul alone $475,000, three banks in Minneapolis $215,000, and other classes of property throughout the state proportionately large amounts, the items of which would be too numerous to mention here, if the data was at hand to enable us to do so, which it is not.

The increase on the lumber companies' valuations was many hundred thousands of dollars, five companies alone having been raised $211,000.

Mr. McKenzie is either woefully ignorant in regard to the facts in the case, or in his desperate determination to obtain an advantage over a competitor in business, has become absolutely reckless as to his reputation among intelligent men.

We can assure the farmers of Polk and Red Lake counties that the taxes they have to pay this year will certainly be less than they would have been but for the action of the state board of equalization.

The Board of Control

The persistent opposition of Duluth and St. Cloud to the action of the state board of control in abolishing the office of resident purchasing agent for the normal schools, seems to us very unwise and injudicious.

There seems to be absolutely no necessity for the maintenance of this office at such an expense. The resident director in each case can be empowered to do the purchasing and the work accomplished through that agency with equal efficiency, as at an expense of $900 per year through a special purchasing agent.

The state board of control is evidently making a conscientious effort to manage the affairs which come within its jurisdiction for the best interests of the state, without fear or favor, and we believe that the work thus far accomplished by them will commend itself to the good judgment, and receive the approval of the majority of the people throughout the state.

Mine Companies Acquiesce

The action of the state board of equalization in regard to increasing the assessment on the personal property of the mining companies on the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges should receive the approval of all the tax paying citizens of the state.

It was an action in the interest of the public welfare, and though it aroused a vigorous protest from the parties whose taxes are directly increased, it is so manifestly just that they have decided to acquiesce in it without resistance.

The one important point in connection with taxation is to have all property owners placed upon the same basis of valuation, and the raise in the valuation of these iron ore properties is a decided step in that direction. But it is claimed by many who are most intimately acquainted with the situation and with this class of property, that even the present assessment is too low.

The aggressive opposition of Duluth to the action of the state board of control on the question of purchasing supplies, and other normal school matters, is in rather poor taste. The contemplated normal at Duluth is about as essential to the educational interests of the state as a fifth wheel would be to a wagon anyway.

Next year any county in Colorado will have the option of adopting the single tax, and the disciples of Henry George are jubilantly predicting that if one county adopts it the adjoining ones will be compelled to do so in self defense, and thus the doctrinaire mode of taxation will spread through the nation.—Minneapolis Journal.

McKENZIEISM

Editor of the Sheet With a Self-Declared World-Beater-Circulation Has a Spasm.

INDICATES HIS ESTIMATE

Of the Intelligence of the Readers of His Delectable (?) Publication.

The state board of equalization, consisting of 18 members, which was in session from Sept. 3 to 28, on the first day of their meeting took up the question of the basis to which the valution of different classes of property throughout the state should be brought, and settled upon the following:

Horses, one year old, $9 to $11 each.

Horses, two years old, $15 to $17 each.

Horses, three years old and over, $25 to $35 each.

Cattle, one year old, $5 to $7 each.

Cattle, two years old, $8 to $10 each.

Cows, $12 to $14 each.

Oxen, $17 to $20 each.

All other cattle, $15 to $17 each.

Sheep, $1.50 to $1.75 each.

Hogs, $2 to $2.50 each.

Wagons, carriages, bicycles, etc., $10 and upwards each.

Sewing machines, $5 to $6 each.

Watches and clocks, $2 and upwards each.

Melodeons and organs, $15 and upwards each.

Pianos, $70 and upwards each.

Dogs, $5 and upwards each.

It will be manifest to any intelligent person that the adoption of some uniform basis of valuation for these classes of property was absolutely necessary and essential for the accomplishment of uniform and equitable results. In these classes of property the question of its location has some, but not a controlling influence on its valuation.

If the board erred in fixing these especial values as a basis in the judgment of any person, it must be conceded that the error was neither to the detriment or advantage of one section of the state as against another.

Then having adopted this basis of values, each county's returns were carefully considered and the average valuations estimated in their relation to the values stated. In cases where the assessors' values approximated the figures given, sufficiently near to cause no injustice, they were allowed to stand undisturbed. In cases where there was a material deviation from these values in the assessors' returns, such per cent of change was made as would bring them equitably within range of the established basis.

With this explanation of the system adopted by the board, no one will contend that any one of the 18 members of it could with honesty make use of any influence he might have with other members of the board to shield his especial locality from the operation of the rule, and allow a lower valuation to remain undisturbed. It is not a question of the percentage of change that was made in specific cases, but a question of the equity of the valuations as determined by such changes as related to each other, whether Polk county or any other specific locality was wronged.

The citation of the cases of raised values given in the Crookston Times of last evening was maliciously and intentionally misleading.

The points made in that article disclose nothing but McKenzie's malignity of purpose and dishonesty of method in an attempt to carry out that purpose, which is self evident, to create a prejudice against us in the hope of injuring us in business.

But while the comparative changes in the county's valuation in 1900 and 1901 signify nothing, it may be as well to mention in this connection that in 1900 there were percentage increases made by the state board on the classes McKenzie mentions as follows. Horses one year old 20 (in 1901-10). Cattle one year old 20 (in 1901-10). Cattle two years old 15 (in 1901-10). Cows 20 (in 1901-20). Working oxen 20 (in 1900-10). Sheep 50 (in 1901-50). Hogs 50 (in 1901-75). Agricultural implements 10 (in 1901-5). Let our readers consider the evident animus of McKenzie's article and reach their own conclusions.

If these changes of 1901 so glaringly wronged the farmers, why did not the greater increases over the assessors' figures of 1900 arrest McKenzie's attention?

The new chimney on the church is now finished and a start has been made at the basement in which is to be placed the new heating apparatus.

Misses Johanna Espeseth, Laura Walsted and Annie Horte wheeled to Shelly Saturday. On their way home they stopped for a visit to get some coffee.

O. J. Bye was going to Fargo Tuesday morning on the freight that did not come, but Ole is not the kind that gives up easily, so he very likely went Wednesday.

M. O. Sortedal, the banker and abstracter of Red Lake Falls, and family, visited over Sunday with Nils Muus and family. Mr. Sortedal is a brother of Mrs. Muus.

While the mud was at its thickest Tuesday and shoes were as big as bushel basket and rubbers got stuck in the mud, a successful collection was taken up for a plank crossing to connect Jim Hill's gravel walk with the town sidewalk.

The funeral of the late Anders Hegna was held at his old home on the Dakota side last Saturday, and was very largely attended. He was one of the old settlers and was held in high esteem by all who knew him as a man of integrity and upright character. He leaves a wife, who has the sympathy of us all.

C. C. Melsness wishes to make a correction through the Journal of an item published some time ago in another paper which stated that he is building a fine barn and intends to build a residence soon. He is only building a small stable and has no need of a residence, either present or prospective, that he knows of.

The mill hands have taken up a subscription which now amounts to nearly $200, for the benefit of Leon Bourque, the young man who got his finger cut off in the lath mill.

Mrs. M. Mikkelson, wife of the section foreman, died Sunday morning. Mrs. Mikkleson has been sick for a number of years, no doctor or medicine seemed to be able to help her.

Miss Anna Fountain and Mr. Alfred Durand were united in marriage at the home of the bride last Tuesday. We wish the young people a happy and prosperous matrimonial career.

Charley Carlson, who lived in New Folden started for Thief River Falls on Friday. He got down to Mr. Wearing's when he became very sick and had to stop there. He only lived till the next day.

A. Aug. Erickson of River Falls township was up here Monday to consult an attorney in regard to a ditch, which is proposed to be built in that township. It seems as though a number of people down there are against the ditch. People are slow to get their eyes open. If we had a ditch around every section in the county there could hardly be too many.

One of the oldest buildings in town, the Red Lake Hotel, built in 1889 burned to the ground last Friday morning at 3 o'clock. The building was owned and run by Mr. Ole Halvorson. The origin of the fire is not very well known. Those who first saw it say the roof was on fire first. When the fire alarm was turned on the department turned out quickly, and a team from the lumber mill was on hand to haul the engine, but in the hurry some one had left a hose cart in the middle of the street and in order to get by the driver turned to one side, and in doing so came so close to a ditch on the side of the street that the engine was upset into the ditch. To get the engine up and in running order took quite a while, so that the hotel was burned nearly to the ground before water was turned on. Nearly all the furniture was saved. Mr. Halvorson had $500 insurance and a mortgagee held some more, the amount of which is not known. Mr. Beau's house which was next to the hotel was saved by citizens carrying water from wells close by.

Is Life Worth Living?

Then don't neglect a cough or cold, especially when only 25 cents will buy a bottle of Mexican Syrup. It is so soothing and so many consumptives have been made well by its use. Read some of the testimonials on the wrapper around each bottle that prove this remedy more sure for deep seated colds, habitual coughing and even consumption, than any other remedy known to physicians, many of whom recommend and prescribe it where less effacacious remedies fail.

Pale, Puny Children

If a child has a bad smelling breath, if it habitually picks its nose, if it is cross and nervous, if it does not sleep soundly, if it is hollow eyed, if it has a pale, bloodless complexion, thin and lifeless, give it Mother's Worm Syrup and you will remove the cause of the distress quickly. Then will its little cheeks get red and rosy, its appetite and digestion improve, and its health be better. Price only 25 cents. No other worm killer so effective.

Be Not Deceived

Don't think you can neglect your health and reach old age. The way to longevity is to be kind to nature and then nature will be kind to you. Constipation, inactive liver, etc., are foes to nature. Mexican Root Pills help nature. Try them. They cure by cleansing and strengthening.

Pain Can be Cured

Why suffer pain? Pain is trying to kill you. Why not kill pain? Nothing kills pain, either internal or external pain, so quickly and so effectively as Gooch's Quick Relief. Cures cramp and colic.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Award Bridge Contracts and Decide to Move Fisher Bridge

The county commissioners are in session, and have during the past two days done considerable business looking toward the condition of winter that is to be faced.

The contract for supplying the necessary wood and coal for heating the county buildings was awarded to N. P. Stone & Co. Alex Gray, county surveyor, was named as engineer in charge of the drainage ditch in the towns of Keystone and Sullivan.

A move was made to collect some of the delinquent seed grain loans that were scattered over this and Red Lake county during the years when the county was so good to the poorer class of deserving farmers, and a resolution was passed instructing the proper authorities to proceed against such as are get-at-able who have not paid up. The entire delinquency in this matter amounts to about $4,000.

Henry Nolan was awarded the contract for building two bridges, one across the Sandhill river a mile west of Beltrami, and the other spanning Badger Creek, in the town of Knute.

A considerable portion of the day has been given up to the matter of the bridge over the Red Lake river at Fisher. It has been settled that it will be removed to a point a block farther down the stream, and a delegation of the authorities of the village was here to tender the county the right of way at the new point. Bids had been advertised for calling for the placing of tubular piers at the new site, and the removal of the present structure to that place. These were opened this afternoon.

WE KEEP THE CUP

Columbia Demonstrates Her Ability to Maintain American Supremacy.

THREE STRAIGHT RACES WON

The British Tars Disappointed and Chagrined at Their Defeat.

New York, Oct. 4.—(Special.)—The Columbia won the third and concluding race of the series today and by so doing assures the continuance of the cup another year, and perhaps longer in the hands of the New York Yacht club.

It was the closest race of the series and in order to win it advantage had to be taken of the 43 seconds time allowance which is due the Columbia owing to the larger amount of canvas carried by the Shamrock.

The course sailed today was fifteen miles southeast squarely before the wind, and a turn with a beat to windward on the home run of an equal distance. An 18-knot wind was blowing, but the sea was smooth.

The Columbia apparently got the better of the start as to position, but the officials state that both crossed the line at two seconds after eleven. They had both hugged the line, the Shamrock going about whenever the cup defender did, in order to prevent Capt. Barr from securing the advantage of a flying atart, which he did yesterday.

In the first quarter mile the Columbia gained slightly, but the Shamrock developed an unexpected burst of apeed and soon forged ahead of the cup defender, and at 11:45 waa nearly a mile ahead.

The unofficial time as given out by Marconi att he stake boat was, Shamrock 12:48:37; Columbia 12:49:43.

At 1:15 the positions of the yachts had changed. The Columbia had overhauled her rival and was in the lead, owing to Capt. Barr's superior work to windward. Every time opportunity offered he took advantage and luffed, but during the next three quarters of an hour favorable conditions placed the Shamrock again in the lead.

At 2:34 the wind showed a tendency to drop, but the boats were so near the finish that there was no danger but that the race would be finished in the time limit. From this time to the close of the race the Shamrock maintained its position, crossing the line first about a length ahead of the Columbia.

The latter boat was forced to avail itself of the time allowance of 43 seconds to win, and by so doing had 11 seconda to epare.

Great Northern Extension

Cass Lake, Oct. 4.—On several occasions during the past year and a half there have been rumors afloat to the effect that the Great Northern railway, or its associate, the Eastern Minnesota, contemplated building a line northward from the Duluth into the country in the northern part of Itasca county. In fact the company has had surveyors in Cass Lake, Deer River and at points along the Duluth line, but there has always been a plausible excuse given for their appearance other than surveying for a proposed route to the north. Some of the rumors had the line running north from Cass Lake, between here and Bena, some 12 miles distant. It now looks as if the railroad people intended to join hand with the Itasca Lumbering company, which concern owns a logging road running north from Deer River, some 20 miles east of Cass Lake. That road is already completed for a distance of 50 miles north from Deer River, and Supt. Sims of the Itasca Lumber company states that a 12 mile extension to Turtle Lake, which is already graded, will be laid with steel this fall. All the old steel on the line is being removed and in its place heavy steel rails of the best make are being put in. The road is being generally improved and it is estimated that the Great Northern is lending its aid to the further extension of the road. It is said to be the intention of the Itasca company to extend the road still further this fall, to the north of Rice river, on the Big Fork. The country at the proposed terminus of this road is thickly settled and the only means they have had of communicating with the outside world was coming to Deer River by boat, which is a very arduous trip. If the line is completed it will be a great boon to the settlers, of whom there are a great number.

STATE LANDS FOR SALE

At Fair Prices But Not to be Given Away

Auditor Dunn has not established exorbitant prices for the state land which is to be sold this fall, in the estimation of land agents. Mr. Dunn does not propose to sell any land under $7 per acre. Roseau county acreage, which is to be sold Oct. 12, must bring in from $7 to $9, or no sale. Said a land agent:

The people are land crazy. Trains come in loaded with land seekers, I know a man in the land business who has no office, but buys cheap tickets, interests some of the passengera on the train which he boards, introduces them to a firm of land agents at destination, gets his own name on the books for a commission, and returns to the city while the firm is making ths sale.

Cass county lends, and those in Crow Wing, which have a different soil from that of Roseau lands, brings from $2.50 to $3.00 per acre. The Roseau county land is rather wet but it raises good crops.

The Great Northern is asking from $8 to $12 for land along the line in Kittson and Marshall counties, adjoining, yet land in Roseau which is 40 or 50 miles from any railroad brings $9. In Pembina county, across the line in North Dakota, from $17 to $25 per acre is the price asked.

It is a strange thing that we cannot sell good clay lands for $3 to $3.50 per acre near town. There is plenty of good land within two hundred miles of Minneapolis which is being overlooked. It raises all kinds of crops, while the northern acreage raises only spring wheat and rye and the season is very short.—Minneapolis Journal.

ANXIOUS FOR LAND

State Auditor Dunn is Besieged With Inquiries

St. Paul, Oct. 4.—Since the notice of the sale of state lands in the Red River valley counties, which begins Monday, waa published in the Iowa papers, more than 600 inquiries for descriptive lists have been received by State Auditor Dunn. Many applications have also been received from Wisconsin, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois end Michigan, besides a great number from Minnesota.

The competition promises to be keener than ever before at a sale of state lands. State Auditor Dunn will sell about 90,000 in 12 counties. Fifteen per cent of the purchase price must be paid at the time of sale, and the remainder bears 4 per cent interest and can be paid within forty years. Nearly all the lands are fine wheat land, mostly high, end have been drained. It is appraised at from $8 to $15 per acre, but will probably bring higher prices.

CABLE TO MANILA

Proposition of W. J. Mackay Now Under Consideration

Washington, Oct. 4.—The president and his cabinet have discussed the proposition of John W. Mackay to lay a cable across the Pacific ocean connecting this country with our insular holdings. It is said the president is favorably inclined toward the project, but there is now only one obstacle to carrying out the plan.

That is, whether, under our peace treaty with Spain the United States could authorize or in any way encourage the laying of such a cable by private parties. Under the franchise obtained from Spain some time before the recent war the exclusive right to cable connections with the Philippines was obtained by the Eastern Cable company.

Under the treaty of Paris the United States obligated itself to protect all property rights in the archipelago and the question now at issue is whether permission to land the proposed cable at Manila or some other port would be a violation of the Paris treaty. Attorney General Knox will prepare a statement for the president covering all of the question involved.

As a result of the visit of the railroad and warehouse commission to valley points lest week they have recommended to the Great Northern that Ada be provided with depot facilities, including a lady'a waiting room, and the Lockhart switch was also recommended by the board.

A Fiendish Attack

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It cama through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures back ache and kidney troubles, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at A. G. Andersen's drug store.

AS NECESSARY IN PAST AGES

t Advanced Civilization Has Changed Conditions and Man's Need.

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—Many suggesns have been made as to the kind creature man would develop into the process of time if evolution was t interfered with. For instance, it s been pointed out that the man of e future will be baldheaded, in all obability; but that he will be stomchless will probably surprise most ople who view the stomach as the ost useful and the most indispensale part of their anatomy. And yet is is the conclusion of no less an au-ority than Prof. Elie Metchnikoff, e eminent Russian bacteriologist, ho is attached to the Pasteur Insti-ute of Paris. In a lecture delivered ecently before the Manchester Liter-ry and Philosophical society Prof.
etchnikoff discussed the question of e various microbes that find the ody of man a friendly host, and, in e course of his argument, pointed ut that the stomach and a large part f the digestive tract, which are paricularly the happy habitat of mi-robes, were unnecessary incum-rances.

Moreover, the digestive tract, the ecturer said, contained not only the reatest number of bacteria, but cerain useless organs that harbored hem: As he put it: "The vermiform ppendix for instance, was the remains f an organ which was more fully deeloped in our animal forefathers; in he anthropoid apes it was already ound in the process of reduction. Ev-n the stomach, that organ which ight seem so indispensable for diges-on and the normal existence of man, as in reality nothing but a large reservoir for food—a reservoir which ould without serious inconvenience e dispensed with."

That man could live without the tomach and without other extensive ortions of the digestive tract, Prof.
Metchnikoff said, was demonstrated y those individuals who were enjoyng life today after surgery had re-oved what to so many seemed to be he vital organs. As civilization now etermined, man did not need the ex-nsive and overlarge digestive appartus which was an inheritance from erbivorous animal ancestors, who ved a different kind of life and need-d the special organization unfortuately handed down to man. Hence he elieved not only that in the slow ourse of natural evolution the stomch and certain portions of the diges-ve tract would disappear, but that e process might be hastened artifi-ally in individual cases with benefi-al effect. He spoke on this point as llows:

"The slow tendency of evolution to ing about the atrophy of such or-ns or characteristics might, hower, be assisted by medicine and surry; medicine coping more effectual-with the noxious microbes and their ects, while the progress of surgery
d already brought it within its pow-to remove by operation organs pro-tions to the growth of the 'flora.'"

Man, as Metchnikoff sees him, is not y a creature of "unbounded stom-
," as Shakespeare spoke of one sey, but of most "unnecessary ach." Whether his new gospel l meet with favor depends probabon the concern which most people e to the supposed demands of the mach. Since, however, the pleas-s of the table will still exist for the machless man, one need not fear e future has nothing to offer but an iscerated man living on tabloid ods and taking life sadly by proxy rough all sorts artificial substitutes.

Waste in Education

considering the sources of waste education, we sometimes overlook environment of the child, the aracter and spirit of the age in ich we live, and so put an unjust ight of responsibility on the tear.

t is proper to scrutinize the mach-y of the school system, the ndness of the principles under ch we operate, the aim in view, methods employed—and yet, when hese factors stand inspection and cannot account for the character ability of the product, we may to find the potent exterior factors shortage and waste. Other influencand forces are at work to undo and circumvent our endeavors. The work of the best school is often vitiated, because of the attractiveness of the street, the allurements of society, the demands of business men, and the weak home government of the child. With the school, all these forces are contending for the mastery, and it sems, at times, impossible to get the attention of the child and make the influence of the school dominant. Could we wall out these baser elements and direct the child's activities out of school hours, we might secure such continuity of effort as would yield a higher grade product. Whatever dislodges the impressions of the school hours or fills the mind with irrelevant maters, sets at naught any and all well directed efforts for educational development.

I suppose there is scarcely a city in Minnesota where unwholesome or shoddy literature is not illegally sold. where the billiard hall with all of its allurements does not solicit the youth in open violation of law where articles are sold the boy contrary to statute law, the use of which undermines his growing constitution and unfits for the honest labor demanded by the school. The factors are more potent in the economy of the school than all the shortages in equipment and method of teacher—though these must not be ignored. The efforts of a boy to be effective must be persistent, self directed and consecutive. He must realize the necessity of restraint, his obligation to prompt and implicit obedience to parental and school authority. Self control, perseverance, mastery—are the crying needs of the hour. We do not see enough of the old time plodding that "stick-to-itiveness" over knotty problems; but a too general feeling that the teacher will clear away the mist. If in recitation, he fails to penetrate the pupil's ignorance, the class settles back with an air of disgust at the teacher's incapacity to instruct. There is an apparent unwillingness to make the necessary effort at mastery. What is expected is to get the point and to get it in short order.

The age in which we live is to blame for the important waste along these lines. "Young America" is learning all too promptly and well the lessons in lawlessness set him by civic authority. When high officials can set aside plain enactments of legislators, when mayors deliberately and openly announce their self assumed prerogative of deciding what laws are to be enforced, when public prosecutors wink at crime, when judicial oath is so often disregarded, when the common citizen jokingly acquiesces in the open violation of wholesome laws and takes seeming pride in pronouncing them "dead letters"—we must not wonder that our youth soon finds its "sphere of influence." and takes a bold swing around the circle of home and school obligations. If the parent and teacher disregard the laws of the state, the child can infringe with boldness on parental authority and school discipline. Consistency is, indeed, a virtue! "Young America" justly endeavors to demonstrate that fact. "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it"—if his father does not.

There is a great waste when we fail to inspire the pupil with the necessity for thorough and extended preparation for life. Here again the commercial world sets a break-neck pace for our youth and raises a false standard. Business men are on the watch for bright and promising boys, whom they may allure into their service before they have laid the second course of foundation stones in their education. Off goes the boy to work a few tricks of the trade. "Short cuts!" "Practical education!" These may be euphonious terms, but their application in life is vicious.

Against the first class business college, exercising its proper function, there should be no opposition; but there are too many institutions inflated with high sounding phrases and large professions that do absolute and lasting harm to a class of young students, whom they have induced to leave their high school and take a "chow-chow" course of everything and anything they please in a fraction of the time it takes in the state's schools. But the sad day is sure to come, when some of them will realize the insufficiency of their preparation—that they are left in the race of life—and then they will curse themselves and the day they switched from the old, well beaten path. When shall we learn that a business course should be the finishing, and not the foundation course of an education?

On the other hand, we may learn economy and thoroughness in education from these same institutions. We might profitably embody in the last year or two of the high school course some of the so-called common branches and business studies. This can be done without materially affecting the validity of the course, and so enable us to solidify our efforts in education and avoid the too often true statement of business men that high school graduates are incapable of fitting into the requirements of business life. No grammar school pupil can master these common branches till he has had some years of development in the high school. Then he will find sufficient scope for expansion in these very studies, both for discipline and practical use.

It has already been indicated that the home is responsible for a portion of waste in education—not that the average home is concernd in the teaching process, but it often undoes the work of the school by its failure to train the pupil to habits of obedience and industry in home duties.

The lack of the parent's knowledge of what the school is really attempting or fairly carrying out results in unfair and unjust criticisms of the teacher's methods and motives. Too often the home is a dissecting room where the teacher and her deeds are put under knife and microscope of hostile fault-finding. Such a process will destroy the effectiveness of the best school.

If my child is not proficient in spelling, arithmetic or writing, I am not to conclude that the whole school is defective and that the teacher is at fault, unless I know the same thing to be true of the bulk of the room. "One bird does not make a summer."

All successful efforts in drawing the home and school into closer union will materially check this serious waste.

On the teacher's side there is no doubt waste due to insufficient preparation, knowledge and tact, and the unreasonable demands made on her time and strength. There are too many "false motions" in the teaching process. We can learn economy by such familiarity with the subject as will lead to directness and clearness in presentation, and variety and rapidity of application and drill.

The work of the grammar school teacher can be made much more effective by adopting the departmental plan of instruction, giving each teacher one special branch to teach in two or three rooms. Thus confining herself to this line, she will have more time for daily preparation, care of health, and general reading. This increased strength and efficiency of the teacher has its powerful reflection on step to a mastery of each subject, be- the pupil, who gets a higher type of instruction, and soon goes on step by cause he has an expert teacher.

I can only hint at another source of waste in education, and this is particularly applicable to the rural schools. I refer to the inadequate preparation of the country school teacher and the need of displacing the present summer school by a special school, running for nine consecutive months. It has worked wonders for the schools of the Empire state and given an uplift along the whole line of educational effort.

GIRLS GALORE IN BOSTON

11,048 More Females Than Males in the City of Baked Beans

Boston, Oct. 5. Boston should be an attractive place for any young man looking for a wife. According to a bulletin of the statistic department, just issued, there are 11,048 more females than males in the city, a surplus equivalent to 9.96 per cent in a total population of 560,892. Any young men matrimonially inclined would better not delay, for City Statistician Hartwell says the disproportion of the sexes is rapidly disappearing, being considerably less than it was in 1895. Dr. Hartwell says that fewer girl babies are being born and fewer female immigrants are coming here.

AMERICAN DIVORCES NULL

In Canada Says a Toronto Judge

Toronto, Oct. 5.—An important verdict touching upon the divorce law was given in the criminal sessions last night, when the jury found Minnie G. Woods guilty of bigamy.

The accused was legally divorced according to the law of the State of Michigan. The woman remarried in Canada. The judge charged against the prisoner and told the jury that American divorces did not hold good in Canada. An appeal will be taken to the superior court.

AERONAUT DISAPPEARS

After Making a Parachute Descent From Balloon

La Salle, Ill., Oct. 5.—Mrs. L. A. Seeley, an aeronaut, known as Lillian Le Fay, made a balloon ascension in this city last night about dusk, and up to a late hour tonight no trace of her has been found. Her husband, who followed the balloon, claims to have seen his wife make the parachute leap successfully at a point south of the Illinois river. The parachute and his wife he said, descended slowly behind a growth of trees. This vicinity was thoroughly searched in vain. Late yesterday afternoon the balloon was found one mile south of here. Another witness says the woman and the parachute landed in the river. The river was dragged for a distance of several miles today, with no result.

HORRIBLE SLAUGHTER

Of Co. C by Filipinos on the Island of Samar

Manila, Oct. 3.—The latest advices from the island of Samar give harrowing details of the slaughter of the members of Company C, Ninth United States infantry, last Saturday at Balangiga. It seems that the president of the town, claiming to be friendly, led the assault in person. On hearing of the slaughter, Col. Isaac Deconrsey of the Eleventh infantry, started for the scene immediately with a battalion. The body of Capt. Connell had been tied at the heels, saturated with kerosene and partly burned.

Forty-five had been burned in a trench, leaving several unaccounted for. The charred remains of many were recovered. In numerous instances the bodies had been badly mutilated. Three hundred Macababes will also be dispatched to the scene of the massacre on board the Legaspi, which is detained by a typhoon.

Japan Leader Visits U. S.

Seattle, Oct. 5. (Special.) Marquis Ito, Japan's great leader, leaves here for the east today. He will tarry several days in St. Paul enroute, and interest himself in noting conditions in western city life, after which he will continue his journey to Washington and pay his respects to President Roosevelt.

The associated press dispatches say that Japan is about to negotiate a loan of $25,000,000 of the United States, but Ito denies having any knowledge of any such proposed loan.

Now for a Salt Trust

New York, Oct. 3.—(Special.)—The International Salt company, with a capital of thirty million dollars, filed articles of incorporation in New Jersey today.

The intention of the stockholders is to control the output of the world's salt mines.

It is the outgrowth of the National Salt company and it will acquire the principal salt producing properties of the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Sampson's Flag Down

Boston, Oct. 3.—Rear Admiral Wm. T. Sampson's flag has been hauled down at the Charlestown navy yard, over which he has been commandant for the past two years. Previous to its being hauled down it was saluted with 13 guns, the rear admiral's salute. Rear Admiral Johnson assumed command today.

Chauncey Depew Will Marry

New York, Oct. 5, (Special.) Senator Chauncey M. Depew announces today his intention to marry Miss May Palmer, one of New York's best known society ladies. The announcement caused considerable surprise to Mr. Depew's friends who had not suspected any such intentions on his part.

Tammany Chooses Sheppard

New York, Oct. 3.—The city committee of Tammany Hall at a meeting held last night decided on Edward M. Sheppard of Brooklyn as democratic candidate for mayor of Greater New York.

The Bullet

Of the assassin may be more sudden, but it is not more sure than the dire punishment meted out to the man who abuses his stomach. No man is stronger than his stomach. When the stomach is diseased the whole body is weakened.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of other organs when it cures the diseases of the stomach, on which the several organs depend for nutrition and vitality.

"I would say in regard to your medicines that I have been greatly benefited by them," writes Mr. J. S. Bell, of Leando, Van Buren Co., Ia. "I was at one time as I thought almost at death's door. I was confined to my house and part of the time to my bed. I had taken gallons of medicine but it only fed the disease; but I must say that 'Golden Medical Discovery' has [illegible] I am stouter than I have been for twenty years. I am now forty-three years old. Have taken in all twenty-[illegible] Discovery, besides [illegible] or three dozen vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, but [illegible] take no medicine."

Children's Fertilizer.

That's a good name for Scott's Emulsion. Children are like young plants. Some will grow in ordinary soil. Others need fertilizers.

The nature of some children prevents them from thriving on ordinary food Such children grow right if treated right.

All they need is a little fertilizer—a little extra richness. Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment.

Fertilizers make things grow. That's just what Scott's Emulsion does. It makes children grow in flesh, grow in strength, grow rich blood, grow in mind, grow happy. That's what we make it for.
